Former First Minister charged with attempted rape and sexual assault

■ Salmond facing long list of shocking allegations
■ Accused insists he is 'innocent of any criminality'

Former Scottish First Minister Alex Salmond appeared in court on Thursday charged with attempted rape and sexual assault.

He faced a total of 14 charges at Edinburgh Sheriff Court, also including breach of the peace and indecent assault.

The 64-year-old made no plea during the hearing and was released on bail.

Outside court, Mr

Salmond said he was "innocent of any criminality" and added that he would defend himself "to the utmost".

Police had been investigating following a Scottish government inquiry into complaints of sexual harassment against Mr Salmond.

Mr Salmond, who was first minister from 2007 to 2014, was interviewed by police on Wednesday.

He arrived at the court shortly before 14:00 on Thursday for a short hearing, which took place in private.

Mr Salmond was accused of two charges of attempted rape, nine of sexual assault, two of indecent assault and one breach of the peace.

ALEX SALMOND: "I have got great faith in the court system of Scotland."

Speaking outside the court following the hearing, the former MP and MSP said: "I am innocent of any criminality whatsoever," he said. "Now that these proceedings, criminal proceedings, are live, it's even more important to respect the court, and, therefore, the only thing I can say is I refute absolutely the allegation of criminality and I will defend myself to the utmost in court. "I have got great faith in the court system of Scotland. "You know me well enough to know that I'd love to say a great deal more, but I have got to observe the rules of the court and in court is where I will state my case."

No date has yet been fixed for the next hearing in the case.

Police launched a formal investigation into Mr Salmond in September, a month after it emerged that the Scottish Government had carried out its own inquiry into complaints of sexual harassment.

The former First Minister, who strongly denied the allegations, launched a judicial review against the government claiming he had been treated unfairly during the investigation. He won that case two weeks ago, with a judge at the Court of Session in Edinburgh ruling that the government's investigation against him had been "procedurally unfair" and "tainted by apparent bias". The case was focused on the government's internal processes, not the substance of the complaints.

Talks go nowhere as May and Sturgeon clash over 'indyref2'

First Minister Nicola Sturgeon and Prime Minister Theresa May met for talks in London on Thursday after clashing over a second Scottish independence vote.

The Downing Street summit was part of what Mrs May called an "enhanced role" for the Scottish government in Brexit.

But before the talks, she told MPs that "the last thing we want is a second independence referendum".

Ms Sturgeon hit back, saying that the prime minister was "running scared from the verdict of the Scottish people".

The row mirrors the divide between the two leaders over Brexit, with Ms Sturgeon urging Mrs May to consider a fresh referendum on EU membership - something the prime minister opposes.

The UK is due to leave the EU on 29 March, with or without a deal, under current legislation.

The UK government is casting around to find a Brexit deal which could win a parliamentary majority after Mrs May's blueprint was overwhelmingly rejected by MPs.

Various rival plans have been put forward, ranging from tweaks to the existing withdrawal agreement to holding a new referendum which could potentially see Brexit called off.

MPs will vote again on 29 January, although Mrs May has so far given few details about how her deal might be changed ahead of this.

'hardline Brexiteers'

Speaking after her meeting in Downing Street, Ms Sturgeon said Mrs May had shown "no sign of compromise" on her Brexit red lines.

She said: "It seems to me her priority is trying to win support from the DUP and the hardline Brexiteers in her own party rather than genuinely trying to compromise to bring others on side.

"It seems to me she's putting all of her eggs in the basket of trying to win over the DUP and the ERG (European Research Group) - playing to the right-wing hardline Brexiteers which, unless something fundamental changes that I can't see right now, is destined to fail.

"It's also taking the entire country and Scotland in particular down the wrong road, one that's going to be devastating for our economy and, particularly around free movement, deeply damaging to Scotland's population and therefore our economy in the long-term."

Mrs May has said she is "committed to giving the devolved administrations an enhanced role" in the next phase of talks, "respecting their competence and vital interests in those negotiations".

Following the Downing Street talks, a spokesman said the Scottish and Welsh first ministers had been invited to attend a Cabinet sub-committee on preparing for Brexit.

However, the prime minister has also rejected the idea of having another referendum on Brexit, saying the parliament's duty was to "implement the decision of the first one".

And during weekly questions at

NOT OPTIMISTIC: the First Minister outside 10 Downing Street on Thursday

Westminster, she was urged by Scottish Tory MP Stephen Kerr to rule out any agreement with the Scottish government for a fresh Scottish independence referendum.

Mrs May said: "Scotland held a referendum in 2014. It was legal, fair and decisive, and the people clearly voted for Scotland to remain part of the United Kingdom.

"More than that, at the last general election, the people of Scotland again sent a very clear message that they do not want a second divisive referendum, but the SNP sadly is out of touch with the people of Scotland and has not yet heard that message.

"The last thing we want is a second independence referendum. The United Kingdom should be pulling together, and should not be being driven apart."

Hitting back shortly before arriving at Downing Street, Ms Sturgeon said that "what Scotland needs is much more important than what the prime minister wants".

She said: "Theresa May fears she would lose an independence referendum and is clearly running scared of the verdict of the Scottish people - who must be sick and tired of being told what the prime minister wants.

"The mandate to give the people of Scotland a choice over their future is cast-iron. A majority of MSPs and Scottish MPs returned at the last two general elections support holding an independence referendum in the circumstances in which we now find ourselves.

"The SNP believe that the people of Scotland should be in charge of their own future - not live at the whim and diktat of a hardline, inflexible Tory unionist cabal."

Director refuses to remove Bulger movie from Oscar race

The director of a film about the boys who killed James Bulger has refused to withdraw it from the Academy Awards race.

Bulger's mother, Denise Fergus, told ITV earlier on Thursday: "He should remove it from the Oscars.

"Remove it from the public domain - withdraw yourself."

But Vincent Lambe, whose film Detainment is nominated for best live action short film, told the BBC: "I won't withdraw it from the Oscars."

He said: "It's like saying we should burn every copy of it. I think it would defeat the purpose of making the film."

Detainment recreates the moments before and after 10-year-olds Robert Thompson and Jon Venables took James from a shopping centre in Bootle, Merseyside, in 1993, as well as their police interviews using the original transcripts.

Lambe said: "The public opinion at the moment now is that those two boys were simply evil and anybody who says anything different or gives an alternate reason as to why they did it or tries to understand why they did it, they get criticised for it.

"I think we have the responsibility to try and make sense of what happened."

The filmmakers have faced criticism for not consulting Denise Bulger

Colman and Weisz lead British Oscar charge

Acclaimed drama-comedy The Favourite propels British duo into Academy Award contention

TO NOBODY'S surprise British talent is well represented in this year's Oscar race, with Olivia Colman and Rachel Weisz leading the charge.

The nominations for Hollywood's biggest gongs are in with the duo both nominated for the period comedy-drama The Favourite, Colman for best actress and Weisz for supporting actress. The Favourite and Netflix's black-and-white epic Roma lead the race for best film, with 10 nominations each.

British film Bohemian Rhapsody earned five nods – for best picture, film editing, sound mixing, sound editing and a best actor nomination for its star

Rami Malek.

It is the first Oscar nomination for Colman, 44, who won a Golden Globe for her role as Queen Anne. Weisz, 48, who won best actress in 2006 for The Constant Gardener, said: "Thank you to the Academy for recognising The Favourite in so many categories. "I'm immensely proud to be part of it and to be nominated in the company of such talented women."

Richard E

Norwich-born Colman's strongest competition is likely to come from Glenn Close, 71, who is the bookies' favourite to win her first Academy Award for The Wife after six previous nominations. Richard E

Grant, 61, celebrates his first Oscar nomination, as best supporting actor for his role as Jack in dark comedy biopic Can You Ever Forgive Me?

Grant said: "I'm absolutely overwhelmed."

And Welsh-born Christian Bale, 44, had his fourth nomination, for best actor as Dick Cheney in Vice. He previously won a best supporting actor Oscar in 2011 for The Fighter.

British stars missing out include Claire Foy for First Man and Emily Blunt for Mary Poppins Returns.

The 91st Academy Awards will take place at the Dolby Theatre in Los Angeles on February 24th.

DOUBLE ACT: Rachael Weisz and Olivia Colman star in The Favourite

and her family about the film.

Lambe has previously apologised for not making Mrs Fergus aware of it soon enough and told the BBC: "It's something we did think long and hard about. I wanted to meet with them to try and explain why we made it."

But that was only after the film was being seen at screenings and film festivals.

Lambe said: "I do regret not telling them about it sooner."

Last month, Mrs Fergus told ITV's Loose Women she was asking people to boycott the film "because I just don't think it should have been made in the first place, especially without James's parents being consulted".

On Thursday, Mrs Fergus told the British breakfast TV show This Morning the film was "reliving the nightmare" for her.

"I tried to put it behind me, I've got through all these years, to see that still [image] of him being led to his death by those two... And now it's being shown again?"

The detective who brought James Bulger's killers to justice has also said Lambe made a "grave mistake" in putting the film forward for an Oscar and called on him to show "decency" by withdrawing it.

Albert Kirby said the film misrepresents the investigation into the toddler's death.

Describing Detainment as "insensitive", he said the film depicted "an awful lot of aggression" during police interviews.

He told the BBC's North West Tonight: "The actual events he puts in the film are accurate. You cannot fault that about it, but to my mind that's irrelevant. It's the whole context of it.

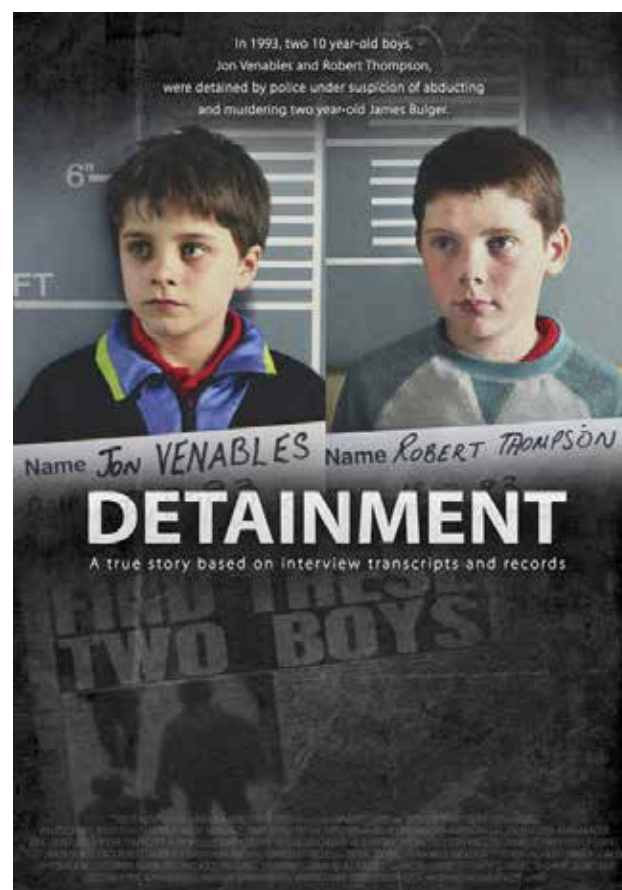

"The building they used, it looked like some disused warehouse, whereas we went to inordinate lengths to make sure where they were was comfortable. It was closed for prisoners.

"They had drinks, they had crisps... You had solicitors, a social worker with them and the parents. It was all very convivial."

The retired detective superintendent also said scenes on a railway line, where James's body was found, were "dealt with so insensitively".

He added: "It's causing so much unnecessary upset."

Mrs Fergus told This Morning there

TOO SOON? Detainment is nominated for best live action short film should be regulation on dramatisations, saying: "If it's a documentary the families should be contacted beforehand.

Mrs Fergus has been a vocal campaigner over the years, pressing for longer sentences for her son's murderers, who were sentenced to a minimum of eight years, and publishing her recent book, I Let Him Go.

Let's find 'common ground', urges Queen

The Queen has urged people to find "common ground" and to respect "different points of view".

Commentators say the remarks will be seen as referring to the Brexit debate, with MPs due to vote on the PM's deal for leaving the EU again next week.

MPs rejected the deal last week but the UK will leave on 29 March with no deal unless they can agree on a way forward.

Leading royal correspondent Nicholas Witchell said there was little doubt the Queen was "sending a message".

"It is impossible to imagine that the head of state would use a construction of words such as this without it being appreciated that they would be seen as a reference to the current political debate," he said.

As head of state, the Queen remains neutral on political matters and does not express her views on issues.

However, speaking at an event to mark the 100 years of Sandringham Women's Institute in Norfolk, the Queen said: "The continued emphasis on patience, friendship, a strong community focus, and considering the needs of others, are as important today as they were when the group was founded all those years ago."

"Of course, every generation faces fresh challenges and opportunities."

"As we look for new answers in the modern age, I for one prefer the tried and tested recipes, like speaking well of each other and respecting different points of view; coming together to seek out the common ground; and never losing sight of the bigger picture."

Duke spotted driving without a seat belt just 48 hours after last week's accident

A PASSENGER whose wrist was broken in a crash involving the Duke of Edinburgh has accused him of being "highly insensitive" after he was spotted driving without a seat belt.

Mum-of-two Emma Fairweather called for Prince Philip, 97, to be prosecuted if a police probe finds he was at fault for the accident at Babingley, near the Sandringham estate in Norfolk, last Thursday.

Ms Fairweather, 46, told ITV's This Morning she felt "very upset" that Philip was back at the wheel of a new £68,000 Land Rover Freelander only 48 hours after the crash – and was then warned by police for not buckling up.

She said: "Accidents do happen and there needs to be a period of reflection of what could be done differently to prevent the same thing happening again."

"It's just highly insensitive and inconsiderate towards me and everyone involved."

She said she was shocked that Norfolk Police had yet to take her witness statement. The force responded, promising to interview her later the same day.

Rooney speaking 'Broken English' at time of DC arrest

Former England star had 'strong odour of alcoholic beverage about his person, slurred speech and was unsteady on his feet'

WAYNE Rooney spoke in "broken English" during his drunken US airport arrest and could not remember his phone number, it emerged this week.

The former England captain and Manchester United striker, 33, was held for public intoxication and swearing in Washington DC in December.

Officers discovered him leaning on a railing in a secure area at Dulles International Airport, following a flight from Saudi Arabia, according to a police incident report.

The officer's report said: "I approached the individual and asked what happened, and in his broken English he stated he went through the door at the bottom of the stairs because he thought it was a lift.

"Mr Rooney had strong odour of alcoholic beverage about his person, slurred speech and was unsteady on his feet, and was not travelling with anyone."

"Mr Rooney was placed under arrest for public intoxication. Arrestee was unable to provide me his telephone number."

Magistrates who issued a misdemeanour warrant ordered Rooney to be held until he was sober.

Rooney, who now plays for US Major League Soccer club DC United, was later released and fined $25 (£19) with $91 (£70) costs. His spokesman said at the time that he was "disorientated" after taking sleeping tablets and drinking on the flight after a one-day promotional business trip. The spokesman added: "Wayne would like to put on record his appreciation for the manner he was treated by all involved."

REPEAT OFFENDER: A Stockport court banned Rooney for two years in 2017

Rooney's US scrape follows his drink-driving arrest in 2017, when he was caught alongside party girl Laura Simpson. He said he let his family down after admitting being nearly three times the legal limit when arrested. He was banned from driving for two years and fined £300,000 by his then club Everton. Judge John Temperley, sitting at Stockport magistrates court, said: "I'm sure you don't need me to tell you this was a serious offence. "You were driving a motor vehicle almost three times the legal limit and you were carrying a female passenger, which was an aggravating feature and you put other road users at risk."

Rooney's solicitor, Michael Rainford, told the court the player's fine of two weeks' wages by Everton was "not insignificant" and "another form of punishment". He added: "Through me Wayne wishes to express his genuine remorse for what was a terrible mistake and a terrible error of judgment on his behalf."

Soccer star feared dead after small plane disappears over the Channel

Emiliano Sala had just signed with Cardiff City

AN ARGENTINE soccer star heading for a new life in England is feared dead after his plane went missing over the frigid English channel on Monday night.

Emiliano Sala, 28, who had just signed with Cardiff City of the English Premier League, and the pilot, whom officials have not identified, were feared dead after the disappearance of the Piper Malibu, a small private plane with a poor safety record. A joint French and British search effort resumed on Wednesday with airplanes, helicopters and ships, but John Fitzgerald, chief officer of Channel Islands Air Search, said that it should no longer be considered a rescue operation but rather about recovery.

And in a chilling footnote to the story, it emerged that shortly before the plane lost radio contact, Sala sent a chilling audio message from the flight in which he said "I'm so afraid" and warned that the aircraft "seems like it's falling to pieces."

Officials have said that if the missing plane went down in the cold, rough waters, there was little chance that the two people aboard were still alive. It's getting to that stage now," said Fitzgerald in a telephone interview. "There's a lot of people still on the hunt," he added, but hopes of finding survivors are "very much plucking at straws."

While in the air, as the plane was battered by harsh weather, Mr. Sala, speaking in Spanish, sent an audio WhatsApp message to a group of friends, said Diego Rolán, a Uruguayan player, who told a radio station in his home country that he was among the recipients of the message. Argentine news organizations obtained and posted on their websites what they said was Mr. Sala's recorded message.

The man speaking sounds calm, asking his friends how they are doing, looking forward to joining his new team, complaining of being tired, and even yawning. But he also returns several times to his concern about the flight.

"If, in an hour and a half, you have no news from me, I don't know if they are going to send someone to look for me, because they are not going to find me," he says.

Cardiff City officials said Wednesday that Mr. Sala had made his own travel arrangements to reach Cardiff, without the club's involvement.

A source at Nantes-Atlantique airport revealed that the pilot had had his passport checked alongside Sala at 7.40pm. The aircraft was flying at 5,000ft when the pilot asked Jersey air traffic control to descend. However it lost contact while at 2,300ft near the Casquets lighthouse, eight miles north-west of Alderney at 8.30pm.

Police last night said rescue workers had spotted "floating objects" in the area but could not confirm if these were from the missing aircraft.

The disappearance followed warnings about snow and ice.

But the Met Office said conditions were not "too intense" when the aircraft went missing.

Cardiff City chief executive Ken Choo said the club was "very shocked" by the news.

"Our owner, Tan Sri Vincent Tan, and chairman, Mehmet Dalman, are all very distressed about the situation. We continue to pray for positive news."

Sala's new teammates were told at Cardiff's training ground Tuesday morning before the session was cancelled. FC Nantes also cancelled a cup match they were due to play the same day.

Sala was the third top scorer in France with 13 league and cup goals this season. When his signing to Cardiff was announced, he said: "It gives me great pleasure.

"I can't wait to start training, meet my new teammates and get down to work."

Mr Choo said at the time: "I'm sure all Cardiff City fans will join me in that and we can look forward to seeing our record signing in a Bluebirds shirt."

Sala was very close to his family in Argentina and spoke to his mother, who still lives there, "most days", but still believed his destiny was in Britain.

Sala grew up in Progreso, a town with only 3,000 inhabitants in Santa Fe province.

Brits in LA

Meet A Member: Aaron Ellis

Meet Aaron Ellis from Berkshire who moved to LA for love and continue his career as a filmmaker.

Was there a particular reason you chose LA?

I came here a few years ago to support a feature film I worked on that premiered in Beverly Hills. I ended up making friends and kept coming back for three months every year. Eventually I developed a relationship with Anthony, a man I met here and fast-forward to the present, Anthony proposed is now my husband! I love it here and have settled in Long Beach.

What do you miss most from home?

The thing I miss most from England would be

GO FUND ME: Aaron's partner Anthony is currently hospitalized with complications from Type 1 Diabetes

my dog, Ollivander (like the wand shop in Harry Potter), British crisps like Wheat Crunchies & Discos and my mum's spaghetti bolognese!

What was your first impression of LA and ## has it changed since?

My first impression of LA was WOW the people here are so interesting! It felt like everyone was living here because they wanted to be here, be a part of it all and carve out their own story! Not

BRIGHT LIGHTS, BIG CITY: Aaron Ellis hails from a small village in Berkshire

This Week's Pub Quiz Winners

Charging to victory like Greased Lightning at the latest pub quiz were the three-person team O'Trivia Newton John.

Despite being outnumbered by their competition, the trio triumphed at the Cat and Fiddle on January 22, winning $75 plus prizes from the forthcoming Liam Neeson film, Cold Pursuit.

just be here because they happened to be born here, most people I met weren't even from LA!

What do you find the biggest difference is living here versus your home town?

I come from a small village where everyone is happy doing their day to day with little change whereas here I felt like everyone is doing something exciting, trying new things, taking chances and making new friends. I still feel that way today and hope I always will!

What advice would you give to those making the move here?

Do like I did: the very first time I came to America I actually went to a couple of the Brits in LA British Breakfasts and a pub quiz!

Do you have a hidden gem you can share with us?

I recommend The Silver

Fox (a fabulous karaoke gay bar, sing and it's half off on drinks all night!)

Anything else you like to share with us?

Anthony is in the hospital with Type 1 diabetes and last month, while battling stomach flu, he developed a serious diabetic foot ulcer. We've been in the hospital for over a week now attempting to fight the infection with antibiotics, though sadly we were told that the infection has now spread to the bone and he will be scheduled for surgery where they will attempt to save as much of it as they can though some amputation is very likely.

He has been off work for several weeks due to the illness and I'm still awaiting my work visa. Since he is our main source of income at the moment without it we're in trouble. I hate to ask anyone for money and this is difficult for me to write, but this all came out of nowhere and we have no hope of covering the medical bills ourselves. This has been a horrible week and at this point I just need to make sure that Anthony focuses only on his health and getting better.

A dear friend has set up a gofundme page to help us at this difficult time. If anyone out there finds themselves able to support us in any way and is willing to do so, please know that we are deeply grateful. We are no more deserving than anyone else going through hard times but I'll be damned if I don't try absolutely everything in my power to help him. Thank you.

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: You may be feeling lazy or out of sorts recently. This is due to Uranus visiting you and putting you on guard. Take life as it comes until month's end and then you should find yourself back on track again.

TAURUS: Your lovely boss Venus is in friendly, outgoing Sagittarius currently. This can bring new beginnings and better times in several areas. With this mind take full advantage.

GEMINI: You are ready for change in some areas and stabilizing in others. Once you make your mind up which is which, there will be no stopping you moving forward. Try to get it all moving by month's end.

CANCER: Romance and/or good opportunities for happier days are ahead. You have been stuck in the mud in some area or other and now it's time to pull yourself out. Do not look backwards with regret.

LEO: This last week's very powerful eclipse in your sign could have brought things to a head that are not completely finished. Make sure to not let life get you down as this was an opportunity to get going and sort your life out for the better.

VIRGO: The unpredictable planet Uranus has been affecting you for the last few weeks in some work situation. You are the worrier of the signs and while it has been stressful you will be back running well by month's end.

LIBRA: Decisions are all around you, including some regarding a healthier life style and diet. Take the bull by the horn and make healthier decisions overall.

SCORPIO: Stressful situations have been overwhelming recently. Do not overreact, especially in health areas. Do what has to be done and look forward to more relaxed times the next month ahead.

SAGITTARIUS: Your lucky boss Jupiter is shining a light on you and your financial picture. While it may not have been what you wanted just wait a couple of weeks and it will look better.

CAPRICORN: Saturn is revving up his engines in your life and bringing things out into the open. If you are trying to ignore anything be sure to know he will bring it to your attention.

AQUARIUS: Your boss Uranus is in Aries only for another few weeks. Take heart that when he moves in to earthy Taurus he will leave you the legacy of a more settled life.

PISCES: If you assume anything is settled in the next week you will end up feeling confused. Nothing seems to be what it ends up as. With this in mind, stay calm and don't worry.

BRITS IN LA

The Toscars: where we all get to dress up and play pretend...

One of the things I think I love most about Los Angeles is the fact that we aren't forced to "grow up".

When I go back home to England, I'm often 'accused' of being younger than my years; I use the word 'accused' with forethought, as I'm pretty sure that it is not always intended as a compliment. I think I'm grown up plenty enough, in that I pay my rent and bills on time, I remember family members' birthdays, and I even eat 'my greens' regularly. I work full time as a personal assistant, and have done so (for the same person) for the past 20+ years. However, because I enjoy what I do immensely, it seems to translate that I don't have a 'proper job'.

I honestly can't decide whether most people living in Britain/or outside of LA, actually dislike their occupations or whether they have been indoctrinated to just not enjoy working?

I often see statements on social media from my UK based friends lamenting that Monday has come around too quickly, or that they are counting down the hours until the weekend rolls around again. Whereas my LA counterparts will be more likely to post a celebratory "Yay, I booked a job".

I might have to conduct a social experiment and post a "I can't wait to get back to work tomorrow" just to see what kind of response I get. I know it is a bit like comparing apples with oranges, but still....

although I am completely aware that it is much more pleasant to go about your daily business when the sun is shining!

Talking of which, there is definitely a more youthful vibe here but we have a surprising amount of Brits in LA members who are 70+ and they are usually the most playful of us all! But I think the majority of the people I meet at our events are eternally young at heart, whatever their age. As most of you know, Craig and I leap at the opportunity to be silly whenever we can. Two of my favourite occasions that spring to mind are both flash mobs; International Pillow Fight Day (falls on April 6th this year), which can be found at several cities around the world, and the Gettypede. The latter consisted of hundreds of people playing

Follow the Leader whilst walking around the Getty in an orderly silent single line. I know it sounds a bit daft but it was thoroughly enjoyable. I am not sure if that one still occurs, so please get in touch if with us if you have any current details. I think the general consensus is that Los Angeles is a huge magnet for people afflicted with Peter Pan Syndrome, but that's fine by me.

It is probably no surprise if I tell you that our annual film competition The Toscars has got off to a resounding start. It is basically a group of grown adults who are collaborating over the next three weeks to make five-minute parodies of the Oscar-nominated films. Sounds ridiculous? Yes it is, but in the best possible way. It involves a lot of hard graft but the end result is absolutely worth it. The films are shown on a big screen in a theatre which is followed by a star-studded award ceremony. The winners receive a golden fist (aka a Toscar!) There are definitely tantrums and the occasional tiara involved but also lots of fun and laughter. Sign up to participate this year has now closed but you can still attend the main event as an audience member. It will be at the Renberg Theatre in Hollywood on Thursday February 21st. Tickets are on sale now. Visit TheToscars.com for details.

I would also like to thank our valiant team leaders who have taken cont on page 11, col. 1

On a more serious note please take a minute to read the story of this weeks Meet a Member Aaron Ellis. I did mention him in this column a couple of weeks ago, as his partner Anthony has been in hospital and sadly since then he has had to have his big toe amputated. So if you can spare anything to help to ease the pressure of the ever-mounting hospital bills please head over to their GoFundMe page <https://tinyurl.com/AaronEllis2019>

Lastly, we have a pair of tickets to give away to see James Blake at the Fox Theater in Pomona on March 15th. If you would like to enter send us an email to info@britsin.la. # LIVE AND LET DYE?

Macca ditches the hair coloring and opts for a silver fox

SINCE taking the plunge and ditching the hair dye last year Sir Paul McCartney's mop-top is now a bright silvery white.

The Beatles legend, 76, stepped out in New York this week with a shock of grey hair standing straight up in the freezing cold wind.

For many years Sir Paul fought off the telltale sign of ageing by colouring his hair a rich chestnut brown, but now he has decided to embrace the natural look. Last September he appeared on US TV with salt'n'pepper locks for the first time. Fans commended him for his new look saying he "should have done it years ago" and that he looked like a "stunning silver fox".

Sir Paul's not the only celebrity to let Mother Nature take her course.

OWNING IT: Macca let his grey locks flow in New York this week

Former football star David Beckham, 43, was recently seen sporting a silvery do.

After a momentous 2018 which saw Sir Paul release his 17th solo album Egypt Station and embark on an international tour which included a homecoming gig in Liverpool last month - this year promises to be just as busy with an upcoming tour of South and North America and the release of his first children's book Hey Granddude! The picture book about a magical old man and his four grandchildren, was inspired by his family. Explaining the title, he said: "I've got eight grandchildren and they're all beautiful and one day one of them said to me 'Hey Granddude!'." I said 'What?' and I thought, I kind of like that, so from then on I was kind of known as Granddude."

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF RICHARD POLLACK
Case No. 19STPB00308
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of RICHARD POLLACK
A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Dean Pollack and James Pollack in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Dean Pollack and James Pollack be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Feb. 25, 2019 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 99 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

Real Madrid back on top of footy Rich List

■ United down to third, but six EPL teams feature in Top 10

Real Madrid has topped the table of the world's 20 richest football clubs, displacing Manchester United with record revenues of €750.9m (£674.6m).

Man Utd slipped to third with Barcelona making it the first Spanish one-two since 2014-15, said Deloitte.

Its Football Money League, based on season 2017-18, also shows the combined revenues of the top 20 clubs has risen 6% to €8.3bn (£7.4bn), a new record.

There were a record six English Premier League clubs in the top 10.

The list, the 22nd of its kind, only looks at revenues and does not take into account club debts.

This gap this year between the top two places was the second widest yet, with €60.5m between the leading pair.

Real Madrid won their third successive Champions League, beating Liverpool 3-1 in Kiev last May.

That helped raise income for Los Blancos, who have now topped Deloitte's money league 12 times.

The club experienced commercial growth of €54.8m, including an increase in sponsorship and merchandising revenues, as well as exploitation of increasingly lucrative pre-season tour matches.

At €356.2m, Real Madrid now have the highest commercial revenue of any football club globally, contributing to those world-record revenues.

Dan Jones, head of Deloitte's sports business group, said: "Real Madrid's outstanding financial performance in 2017-18 is built on their long history of success on the pitch, most recently three consecutive Champions League titles.

"This has enabled the club to continue to drive commercial revenue as the appetite to partner with Europe's most successful clubs remains stronger than ever."

He said most of Deloitte's top 10 were through to the round of 16 in this season's Champions League and were forecasting further revenue growth.

Bayern Munich and Manchester City completed the top five, retaining their positions from the past two years.

Paris St-Germain, Liverpool, Chelsea, Arsenal, and Tottenham Hotspur occupied places six to 10, with Spurs making it into the top tier for only the second time, having last appeared in 2006-07.

Everton were in 17th spot, Newcastle United 19th, and West Ham United 20th.

Misconduct charge for Wolves boss Nuno

WOLVES manager Nuno Espirito Santo has been charged with misconduct by the FA after he was sent off in his side's 4-3 win against Leicester at Molineux on Saturday.

Nuno ran on to the pitch to celebrate with his players following Diogo Jota's injury-time winner, but was then sent to the stands by referee Chris Kavanagh. The Portuguese, who has until Thursday evening to respond to the charge, could face a fine or touchline ban.

Liverpool manager Jurgen Klopp was fined £8,000 when he charged on to the field to hug goalkeeper Alisson following his side's late win against Everton at Anfield last month. Kavanagh was also the match official on that occasion but did not send off the German. Speaking after Saturday's seven-goal thriller, Nuno said: "It was not a bad intention and it was not meant to be disrespectful.

"It has happened before with other managers and in that moment it is difficult to contain your emotions.

"The law is clear. The referee explained it to me and it was a good decision. He told me I was not allowed to go outside of the technical area."

The victory took Wolves up to eighth in the table on their first season back in the Premier League and skipper Conor Coady says they can use Leicester's "amazing" feats as inspiration for their own promising campaign. Wolves return to action at League One Shrewsbury in the FA Cup fourth round on Saturday after knocking out Liverpool and defender Coady admits Leicester's past glories shows what can be achieved.

"We're ecstatic to win a game like that," he said. "There are some really good Midlands teams and you look at what Leicester did a few years ago.

"What they have done for football is incredible. And what they done for teams outside the top six was amazing."

Defoe scores on Rangers debut - for the sixth time

JERMAIN DEFOE scored an incredible SIXTH debut goal as Rangers lost away at Kilmarnock in midweek.

The England veteran took just 12 minutes to open his Gers account at Rugby Park following his loan move from Bournemouth.

That strike followed debut goals for West Ham, the Cherries, Tottenham, Portsmouth and Toronto.

But Steven Gerrard's men threw away the lead with goals from Eamonn Brophy and Jordan Jones sealing a dramatic comeback win for Killie.

The Liverpool legend hailed Defoe, 36, for getting on the scoresheet and backed him to keep up the good work.

He said: "Jermain gets his goal, that's what he does and what he will do

- I'm sure he will go on and score many more.

"Him and Steven [Davis] will get better and sharper with time. I have to be careful on their load at the moment because they haven't played much football."

Rangers were hoping to reproduce the kind of display that saw them beat Celtic for the first time in the league since 2012 in their final game of 2018.

But having worked so hard to draw level with the Hoops, they now find themselves back to third after freezing on their return to action following the winter break.

Gerrard, when asked if his team had let their Old Firm spoils slip with their fourth defeat of the campaign, said: "I think so.

"We got a lot of praise

STILL BANGING 'EM IN: Jermain Defoe

for beating Celtic. We won every single key individual battle in that game.

"I'm struggling to find one of them tonight. So we deserve the criticism."

Spurs pay penalty as Blues edge through

Carabao Cup: Sarri's men overcome first leg deficit but still need penalty shootout to secure final date with City

Chelsea won a penalty shootout on a night of high drama at Stamford Bridge, overcoming Tottenham to secure a Carabao Cup final meeting with Manchester City.

After an enthralling 90 minutes which saw the tie end 2-2 on aggregate, the tie was settled when David Luiz scored the winning kick after Kepa Arrizabalaga's fine save from Lucas Moura. Chelsea, who have now reached 15 finals in 16 years in all competitions, will face Pep Guardiola's City at Wembley on 24 February.

Blues boss Maurizio Sarri, who said after losing to Arsenal at the weekend that his players are "extremely difficult to motivate", celebrated with his team at the end.

Trailing 1-0 from the semi-final first leg at Wembley, Chelsea were level on aggregate when the unmarked N'Golo Kante drilled in a first-time shot from 20 yards through three pairs of legs after a corner.

Eden Hazard, who Blues boss Sarri said on the eve of the tie "has to do more", fired Chelsea into a 2-1 aggregate lead with an arrowed finish after being picked out by captain Cesar Azpilicueta.

Tottenham were without injured duo Harry Kane and Dele Alli as well as Son Heung-min, who is away with South Korea at the Asian Cup.

They failed to produce a shot on target in the first half but forced penalties when Fernando Llorente converted Danny Rose's cross.

On Saturday, Sarri was critical of his players after a 2-0 defeat Arsenal left his side 13 points behind Premier League leaders Liverpool with 15 games to go.

The Italian can now look forward to a Wembley final in his first season in charge after his team responded with a much improved performance to overturn Tottenham's lead.

It was apt that Hazard should score such a vital

KEY MAN: Eden Hazard scored Chelsea's second goal Thursday night goal.

On the eve of this game, Sarri said the Belgium forward "has to do more" adding: "I prefer him when he speaks with his feet."

Hazard responded by starting and finishing a slick move which made it 2-0 and put Chelsea ahead in the tie for the first time.

Earlier, Kante had given the hosts the perfect start with a lovely finish as Tottenham found themselves on the back foot before responding with a much better second half display to send the tie to penalties.

Chelsea scored all four of their spot kicks - Willian, Azpilicueta, Jorginho and Luiz all keeping their composure.

In contrast, Tottenham missed two of their four kicks - Eric Dier, a World Cup penalty shootout hero for England in Russia, firing over the bar before Moura was denied by Arrizabalaga.

Pep: League Cup is important

PEP GUARDIOLA says Manchester City are determined to retain the League Cup.

After smashing Burton 9-0 in the first leg, City completed an academic second leg Wednesday night to book their place in the final against Chelsea.

City never looked like bettering the record semi-final winning margin of 11 goals over two games. Even after Sergio Aguero's 26th-minute opener, Burton managed to keep the game commendably tight against a much-changed City side who did not need to be at their best. Yet the cup holders duly marked a Wembley final in the diary for Sunday, February 24, having beaten Arsenal in the showpiece last term.

And Guardiola said: "Of course we don't want to give the trophy back. We will try to go back-to-back in the competition. We are going to try to win it.

"We are happy to be in the final and another final for the club is good. We're going to prepare well ... but we know at Wembley it is nice to play that final.

"We took every game seriously and our fans can go to Wembley again. I lived a Wembley final last year and it was so nice with the atmosphere, it's important to be there.

"People say we lack consistency but it's the opposite and we show that in this competition. When you arrive in the final again it is because every game's important."

The Spaniard made eight changes and started Gabriel Jesus on the bench after his four goals in the first leg. But the visitors did include stars such as Aguero as skipper and Kevin De Bruyne in a deeper role just in front of the defence. Riyad Mahrez, who has nine goals this term, put two early chances wide for the visitors. But the Algerian did much better when De Bruyne picked him out with a superb defence-splitting ball. Mahrez then played in Aguero who finished low into the corner for his 15th of the season to round off a move featuring £160million worth of talent.

Aguero could have doubled the lead in the 61st minute but somehow shot wide at close range from a Phil Foden cross. It was a let-off and Burton nearly stung City as they went desperately close to levelling - but Eric Garcia cleared off the line from Will Miller.

Brewers boss Nigel Clough rightly felt his men restored some pride as they worked hard to limit City. Clough said: "For a League One team we caused them as many problems as some Premier League teams. "I'm just disappointed we didn't get a goal."
