

Life sentence for 'warped, selfish and brutal' killer

■ Former policeman Wayne Couzens found guilty of rape and murder of Sarah Everard

A FORMER POLICEMAN has been given a life sentence after kidnapping, raping and murdering a London woman, as police investigate whether he is responsible for any further crimes.

Wayne Couzens, 48, was handed the sentence at the Old Bailey on Thursday by Lord Justice Fulford, who said his "warped, selfish and brutal" offences had eroded confidence in the police.

The judge said he had been planning for at least a month before abducting Ms Everard, 33, as she walked home from a friend's house in Clapham, south London, on the evening of March 3.

Metropolitan Police firearms officer Couzens, who had been "hunting" for a victim, used his warrant card and handcuffs to snatch the marketing executive off the street using Covid lockdown rules to make a false arrest.

'sexual pornography' Lord Justice Fulford said the case in which a serving officer abused his position was so exceptional it warranted a whole life order, meaning Couzens will never be freed.

It is the first time the sentence has been imposed for a single murder of an adult not committed in the course of a terror attack.

"The misuse of a police officer's role such as occurred in this case in order to kidnap, rape and murder a lone victim is of equal seriousness as a murder for the purpose of advancing a political, religious or ideological cause," said the judge.

Couzens was said in court to have been "attracted to brutal sexual pornography" as far back as 2002.

The police watchdog previously said he was linked to a flashing incident in 2015 and two more days before he killed

Miserable winter ahead as Britain stumbles into severe fuel crisis

■ Covid and Brexit combine to wreak havoc on supplies as petrol stations see lines reminiscent of 1970s

A DOUBLE WHAMMY of Brexit and the Covid pandemic has produced the worst fuel shortages in Britain since the oil crisis of the early 1970s.

A shortage of truck drivers has led to empty fuel pumps around the country, creating long lines at gas stations and panic buying.

And households are facing "desperate choices" this winter, with energy bills rising by £30 a month for those who have had to switch supplier owing to a wave of energy company failures, as three more collapsed on Wednesday.

Many consumers in the UK are on long term contracts at fixed prices with their local suppliers, meaning that as wholesale prices have risen, the companies are unable to pass those costs onto their customers. As a result 12 regional energy companies have collapsed in the past three months, under this year, forcing the regulator, Ofgem, to transfer 2m customer accounts to surviving suppliers. This week's collapse of a further three will force the regulator to move 233,000 more customer accounts, with bills expected to increase as a result.

Ofgem said Igloo Energy, Symbio Energy and Enstroga had become the latest companies to succumb to a gathering crisis that shows no sign of abating, with gas prices remaining stubbornly high amid international shortages as winter approaches.

The regulator emphasised that customers would not have any disruption to the supply of energy to their homes, adding that anyone with credit in their accounts with those companies would not lose their money.

But it will have to find a new provider for nearly a quarter of a million people through its "supplier of last resort" scheme, under which financially healthy companies take on customers from collapsed rivals.

Those that were on cheaper fixed-rate tariffs, often used by smaller, start-up energy companies to woo new customers, will see their bills increase to the government's energy cap, which is £1,277 for a household with average usage.

The crisis stems both from Britain's withdrawal from the European Union, which caused about 20,000 drivers to leave Britain, and the pandemic, which has severely disrupted training of new drivers.

SIGN OF THE TIMES: a common sight in forecourts up and down the country

The Road Haulage Association, a trade association of road transport operators, estimates that Britain is facing a shortfall of 100,000 drivers. About 20 percent of those are drivers who left Britain after it voted to leave the European Union.

panic buying

To make matters worse, truck drivers tend to be older, and they are retiring. And new driver trainees are facing delays in getting licensed. Transport companies have reported raising wages for truck drivers by 25 percent or more this year to retain them.

The shortage has also caused problems for restaurants, which are struggling to obtain food, and grocery stores, which have been unable to replenish shelves.

Drivers, concerned about reports of empty gas stations, have also been panic buying fuel in recent days, which has exacerbated the shortages.

But some government critics say that may not be enough to address the long-running shortage of drivers. About 200,000 E.U. citizens left Britain during the pandemic, on top of the thousands who have left since the Brexit vote in 2016, when Britain signaled it would impose limits on immigration from the bloc. That has made it harder for companies — including those in the haulage, hospitality and food supply sectors — to fill empty positions with overseas hires.

The scarcity of fuel has reduced the number of vehicles on the road. Figures showed traffic volume down by six percentage points on Monday compared with the previous week.

Labour leader Starmer faces down Corbynite rump at party conference

SIR KEIR Starmer faced jeers and heckles from Labour activists this week as he sought to steer his party back to the election-winning ways of Tony Blair.

In his first conference speech in person, which was frequently interrupted by protesters, the party leader promised to replace hard-Left policies rejected by millions of voters with "a sensible plan for Government".

He vowed to be tough on crime, to prioritise education and to back enterprise.

And, distancing himself from the extremism of his double election-losing predecessor Jeremy Corbyn, he insisted: "We are the patriots."

His 90-minute address to the annual conference in Brighton infuriated the Left-wing supporters of Mr Corbyn and his allies.

In what appeared to be a co-ordinated attempt to disrupt the speech, several delegates repeatedly heckled the Labour leader and shook red sheets of paper at him.

Diehard

Sir Keir faced down the protests, saying the party needed to "get our own house in order" and insisting that the heckling "doesn't bother me".

He claimed the protesters were "shouting slogans rather than changing lives".

The Tories branded the conference "chaotic" following clashes between the leadership and Left-wing grassroots throughout the week.

Party officials blamed a "small number" of diehard opponents of the leadership for the disruption and insisted the protests had not been a distraction from the message.

Sir Keir, 59, used the speech, the longest for many years at a Labour conference, to set out his vision for the country and his pitch to be the next prime minister.

He launched a series

Tributes flow to 'Sir Roger', Reds legend and World Cup winner

■ Liverpool FC said Roger "passed away peacefully at home following a long illness"

WORLD Cup star Sir Geoff Hurst has described his sadness after his "absolutely lovely" friend and fellow 1966 hero Roger Hunt died following a long illness aged 83.

Roger played as a striker alongside Sir Geoff in Sir Alf Ramsey's glorious England side that beat West Germany 4-2 to lift the Jules Rimet trophy at Wembley. He remains Liverpool's record league scorer with 244 goals and was known as "Sir Roger" to Anfield supporters.

Sir Geoff, 79, is now one of just three surviving members of the World Cup final starting XI with Sir Bobby Charlton and George Cohen.

He tweeted a picture celebrating with Roger and Alan Ball after scoring against Argentina in the 1966 quarter-final.

He said: "Great memories. Very sad day. Roger was an absolutely lovely man."

A dazzling forward, Roger won 34 England caps and scored 18 international goals after making his debut in 1962 when Bill Shankly's Liverpool side were still in English football's second tier.

He played in every game of the 1966 World Cup and scored three times to help England out of their group. Liverpool players wore black armbands Tuesday night in their Champions League group game against Porto in Portugal.

Manager Jurgen Klopp said: "Roger Hunt comes second to no one in his importance in the history of Liverpool FC.

"I am told the Kop christened him 'Sir Roger' for all his achievements. A goalscorer who never stopped working to help his team-mates. He would have fitted well within our current team."

Liverpool FC said Roger "passed away peacefully at home following a long illness", adding: "The thoughts of everybody at Liverpool Football Club are with Roger's family and friends at this sad and difficult time."

'treasured'

Football Association chief executive Mark Bullingham revealed England would pay tribute when they play Hungary in a World Cup qualifier at Wembley on October 12. He said: "Hunt will always be treasured by fans across the country as one of our World Cup winners of 1966."

Liverpool legend Sir Kenny Dalglish said he had been lucky to follow Roger.

The former Kop striker and manager said: "RIP Sir Roger Hunt. Those of us who followed you and Shanks's men were fortunate to stand on the shoulders of giants.

"Thank you for everything you have done."

Ex-Liverpool defender and Sky pundit Jamie Carragher said: "RIP Sir Roger Hunt, one of the greatest goalscorers our club has seen. Sir Roger along with the other legends from the 60s made LFC the club it is."

Roger's death comes six months after that of his long-time Liverpool strike partner Ian St John at 82.

And it follows the passing two weeks ago of Jimmy Greaves, who he played alongside up front for England in the 1966 group games before the latter was injured.

Former Liverpool defender and Match of the Day pundit Mark Lawrenson tweeted: "Hopefully Roger & the Saint are renewing their Brilliant Partnership wherever they may be. Love to the Hunt family. We feel your pain."

'great striker'

Arch rivals Everton paid tribute, momentarily bridging the Merseyside divide, tweeting: "Our thoughts are with Roger Hunt's loved ones and everyone at @LFC at this sad time. RIP."

Former Three Lions forward and Match of the Day presenter Gary Lineker said: "Saddened to hear that another of the heroes of '66 has left us. Roger Hunt was a truly great striker for both @LFC and his country. "He may be gone but his achievements will always be remembered."

Born in Golborne, Cheshire, on July 20, 1938, Roger signed for Liverpool in 1958 and made his 492nd and final appearance for the club in 1969.

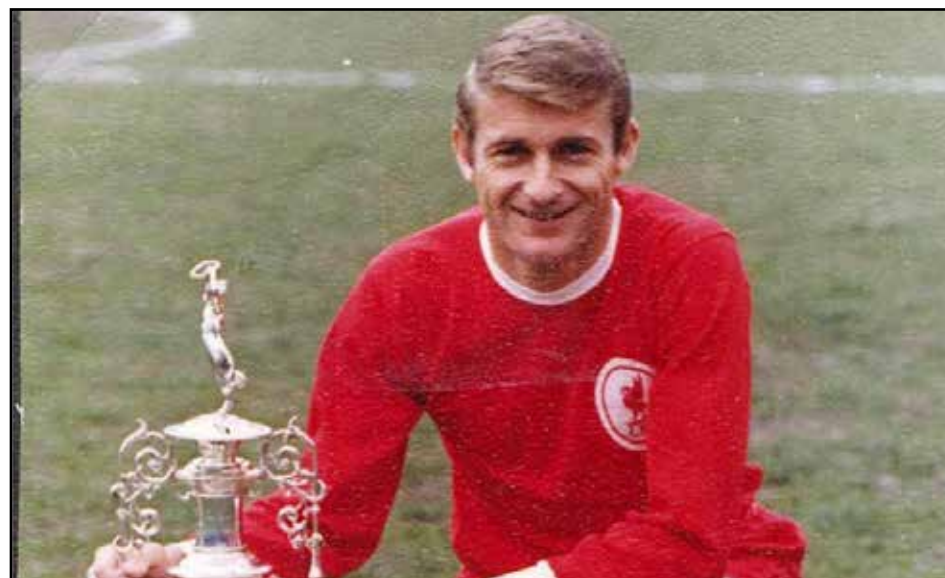

Under legendary Kop boss Shankly he helped lift the club out of the Second Division in 1962, scoring 41 goals in as many games.

Liverpool then won the First Division in 1964 and 1966 either side of a first FA Cup win in 1965.

With 285 goals from 492 appearances, his league scoring record of 244 is unlikely to be broken.

After leaving Anfield in 1969 he had three successful seasons with Bolton Wanderers.

He also enjoyed the distinction of scoring the first goal on the BBC's Match of the Day – a looping volley in a 3-2 win over Arsenal on August 22, 1964.

WINNER: Roger Hunt with the old First Division trophy and (below) at his post-football career, running Hunt Brothers haulage

Like Jimmy Greaves, Roger was overlooked for a knighthood but received an MBE in 2000.

After retiring as a player, he joined his brother Peter as the third family generation running the Hunt Brothers haulage business.

He married Patricia O'Brien in 1959 and they had two children, David and Julie.

BRIGHTON SUNNY? not so much for the Labour leader this week of scathing attacks on Boris Johnson, seeking to contrast himself as a “serious” politician with the “trivial” premier.

Starmers:

He also dragged up a past joke by Mr Johnson describing himself as a “blithering idiot”.

Sir Keir said: “I don’t think Boris Johnson is a bad man. I think he is a trivial man. He’s a showman with nothing left to show. He’s a trickster who has performed his one trick.”

“Once he had said the words ‘Get Brexit Done’ his plan ran out. He has no plan.”

In a striking switch from Mr Corbyn rubbishing Labour’s past, Sir Keir repeatedly praised the last Labour government of Mr Blair and then Gordon Brown. And making a deliberate nod to the Blairite slogan promising “education, education, education”, the Labour leader said: “Education is so important I am tempted to say it three times.”

He also sought to bring back the patriotic language of the New Labour era and spoke of being “proud” of the Armed Forces.

Sir Keir kept specific policy announcements to a minimum. But he did promise that a Labour government under his leadership would launch “the most ambitious school improvement plan in a generation” and increase investment in support for mental health.

His words were enthusiastically applauded by the overwhelming majority of delegates. Many also attempted to shout down the Leftwing protesters.

Having been denied a full conference speech last autumn due to the Covid crisis, Sir Keir used Wednesday’s address to try to fully introduce himself to Labour members and the electorate.

In several highly personal passages, he spoke of his pride in his father’s achievements as a toolmaker and his mother’s NHS service as a nurse, and of his sadness at her battle with a debilitating disease in later life.

Seeking to contrast himself with the Prime Minister, he said: “I am not from a privileged background.”

seriousness of the offences for which he has been put in prison today,” she said.

Home Secretary Priti Patel said “serious questions” need to be answered by the force but backed Met Commissioner Dame Cressida Dick, who is facing fresh calls to resign over the case, which sparked a national outcry and a debate over the safety of women.

Couzens, who had been a member of the Kent Special Constabulary before moving to the Civil Nuclear Constabulary in 2011, joined the Met in September 2018, working for the Parliamentary and Diplomatic Protection Command and on uniformed Covid patrols.

He was sacked after a disciplinary hearing held behind closed doors after he pleaded guilty to Ms Everard’s kidnap, rape and murder.

The married father-of-two, wearing a dark suit and black tie stood shaking slightly in the dock as he was sentenced and kept his head bowed as he shuffled out of court.

The judge told him: “You have eroded the confidence that the public are entitled to have in the police forces of England

Jagger in emotional tribute to Charlie

MICK Jagger has led the Rolling Stones in an emotional tribute to Charlie Watts in their first concert without their beloved drummer.

The legendary rockers were kicking off their pandemic-delayed No Filter tour without their bandmate of nearly 60 years in St Louis, Missouri at the weekend.

The show opened with an empty stage and only a drumbeat, as pictures and videos of Charlie, who died aged 80 last month, were projected on to four giant screens.

And after performing their first two songs, including the rousing It’s Only Rock ‘N’ Roll (But I Like It), Sir Mick, Keith Richards and Ronnie Wood came to the front of the stage.

‘quite emotional’

Sir Mick, 78, and Keith, 77, clasped hands and thanked fans for their support and love.

And Sir Mick acknowledged it was not easy seeing all of the photos of the drummer.

He said: “It was really quite emotional, seeing those pictures of Charlie up on the big screen.”

“This is our first tour we’ve ever done without him. We’ll miss Charlie so much, on and off the stage.”

The band then dedicated Tumbling Dice to the drummer, who has been replaced by Steve Jordan, a longtime collaborator of Keith’s.

Before taking to the stage on Sunday night, Sir Mick dedicated the show to Charlie.

He said on Instagram: “It’s a bit of a poignant night for us – our first tour in 59 years that we’ve done without our lovely Charlie Watts.”

“We all miss Charlie so much. “We miss him as a band, we miss him as a friend. “I hope that you will remember him like we do.”

KILLER:

in Swanley was reported just 72 hours before the abduction.

Couzens was not named but his car was reported to officers, who were said to have not yet completed the investigation.

DCI Katherine Goodwin said she was not aware of any more serious allegations, but said inquiries are ongoing into whether Couzens is responsible for any other crimes.

“Thus far there is nothing of the nature or and Wales.

“It is critical that every subject in this country can trust police officers when they encounter them and submit to their authority, which they are entitled to believe is being exercised in good faith.”

Couzens had worked a 12-hour shift at the US embassy before kidnapping Ms Everard in a rented Vauxhall Crossland.

“It is most likely that he suggested to Sarah Everard that she had breached the restrictions on movement that were being enforced during that stage of the pandemic,” Lord Justice Fulford said.

Couzens drove his restrained victim 80 miles before raping his victim, strangling her to death with his police belt and burning her body.

Ms Everard, who lived in Brixton, south London, may have been alive for up to five hours before she was strangled to death, the court heard.

Couzens then burned her body in a refrigerator in an area of woodland he owned in Hoads Wood, near Ashford, before dumping the remains in a nearby pond.

The judge said her state of mind in her final hours “would have been as bleak and agonising as it is possible to imagine”.

The judge described how Couzens acted “entirely as normal” following the murder, carrying out “prosaic” tasks, including booking dental appointments for his children and calling the vet about his dog Maddie over “separation anxiety”.

He was arrested at his home in Deal, Kent, after police connected him to a hire car he used to abduct Ms Everard, whose remains were found by police dogs on March 10.

Prospects turn dark for Andrew as witness emerges claiming she saw him with alleged victim

A WOMAN who claims she saw Prince Andrew dancing with his sex abuse accuser the night he says he was at a Pizza Express has allegedly agreed to testify against him in the United States.

Shukri Walker is prepared to reveal details of an encounter she said she had with the Duke of York at Tramp's nightclub in London in 2001.

The prince is being sued in New York by Virginia Giuffre who alleges he sexually assaulted her three times, once on the night after she visited the club with him when she was aged 17.

The Duke vehemently denies the allegations against him.

Ms Walker, of London, has given a statement to the FBI saying she vividly remembers seeing Andrew with Ms Giuffre, then called Roberts, and apologised after standing on his foot.

Her evidence, if believed, may blow a hole in the Duke's defence.

He said he had "no recollection" of meeting Ms Giuffre, despite a photo that seems to show him holding her waist at the home of his friend Ghislaine Maxwell.

Disputed

Ms Maxwell, ex-lover of Andrew's late paedophile pal Jeffrey Epstein, is in a top security jail in New York awaiting a November trial for sex trafficking and procuring minors.

The Queen's son has disputed Ms Giuffre's claim that he was sweating profusely after dancing with her at Tramp's, suggesting that a condition brought on after he was shot at in the Falklands War means he cannot sweat.

Prince Andrew, 61, said in a 2019 Newsnight interview he could not have been there with her because he remembers taking his daughter Beatrice to a birthday party at the restaurant in Woking, Surrey, that night.

'teenage girl'

Ms Walker, who was 28 when she claims she was in the nightclub with the prince, decided to speak out after watching his denial in the BBC interview. She said: "He [Andrew] looked like he was having a great time."

"He was with this young girl who was close to my own age, perhaps even a bit younger. The young woman wasn't smiling, it was the opposite of smiles. They were with the woman who [had] just been arrested, Ghislaine Maxwell, and Epstein. I will never forget the night because I was told this is a real prince."

Andrew wiped the back of his hand across his face several times, she claimed. A source with knowledge of the development said: "Shukri is totally convinced she saw Andrew that night and is prepared to stand up in court to say so."

"With the civil case

Prince Andrew and Virginia Giuffre, then known as Virginia Roberts, along with Ghislaine Maxwell. This photo was included in an affidavit where Giuffre claimed Prince Andrew directed her to have sex with him (Florida Southern District Court) being launched in the United States, she has let it be known that she is willing to testify and tell the truth."

Ms Walker's lawyer Lisa Bloom – who is representing several of Epstein's victims – last night confirmed her client's position, saying: "Ms Walker has already given her evidence to the FBI and been very consistent in what she has said."

"She had never been in the presence of a royal before or since and so it was very memorable to her.

"If she is called as a witness she will do her duty."

Prince Andrew has less than two weeks to respond after being officially served with legal papers in Ms Giuffre's civil case.

Critics hail 'magnificent' new Bond film

■ British critics hail Daniel Craig, in his final turn as 007 as 'a towering charismatic presence' in 'an epic barnstormer' of a movie

Daniel Craig's fifth and final James Bond film, No Time To Die, has received rave reviews from critics.

The movie premiered at the Royal Albert Hall on Tuesday, following several delays prompted by the Covid pandemic.

In his five-star review of the film, Kevin Maher of The Times said: "It's better than good. It's magnificent.

"Craig is a towering charismatic presence from opening frame to closing shot, and he bows out in terrific, soulful, style."

But while most critics were positive, some suggested the film did not quite justify its 163-minute running time.

In his own five-star review, The Guardian's Peter Bradshaw described the film as an "epic barnstormer" which delivers "pathos, action, drama, camp comedy, heartbreak, macabre horror, and outrageously silly old-fashioned action".

"It is of course a festival of absurdity and complication, a head-spinning world of giant plot mechanisms," he said, but concluded the film as a whole is "very enjoyable and gleefully spectacular".

Stephanie Zacharek of Time was broadly positive about the film, but suggested Craig's swansong didn't warrant its length.

"At two hours and 43 minutes, it's too long and too overstuffed with plot - more isn't always better," she said. "And it features one of the dullest villains in the series' history, played by Rami Malek in mottled skin and dumb silky PJs.

"But forget all that. No Time To Die, its flaws notwithstanding, is perfectly tailored to the actor who is, to me, the best Bond of all."

No Time To Die marks the culmination of an over-arching storyline that began with Craig's first Bond film Casino Royale, released in 2006.

In another five-star review, Robbie Collin of The Telegraph said: "[Director] Cary Joji Fukunaga's extravagantly satisfying, bulgingly proportioned last chapter to the Craig era, throws almost everything there is left to throw at 007 the series can come up with.

"We've been expecting you, Mr Bond, for quite some time," he added, "and what a joy and relief it is to have you back."

The Independent's Clarisse Loughrey was less enthusiastic, awarding the film three stars and describing the premise as "generic spy nonsense".

"Cary Joji Fukunaga has made a smashing piece of action cinema with No Time To Die - it's just a shame it had to be a Bond film," she said. "What's most disappointing is how strangely anti-climatic the whole thing feels."

She added: "Despite Phoebe Waller-Bridge's much-publicised contributions to the film's script, No Time to Die hardly feels like the radical feminist rewrite we were promised."

There was a similarly lukewarm response from Screen Daily's Jonathan Romney, who said: "It's certainly a film that breaks many of the canonical rules of the series, though not entirely to dazzling effect.

"There's plenty to gawk at, and to argue over, in this episode," he added, "yet No Time To Die is oddly lacking in pleasure or real wit."

Empire's John Nugent agreed that the film was too long, writing that the middle third is "bogged down by plotting and exposition doesn't justify that heaving runtime".

ROCKING THE RED: Daniel Craig at the No Time To Die premiere this week and (below) co-star Lashana Lynch

However, he noted: "This film does things that no Bond film has ever done, and despite relying heavily on tropes that feel not only familiar but comforting, it is the unfamiliar things it does that make this such an exciting entry."

NO TIME TO DIE: 'a smashing piece of action cinema'

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: It's time to make space for new opportunities and to explore your world in a different way. If you normally enjoy routine be ready to leave it on the back burner and try something new.

TAURUS: On the upside you can expect a call from someone from the past and this time you need to be honest about any feelings you may still have for them. On the downside it may not be who you want to appear. No matter it's going to be a fun month.

GEMINI: The sun in your cousin sign of Libra will bring out a very melancholy side of you and it favors getting a handle on any part of life that you are not dealing with. In the end its always up to you.

CANCER: If you do not reconcile soon with someone close the consequences will be far-reaching. Your reluctance to forgive someone or something will catch up with you sooner rather than later.

LEO: This month should begin with you feeling more confident and light hearted than for some time. If you don't see that light at the end of the tunnel it is surely a good time to seek it.

VIRGO: By now you should be settling down with a very welcome guest who is visiting you for a year ahead. For he is Jupiter, known as the Santa Claus of the planets and he will in some way or another bring you gifts.

LIBRA: Like Leo, you are ready to lighten up your life in some way. This is the beginning of your new year and make sure that all is in order going forward. A person from your past will surprise you. Maybe a gift for your Happy Birthday?

SCORPIO: Remember this time last month and realize that all things change and that which came to pass was not anywhere near as bad as you thought. You are ready for some fun times heading through the upcoming holiday period.

SAGITTARIUS: Your favorite travel period is coming up so be ready to relax and take a different route this time as you are truly in need of a break away. You will be lucky in some way this week so be sure to take a chance or have a flutter.

CAPRICORN: Pluto the lord of digging up the dirt is settling down deeper into your life so the best thing is to look at what you know you can change. As for the rest it is best to will take some time sorting out what to do and when to do it.

AQUARIUS: You have a family or work situation that will likely come to a head in the next week or sooner. Only you know what you should do, however it is not always easy. Be ready to compromise on the outcome.

PISCES: This week ahead will be busier than usual. With this in mind make sure you schedule time to relax and enjoy time out. You should make an effort to contact someone with whom you have almost lost contact.

LEGAL NOTICES

ested in the will or estate, or both, of NAOMI WELIKSON

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Juliet Weiss Saxe in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Juliet Weiss Saxe be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Nov. 2, 2021 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 4 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

into the game Nuno was forced to turn to his bench, bringing on Kane, Son Heung-Min and Lucas Moura on 60 minutes.

It did not take long for the substitutes to have an impact as Kane linked up with Moura for his first goal and Son for his second, before side-footing past Obradovic for his 16th career hat-trick.

West Ham manager David Moyes wants to "try and be in Europe after Christmas" as his side claimed a deserved Europa League group stage win over Rapid Vienna.

Declan Rice's first-half tap-in and Said Benrahma's injury-time effort gave them victory at the London Stadium.

Following on from their success at Dinamo Zagreb a fortnight ago, Moyes' men are in command of Group H ahead of back-to-back meetings with Belgian side Genk.

Rice also hit a post with a near-post flick and

DECLAN RICE: on target for West Ham

Craig Dawson saw his header bounce back off the woodwork.

Substitute Jarrod Bowen should have scored in the second half, but blazed wide with only defender Kevin Wimmer on the line to beat.

Pablo Fornals had a shot saved in stoppage time, moments before Benrahma found the bottom corner with virtually the last kick.

Moyes told BT Sport: "I want to try and be in Europe after Christmas by finishing one or two, so we want to win the group if we can.

"We are not going to let up, we are enjoying it and won't be letting it go easy, but I have to manage Premier League games too.

"We are capable of handling it and the squad we have can handle it too. It will be tough, but I hope we can manage it."

Leicester's winless start to their Europa League campaign continued with a limp defeat at Legia Warsaw, who collected a famous victory in Poland.

Brendan Rodgers' side have started the season inconsistently and now have work to do in Group C following a defeat to go with their 2-2 draw at Napoli in the opening game.

Azerbaijan national Mahir Emreli scored the only goal in the 31st minute, outmuscling Daniel Amartey on the edge of the box before firing in a low finish via the foot of the post.

Leicester lacked rhythm but did have chances with Ayoze Perez screwing wide in the first half after being put through by Patson Daka.

Centre-half Jannik Vestergaard had a golden opportunity to equalise in the second half, but his header from four yards out was somehow kept out by Legia goalkeeper Cezary Miszta's stunning reflex save.

A promising Celtic start was undone by a string of defensive lapses as Bayer Leverkusen ruthlessly punished their hosts to take victory in their Europa League meeting in Glasgow.

A frantic game played in front of an, at times, raucous crowd raged in the opening minutes, before Piero Hincapie finished after David Turnbull's slip.

Florian Wirtz chipped the ball over Joe Hart to make it 2-0, Lucas Hilario's penalty killed Celtic's second-half momentum before substitute Amine Adli smashed in a fourth with the last kick.

Defeat leaves Celtic bottom of Group G with zero points with a double header against also winless Ferencvaros to come next, while Leverkusen, whose fourth was just reward for a glut of late surges, have a 100% record alongside Real Betis.

Ron to the rescue

■ Old Trafford legend strikes in Fergie time to win it for United

Champions League
Man. Utd.....2
Villarreal.....1

C R I S T I A N O RONALDO scored a stoppage-time winner for Manchester United on his record-breaking 178th Champions League appearance on Wednesday night.

Alex Telles equalised after Paco Alcacer had put Villarreal ahead but Ronaldo's stunning late intervention at Old Trafford saved the day for United.

With Manchester United seemingly lurching towards another dispiriting result, the returning hero scored in the last minute of added time to ease the pressure on manager Solskjaer.

Villarreal, conquerors of United in a marathon penalty shoot-out in last season's Europa League final, should have been out of sight by half-time.

David de Gea kept United in the game with a succession of fine saves, and after Villarreal eventually took a deserved lead it took an audacious volley from Alex Telles to bring United back into it. After exiting the Carabao Cup to West Ham and losing in the Premier League to Aston Villa, both at home, this late victory was just what United needed.

Solskjaer claimed this was not a "must-win" game but, having lost their opener at Young Boys in this competition, only a victory would suffice.

With Harry Maguire and Luke Shaw missing through injury and Aaron Wan-Bissaka starting a two-match ban after his red card against Young Boys, United looked shaky at the back, and the visitors were presented with a glorious chance to open the scoring after four minutes, Arnaut Danjuma put through on goal but sending his effort straight at goalkeeper De Gea.

Danjuma came close again three minutes later, cutting inside onto his right foot, but De Gea produced a superb save to his left to turn away the goal-bound effort.

De Gea came to United's rescue again in the 17th minute, tipping a fine glancing header over from Paco Alcacer, after Danjuma had beaten Diogo Dalot all ends up to send in the delivery.

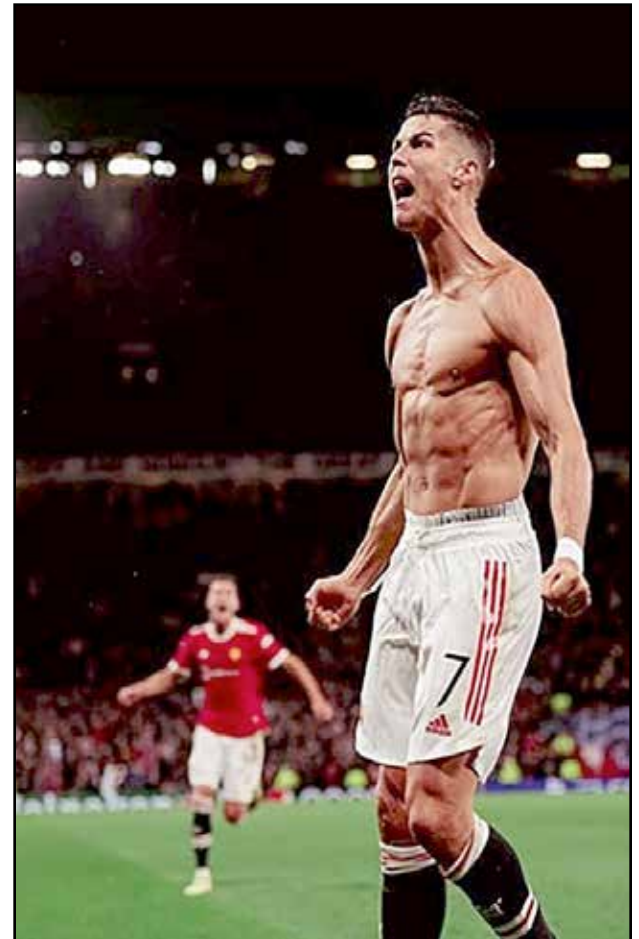

Another chance came the way of the Europa League champions moments later, ex-Liverpool defender Alberto Moreno shooting over after United were slow to react to a cleverly-worked corner.

Danjuma continued to torment Dalot, who had no answer to his opponent's pace and trickery. United's lack of a replacement right-back on the bench meant there would be no respite for Dalot.

De Gea was called into action again before the break, diving low to his right to keep out a shot from Yeremi Pino, as United's defence was once again exposed.

Villarreal deservedly went ahead in the 53rd minute, Danjuma again getting the better of Dalot and crossing for Alcacer, who turned the ball in with a first-time finish.

United levelled on the hour, Alex Telles executing an unstoppable volley from a cleverly worked free-kick from Bruno Fernandes – then came Ronaldo's goal after good work by substitute Jesse Lingard.

Europa League round up

Harry Kane came off the bench to score a 20-minute hat-trick as Tottenham recorded their first Europa Conference League win with a 5-1 victory over NS Mura on Thursday.

After a mixed start to the season, including a draw in their Group G opener against Rennes, Spurs dominated the first half against the Slovenian side after scoring two early goals.

Manager Nuno Espirito Santo made nine changes after Sunday's north London derby defeat, with only Dele Alli and Sergio Reguilon keeping their places.

Alli opened the scoring on four minutes, drilling his penalty into the bottom-left corner after he was fouled by goalkeeper

KANE: a hat-trick off the bench on Thursday

Matko Obradovic.

Giovani lo Celso added a second six minutes later, collecting Harry Winks' pass before driving the ball into the roof of the net.

The visitors had only

32% possession and no shots on target in the first half, but pulled a goal back eight minutes after the restart through a brilliant Ziga Kous volley.
