'Passion and commitment' as Prince opens 2022 Commonwealth Games

Charles opens Games in Birmingham as ailing Queen rests at Balmoral

The Commonwealth Games kicked off on Thursday with a powerful tribute to The Queen's 70 years of 'passion and commitment' towards the participating nations, as her son Prince Charles opened the ceremony in her place as the monarch remains in Balmoral on her summer break.

Prince Charles and Camilla appeared at the official start of the 2022 games where the senior royals represented Her Majesty, who is patron of the Commonwealth Games Federation and Head of the Commonwealth.

The senior royals entered the arena from Charles's favoured Aston Martin at the same time as 72 other red, white or blue cars with links to the Birmingham car industry, which formed a Union flag in the centre of Alexander Stadium.

The 96-year-old, who has spent the last week at her Scottish residence, would have had to travel down to Birmingham for the Highlands to make the games - a situation likely considered too taxing for her at present.

The decision to miss out this year will likely strike a personal blow to the long-reigning monarch, who has always held the Commonwealth Games close to her heart and was present the last time they were held in the UK in 2014.

Her Majesty did launch the Commonwealth Games baton relay at Buckingham Palace in October, placing a secret message inside it that won't be read out until the Games are underway.

While the Queen has missed only a handful of Commonwealth events over the last seven decades, she has been beset with 'mobility issues' and unable to appear at some events in any official capacity in recent months.

heatwave

However she did attend her Platinum Jubilee celebrations at the beginning of June and as recently as this week was still performing her royal duties despite the sweltering heatwave that gripped the country.

Prince Charles previously opened the games in Her Majesty's place when they were held in India in 2010 and Australia in 2018.

Her Majesty previously opened the games in Canada (1978 and 1994), Scotland (1986 and 2014), England (2002) and Australia (2006).

Her late husband Prince Philip was a firm believer in the games, and opened them in Australia (1962 and 1982), Jamaica (1966), New Zealand (1974), Scotland (1970) and Wales (1958).

The Alexander Stadium ceremony was expected to be watched by around 1 billion people worldwide.

This year's event are set to see a bumper turnout from members of the Royal Family as they are being held on home ground for the first time since 2014 - and a decade on from the London Olympics.

30,000 fans packed into the Alexander Stadium in Birmingham on Thursday to catch a glimpse of the Royals and watch the opening ceremony get underway.

Headlined by the iconic Duran Duran, the ceremony also saw Tony Iommi of Black Sabbath take to the stage, alongside local rising stars Indigo Marshall and Gambini.

More than 700 people from across the West Midlands performed and the national anthem was sung by Birmingham Conservatoire graduate Samantha Oxborough.

The London Olympics' opening ceremony was well received and highly praised around the world, but the theatre director Iqbal Khan who created Birmingham's show believes he has created an event just as entertaining.

'I don't feel in the shadow of the Olympics at all. I feel like we have a comparable and massively entertaining, moving, challenging show to share with the world,' he said.

'The Olympics was extraordinary for this country, but we refuse to be overwhelmed by that. We take that as inspiration.'

The fictional Thomas Shelby from Peaky Blinders, played by actor Cillian Murphy, also made an appearance to declare: 'This is our city', before the video ends with him saying: 'We'll raise the roof!', in a clip taken from the hit TV series.

The ceremony is being masterminded by Steven Knight, the creator of Birmingham-based Peaky Blinders.

Tory leadership race turns nasty

■ Gloves come off as Sunak admits: "I'm the underdog"

Rishi Sunak and Liz Truss tore into each other over their rival visions for the future of the UK economy, in their first head-to-head TV debate on Tuesday.

The two contenders to be the next PM did not hold back from "blue-on-blue" attacks in the hour-long BBC special.

Mr Sunak told Ms Truss her tax cut plan would "tip millions of people into misery" and cost the Conservatives the next election.

Ms Truss said tax rises brought in by him would lead to a recession.

The foreign secretary and former chancellor, who until three weeks ago were in the same cabinet, talked over each other at times and shot angry glances across the stage at Stoke-on-Trent's Victoria Hall.

It led to complaints afterwards by Ms Truss's supporters that the ex-chancellor was being too aggressive and was "mansplaining" - something fiercely denied by the Sunak camp.

The pair were on better terms by the end of the debate, with Ms Truss saying she would "love" to have Mr Sunak on her team if she becomes PM. The ex-chancellor praised her stance on Russia.

Ms Truss wants to scrap the rise to National Insurance, a planned rise in corporation tax and would temporarily scrap green levies on energy bills to be paid for through borrowing.

Mr Sunak says he would not cut taxes until inflation was under control.

'scaremongering'

Mr Sunak - who quit as chancellor earlier this month - said the coronavirus pandemic had created a large bill and that putting it on the "country's credit card" would "pass the tab to our children and grandchildren".

Ms Truss insisted that under her plans the UK would start paying down the debt in three year's time - and paying it back straight away as Mr Sunak wanted to do would push the UK into a recession.

Mr Sunak suggested her plans would lead to higher interest rates, but the foreign secretary dismiss this as "scaremongering" and "project fear" - an echo of the criticism aimed at the Remain campaign during Brexit referendum.

Mr Sunak took this opportunity to point out that, unlike him, Ms Truss campaigned against Brexit.

"Maybe I learnt from that," she replied. She later said the Brexit referendum was when she had learnt not to trust Treasury forecasts on the economy.

Mr Sunak's resignation as chancellor helped trigger the downfall of Mr Johnson.

He praised Mr Johnson's handling of Brexit and the pandemic but said he had quit as a matter of principle over the PM's "conduct" and the fact that they had "very different views about the direction of travel on the economy".

'cool, controlled'

Ms Truss acknowledged the prime minister had made mistakes but said they were not "sufficient" enough for the Conservative Party to have "rejected him".

Neither said they would accept Mr Johnson in their cabinet.

Chief secretary to the Treasury and Truss-

ON THE HUSTINGS: Rishi Sunak makes his case to Tory members in Leeds

backer Simon Clarke told reporters that polling after the debate showed the majority of Conservative voters thought his candidate had won the evening - and it had reaffirmed his view that she was the right candidate to lead the country.

He refused to criticise Mr Sunak for interrupting, but said viewers would have to make up their own minds about his debating style. He added he thought

Ms Truss had been "cool, controlled" and had made compelling arguments.

Labour leader Sir Keir Starmer said the debate showed a Conservative Party which had "lost the plot and lost its purpose".

He said Mr Sunak was acting like he had "just come down from the moon" and discovered the economy was in a bad way when he had been in charge of it until three weeks ago, while Ms Truss was playing "fantasy economics" without explaining how she would pay for tax cuts.

"We do need change in the UK but the change we need is not a change at the top of the Conservative Party, it is more fundamental than that. We need a fresh start for Britain. We need a Labour government," he said.

A Liberal Democrat spokesperson simply said: "Eurgh."

Booze-free bar falls off the wagon

WITH more and more young people turning their backs on booze, it seemed like a good business idea at the time.

But an alcohol-free bar in a trendy area is reluctantly applying for a liquor licence because it is not making any money.

Sobar proudly branded itself as the only one in upmarket Ashley Cross in Poole, Dorset, not to sell the hard stuff.

Just five months after opening, owner Dave Tonkes admits his ambitious venture is not quite going to plan.

The reformed drinker claimed teetotallers "don't go out and socialise" in the same way as drinkers.

Dave, 52, said: "Although my research showed there was a market for this type of thing, people are just not using it.

"Having the bar as 100 per cent alcohol free just excludes the vast majority.

"I thought that people who don't drink would want the same experience but obviously I was wrong and I hold my hands up.

"I had groups coming in where two or three of them drink and they don't realise there are no alcoholic options at all."

The dad of three says around a quarter of his stock will be alcoholic in future, alongside his vast range of booze-free beer, cider, wine and cocktails.

He admits he had an "unhealthy relationship" with alcohol but gave it up 11 months before opening his business.

He added: "I've had some really positive responses. It just needs that little extra to keep it going. It's paying the bills but it needs to do a little bit more to pay me."

Tributes flow for Bernard Cribbins; Doctor Who and Wombles star dies at 93

Doctor Who and Wombles actor Bernard Cribbins has died aged 93, his agent has confirmed.

During a career that spanned seven decades, Cribbins narrated the 1970s children's programme The Wombles.

He also played the Doctor's companion Tom Campbell in the 1966 film Daleks' Invasion Earth 2150 AD returning 41 years later in the revived TV series.

Cribbins returned to the show as Wilfred Mott, the grandad of Catherine Tate's character Donna.

He played Wilfred from 2007 to 2010.

'fine actor'

The actor was known by generations of children - he also played the station porter Albert Perks in 1970 film The Railway Children.

Former Doctor Who showrunner Russell T Davies led the tributes, posting a picture of him on set, while saying: "I'm so lucky to have known him. Thanks for everything, my old soldier. A legend has left the world."

Comedian and actor Matt Lucas, who also featured in Doctor Who, called Cribbins a "brilliantly talented man".

Songwriter and producer Mike Batt, who wrote the theme tune for The Wombles, told the BBC: "He was rather mischievous and just great - funny, giggly company to be with. But he took his work very seriously and he was a fine actor on all levels. I think he'll be so badly missed by so many."

Dame Floella Benjamin, who appeared alongside Cribbins on children's television, tweeted: "He was a creative genius, great storyteller and knew just how to communicate with an audience."

Born in Oldham in 1928, Cribbins left school at 13 and found work as an assistant stage manager at a local theatre club, taking on small acting roles before serving an apprenticeship at the Oldham Repertory Theatre.

Jackanory fixture

The actor became well-known in the UK for having a string of successful novelty records in the 1960s such as Right Said Fred and The Hole in the Ground - a monologue which Noel Coward selected as one of his Desert Island Discs.

In the 1970s he landed some major big-screen roles, including playing barman Felix Forsythe in Alfred Hitchcock's Frenzy.

In the popular sitcom Fawlty Towers, Cribbins appeared memorably as the difficult hotel guest and spoon salesman Mr Hutchinson, in the episode where frustrated owner Basil stresses out about a visit from the hotel inspectors.

Cribbins' voice was a fixture in UK living rooms, thanks to shows like Jackanory, which he frequently read stories on from 1966 to 1991 - he holds the record as the reader of the most stories on the show, with 114.

He also performed the title role in the CBeebies series Old Jack's Boat from 2013-2015.

In a 2014 interview Cribbins gave his thoughts on what made him such a renowned storyteller.

"A BRILLIANTLY TALENTED MAN": Bernard Cribbins enjoyed a long career, including prominent roles in Dr Who (above) and the Railway Children in 1970 (below, with Sally Thomsett and Jenny Agutter)

"Well, I think I'm a good actor, without being boastful," he said. "I have an array of voices. And intensity is a word you might use. Engage with that little figure on the other side of the lens."

At the age of nearly 90, he published an autobiography looking back on his years in show business in 2018.

Its title was Bernard Who? 75 Years Of Doing Absolutely Everything - and its advice was simple.

"Do your best and be grateful for every single job".

Half of UK's chippies face closure

HALF of Britain's 10,500 fish and chip shops could close because of the spiralling costs of ingredients and energy in the wake of Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

Some 5,000 chippies could be under threat as outlets are forced to switch to cheaper products and crank up prices.

Lancashire chip shop owner Andrew Crook, president of the National Federation of Fish Friers, said his cod supplies have already risen from £8 per kilo (2.2lbs) to £14.

Ministers have put a 35 per cent duty on all seafood imported from Russia in a bid to hammer President Vladimir Putin over his invasion of Ukraine.

Mr Crook added: "These extra tariffs will push thousands of shops over the edge."

Chippies may have to replace traditional cod and haddock with hake and other types of cheaper whitefish.

Around a third of all UK-imported whitefish comes from Russia, which controls up to 45 per cent of the global supply.

One government source said: "We all want to punish Putin but this drives people out of business in a cost-of-living crisis."

The price of sunflower oil has increased because Ukraine is the world's top exporter.

But Barrie Deas, of the National Federation of Fishermen's Organisations, said: "There is an opportunity to increase North Sea catches of haddock and whiting."

Bristol lapdancers celebrate council vote to keep clubs open

'We're screaming for joy' say activists hailing decision

There were passionate speeches, barbed exchanges, tears and laughter – hardly the usual fare at a meeting of Bristol city council's licensing committee.

But most committee members could not help but smile when performers from the city's two lapdancing clubs greeted their decision not to shut down the venues with whoops and cheers.

For six years the Labour-led council has been agonising over whether to bring in a ban on all sex entertainment venues (SEVs) in Bristol to protect women and girls across the city. More than 6,000 people took part in a consultation and the council's moves were being keenly watched by authorities from across the UK.

blanket ban

Women's campaigners have strongly argued that there ought to be a blanket ban on Bristol's SEVs, claiming they lead to misogyny and violence.

But after hearing testimony from the dancers that they will be driven into less safe workplaces or face financial ruin if SEVs are banned, members of the licensing committee voted nine to one against a prohibition on Thursday.

The dancers posed for pictures outside city hall and, in a statement issued through the Bristol Sex Workers' Collective, said: "We are screaming, crying, throwing up with joy".

The decision was fiercely condemned by Bristol Women's Commission, which accused the committee of failing to take action to "tackle the sexist culture that underpins male violence".

It said: "SEVs promote and profit from the sexist culture that underpins male violence. We cannot tackle male violence without addressing this culture.

'sexist message'

"Today's decision gives Bristol's two strip clubs the green light to exploit the cost-of-living crisis and recruit more young women into the sex industry, and to open the door to sex buying to future generations of young men. It reinforces a dangerous, sexist message to all women and girls that their value lies in their bodies and how they perform for men.

"We know that some people will be celebrating this as a win, but the real winners here are men who want unhindered access women's bodies."

One of the performers, Amelie, told Thursday's meeting she worked at the lap dancing club Urban Tiger for three years after struggling to make ends meet as a circus performer. She said: "Stripping has allowed me to have a flexible enough schedule to pursue my dream career whilst simultaneously enabling me to live a comfortable life.

LAP OF HONOR: dancers celebrate on the steps of Bristol City Hall this week

"Closing Urban Tiger and Central Chambers [the second club] would push me back into poverty, precarious and underpaid work – or I will most likely keep on dancing in Bristol, but in riskier spaces where there will be no security staff and no CCTV. I find it particularly cruel to push a workforce that is predominantly female into poverty."

Millions set to tune into final as Lioness fever grips nation

ENGLAND'S football heroines will get the adulation they deserve on Sunday, with millions tuning in to the Euros final against Germany – and tickets to the mega-match now changing hands for up to £2,000.

The Lionesses are the pride of Britain, but they face a formidable opponent in Germany, who have multiple titles in this competition to their name..

But, if they can find a way to win, victory will put them in the history books as they will beat the men to become England's first team to win the Euros title. Around 50,000 tickets had been sold, but more seats became available on Thursday morning, with many being advertised for more than £2,000.

Prince William will be at Wembley for the 5pm kick-off in front of a 90,000-strong crowd. And millions more are set to watch on big screens across the country. Expectations are high after England thrashed Sweden – ranked the second best team in the world – 4-0 in the semi-final on Tuesday night.

An audience of 11.3million saw Beth Mead, Lucy Bronze, Alessia Russo and Fran Kirby score in one of the most-watched televised events of the year.

Footie pundit Ian Wright said he was "as proud" of the Lionesses "as any England side" adding: "The women's game is here, and it is here to stay... Nothing is going to stop it." The ex-Arsenal star told BBC Breakfast just 63 per cent of girls currently have the same access to football as boys, but hopes 100 per cent get the opportunity by 2024.

Ex-England defender Alex Scott said the team's success was the result of years of work to grow the game, adding the Lionesses "deserve every accolade".

England captain Harry Kane tweeted: "Yesss @ Lionesses! Bring on the final."

British tourist killed by chopper rotor as he 'tried to take selfie'

A BRITISH tourist was horrifically killed by a helicopter's rotor blades this week as he appeared to take a selfie.

Jack Fenton, 22, was returning from a holiday on the Greek island of Mykonos with three friends.

All four got out when the helicopter landed near Athens but Jack was hit in the head by the still-spinning rear propeller and died instantly.

His parents had been approaching the helipad in a second helicopter but their pilot diverted to Athens Airport.

Local reports claim one theory is that Jack was taking a selfie.

Ioannis Kandyllis, president of Greece's aviation accidents committee, said: "All four passengers disembarked and were escorted to a private lounge awaiting a private flight for London. But the victim returned to the tarmac."

"Witnesses we spoke to said he had a phone to his ear and was walking to the aircraft quickly, defying ground crew shouting to him, 'Stop!

Stop!' Within seconds the accident occurred."

But that version of events was denied by one of Jack's friends who was on the helicopter at about 6.20pm on Monday.

Jack Stanton-Gleaves, 20, said: "No instructions were given when exiting the helicopter and no one escorted us to the lounge. All they did was open the doors for us."

"We disembarked on our own and no one stopped Jack going to the rear of the helicopter. None of us reached the lounge before the accident.

"I've heard people say Jack was on his phone and ran back to the helicopter and this is totally untrue. Why he turned towards the rear of the helicopter I don't know."

Jack's mum Victoria said he and his friends were all sober. She described him as a "most wonderful boy" and said the family was devastated.

Police have arrested the pilot of the Bell 407 seven-seat helicopter and two ground crew at the Superior Helipad at Spata near Athens. They face charges of negligent homicide.

Police union chief Giorgos Kallia-kmanis said: "We want to see if the pilot informed passengers to get off."

"These propellers run for about two minutes from the time he turns the engine off unless he presses a button which stops them at 50 seconds."

"The helicopter door has no security, anyone who wants to open the door can get out."

Rehouse Ukrainians on cruise ship, Scottish government urged

■ MS Victoria expected to host up to 1,700 refugees from war-torn country

Ukrainian refugees staying on a cruise ship docked in Edinburgh must be moved to more suitable accommodation within days, welfare groups have said, as those onboard already report concerns about small rooms and feeling seasick.

The first arrivals of mainly women and children displaced by the war in Ukraine boarded the MS Victoria passenger ship earlier this week. Chartered by the Scottish government, it is expected to host up to 1,700 people and is a temporary solution to a growing accommodation crisis, which earlier this month prompted the government to pause its Ukrainian refugee sponsorship scheme for three months.

Two-thirds of the more than 9,000 Ukrainians who have arrived in Scotland since war broke out in February applied under the scheme, which allowed people applying for a UK visa to select the Scottish government as a sponsor.

The Scottish government said the ship was fully risk-assessed and all crew members had child and adult protection training as a minimum. Facilities onboard include restaurants, child play areas with toys and books, shops, a laundry and wifi access. There will be support services onboard, including healthcare and benefits support.

But welfare groups raised serious concerns about the suitability of this type of accommodation. It is the first time a ship has been used to house refugees in the UK, although a similar vessel berthed in Tallinn, Estonia, has been hosting displaced Ukrainians for months.

Gary Christie, the head of policy for the Scottish Refugee Council, said: "Any stays on MS Victoria must be as short as possible, we can't stress this enough. People need to be able to get on with things like registering children for the new school term and applying for jobs. Families can't be expected to stay onboard for anything more than an extremely short time before moving to safe, secure longer-term homes."

Yevgen Chub, the treasurer of the Glasgow branch of the Association of Ukrainians in Great Britain (AUGB), echoed

MS Victoria: welfare groups are alarmed about the suitability of such accommodation these concerns. "We've been hearing that people are really not comfortable on the ship: the rooms and windows are small, some feel seasick," Chub said. "It's not a good idea for the long term, but it's worrying when we know that people have been staying in hotels for months."

Why you need dental insurance in retirement.

Medicare doesn't pay for dental care.<sup>1</sup>
As good as Medicare is, it was never meant to cover everything. If you want protection, you need to purchase individual insurance.

Early detection can prevent small problems from becoming expensive ones.
The best way to avoid large dental bills is preventive care. Experts recommend checkups twice a year.

Previous dental work can wear out.
Your odds of having a dental problem only go up as you age.<sup>2</sup>

Treatment is expensive — especially the services people over 50 often need.
Unexpected bills, like $189 for a filling, or $1,219 for a crown<sup>3</sup> can be a real burden, especially if you're on a fixed income.

When you're comparing plans ...

- ▶ Look for coverage that helps pay for major services.
- ▶ Look for coverage with no deductibles.
- ▶ Shop for coverage with no annual maximum on cash benefits.

Simply put — without dental insurance, there may be an important gap in your healthcare coverage.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: RINALDO CANALIS CASE NO. 22STPB06623

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of RINALDO CANALIS. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by JOHN F. CANALIS in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that JOHN F. CANALIS be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 08/10/22 at 8:30AM in Dept. 9 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012 IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Attorney for Petitioner MARK C. ## Brits in LA

Meet a Member: Natasha Graziano

Meet Natasha Graziano from London who moved to LA one month ago to pursue her career in motivational speaking and mindset coaching for top level entrepreneurs and A-list stars.

Natasha has named the world's '#1 female motivational speaker under 40' by Forbes Magazine. She is also a best-selling author.

Her new book 'Be It Until You Become It: The Law of Attraction Explained Through Neuroscience and Ancient Wisdom' debuted on Wall Street Journal at #3 last week, her book signing is Tuesday August 2nd at Barnes and Noble at The Grove at 6pm. So why not pop in and say hello before Brits in LA Pub Quiz? It's just a few hundred yards away at the Market Tavern and starts at 7.30pm.

Natasha moved here with her 6 year old son called Rio and her husband Michael. Her story is truly inspirational - four years ago she was a homeless single mum - she sold her possessions so she could go into a hostel and then into her mother's basement!

With a positive attitude, courage and the love for her son she has entirely changed her life around. Being a fairly new transplant we thought that a great way to introduce her to the Brits in LA community was to have her participate in our Meet a Member feature. We hope you enjoy getting to know her as much as we did. Hope to see some of you next Tuesday at her book launch.

Was there a particular reason you chose LA?

I knew LA was where I wanted to be because it has always held a special place in my heart after London. A lot of the stages that I speak on are in LA and my podcast is based here as well so it was like a natural calling for me to come here and embrace a transatlantic move :)

What do you miss most from home?

I miss my family and my friends and the endless green countryside I used to walk in where I grew up in Oxfordshire.

What was your first impression of LA and has it changed since?

I was a little scared at first because it's such a huge city and it's so fast paced but I'm such a fast-paced kind of gal and love meeting new people so it started to feel like home very quick.

What do you find the biggest difference is living here versus London?

There is always an event to go, always someone to talk to, there is always something interesting going on and people travelling through LA from all over America so you always get to be in new interesting environments. Also the climate is much more desirable here in LA. My mood is much more uplifted and my son gets to grow up in a place that isn't just a busy city.

Do you have a hidden gem in LA that you want to share with us?

Yes! There is a part really far up on Venice beach away from the noise and hustle where it's always so quiet, it's so quaint and calm there. I often go there to meditate in the sunset.

What would you suggest to others who are thinking about making

"I was taught to always light someone's candle and eventually I made it into a movement," - Natasha Graziano

the move here?

If you have a career here or a huge desire to do it-do it!! I feel like it's a city of dreams and anything is possible!

Lots of our members join our group Brits in LA seeking out words of wisdom - what is the best piece of advice you've been given?

Well I was taught to always light someone's candle and eventually I made it into a movement.

Every day we get a choice of whether we will light someone's candle or blow it out. that means doing something nice for someone. Doing a kind deed for someone etc., and then that person will go and light someone else's candle and that person will light their spouse's candle and in just one small gesture you have lit up the whole world. Or the flip side of this is blowing someone's candle out by being reactive to someone,

(for example) using a bitter tone to your waitress. And then that person will go and blow someone's else's candle out because of you and they will go blow out someone else's candle and so on. So you get a choice every day of whether you will light the whole world up with your candle or blow the world light out.

Lastly, how can we find out more about you? Are you working on anything cont. on page 11, col. 1

at the moment?

I'm so excited to announce my new book 'Be It Until You Become It' which as you may have heard is out in book stores from August 2nd. Would love to invite you to my book signing at Barnes and Noble at The Grove August 2nd where we will get to meet in person.

Would love to connect with you and if I can motivate someone reading this today then I know I'm following my purpose and mission. Visit my social media below for more details and to rsvp for the book launch This event is free but make sure to register as there are a limited number of free copies of Natasha's book available up for grabs!

Strictly Quizness!

Trivia teams assemble! Brits in LA Pub Quiz is back at the Market Tavern on Tuesday August 2 at 7.30pm sharp. As well as the usual brainteasers from quizmaster Sandro Monetti, there's a singalong of George Michael and Wham songs planned.

Plus the opportunity to topple the current champs, trivia titans This Popsicle Tastes Like... (pictured) who saw off 10 rival teams last time out.

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: Now is a good time now to set your financial goals for the rest of the year while Mars your boss is in your financial area. At the same time set a red flag for a possible temper outburst which will end up costing you dearly.

TAURUS: You are likely feeling confused about any decision pending currently. This is not to be taken lightly or in haste, so consider it well before you decide.

GEMINI: If possible do not make any major schedule changes this week ahead. It will be better by early next month. Enjoy your current down time.

CANCER: You have some skills that you can use to help others. So with that in mind it might be time to reach out to help someone.

LEO: You are starting to feel more positive and ready to move forward in your life. However take your time as mid-August is better for action all round. Happy Birthday!

VIRGO: This week or so ahead you can expect delays in some areas. This is due to fiery Mars holding things up, but it is probably for the best overall.

LIBRA: You are nearer to completing some projects than you think. So with this in mind start preparing for the next one on your list. Mid-month ahead is looking good.

SCORPIO: Life is looking more positive and you can come to terms now with recent financial changes. Live more in the moment and expect better days by the middle of next month.

SAGITTARIUS: Your boss Jupiter is currently strolling backwards until mid-September..meaning it is best to not try too hard to make changes until then.

CAPRICORN: Your boss Saturn is in your money house for a while and this is good news for a while. Time now to hold on to your purse strings until later in August.

AQUARIUS: Whatever does not sit well with you in life is time to change. It's a good time to catch up on everyday tasks now and enjoy the current time relaxing.

PISCES: Lucky Jupiter is on his way to visit you by late Autumn. This is a time of change to start preparing to complete something long overdue.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: STANTON JOEL ROBINS AKA STANTON J. ROBINS AKA STANTON ROBINS CASE NO. 22STPB06863

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of STANTON JOEL ROBINS AKA STANTON J. ROBINS AKA STANTON ROBINS. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that SEAN ROBINS be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 08/24/22 at 8:30AM in Dept. 5 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF FATHER SEAN CRONIN aka REV. SEAN CRONIN, Ph.D.
Case No. 22STPB05115

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of FATHER SEAN CRONIN aka REV. SEAN CRONIN, Ph.D.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Dennis Joseph Brennan in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Dennis Joseph Brennan be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Sept. 2, 2022 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 5 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Arsenal stalwart Terry Neill dead at 80

Former Arsenal and Northern Ireland captain and manager Terry Neill has died at the age of 80.

Belfast-born Neill was Arsenal's youngest captain at 20 and played more than 270 games for the club between 1957 and 1970.

Neill was just 34 when he returned to manage Arsenal, steering the Gunners to three consecutive FA Cup finals.

The defender won 59 international caps, including a spell as Northern Ireland player-manager.

Neill was born in 1942 and played in Bangor's youth team before joining Arsenal for £2,500 in 1959.

He made his first-team debut aged 18 and was soon Arsenal's youngest ever captain, a record that still stands.

Neill was 28 when he finished his playing days with a spell as player-manager of Hull City.

Asked who was first name on his team sheet while player-manager of Northern Ireland, he famously remarked: "Me! Then George Best and Pat Jennings."

Neill was also proud to be able to say he scored the only goal of the game the last time Northern Ireland beat England at Wembley 50 years ago.

After a spell in charge at Arsenal's rivals Tottenham, replacing the legendary double winner Bill Nicholson, he returned to Highbury as the youngest manager in the club's modern history.

Eriksen seals United switch

Manchester United have completed the signing of Denmark midfielder Christian Eriksen on a free transfer.

The former Ajax, Tottenham, Inter Milan and Brentford player has signed a three-year contract at Old Trafford.

"I still have major ambitions in the game. There is a huge amount that I know I can achieve, and this is the perfect place to continue my journey," Eriksen, 30, said.

"Manchester United is a special club, and I cannot wait to get started."

Earlier in July, Eriksen agreed in principle to sign for United after his short-term contract at Brentford ended in June.

He is United's second signing under new manager Erik ten Hag after Netherlands full-back Tyrell Malacia from Feyenoord.

Eriksen, who returned to football after having an Implantable Cardioverter Defibrillator (ICD) fitted following his cardiac arrest at last summer's Euros, could have returned to Brentford.

He joined the Bees in January after being released by Inter Milan because players who have an ICD fitted are not allowed to play in Serie A.

In addition, his former club Tottenham were interested in re-signing him this summer.

ERIKSEN: "I still have major ambitions in the game."

But Eriksen, who signed for Spurs in 2013, opted for United after talks with Ten Hag.

"I have seen Erik's work at Ajax and know the level of detail and preparation that he and his staff put into every day," he said.

"It is clear that he is a fantastic coach.

"Having spoken with him and learned more about his vision and the way he wants the team to play, I am even more excited for the future."

England rout Swedes to reach Euro 2022 final

England reached their first major women's tournament final since 2009 in stunning fashion as they put four past Olympic finalists Sweden at Euro 2022 in Sheffield on Tuesday night.

The Lionesses, who extended their unbeaten run to 19 games under manager Sarina Wiegman, will play Germany for the ultimate prize at Wembley on Sunday.

It was a thrilling match from start to finish at Bramall Lane as Sweden piled on the pressure in the opening 25 minutes, only for England to dismantle them with ruthless finishing and a touch of class.

Substitute Alessia Russo once again produced a moment of magic when her instinctive backheel made it 3-0 to England only 11 minutes after her introduction.

Golden Boot leader Beth Mead had put England ahead in the first half against the run of play, spinning and firing into the far corner, before defender Lucy Bronze headed in a second.

Chelsea's Fran Kirby put the icing on the cake when she chipped despairing goalkeeper Hedvig Lindahl to complete the rout.

England keeper Mary Earps was in fine form, pulling off numerous saves to deny Arsenal striker Stina Blackstenius - the best coming early in the second half when she reacted to tip a looping effort inches over the crossbar from close range.

Blackstenius had earlier hit the crossbar before Mead's opener swung momentum in England's favour and from then on it was a display of their impressive attacking depth.

Victory for the Lionesses ends a 13-year wait to return to the final of a major tournament and they are the favourites to lift the trophy for the first time at Wembley on Sunday.

England have enjoyed some memorable moments with their fans already at this tournament but the post-match celebrations at Bramall Lane went up a gear.

The chants of "football's coming home" grew louder with each passing minute in the second half and rarely have the lyrics felt more believable.

After coming from behind to see off pre-tournament favourites Spain in the quarter-finals, England went one step further with this demolition of a Sweden side ranked second in the world.

They looked cagey and vulnerable at the start as Sweden piled on the pressure but England, as they have done so often under Wiegman, found an answer.

Mead's opener seemed to release the shackles and as the crowd's voice grew louder, England's energy grew with it.

"Again, the team found a way," manager Wiegman said.

"We were struggling a little by the way they played defensively but we did better and better. The players on the pitch found solutions. And when we scored it obviously helped a lot."

Bronze's header gave them a cushion in the second half and Russo, scoring her fourth goal in four substitute appearances, once again made a huge impact.

Kirby's cheeky chip added salt to Sweden's wounds and from then on it was a party atmosphere at Bramall Lane as England's place at Wembley was confirmed.

'Huge talent': Everton seal £20m signing of Dwight McNeil

Frank Lampard has described Dwight McNeil as a "huge talent" after the winger completed his move from Burnley to Everton for a fee that could reach £20m.

The 22-year-old has signed a five-year contract and becomes the club's third summer signing after his former Burnley teammate James Tarkowski and the on-loan Sporting defender Rúben Vinagre.

Rafael Benítez, the former Everton manager, was keen on signing the former England under-21 international last summer and Lampard needs additions to his forward line after the sale of Richarlison to Tottenham.

"I have been a big admirer of Dwight for some time," the Everton manager said. "He has huge talent and is exactly the type of player we want to bring into the squad to help us improve."

Rochdale-born McNeil made 146 appearances for Burnley having graduated through their academy.

Women's final will be 'football feast'

■ Old foes England and Germany to meet again in Sunday's Euro 2022 final

The Euro 2022 final between England and Germany at Wembley will be a "great football feast", according to Germany boss Martina Voss-Tecklenburg.

Alexandra Popp scored twice as eight-time European champions Germany beat a spirited France side 2-1 in the second semi-final on Wednesday.

They will now play England on Sunday in front of a crowd of up to 87,200.

"It's a classic game, it will be an incredible final," said Voss-Tecklenburg.

"We look forward to this game, as everyone will do in England and in Germany.

"We will be playing at Wembley in front of 80 or 90,000 people and most of them for England and against us but we understand that and we're accepting the challenge."

A peak TV audience of 4.9 million watched Germany seal their place in the final, with another one million streams watched on iPlayer and BBC Sport, a day after 9.3 million watched on TV and two million streams were viewed as England beat Sweden.

England, who have never won the tournament, reached the final thanks to a 4-0 victory against a Swedish side ranked second in the world at Sheffield United's Bramall Lane on Tuesday.

However, Voss-Tecklenburg felt there were still plenty of areas to attack the Lionesses, saying:

"England have been incredible in this tournament every single game for dynamism, lots of goals and they are so incredibly confident.

"They know what they have to do but in the first 30 minutes against Sweden they showed you can hurt them and that will be our task. It will be a great football feast."

England, then coached by Phil Neville, lost 2-1 to Germany in front of 77,768 at Wembley in November 2019, with Klara Buhl scoring a 90th-minute winner.

However, Voss-Tecklenburg felt that match would not be a good indicator of what was to come on Sunday.

"You can't compare that match. England are three years more mature," she added.

The Lionesses have not been beaten since Sarina Wiegman took over in September. That undefeated run includes beating Germany on home soil for the first time in their history at the Arnold Clark Cup in February.

FORMIDABLE OPPONENTS: Germany will be aiming to win their ninth European title when they meet England on Sunday

"I know Sarina is an incredible coach, it's not about being the better coach," said Voss-Tecklenburg.

"We know each other's strengths. It's small details, forcing certain things, making fewer mistakes.

"We know what we have to expect and we will be ready but we have high respect for each other.

She has already proved with the Netherlands that she can win a title and I hope it stays at one title."

Adrian in surprise start for Reds in Community Shield

Jurgen Klopp has confirmed that Adrian (pictured, right) will start in goal for Liverpool in the Community Shield against Manchester City.

FA Cup winners Liverpool take on Premier League champions City at the King Power Stadium on Saturday in the season's traditional curtain raiser.

But speaking at his press conference ahead of the game, the Reds boss told reporters that he would be without first choice goalkeeper Alisson.

'Alisson trained today more than the day before so he will definitely be available for Fulham but not for the weekend,' Klopp said. 'Diogo [Jota]... it will take a while, unfortunately.'

Alisson has only played 45 minutes in pre-season so far and that came against Manchester United in Bangkok over two weeks ago.

With understudy Caoimhin Kelleher also unavailable, it means that third choice goalkeeper Adrian will start between the sticks against City.

The Spanish shot-stopper, 35, only made one appearance in all competitions last season as he started the EFL Cup win away at Preston.

Meanwhile, Klopp's confirmation that Diogo Jota will be unavailable comes as less of a surprise.

The forward has missed all of Liverpool's pre-season so far after picking up a hamstring injury while on Portugal duty at the end of the last campaign.
