

Queen gives 'gracious' welcome to Joe and Jill

■ President praises 'generous' monarch as she hosts Bidens at Windsor Castle

US PRESIDENT Joe Biden praised the Queen as "generous and gracious" after visiting her at Windsor Castle this week.

Mr Biden and wife Jill looked delighted as they were shown around the royal residence, and were thrilled to be treated to afternoon tea with the monarch.

The Queen, 95, had rolled out the red carpet for her American visitors.

And she was in a sunny mood to match the sweltering heat as she chatted easily with the President and First Lady.

Wearing dark sun glasses and holding his wife's hand, Mr Biden arrived a few minutes earlier than scheduled. He spent almost 45 minutes, slightly longer than anticipated, having tea with the Queen after inspecting a guard of honour in the castle quadrangle and witnessing a military march past.

pageantry

He is the 13th US president to meet the Queen while in office.

Mr Biden, 78, said they had spoken about Russian president Vladimir Putin and China's leader Xi Jinping during afternoon tea, which followed a display of pomp and pageantry from the Grenadier Guards in the castle grounds.

He said: "We had a long talk. She was very generous.

I don't think she'd be insulted, but she reminded me of my mother. In terms of the look of her and just the generosity. She was very gracious."

Mr Biden, speaking at Heathrow before flying out of Britain, said he had invited the Queen to the White House after she asked about it.

He added: "She said, 'What's it like in the White House?' I said, 'Well it's magnificent but it's a lot of people.'"

The Queen may have been wondering how it had changed after several previous visits. She first went to Washington DC as Princess Elizabeth in 1951 with Prince Philip and stayed with President Harry S. Truman and his family.

royal salute

They were driven into the quadrangle in a relatively humble Range Rover - rather than the armoured limousine known as The Beast.

They had already met the Queen on Friday when she attended a reception for G7 leaders at the Eden Project in Cornwall.

The Queen was wearing a Stewart Parvin dress in a floral print jacquard in shades of pink, olive and russet, and she teamed it with a hat by Rachel Trevor-Morgan and the diamond Jardine Star brooch. Mrs Biden wore a powder blue skirt suit.

The carefully choreographed welcome echoed the one given to Donald Trump in 2018, when the controversial then-US President travelled to Windsor to meet the monarch. After a guard of honour formed of The Queen's Company First Battalion Grenadier Guards gave a royal salute, the US national anthem was played beneath blue skies and blistering sun.

The Queen then left Mr Biden to view the guardsmen.

Covid surge delays lockdown easing

■ Delta variant brings worrying spike in numbers; PM postpones lifting all lockdown restrictions to July 19

Britain's latest surge in coronavirus infections gathered pace Thursday with new confirmed cases rising above 10,000 for the first time in nearly four months as a result of the spread of the more contagious delta variant.

Government figures showed another 11,007 cases were reported. That's the highest daily number since Feb. 19, when 12,027 cases were recorded, and cements talk that the country with Europe's highest virus-related death toll is in the midst of a third wave of the pandemic.

The government's chief medical adviser, Professor Chris Whitty, said the height of the current surge is "still uncertain" but that it "will definitely translate into further hospitalizations and, unfortunately, it will undoubtedly translate into further deaths."

Daily cases have risen fairly sharply over the past few weeks after fluctuating around the 2,000 mark earlier. The delta variant, which was first identified in India and is considered by government scientists to be between 40 percent to 80 percent more transmissible than the previous dominant strain, accounts for around 95 percent of all new cases in the U.K.

Most of the new confirmed cases are among younger age groups which have not yet gotten Covid-19 vaccines. The U.K.'s widely praised rollout of vaccines is being extended to all adults over the age of 18 starting Friday, Health Secretary Matt Hancock confirmed.

The spread of the variant upended government plans to lift all remaining restrictions on social contact in England starting next week. On Monday, Prime Minister Boris Johnson delayed the move until July 19, saying now was the "time to ease off the accelerator" so more people could get vaccinated and prevent thousands of more deaths.

Johnson laid out his hope that by July 19, two-thirds of the U.K.'s adult population will have been offered two vaccine shots, including everyone over 50.

The government's figures Thursday showed that another 19 people died after testing positive for the virus, the highest daily death toll reported since May 11. It takes the U.K.'s total deaths in the pandemic to 127,945, the most in Europe.

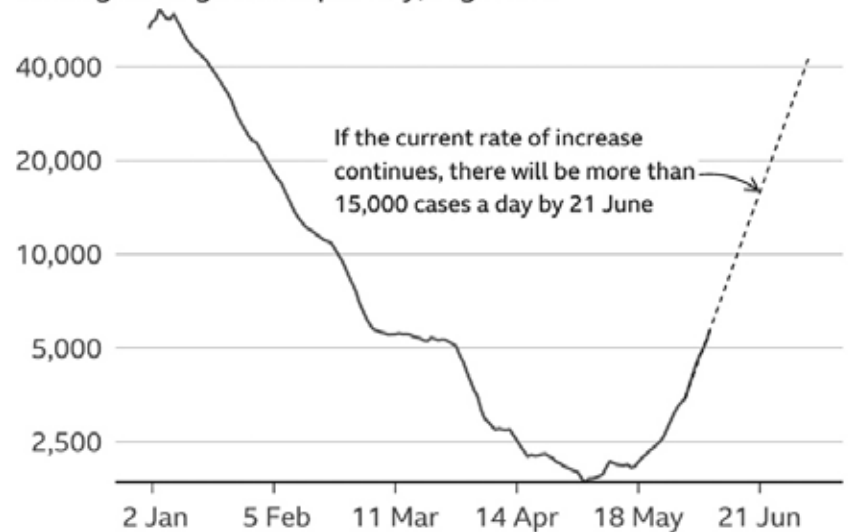

Health Minister Edward Argar said there was a "concerning increase" in cases of the Delta variant and numbers in hospital were "beginning to creep up".

Most severe cases were among unvaccinated people or those who had only one dose, he said, adding that at current rates nearly 10 million second doses could be administered over four weeks to increase protection.

All change... Britons now use cash for just 17% of payments

MORE than one in every four payments last year were contactless, as cash use fell by 35 per cent, figures show.

Coins and banknotes were used for just 17 per cent of payments, says UK Finance.

But only 11 per cent of over-65s are registered for mobile and contactless payments, compared with more than half of 16 to 34-year-olds.

The Government has already said it will legislate to protect future access to cash to ensure older people and those without contactless bank cards are not penalised.

The trade association said 13.7 million people used cash only once a month or not at all last year, nearly doubling from 7.4 million in 2019.

THAT'LL DO NICELY: cash is on the way out

Trends With the contactless transaction limit increased from £30 to £45 in April last year, there were 15.8 billion debit card payments.

David Postings, chief executive of UK Finance, said: "The pandemic resulted in some marked changes in payments behaviour. While it's too early to say whether they are permanent changes, we did see an acceleration in some existing trends. The banking and finance industry is committed to helping customers make payments in a variety of different ways."

With fewer chances to spend in the lockdowns and large parts of the economy shut, the total number of payments fell for the first time in six years to 35.6 billion - down 11 per cent - with cash accounting for 6.1 billion.

Major General Ghika, who commands the Household Division, was the top UK commander in the US-led international anti-Isis coalition until two years ago.

After the visit, the Bidens were seen hugging after a job well done on their first trip to the UK.

welcomed by the Queen since the death of the Duke of Edinburgh in April.

His remark that the Queen reminded him of his late mother is another nod to a figure he has frequently cited since taking office. His mother Jean, who died aged 92 in 2010, has had a profound influence on his life and politics.

Begum: I was a dumb kid, let me come home

■ Former jihadi bride, now wearing skinny jeans and a baseball cap at a Syrian camp, says she needs no rehabilitation

JIHADI bride Shamima Begum this week insisted: "I don't think I was a terrorist, I think I was just a dumb kid."

Begum, 21, with painted finger nails, a Nike cap and skinny jeans has begged to come home.

And she said she does not need to be rehabilitated.

The schoolgirl from Bethnal Green, east London, claimed she was brainwashed by extremists when she left the UK aged 15 and travelled to Syria in 2015.

Asked what she would say to those back in Britain, Begum replied: "Can I come home please, pretty please?"

In February, Begum lost a Supreme Court appeal to return to the UK.

It came after former Home Secretary Sajid Javid stripped her of British citizenship in 2019 on national security grounds. Mr Javid made the ruling shortly after she was found nine months pregnant in the al-Hawl refugee camp in Syria. Her newborn child later died there.

Begum's two other children, with the Dutch jihadist she married while living under the rule of terror group IS, also died young of disease or malnutrition.

But in an interview for a new documentary from the al-Roj prison camp in Syria, where she is now being held, Begum said: "I don't think I was a terrorist. I think I was just a dumb kid who made one mistake.

"I personally don't think that I need to be rehabilitated, but I would want to help other people be rehabilitated.

I would love to help." She was speaking to filmmaker Andrew Drury for his TV show, Danger Zone.

Explaining why she now wears trendy Western clothes, Begum told him: "I wear these clothes, and I don't wear a hijab, because it makes me happy. And anything in this camp that makes me happy is like a lifesaver."

On Friday a London court was told that there is "overwhelming evidence" that Begum was a victim of trafficking when she left the UK.

Begum lost a Supreme Court appeal to return to the UK in February

Ms Begum's lawyers told the Special Immigration Appeals Commission (SIAC) at a hearing on Friday that the Home Office had a legal duty to investigate whether Ms Begum was a victim of trafficking when her citizenship was revoked.

Samantha Knights QC

said "the counter-terrorism unit had suspicions of coercion and control" at the time Ms Begum left the UK, which she argued "gives rise to the need to investigate the issue of trafficking".

In written submissions, Ms Begum's legal team said the Home Office failed to consider whether she was "a child trafficked to, and remaining in, Syria for the purposes of sexual exploitation and forced marriage".

Ms Begum also wants to challenge the removal of her British citizenship on the grounds that it made her "de facto stateless" and that the decision was procedurally unfair.

Invading tartan army make merry in central London

'HELPING LONDON'S ECONOMY' Scottish fans in Leicester Square

Swarms of England and Scotland fans descended on parts of central London in the pouring rain on Friday ahead of the teams' clash at Wembley in Euro 2020.

Hundreds of supporters wearing their country's shirts, flags and kilts were chanting, singing and playing bagpipes at Leicester Square, Kings Cross and Hyde Park.

The much-anticipated match, the 115th in international football's oldest rivalry, is the first time the two sides have met in a major tournament since Euro 96, when Paul Gascoigne's famous goal sealed a 2-0 win.

Scotland fan Rab Foulis said supporters were "bringing a party atmosphere" to the city and "helping London's economy".

Speaking near Kings Cross, Mr Foulis said he had been waiting 23 years since wanting to go to the 1998 World Cup in France, where Scotland played their last major tournament but his wife did not let him.

Ecstatic that his new wife has allowed him to go to the Euros, he said: "We waited 23 years.

"Everybody's throwing a party atmosphere. We've all had double vaccinations and we're saying, you know what, why is Britain as a country still holding the economy back?"

"So we're here and we're helping London's economy."

Speaking in the pouring rain, Charlotte Gammie, 27, from Dundee said: "I think we'd literally come out in the rain, snow, sleet, anything.

"I think it actually proves how much we obviously all want this and hopefully we go out and win it today."

Another fan Mark Graham said: "It's a pity but it looks like Scotland will make their own fan zones.

"We've booked a pub for last night and a pub for tonight so we're well prepared."

Scotland supporter Gordon Mackey, from Dunblane, said: "I'm a big fan and it's been a long time actually, I think the last time I enjoyed this was 1990 and watched Scotland lose to Costa Rica and there was just as much excitement."

The match itself proved less exciting, finishing in a goalless draw.

Met boss faces calls to quit over axe murder cover-up

BRITAIN'S top police officer is facing calls to resign after her force was branded "institutionally corrupt" over the unsolved 1987 axe murder of private eye Daniel Morgan.

Metropolitan Police commissioner Dame Cressida Dick was accused of "lack of candour" and obstructing an independent panel.

Panel chairwoman Baroness Nuala O'Loan said a catalogue of failings in the case had been denied or covered up and the force's prime objective had been to "protect itself".

Her blistering verdict came as Home Secretary Priti Patel called the Morgan case "one of the most devastating" in the Met's history.

She has demanded a response from Dame Cressida to the panel's recommendations and wider issues in its 1,200-page report.

Mr Morgan's brother Alastair said Dame Cressida, 60, should "absolutely" be considering her position, but Prime Minister Boris Johnson was quick to say she retained his confidence.

crooked officers

Father-of-two Mr Morgan, 37, was killed in the car park of the Golden Lion pub in Sydenham, south London, in 1987.

Despite five police inquiries costing at least £30million and an inquest, no one was brought to justice.

Scotland Yard has admitted crooked officers hampered the initial murder inquiry.

Dame Cressida apologised to Mr Morgan's family, but

DANIEL MORGAN: his 1987 murder in a London car park continues to haunt the Metropolitan Police insisted the panel was given full co-operation.

Ms Patel said the report found the Met was guilty of a "litany" of mistakes that "irreparably damaged" the chances of a successful prosecution.

She said: "This is one of the most devastating episodes in the history of the Metropolitan Police."

seriously flawed

Mr Morgan's family said: "We welcome the recognition that we – and the public at large – have been failed over the decades by a culture of corruption and cover-up in the Metropolitan Police."

The panel said: "The family of Daniel Morgan suffered grievously as a consequence of the failure to bring his killers to justice, the unwarranted assurances which they were given, the misinformation which was put into the public domain, and the denial of failings in investigation."

"Concealing or denying failings, for the sake of the organisation's public image...constitutes a form of institutional corruption."

The initial murder probe was seriously flawed. The scene was left unguarded and no alibis were sought for all the suspects.

The report said:

You CAN teach an old dog new tricks...

■ Deaf border collie learns sign language so she can keep herding sheep

WHEN elderly sheepdog Peggy went deaf it looked like her herding days were over – until she learned sign language.

The border collie was signed over to the RSPCA when her owners could no longer communicate with her.

But RSPCA animal welfare manager Chloe Shorten fell in love with the farm dog. And she vowed to help nine-year-old Peggy get back to the job she loved.

Sheepdogs are traditionally trained to obey whistles or voice commands, with short, simple instructions such as Away, Come-by, and Steady.

But now, Peggy is back in the field after learning to read hand signals and body language from Chloe and her husband Jason, 34 – who is a shepherd. Chloe, 28, who works at the charity's Mid Norfolk and North Suffolk branch, said:

CRESSIDA DICK: Boris Johnson has given her his full support...for now

"From the beginning, there were allegations that police officers were involved in the murder and that corruption by police officers played a part in protecting the murderer(s) from being brought to justice."

Officers trying to report failings were "ostracised, transferred to a different unit, encouraged to resign, or have faced disciplinary proceedings".

Dame Cressida was criticised for her initial refusal to allow the panel team access to the police data system.

She said: "It is a matter of great regret that no one has been brought to justice and that our mistakes have compounded the pain suffered by Daniel's family.

For that I apologise again now."

A £50,000 reward is still on offer for information leading to the successful prosecution of those responsible for Mr Morgan's murder.

YOU NEED HANDS: Chloe Shorten with her border collie Peggy

"We completely fell in love with Peggy.

"We knew she wanted to be working so we started the long process of teaching her how to herd and work with a shepherd without relying on voice commands. We started by teaching her to look at us for hand signals.

"We used repetitive and positive reinforcement and instead of pairing a verbal command with an action, we'd use a physical hand gesture.

"Now she reads our hand signals and body language as a way of telling what we're asking for."

A thumbs up means "good girl", a flat, outstretched palm means stop and patting their knees brings her to them.

Chloe said: "It can be difficult with a deaf dog, because you have to wave at them to get their attention, and sometimes she doesn't realise straight away."

Now Peggy helps with the couple's other two working sheepdogs, Sid and Nora.

Chloe added: "It's amazing to see her with this new lease of life and enjoying her life with us."

Favourite royal grandchild divorces 'amicably'

THE Queen's eldest grandson Peter Phillips this week finalised his divorce with estranged wife Autumn.

After 12 years of marriage the couple, (pictured, right) who have two daughters Savannah, nine, and Isla, seven, – announced in February that they were separating.

A statement said: "Whilst this is a sad day for Peter and Autumn, they continue to put the well-being and upbringing of their wonderful daughters first and foremost.

"Both Peter and Autumn are pleased to have resolved matters amicably with the children firmly at the forefront of those thoughts."

Peter, 43, is the son of Princess Anne. Said to be the Queen's favourite grandchild, he is the first to divorce.

The couple met at the 2003 Canadian Grand Prix, where at the time Autumn was working for the Canadian Security Intelligence Service.

PM hails Aussie trade deal

BRITAIN celebrated a "fantastic" Brexit boost after securing a trade deal with Australia this week.

Boris Johnson sealed an agreement in principle for zero-tariff, zero-quota commerce with Australian premier Scott Morrison in talks at Downing Street.

It will be the first trade deal negotiated from scratch since the UK regained control of trade policy by leaving the EU.

And the deal, set to boost UK firms by £1billion a year, will unleash the full power of global Britain, the PM insisted.

Mr Johnson said: "Today marks a new dawn in the UK's relationship with Australia, underpinned by our shared history and common values.

"Our new free-trade agreement opens fantastic opportunities for British businesses and consumers, as well as young people wanting the chance to work and live on the other side of the world. This is global Britain at its best – looking outwards and striking deals that deepen our alliances and help ensure every part of the country builds back better from the pandemic.

"By seizing the vast opportunities of Brexit to drive our economic recovery with a tariff-free deal that will boost industries that employ 3.5 million across the country.

"Today's deal will create incredible opportunities for British businesses and consumers.

"This is just the start of the world of opportunities we are grasping as an independent trading nation.

"We are already making excellent progress towards striking more tailored trade deals with like-minded allies across the globe.

"And today's deal paves the way for us to join the Trans-Pacific Partnership, a £9trillion free trade area of some of the world's largest and most dynamic economies.

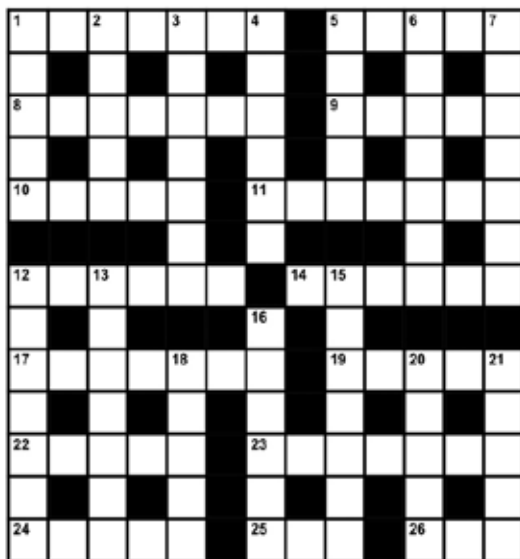

"It will be good news for British car manufacturers, for British services, for British financial services.

"And it will be good news for the agricultural sector on both sides."

Brits in LA

No masks! it's a brave new world for the fully vaxxed

So Los Angeles is now fully open ... apparently.

If we are fully vaccinated we now don't have to wear masks except for when a business asks us to.

I've got so used to being masked up, I now feel a bit naked without one. Although earlier this week I had to invite a plumber into my home. It was only 11.30 am and already a sweltering 90 degrees. I didn't put my noisy air conditioning on as I was terrified of missing their knock at the door, so I happened to be maskless upon the arrival of said plumber and my greeting to him was probably going to be one of the most overused salutations of 2021... "I'm fully vaccinated, how about you?" followed with a big thumbs up. To my relief he was too, and even joked that I need to show him proof. At least I think he was joking... but he happily slipped off his mask and we continued on our appointment 'unprotected'. This did feel slightly precarious but liberating at the same time. I didn't even sanitize the door handles after he left; although that doesn't mean I haven't since!

It wasn't until later that day that I realized how nice it was to see a whole face and especially a smile. It made the whole encounter much more pleasant. I'm sure we have all tried our best to articulate our feelings through our eyes and eyebrows, accompanied by exaggerated hand gestures but who knows if our intention is understood or just gets lost in translation.

Many of us were disappointed to hear that the UK is not opening up quite just yet. Whilst it is frustrating I do respect their current position, as at the time of writing only just over half of the population are fully vaccinated. Cases are on the rise again, so really it would be silly to rush when they are almost at the final hurdle. Understandably, it has caused a lot of confusion, anger and upset. Not surprisingly we have received so many messages asking for advice and clarification on the ever-changing rules that we decided we had to add 'Travel' to our recently formed Immigration Group on Facebook. We have added at least 400 new members to this group over the last month, which just goes to show how anxious and bewildered everyone is feeling right now. But on the bright side, it has turned out to be a fantastic forum that has helped so many Brits in LA who had nowhere else to turn.

Big thanks

Members who have already completed their trips are sharing their experiences, which includes tips on where to get the requisite government-approved testing at the best price and also relaying tales of policeman knocking at their door at unlawful hours to check that they are actually quarantining.

A special mention must go out to Jonathan Cowley of Corniche Travel, who has guided so many of us through the twists and

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: Just as your boss Mars comes back into power for you in Leo, doors will open again. You could be deciding which one to go through, although right now patience and calmness are your best choice.

TAURUS: For most folks having being somewhat isolated has been a problem and while you have had your moments of frustration you got over it. However currently you are doing ok. Keep focused and you will soon get back to normal.

GEMINI: If you are feeling a little overwhelmed by an issue it's a good idea for you normally busy people is to really look at how many times you got over difficult situations. Put your energy on a short pleasure trip and think about work later. Happy Birthday!

CANCER: You should be getting plans organized for the latter part of the week ahead. Just don't be too worried if life is still on hold for you. Mars in your life is about to go forward into your money house and lighten up your cash flow.

LEO: You should know by now in this present environment that the greatest gift you can give to others is patience. You have been a busy bee and hopefully achieved space in your life for new beginnings now.

VIRGO: Just when you are ready to get going in life again along comes your boss Mercury going backwards. Not much you can achieve until the end of the month. Instead of worrying focus on the here and now.

LIBRA: Trying to get moving through a pile of mud is the general atmosphere out there recently. Well, get on your thinking cap and dig yourself out. Changing how you look at this is the way to go.

SCORPIO: You should be working on an overall clearing out plan currently. Your boss in Leo brings you extra energy soon. He can also greatly assist you in getting to your goals. A big decision is coming when it's the right time.

SAGITTARIUS: Be sure you don't speak out in a combative way over a tense situation these next few days. It's not a bad situation overall, but since others are trying to control things it's best to keep your own counsel.

CAPRICORN: Some easing up of your recent family or personal situation is happening (or soon will). Keep an eye on it but keep out of it for now. Your boss Saturn is going backwards and is raking up the past.

AQUARIUS: The current times are reasonably good for you due to your boss Uranus in solid earthy Taurus. However, some days you could feel like you are on a roller coaster. This too shall pass.

PISCES: You are getting ready to rumble and while you feel the turmoil of the recent past you also know you will always survive. Get ready good times are heading your way!

turns that the American and British governments have thrown at us, and receives daily posts full of praise and thanks for all of his efforts. He helped me get back to LA right at the beginning of the pandemic, at no charge might I add. He just used his inside knowledge to help me get on a flight that had the least chance of getting cancelled, and it worked! He has assisted many of our members in obtaining an NIE (National Interest Exception) which enables people who are not residents or citizens of the US to fly direct to America rather than spending 14 days in an approved country before entering - although Mexico, Barbados, Antigua and St Lucia are just some of the places you can stop at, so why rush?

The other issue many of you seem to be having right now is securing an appointment to renew your visa. It seems that many of the US Embassies are either canceling or have long wait times. If this applies to you I highly recommend you join the group as embassy recommendations seem to change on a weekly basis.

If you are Facebook you can join by visiting facebook.com/groups/BritsinLAImmigration. Otherwise email us at BritsinLA@gmail.com and we will try and help.

The other popular topic is of course 'Where Can I Watch the Euros.' All of the British bars are screening the matches but if you need more info you can either email us or visit www.Britsin.la Hopefully by the time you are reading this we are celebrating England, Scotland and Wales going through to the next round (and perhaps a travel corridor between the UK & USA!) Cheers! Eileen

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF STEPHEN KALMAN

Case No. 21STPB05171
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of STEPHEN KALMAN
A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Lela A. Osborne in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Lela A. Osborne be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on June 25, 2021 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 79 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF ESTHER COOK SHERMAN aka ESTHER SHERMAN aka ESTER SHERMAN

Case No. 21STPB05357
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of ESTHER COOK SHERMAN aka ESTHER SHERMAN aka ESTER SHERMAN

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Howard Jasan Sherman in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Howard Jasan Sherman be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on July 8, 2021 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 9 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER AND ALL OTHER INTERESTED PARTIES: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether this sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 916-939-0772 or visit this internet website: www.nationwideposting.com using the file number assigned to this case: S19-12018. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (916) 939-0772 or visit this internet website www.nationwideposting.com using the file number assigned to this case S19-12018 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. IMPORTANT NOTICE: Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, the sale shall be subject to the following as provided in California Civil Code Section 5715: "A non judicial foreclosure sale by an association to collect upon a debt for delinquent assessments shall be subject to a right of redemption. The redemption period within which the separate interest may be redeemed from a foreclosure sale under this paragraph ends 90 days after the sale." Bale shines bright as Wales roast Turkey

■ Skipper shows his class with two assists - but makes a dog's dinner of penalty kick

GARETH BALE helped Wales put one foot in the knockout stages last night – and then apologised to his teammates for making them sweat.

Wales produced a brilliant display in Baku to beat Turkey.

Skipper Bale set up goals for Aaron Ramsey and Connor Roberts – but also ballooned a penalty over the bar. It mattered little though as Roberts went on to wrap up the win, before praising star duo Bale and Ramsey.

Full-back Roberts said: "They are world-class players.

"Gareth said he was sorry for missing the penalty but without them I don't think we win."

Bale, Wales' record goalscorer, picked out Ramsey to score before the break and then did the same for Roberts in stoppage time.

But after winning a penalty in the 60th minute when he was fouled by Mehmet Zeki Celik, he fired over the bar from the spot.

Bale said: "We fought hard, we worked our socks off, like we always do. "Yes, I missed a penalty but I feel I showed good character to keep going.

"We needed that victory more than anything and the second goal at the end was the icing on the cake.

"If you'd offered us four points at the start we would have bitten your hand off. We are happy, it puts us in a great position."

Ramsey, who plays for Serie A giants Juventus, is now looking forward to taking on Italy in their own back yard on Sunday.

He said: "We are in a good position.

"I have a few teammates who play for Italy but I'm representing my country and want to do everything to win that game as well. It will be a good battle."

KEY PLAY: Bale picked out Ramsey for the game's opening goal

Dragons boss Rob Page hinted he could make changes for Sunday's final group game.

But he vowed: "We will pick a team which can go and compete. We don't fear anybody. When we play like that we have goals in the team.

"I couldn't be more proud of the players. To create that number of chances against a very good team in Turkey is unbelievable.

"We are disappointed we have not scored more goals."

"Not a time to panic" insists Root after New Zealand Test fiasco

CRICKET: Second LV Insurance Test: (Edgbaston) Day Four: England 303 & 122; New Zealand 388 & 41-2. New Zealand won by eight wickets

Captain Joe Root said it is "not a time to panic" after England were thrashed by eight wickets in the second Test by New Zealand at the weekend.

The Black Caps wrapped up victory inside an hour on day four at Edgbaston to consign England to a first series defeat at home since 2014.

England face India in five Tests later this summer before trying to regain the Ashes in Australia this winter.

"We've massively underperformed," Root told BBC Test Match Special.

"But we've got a lot of cricket still to play this summer and there is a lot of cricket to be played between now and the Ashes.

"We've just got to stay calm and trust what we've been doing for a long time now. That is going to be really important."

The match seemed finely poised after New Zealand compiled 388 runs for the first innings in reply to the hosts' 303, but Root's men suffered a third day collapse to 122 all out in their second innings, leaving the Black Caps to canter to an eight wicket win, making the required 41 for two wickets with no drama.

"You can have bad sessions with the ball but you can't have sessions like that with the bat," said Root.

Stone was removed with the first ball of day four to leave New Zealand only 38 to secure a 1-0 series victory - their first series win in England since 1999.

New Zealand, the top-ranked Test side in the world, face India in the inaugural World Test Championship final at the Ageas Bowl from Friday, but had made six changes from the drawn first Test at Lord's.

England were without all-rounder Ben Stokes and fast bowler Jofra Archer because of injury, while wicketkeeper Jos Buttler and all-rounder Chris Woakes were rested.

"New Zealand have schooled us a little bit this week," said Root, who before this had never lost a home series since taking over as captain in 2017.

"There is still plenty of learning to do, but if you can marry that with the talent and ability that our batters have got, we could see some really big scores by the back end of the year."

It is England's first home series defeat since 2014, when Sri Lanka won a two-match series 1-0 and New Zealand's first success in England in 22 years.

Benitez closing in on Everton job

Rafa Benitez is close to taking over as Everton manager following positive talks with the club's board.

Multiple reports from Merseyside suggest the Spaniard, who has been out of work since leaving Chinese side Dalian Yifang in January, was the No 1 choice of the Everton hierarchy.

The former Liverpool and Chelsea manager is close to return to the Premier League two years after he left Newcastle United.

Everton had also been in talks with former Wolves boss Nuno Espirito Santo over becoming Carlo Ancelotti's successor while David Moyes was also understood to be a front-runner before he signed a new contract with West Ham.

Ancelotti left his role as manager to return to Real Madrid earlier this month after 18 months at Goodison Park. He guided the Toffees to a 10th-placed finish in the Premier League this season.

Benitez managed Everton's rivals Liverpool from 2004 to 2010 and lifted the Champions League, FA Cup and the UEFA Super Cup during his time at Anfield.

Bore draw for Auld Enemies

Well drilled Scots impress to leave England frustrated at Wembley

England and Scotland played out a goalless draw at Wembley to leave both countries with their hopes of reaching Euro 2020's knockout stage very much alive.

The first meeting between the men's teams in a major tournament since Euro 96 was played out in a typically raucous atmosphere despite only 22,500 fans in attendance - and both sides had big opportunities to win.

But England struggled while Scotland shone as they drew 0-0 for the first time ever at Wembley in the 115th meeting between the two nations.

The England captain Harry Kane again failed to have an impact and was subbed with 16 minutes to go, while Steve Clarke's Scotland impressed, particularly in midfield where 20-year-old Billy Gilmour held his own on his first international start.

Most of the honours must go to the visitors, who bounced back from their opening defeat to the Czech Republic at Hampden Park with real resilience and character to fully deserve this important point. It was The Tartan Army who were elated at the final whistle while England's players heard the sound of loud jeering from their supporters.

England, who were sluggish and disappointing, should have taken the lead early on when John Stones headed Mason Mount's corner against the woodwork.

As Scotland settled and improved, England were grateful to Jordan Pickford's superb save from Stephen O'Donnell and a goal-line clearance from Reece James to divert Lyndon Dykes' goal-bound shot after the break.

Gareth Southgate's side, with a win over Croatia in the bag, now have a chance to overtake the Czech Republic and win Group D in their final game while Scotland will chase victory against Croatia at Hampden Park.

Scotland's players punched the air with delight when the final whistle sounded and they had secured a point that keeps them in the mix going into their final game.

Manager Steve Clarke had his team well-drilled and, once they had survived an uncertain start, they gave as good as they got. The heroes' welcome they received when they went to thank the rain-sodden Tartan Army at the final whistle was thoroughly deserved.

England had plenty of possession in the second half but this must never be portrayed as a Scottish rearguard action. It was anything but.

bright start

Yes, they were forced back for periods but were always positive, on the lookout to attack and it needed that crucial intervention from James to deny Dykes a winner.

And in 20-year-old Billy Gilmour, on his first Scotland start, they had the game's outstanding performer, the Chelsea's midfielder showing his class on the ball and a real fighting spirit in the physical challenges. It was an outstanding, mature display.

Arsenal's Kieran Tierney also showed how much he was missed in that Czech defeat with a powerhouse performance that must give Scotland real hope against Croatia.

Clarke got it right tactically but England counterpart Southgate has questions to ponder. There is no doubt who will be the happier manager. England were efficient rather than spectacular in victory against Croatia on Sunday but it was very much a case of job done to set the platform to face the old enemy in a repeat of that Euro 96 encounter.

Instead, England faded badly after a bright start although Raheem Sterling was furious when Spanish referee Antonio Mateu Lahoz ignored his pleas for a second-half penalty when he tangled with Andrew Robertson.

England did not deserve victory but they are still in a very healthy position going into their final game.

Kane sluggish

That does not mean Southgate can be satisfied after what was a very disappointing night - especially as he faces a dilemma he could not have been contemplating before this tournament started.

Captain Harry Kane was poor before his substitution against Croatia on Sunday and was equally anonymous here. He looked sluggish, off the pace and short on threat. It was no surprise

KANE NOT ABLE: England's captain was subbed after a disappointing night when he was replaced by Marcus Rashford with 16 minutes left, even though England were desperately chasing a winner.

In his defence, Kane has been starved of good service. To suggest his place is in question is unthinkable but there can be no doubt Southgate wants and needs a lot more from his world-class captain.

And Aston Villa's Jack Grealish may now also play a bigger part in the equation, although he could not alter the pattern of this game after he replaced Phil Foden.

England's fans have made Grealish very much the people's champion and were chanting his name long before he eventually came on.
