'I was Ryan's slave'

■ Ex-lover of United legend Giggs shocks court wth details of years-long 'toxic relationship'

THE EX-LOVER of Manchester United footballer Ryan Giggs told a court this week she became his slave as their toxic relationship spiralled.

Giving evidence on the third day of Giggs's assault trial on Wednesday, Kate Greville said he exerted control over her social life and the end of their six-year relationship was "pretty much relentlessly awful".

She told jurors that the former Wales manager "made me feel like I had to do what he said, otherwise there were consequences".

Prosecutor Peter Wright had earlier told the jury at Minshull Street Crown Court in Manchester that while Giggs' soccer skills were a thing of beauty, his off-field life was very different.

'litany of abuse'

"In the privacy of his own personal life at home or behind closed doors, there was, we say the facts reveal, a much uglier and more sinister side to his character," Wright told the jury. "This was a private life that involved a litany of abuse, both physical and psychological, of a woman he professed to love."

Giggs, 48, denies using controlling and coercive behaviour against Greville, 36, between August 2017 and November 2020, assaulting her, causing actual bodily harm, and the common assault of her younger sister, Emma.

Earlier, the Court heard the former Wales winger had cheated on her with eight women over six years.

'sex bruise'

While being cross-examined by Giggs's barrister Chris Daw QC, Ms Greville said that when the businessman and ex-player told her to do something – she would do it.

Yesterday she said she felt like "a slave to his every need and every demand. That is what it felt like. When Ryan said do something, I would do it.

"There was resistance but he made me feel I had to do what he said, otherwise there would be consequences."

She denied bruising that she claimed was caused by the Old Trafford legend was actually from "rough sex".

Ms Greville told the jury Giggs pulled her naked from a Dubai hotel bed, onto the floor and across the suite before he threw her belongings into the corridor.

The court heard that Ms Greville told a friend who noticed her bruise from Dubai in September 2017 that it was caused by "rough sex".

When quizzed by Giggs's barrister about why she had not said anything about an assault, the PR executive said it was because "I was embarrassed and didn't want to admit it".

The court also heard about a message she sent to Giggs saying her "sex bruise is coming along nicely".

In another she wrote: "I want you so badly rough" to which Giggs replied: "I'm scared of hurting you."

When her thenboyfriend sent pictures of sex toys including handcuffs saying: "You asked me to be a bit more assertive", she replied: "Amazing."

The PR worker said they first had sex in December 2014 at a hotel and she left her husband the following February.

sex tape

The court heard police wanted Ms Greville to hand over her phone as part of their investigations but she told them she lost it at the end of last year cont. on page 2, col. 4

Don't get me wrong, the social aspect is very important, in fact networking is almost part of your job when you are starting out BUT you also want to be hired and I think the best way to do that is to is become somebody everyone wants to work with. To be honest, if you can get distracted that easily then it probably means the timing is off or your heart's not really in it.

Before the arrival of social media people could get up to all sorts, wear the same outfit, have a bad hair day, get a bit tipsy etc. and it could go mostly unnoticed, but nowadays one wrong step can be captured on a smartphone and beamed to the world

Werner heading back to Leipzig

■ Blues big exodus set to continue

TIMO WERNER is American expected to lead a have dit Summer as sealing a £25million Romelu Leturn to RB Leipzig.

The Blues flop, a £47.5m signing from the Bundesliga club in 2020, was set for a medical on Thursday. Werner was initially leaving on a seasonlong loan with an option to buy but an agreement has now been reached for the 26-year-old to exit permanently.

The German is the second big-name striker Chelsea's new American owners have ditched this summer after sending Romelu Lukaku back to Inter Milan on loan.

Werner, who scored just four times in 21 Premier League games last term in a bit-part role, will not be the last man leaving the Blues.

Marcos Alonso is set to follow him through the exit as he closes in on a move to Barcelona, and Callum Hudson-Odoi could also go.

Hudson-Odoi, right, has told Chelsea he wants owners a loan move, with d this Borussia Dortmund sending joining Leicester ku back and Southampton as on loan. interested parties.

The winger, who is under contract until 2024, has struggled to make an impact under head coach Thomas Tuchel and could even be sold to raise funds.

Hudson-Odoi came close to leaving two years ago, when Bayern Munich pushed hard to sign him.

But the Blues blocked his departure and they are yet to decide whether to cash in on him this summer. Chelsea hope to recover significant sums from sales after spending £165m on five major signings.

They may need to find more than £80m to bring in defender Wesley Fofana if Leicester hold firm on their valuation.

The futures of Ethan

Ampadu, Kenedy, Billy Gilmour, Ross Barkley and Michy Batshuayi are all in doubt after they were not given shirt numbers.

....But De Jong is on verge of Chelsea move

CHELSEA have agreed a £71million deal with Barcelona to sign Frenkie de Jong.

But the Holland midfielder still has to thrash out a compromise over the £17m he is owed by the Catalans after his wages were cut during the pandemic.

Manchester United have not given up on signing De Jong. But Chelsea have matched United's bid and can also offer Champions League football.

Barcelona are seeking to reduce their wage bill before the start of the La Liga season this weekend and are also ready to offload Pierre-Emerick Aubameyang to Stamford Bridge.

The former Arsenal captain, who arrived at the Nou Camp in January, worked with Thomas Tuchel at Borussia Dortmund and has now fallen behind new signing Robert Lewandowski in the striking pecking order.

After signing left-back Marc Cucurella for £63m from Brighton last week, Chelsea are now considering a third offer approaching the £80m world record for a defender to prise Wesley Fofana from Leicester.

Blues defender Malang Sarr has joined Ligue 1 side Monaco on a season-long loan with an option to buy.

Romelu Lukaku has claimed he will be driven by "anger" after his nightmare return to Chelsea from Inter Milan. The Belgium striker, back at Inter on loan after moving to Stamford Bridge for £97.5m last year, said: "In one year everyone has forgotten about the things I am capable of doing on the pitch. That is a kind of anger that I have inside me.'
