What a relief: the pubs are open again!

■ Thirsty Brits expected to splash out half a BILLION in the first week as lockdown continues to ease

MILLIONS of hospitality-starved customers breathed a sigh of relief on Monday as pubs and restaurants aross the UK opened their doors and welcomed them back inside.

After months of restrictions, they flocked to pubs and restaurants and enjoyed meals and drinks inside, well away from the unpredictable weather.

And there were hugs all round all across the UK as groups of up to six people or two households were finally allowed to visit each other's homes.

That meant loved ones could finally meet up at home again.

Hotels and B&Bs were also rolling out their welcome mats and the shows were back on at cinemas, theatres, museums and galleries.

Diners and drinkers were just the first in the queue. Around 104million people were expected to head out to pubs, restaurants and cafes this week and splurge up to £2.5billion. And workers were looking forward to serving them all.

Kate Nicholls, chief executive of UKHospitality, said: "It's been tough, exhausting, an emotional rollercoaster and I know that there are more challenges ahead to get fully open and viable. But today was the beginning of the end and bringing back our teams is the first step to recovery."

Punters had put up with a weekend washout in rainy beer gardens. But the indoor reopening means they will be able to dodge more wet weather forecast this week.

signs of liberation

Ian Snowball, owner of the Showtime Bar in Huddersfield, West Yorks, was thrilled to be offering his customers shelter.

He said: "I don't have to have a hoodie or a coat on any more – it's great. And hopefully we don't have to go back outside again." Sisters Olivia and Isabelle Cundy and other relatives bid £755 to down the first post-lockdown pint pulled at The Packhorse pub, in Southstoke, Somerset, which had been auctioned off for charity.

The Centre for Retail Research expects Britons to spend at least £600m in dining and drinking out withn the first seven days of the lockdown easing.

The reopening also means up to 30 people can attend weddings and receptions, while the number of people who can attend a funeral is no longer capped.

Adult sports and exercise classes also restarted indoors, while steam rooms and saunas reopened

Culture Secretary Oliver Dowden was among the first guests at London's National Gallery as museums and art centres opened their doors again.

Bottoms Up: Rosie Delaney and Isobel Logan celebrate with a cocktail at the Showtime Bar in Huddersfield on Monday

Retiree Lois Brooks, 71, who travelled from Ipswich to be there, said: "I have missed doing this and I think it's going to be really great."

Other signs of liberation include an end to face masks in secondary school classrooms and university students returning to in-person teaching.

But in the high street people are taking a cautious approach to the lockdown easing. The number of shoppers was down by 3.2 per cent on the same day last week.

A decision is yet to be

Break for the sun! Brits flock to 'green list' countries as travel restrictions are lifted

■ 'Lovely food, a drink and freedom. Is there anything better?'

THOUSANDS of excited British holidaymakers headed for the sun this week as international travel resumed.

Debbie, 62, said: "We'11 enjoy some lovely seafood, a drink or two and the taste of freedom... is there anything better?"

Paul and Moira Burtenshaw, Worthing, West Sussex, jetted off to Faro before heading to Albufeira on Portugal's Algarve for a 10-day break.

Moira, 57, said: "Like millions of people we've been dreaming of the sunshine, some nice food and a drink or two.

"It's great to be getting away again. It feels like a little bit of normality has returned."

Thirty holiday flights left for Portugal - the only realistic southern European sunshine destination on the UK approved list - on Monday.

Spain, France, Greece and Malta are currently ranked amber, meaning travellers have to selfisolate for up to 10 days on their return.

He urged Government to rate the US and Caribbean green, saying each day they remain off-limits costs the UK £32million.

Heathrow handles 40 per cent of the UK's exports but during the pandemic that has been down 25 per cent as British Airways has been flying to only around five of its 30 US destination cities.

Inquiry blasts BBC over 'deceitful' Diana interview

■ Martin Bashir's landmark 1996 scoop was secured in 'deceitful' way with faked documents, probe finds

The BBC fell short "high standards of integrity transparency" over Martin Bashir's 1995 interview with Princess Diana, an inquiry has found.

Bashir acted in a "deceitful" way and faked documents to obtain the interview, the inquiry said.

And the BBC's own internal probe in 1996 into what happened was "woefully ineffective", it added.

The BBC and Bashir have both apologised, and the BBC has written to Princes William and Harry.

the report showed "clear failings", admitting it should have made more effort to get to the bottom of what happened at the

As well as Diana's sons, the BBC has also written apologies to Prince Charles and Diana's brother Earl Spencer. It is also returning all awards the interview received, including a TV Bafta won in 1996.

Bashir said mocking up the documents "was a stupid thing to do" and he regretted it, but said they had had no bearing on Diana's decision to be interviewed.

Lord Dyson - the The corporation said retired judge who led the inquiry - found:

- Bashir seriously breached BBC rules by mocking up fake bank statements to gain access to the princess
- He showed the fake documents to Earl Spencer, to gain his trust so he would introduce Bashir to Diana
- By gaining access to Diana in this way, Bashir was able to persuade her to agree to give the interview.

And media as interest in the interview increased, the BBC covered up what it had learnt about how Bashir secured the interview. Lord Dyson said this "fell short of the high standards of integrity and transparency which are its hallmark"

A 1995 letter from Princess Diana published as evidence said she had "no regrets" concerning the matter.

Princess Diana's interview with Bashir for Panorama was a huge scoop for the BBC - in it, the princess famously said: "There were three of us in this marriage."

It was the first time a serving royal had spoken so openly about life in the Royal Family - viewers saw her speak about her unhappy marriage to Prince Charles, their affairs, and her bulimia.

But since then Diana's brother, Earl Spencer, has questioned Bashir's tactics to get the interview.

The independent inquiry was commissioned by the BBC last year, after Earl Spencer went public with the allegations. Its findings published on Thursday.

The earl told BBC Panorama: "Well, the irony is that I met Martin Bashir on the 31st of August 1995 - because exactly two years later she died, and I do draw a line between the two events."

He said it was "quite clear" from when he introduced Bashir to Diana in September 1995 that "everyone was going to be made untrustworthy, and I think that Diana did lose trust in really key people".

Patrick Jephson Diana's former private secretary - said the "destroyed interview remaining links with Buckingham Palace".

He said after the interview, Diana lost "the royal support structure that had guided and safeguarded her for so many years" which "inevitably made her vulnerable to people who didn't have her best interests at heart, or were unable properly to look after her".

Bea expecting first child

There's another royal baby on the way this time for Princess Beatrice and Edoardo Mapelli Mozzi.

Queen Elizabeth's granddaughter announced that she pregnant her first child. This will be the second grandchild for her parents, Prince Andrew and Sarah Ferguson, as her sister Princess Eugenie welcomed son August in February.

The announcement was made in a simple from statement Buckingham Palace early on Wednesday:

'delighted'

"Her Royal Highness Princess Beatrice and Mr Edoardo Mapelli Mozzi are very pleased to announce that they are expecting a baby in autumn of this year."

"The Queen has been informed and both families are delighted with the news."

The new baby will be Queen Elizabeth's 12th greatgrandchild once Prince Harry and Meghan Markle's baby girl arrives in the coming weeks. The news came on the third anniversary of Harry and Meghan's wedding.

The news comes 10 months after Princess Beatrice and Edo, as her husband is affectionately known, tied the knot in a low-key wedding ceremony last July. Only a small group of around 20 close friends and family, including the Queen and Prince Philip, were invited to catch sight of Beatrice walking down the aisle in the gown at the private ceremony, which had to be rescheduled from it's original May 29th date due to the coronavirus pandemic.

Remove their titles! Anger at Harry and Meghan grows following lastest US interview

PALACE aides have called on the Duke and Duchess of Sussex to give up their titles, it has been claimed.

They are said to be angry at Prince Harry following his latest "disgraceful" remarks about the Royal Family.

Senior courtiers have spoken of a growing sense of "bewilderment and betrayal" at his actions since moving to America.

reportedly Thev accused him of a "woeful lack of compassion" after an interview last week with US actor Dax Shepard.

'Shocking'

Aides are said to be incensed at Harry's "shocking" criticism of Prince Charles's parenting skills.

One is reported to "People have said: are appalled that he could do this to the Queen when the Duke of Edinburgh is barely in his grave. To drag his grandfather into this is so shocking and disrespectful.

"The Duke of Sussex has spent a significant amount of time emphasising he's no different to anyone else and attacking the institution which he says has caused him so much pain.

"There is a growing feeling that if you dislike the institution that much, you shouldn't have the titles."

Another source said: "They should put the titles into abeyance, so they still exist, but are not used, like they agreed to do with their HRHs. They should just become Harry and Meghan.

And if they refuse, they have to explain why not."

However, there are no formal moves to strip the couple of their titles.

Tensions are expected to be high when Harry returns to Britain for the unveiling of a statue of his mother, Princess Diana, on July 1 - what would have been her 60th birthday.

36, Harry, told podcaster Shepard he and Meghan moved to California to break the cycle of "genetic pain".

He said of his father: "He's treated me the way that he was treated. There's a lot of genetic pain and suffering that gets passed on anyway.

"Isn't life about breaking the cycle? There's no blame.

"But certainly when it comes to parenting, if I have experienced some kind of pain or suffering because of the pain or suffering that, perhaps, my father or my parents suffered, I'm going to make sure I break that cycle so I don't pass it on."

Brits in LA

Vaccinated! it was a real shot in the arm for me....

Some of you may scoff at what I am about to say, but I am so relieved and grateful to have been vaccinated.

We are so fortunate to have the option to do so and not only that, in LA we even get to choose which one we want and it is free! Whilst a huge majority of people are still dying from this virus and don't have the vaccine readily available to them we are so lucky that we do and not only that we have the option to take it or leave it.

Even the UK has been struggling to vaccinate everyone and has had to make the decision to stretch the gap between the initial shot and the booster to longer than what's recommended. Brits also don't get to ask for their jab of choice. One of my sisters (who lives in London) has had her second one postponed due to lack of supplies. She was very impressed when I told her how it works here. There isn't really a lot to be grateful for right now so I am looking for things to appreciate in every which way I can. Compared to the current atrocities going on around the world we have it pretty good even when it is bad.

I must admit I was a little nervous walking into my appointment, although I do try to ignore the stories of terrible side effects and the conspiracy theories that are going around, some still manage to slip through and make me (ever so slightly) start to have a few doubts ... that's normal though I think and pretty much everyone I have spoken to has experienced a similar feeling. I had read that the second dose can give you stronger symptoms than the first one so I decided it wouldn't hurt to give my immune system a boost. Longtime readers will know I am a huge advocate of B12 shots, I give them much credit for sending my anemia packing and for also keeping me healthy during flu season. Sadly my favourite practitioner (Dr Amy at Lyfe, Health & Aesthetic clinic) is not yet ready to reopen, so I did a little googling couldn't anyone I felt completely comfortable visiting most were evasive with pricing and they all seemed more like beauty parlors rather than actual doctors who care about your wellbeing. As serendipity would have it I was browsing through my Facebook newsfeed only to see a post from a friend that included a photo of her getting a B12 shot!

I love personal recommendations and to date have never been steered wrong by one, so I immediately asked for the details and a few days later got my long awaited vitamin B boost at Beverly Hills Regenerative Medicine

zero side effects

Best of all B12 shots only cost $30 (which is probably cheaper than a visit to your GP and better than the $35 CVS char ge).

My visit was a few days before my second Pfizer injection so I decided to be proactive and get one of their popular multivitamin IV infusions too. I've read about people like Rihanna getting them after a heavy night out, giving her an extra boost thus enabling her to perform a live show. But I've never really considered one for myself; if now isn't the time to boost my immune system when is? A massive thank you to the team at BHRM who spent a good 10 minutes patiently searching for a decent vein to insert the IV; rather than rushing and causing me pain in the process. The infusion took about half an hour which actually flew by and didn't hurt at all.

I slept like a peaceful baby that night and definitely noticed an extra spring in my step the following day. I also lost a couple of pounds which I'm told is due to me getting my fill of much needed nutrients however I also put this down to the B12 which is known to speed up your metabolism. Best of all I had almost zero side effects after my second vaccination. A slightly sore arm and a couple of extra hours in bed but overall nothing! I can't say whether the IV helped or not but I certainly know it didn't hinder my recovery. https://tinyurl. Visit com/BHRMIV if you want to try for yourself. They also offer Covid testing including the ones you need to board a plane which is a muchasked question on our Facebook group!

I will be fully vaccinated at the end of the month and to celebrate I've booked a table at the Cat and the Fiddle for the Champions League final. I am quite excited to venture out into the new world!

Hope to see you soon...

Cheers! Eileen.

Brits in LA

Meet A Member: Jeff Cane

Meet Jeff Cane from Wimbledon. Who moved to LA 30 years ago to follow a hunch...

Was there a particular reason you chose LA?

I didn't choose LA - it chose me! My thengirlfriend and I came on a first visit to see a friend. It was when people asked us what we 'did' we both explained. they When didn't understand her therapy it lit a NEW pioneering fire under me!!

What do you miss most from home?

I might be unique in that I don't miss anything, thanks to Amazon!

What was your first impression of LA and has it changed since?

My first impression was one on endless warmth/ sunshine and hope!! The City of Angels REALLY called me and ironically some of that calling will become evident...

What are the main differences between LA and Wimbledon?

Warmth... plus my accent is an advantage!!

Do you have a hidden gem you would like to share with us?

Sam's Bagels Larchmont (not really hidden), plus me as a gift maker!

What would suggest to others who are thinking about making the move here?

Be real and look for real, plus be sharp and check people out fully. Believe in yourself and the reason you came here. Better to TRY than never having tried at all! To make that 'DREAM' work, you have to 'Wake Up' at some point, one cannot drift off forever no matter how lovely the warmth is...

What is the best piece of advice you've been

Truth be told I don't think I've ever been given such advice but I give plenty....except when dating a gal that I went 'head over heels' for and my great chum said - "get yer power back, mate!"

Where can we find out more about you? Are you working on anything at the moment?

For the past 28 years I have worn an artistic hat that was born out of necessity and in stark opposition to my UK entertainment one. For this 'talent' I became, 'An Englishman in LA'. It was early on in this art career, 1994, that I went back to London to photograph statues of Angels in Highgate cemetery. I made an early reference to this. I did so because a lot of the major art catalogs were pillaging history for angelic content and there was no way I could compete. The photos I took, on film, went on to circle the globe and 17 years after I had had them in many, many gift stores across the US - I got licensed! That deal put four of my angel photos on 52 household products around the world and in a very prominent catalog. That single act probably makes me the person most responsible for putting angels in people's homes!

'An Englishman in LA's start came from an initial idea to try to supply that which I had identified was missing in LALA Land. A personalized gift of European origin, historic looking and highly romantic. To that end, I created 'Parchment Poetry'. The medievallooking parchment (which I made) looked like it had come out of Henry VIII's castle. Upon it in an aged hand was written a poem about the recipient. Each one of three verses started with the initials of their name - it was a big hit!

There are several 'elements' to my story that are truly fascinating that I won't go into here, I'll save those for my interview.

Also: I am trying to get press/documentary interest for my unique UK social media phone pioneering work because I'm talking 42 years ago! I hold the title of first person to ever go viral/ stream music/podcast/ influence using the public and phone lines. I'm the granddaddy of it all - no kidding!!

It's ALL documented here www.thecurlyman. org/history

So there ya go, kiddies try to make good choices and remember the three words written on the blackboard of life that was given to you on day one... USE COMMON SENSE!!

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that SCARLETT NAKASHIMA be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 06/09/21 at 8:30AM in Dept. 29 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES. CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Liverpool win 'semi-final' to take top four race down to the wire

Liverpool boss Jurgen Klopp likened his side's victory at Burnley on Wednesday to winning "a semi-final" that takes them to Sunday's "final" against Crystal Palace and the chance to seal a top-four finish.

Liverpool's incredible win at West Bromwich Albion on Sunday, which featured a last-gasp headed winner from goalkeeper Alisson, kept their Champions League hopes alive and at Turf Moor they built on those heroics with a victory that was much tighter than the scoreline suggests.

A cool finish from Roberto Firmino turned the game Liverpool's way then a first club goal for Nathaniel Phillips and Alex Oxlade-Chamberlain's late drive made the points safe and improved the Reds' goal difference.

The Reds are now in the fourth Champions League spot, level on points with fifth-placed Leicester City and with a goal difference four better than the Foxes.

Klopp's side host the Eagles in Roy Hodgson's last game in charge in four days' time, with 10,000 fans inside Anfield.

The Foxes are at home to Tottenham while Chelsea, who are a point better off than both, are at Aston Villa.

"Today was a semi-final," Klopp told Sky Sports. "We had to win the semi-final and we did.

"Nothing is decided yet but we improved our position and we have the final. That's what we needed. It's what we deserve because this was a top performance.

"Now we have to
