

'NO RAF PLANES WILL LEAVE KABUL EMPTY'

■ As anger mounts over Taliban fiasco, Defence Secretary pledges to evacuate all Britons and up to 20,000 Afghans

No plane carrying Britons and Afghans from Kabul has left empty, the UK defence secretary has said.

Ben Wallace on Thursday rejected reports that some flights from Kabul contained only a few people, saying the UK was "absolutely ploughing through the numbers".

He told BBC Breakfast "every hour counts" and confirmed "the Taliban are letting our people through".

Mr Wallace said seven to 10 RAF planes were taking off every day, with at least 138 due on the next flight out.

About 4,500 US troops are in temporary control of Karzai International Airport in the nation's capital, but Taliban fighters and checkpoints ring the perimeter.

The Taliban are blocking Afghans without travel documents - but even those with valid papers have struggled.

Mr Wallace said the UK would continue to stay in Afghanistan as long as the US ran airport, but said the government was investing in "third country hubs" for processing people in the region.

He said the passengers on the flights out of Afghanistan this week have included British government personnel, British citizens, media and human rights staff and Afghans who had worked for the UK.

deadline

The UK has committed to take in up to 20,000 Afghan refugees over the next few years under a new resettlement scheme - including 5,000 this year.

About 2,000 Afghan former staff and their families have already come to the UK under the separate Afghan Relocations and Assistance Policy (ARAP), according to the Home Office, with a target of 5,000 by the end of 2021.

Meanwhile, Labour has accused Foreign Secretary

Dominic Raab of putting interpreters' lives at risk after he declined to phone the Afghan foreign minister to get help for the evacuation.

But Mr Wallace said "the only thing that mattered" was whether Kabul airport would continue to allow people to get out, telling Breakfast: "No amount of phone calls to an Afghan government at that time would have made any difference."

US President Joe Biden said US troops may stay in Afghanistan beyond his withdrawal deadline at the end of this month.

He told ABC News between 10,000 and 15,000 Americans needed to be evacuated, along with 50,000 to 65,000 Afghans such as former translators for the American military.

The latest UK flight from Afghanistan landed at RAF Brize Norton in Oxfordshire in the early hours of Thursday morning.

Mr Wallace said a plane left Kabul Thursday morning carrying "115 people and their families - those are the Afghans on there as opposed to other personnel".

He added: "None of our planes are leaving empty... our planes never leave empty. If we have spaces on them, we offer them up to other nations."

He said: "We have a full programme today of many more people coming out - trying to reach our... capability towards the end of the month. And that is so far on track... we are doing it as fast as we can."

Mr Wallace said many of the flights were at full capacity.

"You and I wouldn't be allowed to fly some of the way those planes are flying in safety, so we are taking considerable risk", he said, adding: "Alongside those people will be troops or others coming in and out."

The defence secretary said additional UK troops would be deployed to Afghanistan to help manage public order on the ground at Kabul airport.

News From Britain

200 Paras go in as Taliban take over

200 British Paratroopers flew into Afghanistan this week to save thousands of Britons fleeing Taliban forces in Kabul.

As the nightmarish scenes from the capital were beamed around the world - showing hordes of terrified Afghans attempting to escape, with many falling to their deaths as they tried to cling to the few departing jets in the hope of fleeing the radicals' lightning coup, Mr Johnson sent in 200 soldiers from 2nd Battalion, Parachute Regiment (2 Para) to bolster the evacuation to the UK of Britons and key Afghan aides by the 700 members of 16 Air Assault Brigade in place.

But Defence Secretary Ben Wallace, his voice breaking with emotion, warned: "It's a really deep part of regret for me, erm...some people won't get back.

And we will have to do our best, and third countries, to process those people."

Asked why he was taking it so personally, the former Army officer replied: "Because I'm a soldier - because it's sad, and the West has done what it's done, and we have to do our very best to get people out and stand by our obligations and 20 years of sacrifice."

The Prime Minister increased the Army contingent after a third meeting in recent days of Cobra - the Whitehall emergency committee of senior ministers and security officials - discussed the crisis and possible fresh terror threats.

He also pressed for a united Western response to the militants' violent return to power after two decades, speaking to French President Emmanuel Macron in a flurry of calls from No 10.

A Downing Street spokeswoman said: "The UK team in Afghanistan is working around the clock in incredibly difficult circumstances to help British nationals and as many others as we can get to safety as soon as possible.

"At the same time, we are bringing together the international community to prevent a humanitarian crisis emerging in Afghanistan - it's in everyone's interest not to let Afghanistan fail.

"That means providing whatever support we can to the Afghan people who have worked so hard to make the country a better place over the last twenty years."

THE CENTER CANNOT HOLD: The PM this week sent in 200 soldiers from 2nd Battalion, Parachute Regiment (2 Para) to bolster the evacuation to the UK of Britons and key Afghan aides

Dominic Raab insisted the UK will lead efforts to "hold the Taliban to account" and to stop Afghanistan returning to be a breeding ground for terrorism.

The Foreign Secretary said up to 500 evacuated persons were due to land back in the UK this week, most of which were British nationals but some of whom were Afghan interpreters.

Mr Raab also had to defend himself against criticism for being on holiday as the Islamist militants swept back into power.

He claimed the whole world was "taken by surprise" but said he was in constant touch with events throughout his break - thought to be Cyprus - as the crisis worsened.

He only cut short his trip as Kabul fell on Sunday.

But his absence and silence provoked dismay from fellow Tories and from Labour - its leader Sir Keir Starmer said Mr Raab ought to have returned sooner and described the Government response a "slow pace".

Mr Wallace said yesterday he had not known where Mr Raab was as the Taliban seized control but added: "I've spoken to him every day." Tobias Ellwood MP, chairman of the Commons defence select committee, said: "This is the biggest military challenge in a generation.

"Everybody should be working their hardest."

'Big-hearted' Britain to take 20,000 refugees

BRITAIN is ready to welcome more than 20,000 Afghan refugees desperate to escape the Taliban.

Women and girls will be given priority under the plans announced by the Government this week. Downing Street officials said thousands at risk following the extremist takeover of their country will come over the next year.

Prime Minister Boris Johnson said: "We owe a debt of gratitude to all those who have worked with us to make Afghanistan a better place over the last 20 years.

"Many of them, particularly women, are now in urgent need of our help. I am proud that the UK has been able to put in place this route to help them and their families live safely in the UK."

Foreign Secretary Dominic Raab said: "We're working very carefully. We are obviously a bighearted nation. We've got the criteria for asylum, that's set in law, we work with the UN on that.

"We're working very carefully on what kind of further commitment we might make."

Mr Raab also admitted the Government had been taken by surprise by the lightning takeover of Afghanistan by the Taliban as US and other allied troops withdrew. The Foreign Secretary said "no one" saw the situation in Afghanistan coming and that the UK "would have taken action if we had".

He added: "The truth is, across the world, people were caught by surprise.

"I haven't spoken to an international interlocutor, including countries in the region, over the last week, who hasn't been surprised."

The new Afghan Citizens' Resettlement Scheme will protect women and girls from threats of human rights abuses, along with members of religious minorities at risk of persecution under the Islamic emirate planned by Taliban chiefs who took control of Kabul.

The Prime Minister added: "The best solution for everyone is an Afghanistan that works for all Afghans. That means the international community coming together to set firm, political conditions for the country's future governance."

Firearm review ordered following Plymouth mass shooting

■ Five dead after gun is returned to killer

A review into how Devon and Cornwall Police handles firearms licenses is to be carried out following the UK's worst mass shooting since 2010.

Five people were killed by Jake Davison during the 12-minute attack in Plymouth on Thursday.

The region's police and crime commissioner said the review would check the force was "following national guidance correctly".

The inquiry will be overseen by the National Police Chiefs Council.

Alison Hernandez,

Police and Crime Commissioner for Devon and Cornwall, announced on Wednesday she was assisting the chief constable to organise the "fast review" into the force's procedures.

Davison's gun and certificate had been seized in December 2020 following an assault allegation the previous September.

Both were returned to him in July.

The Independent Office for Police Conduct (IOPC) is already investigating a decision to return Davison's license.

The victims have been named as Maxine Davison, 51, Stephen Washington, 59, Kate Shepherd, 66, Lee Martyn, 43, and Sophie Martyn, three.

Coroner Ian Arrow, who opened their inquests on Thursday morning in Plymouth heard evidence from senior investigating officer Det Ch Insp Steve Hambly, who said all five victims had died from shotgun wounds.

Apprentice crane operator Davison, 22,

The inquest heard Jake Davison shot his mother after they argued shot his mother Maxine Davison, also known as Maxine Chapman, before killing Sophie and her father Lee.

He then killed Mr Washington in a nearby park before shooting Mrs Shepherd, who later died at Derriford Hospital. He also shot and wounded a 33-year-old man and a 53-year-old woman before turning the gun on himself.

Det Ch Insp Hambly, from Devon and Cornwall Police's major crime investigation team, said he had been involved in the case since it happened.

He said Ms Davison, a former trawler woman by occupation, "sustained fatal gunshot wounds" to the torso and head at her home in Biddick Drive.

Det Ch Insp Hambly said Mr Martyn, a carpenter, had died from shotgun wounds to his torso and head while walking with his daughter Sophie and the family dog in the same street.

In relation to Sophie, who died from a shotgun wound to the head, he said: "The circumstances of her death are whilst out walking with her father Lee and the family dog, Sophie was fatally shot by an assailant who was not known to her."

Det Ch Insp Hambly said Mr Washington, who was a carer for his wife, was killed in Snakey Lane - a footpath that runs between Biddick Drive - when he was shot by an unknown assailant, receiving a fatal shotgun wound to his chest.

He said Mrs Shepherd was shot while walking along Henderson Place.

He added that she received immediate medical attention for a shotgun wound to the abdomen but sadly died despite the best efforts of medics, at 20:25 BST in Derriford Hospital.

The inquests come after five heart-shaped fireworks were set off at the British Firework Championships in the city on Wednesday to pay tribute to the five victims.

The city fell silent for a minute before the fireworks, followed by a minute of applause to honour the victims.

The event, held in Plymouth since 1997, went ahead after organizers had talks with the council and residents.

Sussexes reignite Royals feud

THE Duke and Duchess of Sussex have criticized the Queen's response to their complaints - adding new fuel to their dispute with the rest of the Royal Family.

They have told biographers they are not happy that the Queen did not take "full ownership" of issues they brought up.

The couple also think little has been done since they accused the Firm of racism and of failing to support Meghan when she was feeling suicidal, according to an updated biography of the Sussexes.

'not surprised'

Harry, 36, and Meghan, 40, specifically take issue with the Buckingham Palace statement from March this year.

In a new epilogue for the biography Finding Freedom, written about the couple by journalists Carolyn Durand and Omid Scobie, the authors write: "The Queen's 'recollections may vary' comment did not go unnoticed by the couple, who a close source said were 'not surprised' that full ownership was not taken."

TROUBLE AHEAD: 'Finding Freedom' is causing headaches

Following the allegations, the Duke of Cambridge defended the family while the Palace statement read: "The issues raised, particularly that of race, are concerning."

"Whilst some recollections may vary, they are taken very seriously and will be addressed by the family privately."

"Harry, Meghan and Archie will always be much-loved family members."

Palace officials have meanwhile embarked on an inquiry into claims that Meghan bullied aides but have not said if or when the outcome will be made public.

The Sussexes - who quit their senior royal roles in March 2020 - are currently on paternity and maternity leave after the birth of their second child, Lilibet Diana, in June, ensconced in their £11million home in Montecito, California.

Talking to People magazine, Scobie said the Sussexes are entering "the era of visibility", adding: "They do very well in those moments of human interaction."

Buckingham Palace declined to comment.

Former Great Grimsby Labour MP Austin Mitchell dies aged 86

■ Keir Starmer leads tributes to colourful figure who represented Lincolnshire port town for 38 years

Keir Starmer has led tributes to the former Great Grimsby MP Austin Mitchell, who has died aged 86.

Mitchell was a colourful figure who represented the north-east Lincolnshire port for 38 years, from 1977 to 2015, after a career in TV during the 1970s.

After his death on Tuesday, the Labour leader said: "Austin served his constituency of Great Grimsby with remarkable commitment for 38 years. There are few MPs whose dedication to their constituents would translate into changing their surname to Haddock to promote local industry."

Mitchell changed his surname to Haddock in 2002 in a bid to persuade the British to eat more fish.

"I thought this would be a fun way of getting some more publicity for the seafood cause", Mr Haddock told the Times in 2002.

Starmer went on: "His big sense of humour was matched by his deep Labour values. My thoughts are with his wife, Linda, and his children."

Mitchell was a well-known reporter and presenter with ITV's Calendar regional news program for many years before winning a byelection in Grimsby in 1977.

The former Labour MP Melanie Onn, who succeeded Mitchell in the Great Grimsby seat in 2015, said: "Austin will be greatly missed by many in Grimsby's Labour family and across the town where he was taken from the TV screen into the hearts of local people, always ready with a camera and amusing anecdote.

"He was a larger-than-life character, secured lost pensions compensation for the last generation of Grimsby's fishermen and was a vociferous opponent of council housing stock transfers to arms-length management organizations.

"Not without controversy, he will most likely be remembered as the MP who changed his name to Austin Haddock but equally he was a tireless champion of the people and town of Grimsby, never forgetting who he was there to represent.

"On a personal level,

Austin Mitchell was so devoted to Grimsby that he changed his last name to Haddock

Austin was unfailingly supportive to me as a new MP, still a bruising advocate of the Labour party and gave his time, advice and expertise generously. It was a pleasure to get to know him and I send my heartfelt condolences to Linda, his family and close friends for their loss."

Many of those remembering Mitchell recalled his most famous moment as a TV presenter when, in 1974, he chaired a prickly encounter between the former Leeds United managers Don Revie and Brian Clough. The former Downing Street director of communications Alastair Campbell tweeted: "Sorry to hear of the death of Austin Mitchell. Great contact when I was a journo and great company when I was with Labour, even when we disagreed.

"Best known of course as an MP but a place in history as TV Interviewer who did the 'real life' Brian Clough-Don Revie interview immortalized in Damned United. RIP."

The Great Grimsby Labour party said: "His passion for Grimsby knew no bounds. His good humour, kind nature and booming laugh will never be forgotten in our town."

The Di is cast: The Crown reveals its latest royal stars

STARS Elizabeth Debicki for the first time as Princess Diana and Dominic West have been seen for the first time as Prince Charles in the first official snaps from the new series of The Crown.

POSH MEETS POSH: Old Etonian Dominic West plays Prince Charles

BIG DOWN UNDER: Australian star Elizabeth Debicki will play Princess Diana

Australian Elizabeth, 30, who starred in the smash BBC adaptation of John le Carré's The Night Manager, appears pensive lying on a sofa with her head propped up on a pillow. Dominic, 51, sports a smart olive-coloured suit and bold striped tie.

The Old Etonian, best known for US police series The Wire, has his hair smoothed down into Charles's trademark side parting.

Dominic and Elizabeth are now filming the fifth series of the Netflix drama. They take over the roles of Charles and Diana from Josh O'Connor and Emma Corrin.

This season is expected to follow the lives of the Royals during the 1990s.

But a sixth – probably final – season will follow. And The Crown makers say Elizabeth will star in that too so it seems unlikely the fifth will cover Diana's tragic death in 1997.

The latest episodes – due on screens next year – see Imelda Staunton succeed Olivia Colman as the Queen, while Jonathan Pryce replaces Tobias Menzies as Prince Philip. Lesley Manville becomes Princess Margaret.

SEXUAL TENSION: Jodie Comer and Sandra Oh star in the BBC global smash

Jodie so sad they are Killing Eve

KILLING Eve actress Jodie Comer says she has "a lump in her throat" at the prospect of the final series ending.

The Emmy Award winner, 28, is filming the finale of the BBC spy drama opposite Sandra Oh, and is trying to stay focused on the work instead of the future.

Asked if she is already in mourning, Jodie replied: "Not yet, because I cannot let myself. I have two months left."

"I had a little moment where I saw the clapperboard and I had a kind of lump in my throat. And I was like, gosh, I have got a whole two months to go. It is like a marathon."

"If you are at the start line you cannot think of the finish. Not that I have ever run a marathon."

Jodie, who plays assassin Villanelle, refused to say too much about the plot but promised shock twists. She told NBC: "We are halfway through season four. I cannot say much but we have definitely got off to an exciting start."

"I think now, because we know it's the final season, they are definitely pushing boundaries, especially with Villanelle."

And where we open with her is bonkers and brilliant. I hope people finally enjoy it when it hits the screen."

Jodie recently expressed pride that producers now ask for her opinion on the direction of her character.

The Liverpoolian actress said: "What I really enjoy is finding a confidence within myself. I feel as though I know her more than anyone because I've played her for so long."

The series will be released early in 2022.

A GIANT Hollywood-style sign has appeared in a North Wales market town - and locals suspect A-list actor Ryan Reynolds is responsible.

White letters spelling out Wrexham have been put on a slag heap overlooking the town and A483.

Ryan and actor friend Rob McElhenney bought Wrexham AFC this year and the hoarding was spotted the day after the football club beat Curzon Ashton 3-1 in a friendly.

Residents think Canadian heartthrob Ryan, 44, is to thank for their touch of Los Angeles.

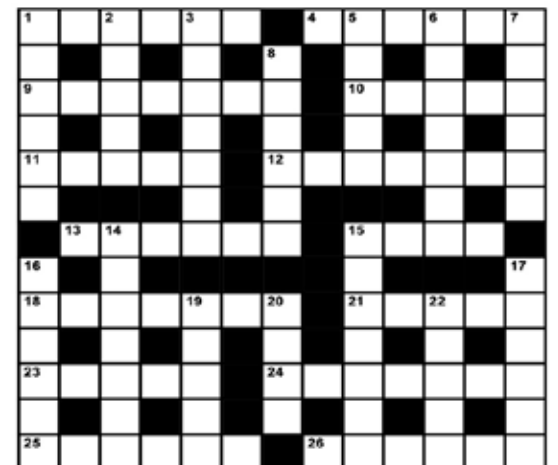

The iconic 45ft lettering in the Hollywood Hills was erected in 1923 as a temporary advert but quickly became a landmark.

Wrexham dog walker Pete Leyshon said: "This has just got to be Ryan Reynolds doing this. It's fantastic."

Andalusia: another delicious excursion into darkest Spain

■ Nick Stark leaves Menorca for the Spanish mainland

AFTER AN arduous sailing passage from Sicily to Sardinia to Menorca, a return to terra firma was most welcome as I touched down in Malaga after a short flight from Mahon.

I was visiting an old friend from London who lived in Estapona, a charming town on the Spanish coast about 30 minutes south west from Marbella. I'd been here several times in the past ten years, but never tire of the chilled Spanish vibe, the cheap and excellent eats and the good local wine.

My host Richard, originally from Shropshire, has been an expat in Spain for 30 years and knows the ropes, and took me to a host of excellent tapas bars in Estapona shortly after arrival, before we ventured further afield for a short road trip the following day.

Our first stop was Tarifa, a formerly fortified town whose Moorish heritage still looms large today, with its fortified old town and Arabesque architecture. It is famous as the windsurfing capital of Europe but its brutal winds – most often coming across the straits from Africa – also give it the unwelcome distinction of being the suicide capital of Europe. I had no such dismal thoughts during our short visit, where we stopped off at a seafood restaurant right by the docks and had three superb dishes that epitomize the local food scene.

seafood and eat it

The first was the tortilla de camarones – a simple fritter of ultra-fresh batter enveloping tiny shrimp and flashed fried...it's Spanish comfort food at its best, hot, crispy and redolent of the sea. We followed this with some clams, Tarifa style, cooked in a garlic and tomato sauce that amazingly did not overpower the delicate flavor of the molluscs which are meaty and assertive in this part of the world. Finally we opted for a tuna tataki – Japanese style seared bluefin tuna belly with a piquant dipping sauce. I've had this in Los Angeles countless times, but the freshness and quality of the Spanish tuna made for a memorable experience. With beer and water the two of us feasted for less than $40.

About thirty miles down the road lies the town of Zahara...once a sleepy fishing village but now a growing (but still small) resort town boasting a gorgeous wide sandy beach and countless inviting local restaurants and boutiques. We enjoyed a couple of hours lounging on the beach and cooling off in the Atlantic – whose cold, clear waters were a welcome antidote after two weeks in the warmer, but far more polluted Mediterranean.

After a couple of hours bronzing and chilling we headed off on the 45-minute ride to Vejer de la Frontera, a charming hilltop town full of whitewashed buildings and fabulous small, inexpensive restaurants. I had been here before in

VEJER DE LA FRONTERA: a whitewashed gem

2018 and enjoyed a great meal at the former palace of the Califa during Moorish rule, but this time opted for the small and inviting Piccolina restaurant, where we shared the carpaccio of salt-marsh beef with a sugar-cane and cinnamon salsa, a fabulous salad of smoked mozzarella with endive cooked on the grill and tomato confit, and an entrée of pulpo (octopus) a la plancha. With four glasses of tinto de Verano (summer wine – basically a red wine spritzer beloved by the locals) and two coffees the bill came to 40 euros. Very good value for a great meal enjoyed al fresco on the cobblestones while we watched the world go by.

Spain remains a charming, beguiling yet frustrating place – their Covid entry requirements being a case in point – but still one of the best travel destinations for the adventurous traveller. I would recommend it always....but try to avoid the heat of summer if you can. I'll be back....but only in the spring or fall.

Next time....onwards to Provence.

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: Be extra careful while out and about these next few days, as it is a bit wobbly for you in general. This period is over by early week ahead.

TAURUS: You are in a good time frame for interactive family times and events. However be careful with overspending as you may be feeling over-generous.

GEMINI: Whatever you are planning that is important be sure to complete it soonest. Your plans may be changed at short notice, however you would be wise to just go with the flow.

CANCER: This next week stay away from any drama or negative vibes. You are sensitive enough, a situation that is worsened by the current planetary alignment. Be sure you know that this too shall pass.

LEO: You may be feeling like you are ready to just get away from the current time frame. This is normal and you are not alone, so find something positive to help you get through this time.

VIRGO: Life is good if you look at what matters most to you. The sun in Leo is pushing you to get a move on. You are getting ready for your new year soon. Clear out some space to prepare.

LIBRA: Your boss planet Venus is moving fast towards you now. This can be very good for your career or work area. With this in mind go out on a limb for what you really desire.

SCORPIO: Of late it may seem as though everything you try to accomplish goes up in a puff of smoke. Trust that it is all for a reason and do not be concerned about your future financial outlook.

SAGITTARIUS: Your boss Jupiter is keeping busy in your overall well-being area. Whatever you need to take care of be sure you complete soonest and it's looking positive by the end of next week.

CAPRICORN: You are very involved in family or friends' lives currently. Some of it you can help with but most is not your problem. Just know the difference and act accordingly.

AQUARIUS: The ups and downs of the past few weeks have left you indecisive about something. Be sure to let go of past negative behavior as others are ready to put you on the spot.

PISCES: Time to make decisions that you have put off or thought were not possible. All kind of things can get accomplished in this time. Good Luck.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF JOSEPHINE ZELLER

Case No. 21STPB06891

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of JOSEPHINE ZELLER
A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Daniel Zeller in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Daniel Zeller be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Sept. 17, 2021 at 8:30AM in Dept. No. 79 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Root's tactics during the pivotal Shami-Bumrah stand. Perhaps sucked in by the emotion of Anderson being the target of repeated bouncers from Bumrah on the third evening, England targeted the man rather than the stumps. By the time they changed the plan, it was too late.

Not only that, but the fractious nature of the contest - there were numerous verbal exchanges between the two sides - seemed to galvanise India, while England wilted.

Sure enough, when England came to bat to save the match on a pitch only showing an occasional sign of uneven bounce, they were blown away, much to the delight of the swathe of India fans inside a buzzing Lord's.

England are now without a win in seven Tests and must find a response when the sides reconvene at Headingley on 25 August. India, on the other hand, will take some stopping.

DANIEL LEVY: tough negotiator

Levy will win Kane battle with City, insists Redknapp

HARRY REDKNAPP believes Daniel Levy has a winning hand in his game of poker with Manchester City over Harry Kane.

While the former Tottenham boss thinks Kane will be sold, he is sure Spurs' chairman will take City for everything he can get.

Redknapp, who worked under one of football's toughest negotiators for four years, said: "Daniel loves this, it's a game of poker for him.

"It's what he thrives on. He will hold out and get every last drop he can out of City to complete the deal.

"I do think they'll get a deal done. It's a matter of time. Eventually, they'll thrash a deal out.

"It's time he moved now. Daniel will look at it and think this time next year, he's another year older, they'll never get the money they'll get now.

"They're looking to bring a few players in as well. They've signed a centre-half and are looking at a striker.

"Daniel wouldn't be spending big money unless he knew that he was getting money back in."

Kane believes he has a gentleman's agreement to leave.

But Redknapp told talkSPORT: "If there's an agreement, it should all be written down."

A much-changed Tottenham Hotspur lost to Pacos de Ferreira in the Europa Conference League play-off first leg on Thursday.

Nuno Espirito Santo left the entire starting XI from Sunday's 1-0 win over Manchester City - and Harry Kane - at home and were poor in Portugal.

Lucas Silva ran in behind Cristian Romero too easily to latch on to Nuno Santos' through ball and slot into the bottom corner for the only goal.

Spurs failed to have a single shot on target.

Their European campaign - in the new third-tier tournament - will be over in August unless they win next Thursday's second leg at Tottenham Hotspur Stadium.

Spurs boss Nuno started three summer signings - defender Romero, winger Bryan Gil and goalkeeper Pierluigi Gollini.

Teenagers Nile John and Dane Scarlett also made their first starts for the club - and J'Neil Bennett and Maksim Paskotsi came on for debuts - but there were no real standout performances

CAPTAIN FANTASTIC: a fired-up Virat Kohli led India to victory at Lords

India take series lead as England wilt at Lords

Second LV= Insurance Test, Lord's (day five of five). India 364 (Rahul 129, Anderson 5-62) & 298-8 dec (Rahane 61). England 391 (Root 180*) & 120 (Siraj 4-32). India won by 151 runs England produced one of their worst home performances in recent memory to lose the second Test against India by 151 runs at Lord's this week.

From a position where they started the final day on Monday as marginal favourites, England's bowling was flayed by the India tail before their batting capitulated to 120 all out.

Mohammed Shami and Jasprit Bumrah - two genuine tailenders - shared a ninth-wicket stand of 89 in front of some raucous Indian support.

Shami had reached 56 not out and Bumrah an unbeaten 34 when India declared on 298-8, setting England an unlikely 272 to win or 60 overs to survive.

and Buttler fell in successive overs, before Mohammed Siraj bowled last man James Anderson to end with 4-32 and put a rampant India 1-0 up with three Tests to play.

Disappointing England Test performances have become commonplace, especially overseas. They have also been bowled out for 85 and 67 at home by Ireland and Australia respectively, but at least they won those matches.

What makes this defeat so abject is the manner they threw away a genuine chance of victory, one which came after they were second best in the drawn first Test and allowed India to reach 276-3 on day one.

The leading British commentators were united in their condemnation of Joe Ten-man Rangers avoided a sobering draw at home to Alashkert as Alfredo Morelos' strike kept them on course for the Europa League group stage on Thursday night.

The last time the Armenian champions visited Glasgow in 2018, they were beaten 3-0 by a Celtic side who played 79 minutes with a man short.

This time, Rangers had John Lundstram sent off just before the break.

But Morelos' second goal in European competition this season means they take a narrow advantage to Yerevan.

However, Morelos' reliability on the continental stage puts them within touching distance of the Europa League group stage for the fourth season running rather than the less lucrative new Conference League.

Harry 'has to help the team' insists Nuno

NUNO ESPIRITO SANTO celebrated his first victory as Tottenham manager and then warned the missing Harry Kane he "has to get ready and help the team".

Spurs opened their campaign on Sunday under Nuno without wantaway England striker Kane.

But they delivered a superb win over the champions, thanks to a glorious goal from his usual strike partner, Heung-Min Son.

Manchester City are preparing a £127million bid for Kane but Tottenham chairman Daniel Levy wants at least £160m.

Nuno said: "He has to get ready and help the team. Harry Kane is one of the best players in the world. We are very lucky to have him."

Kane was left out by Nuno because he had only had two training sessions with the squad since returning late from his summer break and then having to quarantine.

Nuno said: "Harry came back to us later, like some others. He worked on Sunday morning and he is preparing himself. When he is ready, he will join the group and help the team."

The Tottenham crowd sang, 'Are you watching Harry Kane', as they saw their team beat City at home for the third year in a row in the Premier League without conceding.

Son said: "We are all professional. We wanted to focus on the game.

"It doesn't matter who's involved and who's not. Obviously Harry's so, so important for us."

Nuno added: "Son did really well. The talent that he has is amazing - his dynamism and his speed - and he knows the game.

He can find the gaps and the space. He is a killer."

Asked if the result showed his team needs Kane, City manager Pep Guardiola said: "We are the same team as we were last season, when we won the league and scored lots of goals.

"We were not clinical enough but we need

NUNO: morale-boosting win against City time. We will be better."

City star Raheem Sterling said: "We could have controlled the game better, but we let them do exactly what they wanted to do and they did the most important thing in football, which was put the ball in the back of the net when we couldn't.

"We were on the front foot and they kept getting counter-attacks, which we should have controlled better.

"It's always difficult to start with a defeat but it's a long road and we have to keep focused so we can bounce back."

Celtic's rousing progress under manager Ange Postecoglou continued as they took a big step towards the Europa League group stage with a pulsating victory against AZ Alkmaar on Wednesday night.

Kyogo Furuhashi turned in Tom Rogic's superb cross to open the scoring before the break and make it six goals in six games since arriving in Glasgow.

It was no less than Postecoglou's side deserved after a fast-paced, all-action first half, and after the break Kyogo teed up James Forrest, whose deflected effort found the net.

AZ were overwhelmed at times in the first half but created plenty of chances themselves, but a combination of last-ditch Celtic defending and profligacy means they go into the return leg in the Netherlands next Thursday in a difficult position.

Postecoglou's influence on Celtic has grown with each passing game, and the Australian's mantra of all-out attack has brought the best from his players, who have now scored 18

Tammy's parting shot at Gunners

■ Abraham makes Roma switch

TAMMY ABRAHAM has completed his £34million switch to Roma – with a veiled dig at Arsenal.

The striker left Chelsea to sign a five-year deal with the Italians which includes a buy-back clause of £68m.

But only after waiting for the Gunners, who were informed they were his first choice, to make a bid that never came.

England striker Abraham said: "You can sense when a club really wants you – and Roma made their interest clear immediately.

"Roma is a club that deserves to be fighting for titles and trophies.

"I've had the experience of winning major trophies and I want to be in those competitions again. I want to help this team to achieve that and get to the level where Roma should be.

"It's a massive honour to be the No.9 at this club and I just can't wait to get started and to help the team."

It is understood Abraham had agreed personal terms with Arsenal and was holding out for a transfer across London.

But Chelsea never showed a willingness to sell him to a rival and the Gunners needed to move players on first.

Abraham, who has had loan spells at Bristol City, Swansea and Aston Villa, will now be reunited with former Blues boss Jose Mourinho in Rome.

But Chelsea director Marina Granovskaia said: "Tammy will always be welcomed back at Stamford Bridge as one of our own.

"We have all enjoyed watching his progress through our academy and into the first-team squad, and are grateful for his contribution to our successes. His many goals in a Chelsea shirt and, of course, his part in our Champions League triumph last season will never be forgotten.

"I'm sure all Chelsea supporters will join me in wishing Tammy a long and successful career."

Chelsea will now focus on recouping the £97.5m they paid Inter Milan for Romelu Lukaku with more sales. They have already made around £80m this summer by selling Fikayo Tomori, Victor Moses, Olivier Giroud, Marc Guehi and Abraham.

But they are still trying to find a buyer for £25m-rated Kurt Zouma, whose departure is holding up a move for Sevilla's Jules Kounde.

Emerson Palmieri is in talks with Lyon and Ike Ugbo is close to joining Genk for £5m.

Michy Batshuayi is set to sign for Besiktas on loan, while Ross Barkley, Tiemoue Bakayoko and Davide Zappacosta are also for sale.

Dennis Law diagnosed with dementia

Scotland and Manchester United legend Denis Law has been diagnosed with dementia.

Law, 81, who says he has Alzheimer's and vascular dementia, is the latest former player to reveal he is suffering from the degenerative brain disease.

His former United team-mate Sir Bobby Charlton was diagnosed with the condition last year.

"This will not be an easy journey especially for the people who love you the most," Law said.

"I know the road ahead will be hard, demanding, painful and ever changing and so ask for understanding and patience.

"I recognise how my brain is deteriorating and how my memory evades me when I don't want it to and how this causes me distress in situations that are beyond my control.

"I do understand what

Dennis Law won the Ballon d'Or in 1964

is happening and that is why I want to address my situation now whilst I am able, because I know there will be days when I don't understand and I hate the thought of that right now."

'Trying to be positive'

Law, a Ballon d'Or winner in 1964, won 55 caps for Scotland and scored 30 international goals to distinguish himself as one of the country's greatest ever players.

Alongside Sir Bobby Charlton and George Best at Old Trafford, the striker formed what was hailed the United Trinity.

Law - who started his career with Huddersfield Town, had two spells at Manchester City and played in Italy for Torino - won the European Cup, two English titles and the FA Cup in his 11 years at Old Trafford.

"Denis Law will always be one of this club's greatest legends and everybody at Manchester United sends our love and best wishes to him and his family," the club said.
