PARTYGATE: dossier slams 'failures of leadership'

■ PM left reeling as scathing report blasts his leadership and judgment, AND condemns booze culture inside No. 10

BORIS JOHNSON has faced one of the most difficult week's of his tenure in Number 10 after Sue Gray's report blamed "failures of leadership and judgment" for gatherings that took place at the heart of Government as Covid restrictions were in place.

To add to the PM's embarrassment, on Thursday four of his senior aides resigned from Downing Street within hours of each other amid growing pressure on the prime minister.

Director of communications Jack Doyle confirmed his exit shortly after the departure of policy head Munira Mirza.

They were followed on Thursday by chief of staff Dan Rosenfield and senior civil servant Martin Reynolds.

The top aides' resignations came as Mr Johnson faces increasing questions over his leadership from within his party.

Mr Doyle told staff that "recent weeks have taken a terrible toll on my family life", but that he had always intended to leave after two years.

A statement from a No

10 spokeswoman said Mr Rosenfield had offered his resignation to the prime minister earlier on Thursday, but would stay on while his successor was found.

The resignations came just days after the release of Ms Gray's 12-page dossier - which contained just six pages of text - in which the senior civil servant said at least some of the events surrounding the so-called 'Partygate' scandal were "a serious failure to observe...the high standards expected of those working at the heart of Government".

She also hit out at the "excessive consumption of alcohol" in No10.

Met Police chiefs also confirmed that they were investigating events held on eight dates listed in Ms Gray's report - including a picnic that took place in the Cabinet Room to mark the Prime Minister's 56th birthday.

Ms Gray told reporters that many key details of her report were redacted after advice from police conducting an inquiry.

She admitted that the information which officers had recommended she omit meant that her update was "extremely limited" in what it could say.

'serious failure'

Ms Gray said: "It is not possible at present to provide a meaningful report setting out and analysing the extensive factual information I have been able to gather." Yet she was scathing over the "behaviours" of some in Government.

Her document identified 16 events on 12 dates between May 2020 and April 2021 while Covid restrictions were in force.

She wrote: "At least some of the gatherings in question represent a serious failure to observe not just the high standards expected of those working at the heart of Government but also of the standards expected of the entire British population at the time.

'not appropriate'

"At times it seems there was too little thought given to what was happening across the country in considering the appropriateness of some of these gatherings, the risks they presented to public health and how they might appear to the public. There were failures of leadership and judgment by different parts of No10 and the Cabinet Office at different times.

"Some of the events should not have been allowed to take place. Other events should not have been allowed to develop as they did."

Ms Gray hit out at indications of a booze culture in Whitehall and urged stricter rules: "The excessive consumption of alcohol is not appropriate in a professional workplace at any time. Steps must be taken to ensure that every Government department has a clear and robust policy in place covering the consumption of alcohol in the workplace." No. 10 officials suggested an update to rules governing Downing Street staff may include curbs on alcohol. The Prime Minister's spokesman said the Gray report "alludes to that and the need for changes to be made in that area."

"Steps will be taken to ensure every Government department has a clear, robust policy in place covering the consumption of alcohol."

Ms Gray said despite limits placed on her report, she was still able to conclude that some behaviour in Downing Street fell short.

■ PM tells MPs: "I get it and I will fix it," while a supporter predicts: "Boris will bounce back, he always does."

EMBATTLED Boris Johnson has pledged to right the wrongs of his premiership.

On a bruising day in the Commons, the PM issued an apology in response to the scathing Sue Gray report into boozy Downing Street parties. A contrite Mr Johnson – promising sweeping changes to his backroom team including the rehiring of strategist Sir Lynton Crosby – told MPs: "I get it and I will fix it."

As the week progressed Johnson appeared to be winning over the majority of Tory MPs, after he received the cautious backing of the party's the influential 1922 Committee.

Mr Johnson endured one of the toughest days of his tenure on Monday following the publication of Ms Gray's initial report after her Cabinet Office probe into the scandal.

He repeatedly resisted calls for him to promise to publish Ms Gray's full report once the Scotland Yard investigation concludes.

But in a U-turn after the Commons statement, Downing Street officials confirmed her full findings will be released.

Slimmed down to just six pages of text because of police concerns about their own investigation into alleged lockdown breaches, the update from the senior civil servant condemned "failures of leadership and judgment" in Downing Street.

Senior Tories including Theresa May and former chief whip Andrew Mitchell made clear their anger at the Number 10 failings. Mr Johnson said he took "full responsibility" for the lockdown party scandal – but insisted he was the leader to "move on" and deliver on voters' priorities.

'hard for everyone'

He also insisted he takes Covid seriously because he had "nearly died" of the disease himself.

Allies of the PM were confident that a leadership challenge will not materialise.

Another Tory source said: "Boris will bounce back, he always does."

Ms Gray's long-awaited but slimmed down report was finally published at 2.20pm on Monday.

In a Commons statement just over an hour later, Mr Johnson pledged a massive overhaul at Number 10.

He told MPs: "I get it and I will fix it.

"I want to say sorry. Sorry for the things we simply did not get right and sorry for the way that this matter has been handled.

"It is no use saying this or that was within the rules. It is no use saying that people were working hard.

"This pandemic was hard for everyone. We asked people across this country to make the most extraordinary sacrifices, not to meet loved ones, not to visit relatives before they died, and I understand the anger that people feel.

"It is not enough to say sorry. This is a moment when we must look at ourselves in the mirror and we must learn."

Mr Johnson has accepted Ms Gray's findings "in full" and pledged to adopt her recommendations and shake up Downing Street and the Cabinet Office. A new Office of the Prime Minister led by a top civil servant will be set up, he told MPs.

'man without shame'

Mr Johnson endured a bruising 90 minutes at the Despatch Box with several senior Tory MPs joining the criticism of his

COUNTER PUNCHER: Johnson faced down withering criticism in the House this week - including from former Prime Minister Theresa May leadership.

In a scathing intervention, former prime minister Theresa May slammed her successor and bitter rival. She said: "What the Gray report does show is that Number 10 was not observing the regulations they had imposed on members of the public.

"So either my right honourable friend had not read the rules or didn't understand what they meant, and others around him, or they didn't think the rules applied to Number 10. Which was it?"

Former Tory chief whip Andrew Mitchell triggered gasps from colleagues by announcing he could no longer support the Prime Minister.

Mr Mitchell said: "I have to tell him he no longer enjoys my support."

Tory backbencher Aaron Bell, MP for Newcastle-under-Lyme, spoke emotionally about attending his grandmother's funeral during lockdown.

He said: "There were only 10 at the funeral, many people who loved her had to watch online.

"I didn't hug my siblings, I didn't hug my parents. I gave the eulogy and then afterwards I didn't even go to her house for a cup of tea. I drove back three hours from Kent to Staffordshire. Does the Prime Minister think I'm a fool?"

Earlier, Labour leader Sir Keir Starmer called for the PM's resignation in a brutal Commons attack.

He said: "By routinely breaking the rules he set, the Prime Minister took us all for fools, he held people's sacrifice in contempt, he showed himself unfit for office.

"He gleefully treats what should be a mark of shame as a welcome shield.

"But Prime Minister, the British public aren't fools, they never believed a word of it, they think the Prime Minister should do the decent thing and resign.

"Of course he won't because he is a man without shame and just as he has done throughout his life, he's damaged everyone and everything around him along the way."

over a 20-month period – a period that has been unique in recent times in terms of the complexity and breadth of the demands on public servants and indeed the general public. The whole of the country rose to the challenge.

"However...a number of these gatherings should not have been allowed to take place or to develop in the way that they did. There is significant learning to be drawn from these events which must be addressed immediately. This does not need to wait for the police investigations to be concluded."

Ms Gray declined to conclude if gatherings broke the law: "That is properly a matter for law enforcement."

She made clear she was retaining a lot of detail that could be published later: "I will not be circulating the information internally within government, it has been provided in confidence to the Cabinet Office investigation team and it is important that this confidence is maintained to protect the integrity of the process."

Officials in Downing St and the Cabinet Office were at the core of the Government response to the pandemic, working "long hours under difficult conditions", the report said.

"Those challenges, however, also applied to key and frontline workers across the country.

"It is important to remember the stringency of the public health regulations in force in England over the relevant periods and that criminal sanctions were applied to many. The hardship under which citizens across the country worked, lived and sadly even died while observing the Government's regulations...are known only too well."

Job mandate for NHS workers scrapped

■ As Covid numbers ebb, government halts deeply contentious vaccine requirement

PLANS for mandatory Covid jabs for NHS and social care workers have been scrapped, Sajid Javid has announced.

The Health Secretary said the measure had been revoked because the public are better protected against the virus and the Omicron strain proved to be milder than other variants.

The U-turn comes after warnings of crippling staff shortages if the plan had gone ahead.

Mr Javid told MPs: "Omicron is intrinsically less severe. When taken together with the first factor that we now have greater population protection, the evidence shows the risk of presentation to emergency care or hospital admission with Omicron is approximately half of that for Delta.

"Given these dramatic changes, it is not only right but responsible to revisit the balance of risks and opportunities that guided our original decision last year."

He added: "While vaccination remains our very best line of defence against Covid-19, I believe it is no longer proportionate to require vaccination as a condition of deployment through statute.

"We will launch a consultation on ending vaccination as a condition in health and all social care sectors. Subject to the responses and the will of this House, the Government will revert the regulations."

But that process did not please everyone.

'half and half'

The job requirement for NHS workers had been due to come into force in April, making this Thursday the last possible day on which staff could get their first job in order to be fully vaccinated in time.

Conservative MP Esther McVey branded Mr Javid's statement a "disappointment".

She said: "I was hoping I'd be able to congratulate the Secretary of State on the Government's recent conversion to common sense in halting the mandatory vaccination process of NHS workers.

"Instead, what he's doing is doing a half-and-half decision today, knowing the Damocles Sword hangs over NHS workers because they've got to have their first vaccination on Thursday and then he will be sending them on a pathway to unemployment along with thousands of other care workers who will have lost their jobs."

But Mr Javid replied: "The Government has made its decision on this and the NHS will be writing today to all NHS trusts, and the department will be contacting care home providers as well in the wider social care settings to make it clear that the deadline is no longer applicable."

He defended the policy of initially introducing mandatory Covid vaccinations for NHS and social care workers.

'clinical evidence'

He insisted that there was a need to consider the impact on the workforce in NHS and social care settings "especially at a time where we already have a shortage of workers and near full employment across the economy". He added: "In December I argued, and this House overwhelmingly agreed, that the weight of clinical evidence in favour of vaccination outweighed risks to the workforce.

"It was the right policy at the time, supported by the clinical evidence. The Government makes no apology for it. It has also proven to be the right policy in retrospect, given the severity of Delta."

The Health Secretary said that since September there has been an increase of 127,000 people working across the NHS who have got jabbed and a rise of 32,000 people vaccinated in social care.

He went on: "Given that Delta has been

The U-turn comes after warnings that almost 80,000 healthcare workers would be forced out of their jobs because they declined to take two doses of a vaccine.

replaced, it's only right that our policy on vaccination is reviewed. I asked for fresh advice including from the UK Health Security Agency and England's Chief Medical Officer."

Labour backed the announcement with Shadow Health Secretary Wes Streeting telling the Commons: "We understand the difficulties faced by the Government in coming to today's decision and we will continue to be as constructive and helpful as we can be in a national crisis."

The move comes after warnings that almost 80,000 healthcare workers would be forced out of their jobs because they declined to take two doses of a vaccine. The Royal College of Nursing, the Royal College of Midwives and the Royal College of GPs have all pushed for the requirement to be delayed, with warnings it would have a "catastrophic" impact.

The legal requirement for care home staff to be fully vaccinated came into effect in November. An estimated 40,000 people lost their jobs over the policy.

Under the revised rules, they are expected to be able to return to work.

'disgraceful'

But Mike Padgham, chairman of the Independent Care Group, said care homes need to be informed whether staff who lost their jobs because they were not vaccinated can return.

He explained: "I think this illustrates the huge gap between NHS care and social care and the way they are treated.

"We were robbed of thousands of staff back in November when the policy came in for care and nursing home workers – and nobody lifted a finger.

"But when a similar threat is levelled towards NHS staff, the policy is reversed."

Mark Topps, a director at the National Association of Care & Support Workers, claimed it was "disgraceful" that care homes have had to spend time and money on disciplinary proceedings and redundancies potentially for no reason.

Patricia Marquis, the director of RCN England, said: "This climbdown by Government is long overdue. Vaccination is hugely important but this was the wrong policy, especially as it added to the current pressure on NHS and care services."

BoJo tells Putin: Ukraine invasion would be 'tragic miscalculation'

■ PM warns Russian leader as international tensions continue to rise

TOUGH-TALKING Boris Johnson has told Vladimir Putin in no doubt that a Russian invasion of Ukraine would be a "tragic miscalculation".

The Prime Minister also expressed his "deep concern" about the continuing tensions in Eastern Europe – and urged for "dialogue and diplomacy" to end the crisis.

He made his call after RAF jets were scrambled to see off Russian bombers that flew close to British airspace.

Mr Johnson – who visited Ukraine capital Kiev on Tuesday in a show of staunch support for the beleaguered country – spoke to President Putin as the United States announced it will send 3,000 more troops to the region to bolster Nato allies.

At press time East-West tensions continued to escalate, as it was feared there are now around 130,000 Russian troops massed near the Ukrainian border.

After Mr Johnson's call to Moscow, a Downing Street spokesman revealed details of the leaders' conversation.

He said: "The Prime Minister expressed his deep concern about Russia's current hostile activity on the Ukrainian border.

"He emphasised the need to find a way forward, which respects both Ukraine's territorial integrity and right to self-defence.

'defensive alliance'

"The Prime Minister stressed any further Russian incursion into Ukrainian territory would be a tragic miscalculation."

Russia fiercely opposes Ukraine joining NATO. But during the phone call, Mr Johnson defended the nation's right to sign up to the military alliance.

His spokesman said: "The Prime Minister underscored that, under Nato's open-door policy, all European democracies have a right to aspire to Nato membership. This right fully applies to Ukraine.

"He also reiterated that Nato is a defensive alliance."

The spokesman also said: "The leaders agreed that aggravation was in no one's interest.

"The Prime Minister

stressed the importance of dialogue and diplomacy, and the need to include Ukraine in talks."

He added: "The Prime Minister and President Putin welcomed communication between the UK and Russia on a number of important issues including climate change, the situation in Afghanistan and the Iran nuclear deal.

"They agreed to apply this spirit of dialogue to the current tensions in order to find a peaceful resolution."

The Kremlin did not say how Russia would respond to what it described as Nato's unreadiness to answer Russian concerns.

'real danger'

After the call, it said: "Nato's unwillingness to adequately respond to Russia's well-founded concerns was noted, while hiding behind references to the alliance's so-called open-door policy, which contradicts the fundamental principle of indivisibility of security."

It added Mr Putin had drawn attention to Kiev's "chronic sabotage of the Minsk agreements" – a treaty drawn up in 2014 to end war in the region.

Earlier in the day the RAF scrambled fighter jets as four Russian Bear bombers skirted British airspace.

Two Cold War-era Tu-95 Bear Hs and two Tu-142 Bear Fs flew close to a "UK area of interest". But the Russians were intercepted by Typhoons, which took to the skies from RAF Lossiemouth.

The mission was successful and the Bears did not enter UK airspace.

An air force spokesperson said: "Quick Reaction Alert Typhoon fighters based at RAF Lossiemouth, supported by a Voyager from RAF Brize Norton, were scrambled today against unidentified aircraft approaching the UK area of interest.

"Subsequently we intercepted and escorted four Russian Bear aircraft."

The RAF said it "routinely" intercepts, identifies and escorts Russian aircraft that "transit international airspace within the UK's area of interest". In November 2021, it launched jets in response to Russian TU-160 Blackjack strategic bombers that also approached UK airspace.

50 Years On: Bloody Sunday Remembered

Families of the victims and supporters take part in the Bloody Sunday March to Free Derry Corner, as they marked the 50 anniversary of the tragedy on Sunday

To mark the 50th anniversary of Bloody Sunday, marchers carried pictures of the victims on a walk of remembrance through Derry on Sunday.

Taoiseach Micheal Martin and Irish foreign minister Simon Coveney attended a memorial service afterwards.

Thirteen civil rights protesters were shot dead in the city by British soldiers on January 30, 1972. Another victim died four months later.

Lord Saville, chair of the public inquiry into Bloody Sunday, concluded the killings were "unjustified and unjustifiable". He said yesterday: "The idea behind the amnesty for British army veterans is undoubtedly good, to try and draw a line under those terrible Troubles."

Ryanair branded “Britain’s Most Awkward Airline” after coming bottom of a Covid care league table

BUDGET CARRIER Ryanair has been branded “Britain’s most awkward airline” after coming bottom of a Covid care league table.

British Airways fared little better, rating second last in the survey by consumer watchdog Which? The airline giants incurred the wrath of customers due to their performance after pandemic travel chaos struck.

Both were slow to hand out refunds for disrupted flights and were judged inferior over punctuality, value for money and comfort.

Ryanair ranked bottom with a satisfaction rating of 55 per cent while BA was just ahead on 63 per cent. On refunds, Ryanair – whose boss is Irish tycoon Michael O’Leary – finished last with a 47 per cent score, just below BA, which hit 63 per cent again.

“terrible”

Asked if there was an airline they would never fly with, nearly three-quarters of customers replied Ryanair. One customer said: “Ryanair is the most awkward airline to deal with that I have ever come across. It seems to be proud of being difficult.”

Budget brand Jet2 topped the six-airline survey – compiled from the experiences on short-haul trips of nearly 2,500 passengers.

Jet2 had an 82 per cent satisfaction rating and an 84 per cent refunds score. Nine in 10 customers said they got a full refund instead of a voucher.

Which? travel editor Rory Boland said Dublin-based Ryanair’s customer service was “consistently terrible”.

But he added: “The airline plumbed new depths handling Covid refunds.”

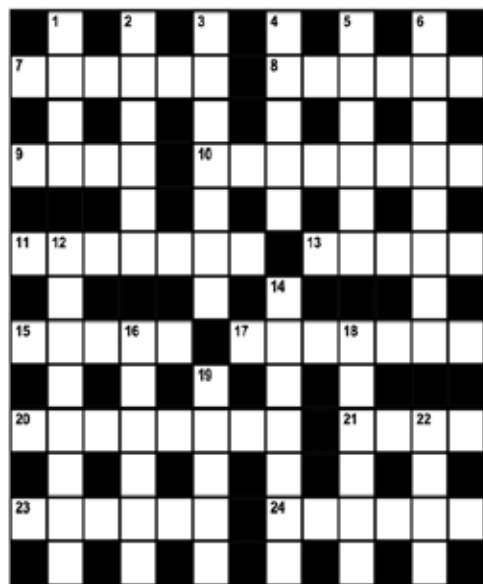

NOBODY LOVES THEM....BUT ARE THEY BOTHERED? Ryanair and British Airways were both slow to hand out refunds to due Covid-disrupted flights

Date: 02/28/22. Time: 9:30am; Dept 26, Room 315

It appearing that the following person whose name is to be changed is over 18 years of age: Thomas Bryant. And a petition for change of names having been duly filed with the clerk of this Court, and it appearing from said petition that said petitioner(s) desire to have their name changed from Thomas Bryant to Matt James

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that all persons interested in the above entitled matter of change of names appear before the above entitled court to show cause why the petition for change of name(s) should not be granted.

Any person objecting to the name changes described must file a written petition that includes the reasons for the objection at least two court days before the matter is scheduled to be heard and must appear at the hearing to show cause why the petition should not be granted. If no written objection is timely filed, the court may grant the petition without a hearing.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of this order be published in the British Weekly, a newspaper of general circulation for the County of Los Angeles, for four successive weeks prior to the date set for hearing of said petition.

Dated: Jan 11, 2022.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF DIANE COLETTA LOCKLEAR

Case No. 22STPB00419

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of DIANE COLETTA LOCKLEAR

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Charlene M. Wells-Kenkel in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Charlene M. Wells-Kenkel be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Feb. 25, 2022 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 2D located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

It's the Year of the Tiger...but will it prove the cat's whiskers?

First off I would like to wish everyone a Happy Lunar New Year!

In case you hadn't heard we are now in the Year of the Tiger, which apparently embodies courage and bravery.... I hear some of you muttering 'what a load of codswallop', but my response to that is, that even if you are a sceptic (or skeptical for our American readers) why not try to be brave and courageous anyway?

I inadvertently celebrated this occasion at the Japanese-themed Yamashiro restaurant in Hollywood. To be honest, I had half forgotten that the New Year was upon us and had coincidentally arranged to meet a couple of my neighbors for a quiet drink. So as you can imagine we were quite surprised to find that the restaurant was super busy and there was a unusually long wait to be seated - it was only then that it struck us that people were flocking to the 'Mountain Palace', on a usually slow Tuesday evening because they wanted to honor the new year at a venue that is associated with Asian culture.

It helped make the evening extra special, as in spite of living next-door to each other for several years this was the first time we had ever spent time together socially. So it felt rather symbolic that we got to start a new chapter at the beginning of a new year.

I think this is one of the very few good things that I will give the pandemic and lock down partial credit for - as I am usually quite a private person, but staying at home for the last couple of years meant we weren't given much choice other than to become more interactive with our neighbors. Fortunately for me, mine are rather nice!

It often amuses me that people in Hollywood are usually very vague or even secretive about how old they are, but if you ask them what animal represents them in the Chinese horoscope they have no issues with blurting it out. Seeing as each sign only comes about every 12 years it then isn't that hard to pinpoint their actual age - try it... It would probably be a good question for bouncers to ask when they suspect that someone is using a fake ID - or they could ask their weight, as oddly enough that is printed on your California ID/ Drivers license - which is also a bit embarrassing for many of us who are still struggling to lose that Covid15 (and then some).

We all know the Queen is currently 95 years old - she certainly isn't coy when it comes to sharing her age, she even gets two birthday celebrations every year so she couldn't hide it if she tried. Whether you are a fan of the British monarchy or not, I think many of you can still appreciate Her Majesty?

So I doubt it come as a surprise that she was born in the Year of the Tiger (1926). She is certainly renowned for her resilience and strength, even in times of struggle - perhaps this is the year she goes full Tiger and gets extra brave and has the courage to face whatever the world (or her family members) throw at her next! It's interesting to note that the last Year of the Tiger was in 2010, which coincided with the Diamond Jubilee to mark her 60th anniversary on the throne. And yet again she displayed remarkable fortitude especially considering that her husband, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh was hospitalized with a bladder infection and couldn't attend any of the official celebrations.

With the cancellation of this year's Golden Dragon Parade in Chinatown due to the pandemic, communities throughout Southern California are invited to come together and celebrate Lunar New Year virtually. Eyes of the Dragon," which will take place on Saturday, February 12 at 11 a.m. PST -- visit the Chinese Chamber Facebook at facebook.com/lachinesechamber to watch.

There are a few in-person events still going ahead I have listed a few below. but as we have all learned by now it would be wise to double check before you head over:

Alhambra Lunar New Year Festival returns on Feb. 20 with all-day entertainment

Chinese New Year Celebration at the Huntington takes place on Feb. 5 and 6 and features lion dancers, a mask-changing artist, martial arts demonstrations, Chinese music and art and craft demonstrations

Lunar New Year at Santa Monica Place runs through Feb. 8 with cherry blossom wishing trees, festive gold and red lanterns and holiday themed activities.

Lunar New Year at Disney California

SHE'S A TIGER. Of course she is.

Adventure Park runs through Feb. 13 and features Mulan's Lunar New Year Procession, the first appearance of Raya from "Raya and the Last Dragon," child-friendly crafts and activities, Lunar New Year marketplaces, live holiday entertainment and appearances by popular Disney characters.

Have fun and be safe! Email us at info@britsin.la if you have any questions or comments

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: Don't spend too much time looking at how you can improve the future of your finances - you are already on the right track. Your best chance to change some areas of your life comes after the middle of next week.

TAURUS: Your boss planet Venus is moving nicely to your benefit in your cousin sign of Capricorn. Do not be vague on how you want your overall future to be. Make it a priority to change it yourself.

GEMINI: You are expecting a more positive cash flow in coming weeks. This should be a relatively easy time to accomplish your month's goals. Just give it until next weekend.

CANCER: You are likely a little confused by others' attitudes currently... however by midweek ahead it's going to be clearer on what answers you will give. You may feel a little emotional due to Mercury bringing back memories.

LEO: You are probably having some kind of emotional challenges of late and it should be your priority to resolve them. Do not judge another person's actions now because you probably don't understand their motives.

VIRGO: You are best to have a back-up plan for any future goals. Mercury your boss is going forward this weekend and it's go-slow time until mid-month. Do not try to make plans until then.

LIBRA: Venus your boss planet has started on a fast forward trip. This is a good omen as she brings results in a comfortable way. Make sure you do not overdo things.

SCORPIO: You are probably a bit confused as to what your next moves in life should be. Though you may not want to be active in many things it's best to make a move forward now your boss is in stable Capricorn.

SAGITTARIUS: Be your own friend and honor your gut feelings. Your boss Jupiter in your area of communications along with Venus brings good news. This is only clarifying what your gut feeling tells you.

CAPRICORN: Family and other responsibilities have made you somewhat stressed of late. Spend some time these next few days resting as the current energy around you can cause you to overdue things.

AQUARIUS: This unpredictable time should not stop you from looking forward to some new opportunities to improve your life. Just enjoying anticipating can help you get through life with a smile. Happy Birthday!

PISCES: You are likely feeling confused about some things in life. You are probably better than most people currently. Better days in general will be yours due to Jupiter visiting you.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: S. LORAIN HULL SMITHERS AKA S. L. HULL-SMITHERS CASE NO. 22STPB00514

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of S. LORAIN HULL SMITHERS AKA S. L. HULL-SMITHERS.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by DIANNE LEE HULL in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that DIANNE LEE HULL be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 02/23/22 at 8:30AM in Dept. 79 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Lampard the draw to join Toffees, says Dele

Dele Alli says the opportunity to play under new manager Frank Lampard made joining Everton the "perfect match".

Lampard was appointed Toffees boss on transfer deadline day and made Alli a priority, signing him from Tottenham for a fee that could reach £40m.

Alli, 25, has struggled to find his best form recently and has played only 10 Premier League games this season.

"I'm here and I'm looking to show what I can do and show everyone the best part of Dele," he said.

Alli told Everton TV: "He [Lampard] is an amazing manager and an amazing person as well.

"He knows me very well as a player and I know the tactics he likes and how he likes to play, and how he likes his teams to work. So, I feel like it's a perfect match and I can't wait to get going."

The former MK Dons player was one of two deadline day acquisitions by Lampard, with Netherlands international Donny van de Beek joining on loan from Manchester United.

The Netherlands international's wages will be paid in full by the Toffees, who do not have an option to make his move permanent.

Pierre-Emerick Aubameyang has said his "problem" with Arsenal boss Mikel Arteta contributed to his decision to leave the club and join Barcelona.

The Gabon striker completed a free transfer to Barca on Wednesday having been frozen out of the Gunners squad.

Aubameyang's departure came after he was stripped of the Arsenal captaincy following a disciplinary breach.

Christian Eriksen's free transfer to Brentford could be the club's "greatest signing ever", says boss Thomas Frank.

Eriksen, 29, joined the Bees on a six-month contract on transfer deadline day after his release by Inter Milan.

The Denmark international suffered cardiac arrest at Euro 2020 in June and was subsequently fitted with an implanted cardioverter-defibrillator (ICD) - a type of pacemaker.

been picked for England since being sent home from Iceland in disgrace in 2020 after he and Phil Foden broke Covid protocols by inviting two women back to the team hotel in Reykjavik.

Since his United debut in 2019, Greenwood has scored 35 goals in 129 games to become one of the brightest young talents in Europe.

Conte axes Spurs flops

ANTONIO CONTE took no prisoners by jettisoning Tottenham players who have not come up to scratch during his three months in charge.

By this week's end to the transfer window, three were banished on loan, with record-signing Tanguy Ndombele sent back to his former club Lyon until the end of the season, the option of a £54.3million permanent transfer in the summer added to the deal.

Bryan Gil and Giovanni Lo Celso left for Valencia and Villarreal on loan, and Dele Alli signed for Everton on deadline day.

About 50 fans spent the day protesting against chairman Daniel Levy, waving banners outside the training ground entrance calling for the board to step down. They feel a lack of investment has been catastrophic to the club's fortunes since they reached the 2019 Champions League final.

Against that backdrop, Levy brought in two out-of-favour players from one of Conte's former clubs, Juventus. Uruguay international Rodrigo Bentancur, 24, arrived for £15.8m in a deal that could rise to more than £20m with potential add-ons.

Dejan Kulusevski, 21, has arrived initially on an 18-month loan deal costing Spurs £8.35m and the club would have to pay an additional £30m if they want to make the deal permanent.

Poch edging closer to United top job

■ Former Spurs boss increasingly out of favor at runaway Ligue 1 leaders PSG

Manchester United are increasingly confident of appointing Mauricio Pochettino as their new manager this summer.

Sources in France suggest Paris Saint-Germain have already made the decision to replace Pochettino at the end of this season, leaving the way clear for United to appoint the 49-year-old.

Although the French club are 11 points clear at the top of Ligue 1 and in the last 16 of the Champions League, Pochettino's future has reportedly been set in stone.

PSG face Real Madrid in the Champions League later this month and failure to progress to the quarter-finals will seal Pochettino's departure following his side's shock French Cup exit to Nice on Monday.

Former United chief Ed Woodward was a big fan of Pochettino and it is understood his successor, Richard Arnold, is keen on appointing the Argentinian to replace interim boss Ralf Rangnick.

Ajax boss Erik ten Hag is other name under consideration for the permanent manager's role at United. But Pochettino, who has 18 months left on his PSG contract, is the favoured choice.

And significantly,

if he is sacked United will not have to pay any compensation – in keeping with all their managerial appointments since Sir Alex Ferguson retired.

Pochettino's experience of the Premier League is believed to give him the edge over Ten Hag in the eyes of the United hierarchy, who know they must get the next managerial appointment right.

As well as spending five years with Spurs on the back of 12 months with Southampton, Pochettino has a track record of developing young players and playing attractive football, which are the key principles of any United manager.

Since Ferguson stepped down in 2013, United have appointed five managers – David Moyes, Louis van Gaal, Jose Mourinho, Ole Gunnar Solskjaer and now Rangnick.

But they have failed to mount a consistent title challenge under any of them.

The last trophy they won was the Europa League back in 2017 under Mourinho, who was sacked 19 months later.

Greenwood persona non grata after rape and assault allegations

MASON Greenwood is battling to save his Manchester United and England career after being arrested on suspicion of rape and assault.

Greenwood, 20, will not play or train for United until further notice, after finding himself in police custody this week being questioned about the allegations.

The striker was arrested at his Cheshire home after photographs and a video were posted on social media, showing serious injuries to a female.

Greater Manchester Police began an investigation, before United confirmed Greenwood would not be allowed back to the training ground or be involved in games until told otherwise.

A GMP statement said: "Greater Manchester

Police were made aware earlier today of online social media images and videos posted by a woman reporting incidents of physical violence. A man in his 20s has been arrested on suspicion of rape and assault. He remains in custody for questioning. Enquiries are ongoing."

United do not want Greenwood at the club while police conduct their enquiries. Following an initial statement saying the club "did not condone violence of any kind," United released a second one following the player's arrest announcing his absence from training and matches until "further notice".

It is the first crisis Richard Arnold will have to deal with as he replaces Ed Woodward as United's new CEO this week.
