SUITED AND BOOTED: England's football team poses in their best M&S outfits ahead of flying out to Qatar this week

Top marks for England's smart suits

The England squad has jetted off to Qatar ahead of the start of the World Cup on Sunday, but not before they treated fans to a group photo of their full team, dressed to the nines in their Sunday best.

Well, sort of. This year is different. Gone is the sixth form-style school photo, with each footballer stuffed into a crisp suit, looking distinctly uncomfortable and rigid.

This is the era of the fashion footballer, comfortable with editorial shoots, familiar with donning something a little out of their comfort zone for a photo op.

While it's not quite Marcus Rashford on the cover of British Vogue, this year's official team portrait is embracing the new and eschewing awkward traditions.

Phil Foden embraces his captain, Harry Kane, and teammate Calvin Phillips. Jack Grealish grins with an arm around Declan Rice, as Liverpool captain Jordan Henderson seems to laugh through a smile next to them.

Everyone is smiling, actually. And everyone is clad in pristine M&S outfits - the picture of smart casual - without a three piece suit in sight. Not even Southgate is wearing his trademark waistcoat.

M&S is England's official tailor for this World Cup, and they've kitted the boys out in navy jackets (some bombers, some Harringtons) and matching trousers, with Southgate the only participant to be wearing an actual suit jacket with lapels, but even this is very "smasual".

Underneath the jackets, the team are dressed in merino wool jumpers and quarter-zip polo shirts, paired with black socks and shined black loafers.

As one of the England backroom staff put it: "Well the boys certainly look the business. Let's hope they can also do it in Qatar."

I'll be cheering for both teams, insists William

PRINCE William insists he will be cheering for both England and Wales at the World Cup - despite the fact they will shortly be playing each other for a place in the knockout stages.

Angry Welsh supporters say William's status as Prince of Wales conflicts with his presidency of England's Football Association and his public support for the Three Lions during the finals, starting in Qatar on Sunday.

England are in the same group as Wales, who have qualified for the finals for the first time since 1958.

News from Britain

Jeremy Hunt vows his “fair and honest” Budget will help UK weather economic storm

The Chancellor delivered some tough medicine for the British economy this week, promising a mix of big tax rises and spending cuts which he hopes will put the country on ‘a balanced path to stability’.

Facing one of the country’s worst economic outlooks in decades, which include an energy and cost of living crisis and soaring inflation – which this week topped over 11% - Jeremy Hunt stressed that the country should expect things to get worse before they get better.

Families face “real challenges”, Hunt warned, as government forecasters predict the biggest drop in living standards since records began.

The Office for Budget Responsibility says household income will fall by 7% over the next 18 months.

The chancellor said tax rises and a spending squeeze in his Autumn Statement would help tame inflation which he said had caused the drop.

But Labour said he had picked the nation’s pockets with “stealth taxes”.

Shadow chancellor Rachel Reeves described the emergency budget measures as “an invoice for the economic carnage” created by the policies of former Prime Minister Liz Truss.

‘mistakes’

In a sombre statement lasting just under an hour, Mr Hunt undid much of the tax-cutting mini-budget unveiled by his predecessor as chancellor, Kwasi Kwarteng, only 55 days ago.

It was deliberately stripped of surprises and political theatre, with many of the announcements having been trailed in the media beforehand.

The statement was comprised of two halves - the first covering the years until the next general election in which there would be further support for households, and the second coming after 2025 when spending cuts would kick in.

The key measures were:

- Tax thresholds will be frozen until April

2028, meaning millions will pay more tax

- Spending on public services in England will rise more slowly than planned - with some departments facing cuts after the next election

- The state pensions triple lock will be kept, meaning pensioners will see a 10.1% rise in weekly payments

- The household energy price cap has been extended for one year beyond April but made less generous, with typical bills capped at £3,000 a year instead of £2,500

- There will be additional cost-of-living payments for the “most vulnerable”, with £900 for those on benefits, and £300 for pensioners

- The top 45% additional rate of income tax will be paid on earnings over £125,140, instead of £150,000

- UK minimum wage for people over 23 to increase from £9.50 to £10.42 an hour

- The windfall tax on oil and gas firms will increase from 25% to 35%, raising £55bn from this year until 2028

Speaking afterwards,

Mr Hunt claimed his plan would bring down inflation, while protecting public services.

“These are real challenges for families up and down the country,” he said adding: “I’m not pretending these aren’t going to be difficult times, but there’s a plan, there’s hope - and if we follow this plan, if we stick with it, we can get through to the other side.

“We need to be sensible about the way we do this. We

“I’m not pretending these aren’t going to be difficult times, but there’s a plan.....” - Jeremy Hunt don’t want to make the recession worse.”

The chancellor announced extra money for schools, the NHS and social care in England for the next two years.

Mr Hunt denied that he had been forced to raise taxes and reduce spending because of the turmoil caused by Ms Truss’s mini-Budget.

He said there had been mistakes, but insisted the government had “corrected those within weeks”.

He argued that other countries, such as Germany, France and America were all facing similar problems as a result of the conflict in Ukraine and rising energy prices.

William:

Welsh movie star Michael Sheen said it was “entirely inappropriate” that the Prince had visited the England squad on Monday, presenting them with their shirt numbers and wishing them luck.

The actor, 53, tweeted: “He can, of course, support whoever he likes and as Pres of FA his role makes visit understandable – but surely he sees holding the title Prince of Wales at same time is entirely inappropriate?”

“Not a shred of e m b a r r a s s m e n t ? Or sensitivity to the problem here?”

Another fan said: “He’s an Englishman supporting England while wearing a crown the English robbed from the Welsh. It’s like a calculated insult to Welsh football fans.”

The Three Lions take on the Dragons on November 29 in Ar Rayyan in their crunch final game in Group B which could decide who gets through to the knock-out rounds – although both teams could progress. William, 40, was tackled about his dilemma on his first visit to the Welsh Parliament, the Senedd, in Cardiff this week since he became Prince of Wales.

Presiding officer Elin Jones showed him her Wales football bucket hat on her seat and said: “They play each other in a few weeks’ time. I won’t ask you.” But William replied: “No, it’s OK, I’m telling everyone I’m supporting both, definitely. I can’t lose.”

He and Kate have faced mounting criticism because of their roles as the figureheads of English sport after being made Prince and Princess of Wales by the King after the Queen’s death. Kate is patron of the Rugby Football Union and the Rugby Football League, the governing English bodies.

But William has been vice patron of the Welsh Rugby Union since 2007 and replaced the Queen as patron in 2016. The couple have told aides they must be seen as authentic and it would look fake if they suddenly switched allegiance.

William told Ms Jones: “I’ve supported England since I’ve been quite small.

“But I support Welsh rugby and that’s my way of doing it. I happily support Wales over England in the rugby so I’ve got to be able to play carefully with my affiliations.

“I worry otherwise if I suddenly drop England to support Wales then that doesn’t look right for the sport. So I can’t do that.”

Ms Jones said: “We can agree to disagree.”

William replied: “An England v Wales World Cup final would be the best.”

He added: “I’m making sure I’m out there supporting Wales through all the process because I know it’s a big deal for Wales.

“When I was growing up, Wales weren’t getting through to the tournaments, so I had to make a choice.”

The heir to the throne and his wife, who lived in Anglesey in North Wales as an RAF couple before and after they were first married, want to develop a respectful relationship with the Welsh people.

Sunak insists he is getting a 'grip' on migrant crisis as Braverman signs new deal with France

Rishi Sunak insists he is getting a "grip" on the small boats crisis after the Home Secretary this week signed a revised deal with France to ramp up Channel beach patrols.

British Border Force officials will be posted in French control rooms for the first time so they can monitor operations tackling the people smugglers close up.

The number of officers stationed on the shoreline in northern France will also be increased by 40 per cent under the £63million deal.

But Tory MPs warned the Government against throwing "good money after bad" – the UK has given France £200million since 2015 in various bids to stem the flow of migrants.

Home Secretary Suella Braverman did not accept the criticism but admitted the new deal would not solve the crisis "on its own". She said:

"This new partnership recognizes the importance of working side by side with one of our closest neighbors and most valued allies. We want to make the small boat route unviable, save lives, dismantle the organized crime groups and tackle illegal immigration before it reaches our shores."

'big step forward'

The agreement was signed on the same day that more than 100 migrants reached the UK in small boats despite thick fog descending on the Channel.

While the Government is yet to confirm the official figures, at least 100 asylum seekers were brought into Dover, Kent, on board Border Force ship Hurricane shortly before 11am.

The mostly male group were clad in hooded coats and white blankets after battling cold conditions at sea. There were also arrivals, including children and women further along the coast at Dungeness.

Tim Loughton, a former minister, said: "Whilst co-operation with the French is no doubt welcome, is it not the case that since 2015 the British taxpayer has subsidised the French police force to the tune of £215million.

"There is nothing in this agreement that obliges the French police to detain and arrest anybody they intercept so they are free to come back the following night and try again, in which case we are throwing good money after bad."

Mrs Braverman told MPs in response: "On its own this agreement will not fix the problem, it's important everyone is clear about that. But I am very proud of the cooperation the UK and France have led over recent years. This deal represents a steep change and big step forward.

"For the first time,

Suella Braverman, pictured with French Interior Minister Gerald Darmanin, signed a revised deal with France to ramp up beach patrols under this new integrated approach, UK officers will join law enforcement colleagues in France as embedded observers. [It] will include significant investment in intelligence capability and information sharing all agencies will use, including the National Crime Agency and Europol.

'commitment'

"I'm not going to overplay this agreement. It provides a very good platform from which deeper collaboration can be secured."

Under the new agreement, signed by Mrs Braverman and French Minister of the Interior

Gerald Darmanin in Paris, the UK will pay France £63million this year, up from £55m last year.

She went on to emphasise the joint working, adding: "I do encourage everybody to support the deal we have secured."

But Natalie Elphicke, Tory MP for Dover, said it "falls far short of what is needed" and amounted to "more of the same".

The Prime Minister said stopping illegal migration is a priority for the public and that he spent more time on the growing problem than on any issue apart from the economy since he entered No 10.

Mr Sunak told reporters

travelling with him to the G20 summit in Bali: "I made a commitment that I would grip it in the summer.

"I've been honest that we can't fix it overnight. But there's a range of things I'm working on, including the French deal."

More than 40,000 migrants have travelled to Britain in small boats from France so far this year.

Under the pact, surveillance will be stepped up at ports to prevent illegal entry using lorries. More drones and night vision technology will be used on the shoreline.

Wimbledon eases undershorts rule

Female competitors at Wimbledon will be allowed to wear dark-coloured undershorts from next year.

The All England Club has relaxed its all-white clothing rule to relieve a "potential source of anxiety" for players on their period.

Women and girls can now wear mid- or dark-coloured undershorts, provided they are no longer than their skirt.

Murdoch pays for Boris visit

Media tycoon Rupert Murdoch paid more than £11,000 for Boris Johnson to visit him in the US last month, the latest list of MPs' financial interests shows.

Mr Johnson and two staff members were flown to Montana on 11 and 12 October - with internal US Discussions took place with the WTA, clothing manufacturers and medical teams after players voiced concerns.

Former Olympic champion Monica Puig previously spoke out the "mental stress" of having to wear white.

The Puerto Rican, who won her Olympic title in 2016, also said she used to pray the championships did not coincide with her period.

flights, accommodation and hospitality paid for by Mr Murdoch.

The pair held a private meeting, according to a BBC report.

The latest list also shows Mr Johnson was paid £276,000 for a speech five weeks after leaving Downing Street.

Britain's Heather Watson, who was one of the first to speak about the impact periods can have on performance, said the issue was frequently discussed privately.

"It is absolutely something the players talk about around Wimbledon because of the all-whites," Watson told the BBC in June.

"I think people speak about it a lot - maybe not to the media but among ourselves, for sure."

The move comes after Stoke City, West Bromwich Albion, Swansea and Manchester City all introduced dark coloured shorts for their women's teams.

Test cricketers have also spoken about the anxiety of bleeding in their whites while playing.

Charles presides over first Remembrance Sunday as King

THE King led the nation in honoring Britain's war dead as monarch for the first time on Sunday on a sombre Remembrance Sunday at the Cenotaph.

Charles III, still mourning the death of his mother just over nine weeks ago, laid a wreath in remembrance of all those who have made the ultimate sacrifice, on the first state occasion since her funeral.

Beneath grey skies, 10,000 veterans, their chests brimming with medals and their pride evident on their faces, marched past Sir Edwin Lutyens' monument after a national service of remembrance replicated across the UK.

respect

As the newly-renovated Big Ben struck 11am and a volley of gunfire rang out from the King's Troop Royal Horse Artillery in Horse Guards Parade, the nation fell silent for two minutes in honour of the fallen.

Buglers from the Royal Marines sounded the Last Post. And with Queen Camilla, the Princess of Wales, and other members of the family watching from Foreign Office balconies, the King, wearing a field marshal's uniform, laid his wreath and saluted.

It was soon joined by others left by Prince William, the Earl of Wessex – watched by his wife Sophie – and Princess Anne.

Reviving the practice of the last Queen Consort, Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother, Camilla had her own wreath – bearing her own, red, and yellow racing colours – laid by an equerry, Captain Edward Andersen.

Rishi Sunak and Labour leader Sir Keir Starmer also laid wreaths before stepping back and bowing their heads in respect.

They were followed by other party leaders, senior Cabinet ministers, military chiefs of staff and high commissioners, watched by former prime ministers.

Sir John Major, Sir Tony Blair, Gordon Brown, David Cameron, Theresa May, Boris Johnson and Liz Truss were on parade in what was thought to be the largest number of ex-premiers ever at the ceremony.

connection

The late Queen was the last member of the Royal Family to have served in the military in the Second World War but the connection with that greatest generation was not lost on Sunday. Around 10 veterans of the 1939-45 war were on parade.

Most were pushed in wheelchairs. But one, James Fenton, who served with the Royal Artillery in India, Malaysia, and Burma and now lives on the Isle of Man, walked the route at the age of 100.

"He's having a bit of a lie-down now," one Royal British Legion official said afterwards as veterans chatted and reminisced about old times on Horse Guards Parade.

Stan Ford, 97, a D-Day veteran, was taking part in the national ceremony for the first time after appearing on TV on Saturday to read out a tribute to the late Queen at the Festival of Remembrance at the Royal Albert Hall.

'angst and suffering'

Mr Ford, who lives in Bath, Somerset, is one of eight brothers from Bristol who all served their country in war, seven of them in the Second World War and the youngest in Korea.

Queen Camilla and Catherine, Princess of Wales, watched from a nearby balcony

All survived the conflicts but he is now the only one left. "I always say my mother did her bit for the war effort," he said.

This year is the 40th anniversary of the Falklands War and 400 veterans of that conflict marched in the parade yesterday.

Simon Weston, the Guardsman who suffered severe burns after his ship was bombed in 1982, and remains to many Britons, the face of that short but bloody conflict, said the public recognition Remembrance Sunday gave to fallen servicemen and women and their families was very important. He added: "All these people need to know that the angst and suffering that they went through when people went away is relevant and what they did was worthwhile."

He added: "What we do is stop people from being able to perpetrate evil in the way that they were doing it."

Sir Kier Starmer and Rishi Sunak also attended

Lennon and McCartney reunited (sort of) by chance airport meeting

JOHN Lennon's son Julian had a surprise reunion with his "uncle" Sir Paul McCartney last week.

The 59-year-old musician bumped into his dad's former Beatles mate at Heathrow Airport while travelling.

Julian posted two black-and-white pictures on Instagram, saying: "It's amazing who you run into in an airport lounge. None other than Uncle Paul. So lovely, and what are the chances. Thankful."

It is named after the Beatles' 1968 hit Hey Jude, written by Sir Paul McCartney for Julian after his mum originally as Hey Jules Cynthia and John split.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: INGRID EILEEN ROSCHER CASE NO. 22STPB10764

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of INGRID EILEEN ROSCHER.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by ARNO A. ROSCHER in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that ARNO A. ROSCHER be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 12/02/22 at 8:30AM in Dept. 9 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Brits in LA

Podcast tips for when the World Cup is not enough (or perhaps too much?)

The 2022 World Cup is finally upon us and football fans the world over are getting stricken with that quadrennial infection, World Cup fever.

With a myriad of media platforms available to watch, hear about, talk about and generally obsess over the beautiful game the footy fan is truly spoiled for choice. Over at British Weekly towers, when we're not watching the games we will be listening to podcasts and three in particular might be worth checking out. As usual the BBC are at the top of their game in coverage, via their World Cup Daily podcast, which typically features about 40 minutes of the latests news, analysis, rumors and more. Regular listeners to the Beeb's Football Daily podcast will recognize regular hosts Mark Chapman, Kelly Cates, Steve Crossman, Emma Saunders and Darren Fletcher.

Also worth a listening is the Totally Football Show from the Athletic, which to our ears features some of the most insightful and stimulating commentary out there. Regular guests include Rafa Honigstein, Rory Smith, Natalie Gedra, Julian Laurent and Alvaro Romeo, all rightfully renowned journalists who specialize, respectively, in football in Germany, England, Brazil, France and Spain. Best of all the show is hosted with wit and aplomb by James Richardson, who some may remember as the host of Channel 4's groundbreaking Football Italia back in the 1990s and who more recently was the voice of the Guardian's Football Weekly before he joined many of the English-speaking world's best journalists who have decamped to the Athletic stable in recent years. Richardson's 30-second intros alone are small gems of wit and wonder, and he weaves the disparate voices and elements of each show together into a seamless and addictive whole. Thoroughly recommended.

And finally there's always the Guardian's

World Cup Football Daily podcast, hosted by the sometimes funny Max Rushden, but with some truly excellent guests, especially Sid Lowe and the inimitable Irishman, Barry Glendenning.

Prefer crime? But if football is not your thing, how about a bit of true crime? The podcast format seems made for this subject, and you are spoilt for choice in the UK's history, both recent and distant, as the country has always contained a dark underbelly of crime, vice and murder.

Among our favorites are Murder Mile. Written, researched and performed by Michael J Buchanan-Dunne, (pictured right) this weekly gem is a true-crime podcast and audio guided walk of London's most notorious (and often forgotten) murder cases, features more than 300 mysterious deaths, all set within one square mile of Soho, and featuring vivid descriptions, eye-witness testimony and authentic sounds recorded from the location itself, as well as a website full of photos, videos and maps, so that no matter where you're listening to this podcast, you'll feel like you're actually there. Also worth an extended binge-listen is They Walk Among Us, from the husband and wife team of Benjamin and Rosanna Fitton. The podcast started in September 2016, focusing on crime in the UK — delving into the crimes that are close to home, the criminal that sleeps beside you, lives next door, or delivers your newspaper. The podcast has won a British Podcast Award for best true crime podcast and a Lovie Award for best entertainment podcast. The couple wrote the book They Walk Among Us available through Virgin Books.

All the podcasts listed above can be found at iTunes, Podcast Addict, Stitcher, Spotify, Acast, or wherever you get your podcasts.

All of us at The British Connection wish you a very Happy Christmas Holiday and a Prosperous and Happy New Year!

Thank You for your support throughout the year!

Quizzzy in Pink

Pink (pictured, right) and Trickle (pictured, right) were the winners of the latest Brits in LA Pub Quiz, winning free drinks - and, in a rare double, the same trivia team also won the singing round, scooping a sticky toffee pudding.

The Landing Strips and Fix My Crown finished joint second to each claim goodie bags of prizes, while Yo Serious (right, below) took the much coveted new fourth place prize, a giant potato.

Join quizmaster Sandro Monetti at the Market Tavern for a special Thanksgiving edition of quiz night next Tuesday, Nov 22, at 7.30pm sharp.

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: You are likely feeling a bit confused or out of sorts of late. This is due in part to your boss Mars moving backwards, which can bring mixed feelings. It's always good to relax and the Sun heading into your cousin Sagittarius will help.

TAURUS: This is not a time to make decisions of any kind while the current eclipse in your own sign this past week is still powerful. The coming holiday season will lighten up your life in more ways than one.

GEMINI: As always you usually manage to get anything in your path under control. With Mars visiting you it can hold you back for while ahead, so just enjoy the downtime.

CANCER: Do not give up on a project (or even a person) who has not come up to your standards in some way. The recent eclipse in Taurus will assist you to get through this.

LEO: You should be feeling more upbeat this week after a period of low energy. You are ready to get back into the swing of things. The sun moving into your cousin sign Sagittarius will bring a period of relaxing good times again.

VIRGO: Your boss Mercury moving faster now will lift your spirits, s.o do not hold back from setting your plans up for the next week or so. You should be cautious but not stagnant. It's just a matter of time in the end.

LIBRA: You can still make plans, just do not act on them yet. If you are cautious for another week or so it will be worth the wait. Your boss Venus in your financial area now will guarantee a good outcome in the end.

SCORPIO: Life has its ups and downs and has not been at all easy for a couple of weeks now. Especially in family and financial areas this is a time to plant only positive seeds you want to grow. Happy Birthday!

SAGITTARIUS: Your health either mentally or physically has been dragging you down somewhat of late. Take a chance on being open and just stopping all the mind chatter and let life take you along for the ride. Better things will come to you as a result. Happy Birthday!

CAPRICORN: For some of you regardless of your situation in life it's time to take time out. Situations have improved lately for you in current life situations. So you deserve to take time out.

AQUARIUS: This will be a time going forward for a couple of weeks to take stock of your finances and figure out how you to give them a boost. It is totally possible for you to take a leap of faith and go with your gut to improve this.

PISCES: Life can be a little emotional currently and you should not try to do too much other than just move through it. This too shall pass and all will be more peaceful soon. You are best to take time for you!

T-20 Final: Stokes the hero as England romp to victory

BEN Stokes earned redemption on Sunday as he smashed England to glory in a tense World Cup final Down Under.

The cricketing colossus bludgeoned his first international T20 half-century to see off Pakistan and spark jubilant scenes on the pitch and among the 80,000 fans at the Melbourne Cricket Ground.

And it brought back memories of his inspirational man-of-the-match performance in the 2019 50-over World Cup final against New Zealand at Lords when he clubbed an unbeaten 84.

Victory means England's men are the first team to hold both World limited over titles at the same time.

It was the latest instalment of heroics from Stokes, 31, who has gone from zero to hero during a tumultuous career.

He was arrested after a post-match street brawl in Bristol in 2017, banned from playing, and then subsequently acquitted of affray, taking a five-month break from cricket to prioritize his mental health.

But he has gone from strength to strength. His inspired batting gave the nation a breakfast-time fillip and came six years after he was the fall guy for defeat in England's last T20 World Cup final. In 2016 against the West Indies, Stokes bowled the catastrophic final over, conceding 24 runs that cost his side the title.

It had looked like it might turn into another disappointing weekend

England's Ben Stokes celebrates after winning the T20 World Cup final against Pakistan in Melbourne on Sunday for English sport after the women's rugby union team lost their World Cup final to New Zealand and the men's rugby league side were beaten in their semi-final by Samoa.

But Stokes was the man on whom English fans pinned their hopes for a turnaround – and he duly delivered.

After smashing the winning runs, he roared in delight and was mobbed by his team-mates who raced on to the field.

Interviewed by ex-players, including his former captain Eoin Morgan, Stokes joked about the pain of defeat in 2016 saying. "When the great man [Morgan] stepped down and [current captain] Jos [Buttler] took over, you look how quickly he's managed to take control of the team and progress it from the legacy left."

Furious United ready to rip up Ron deal

MANCHESTER UNITED want Cristiano Ronaldo out of Old Trafford as soon as possible.

United's legal team are seeking ways to rip up his £500,000-a-week deal, following the star's savage TV attack on Erik ten Hag and the club this week.

Ronaldo claimed in the unauthorised interview with Piers Morgan that he has been "betrayed" by United. Behind the scenes the club's lawyers are investigating how they can dump the striker for good – even before January if possible.

There is no way back for Ronaldo and he is certain to have kicked his last ball for the club in his second spell.

In the interview, he has publicly laid bare his broken relationship with Ten Hag, insisting that he had "no respect" for the manager.

This latest outburst has proved to be the final straw for the Dutch coach.

It's understood that Ten Hag no longer wants to be present around the first-team group.

United have been quick to reject the substance of Ronaldo's rant, and quickly hit back with a statement backing the manager, and insisting that their focus remains on "continuing the momentum" that Ten Hag is building.

Ronaldo, who would have about £10million in wages to be paid on his deal from January until the end of the season, is hoping a Champions League club will offer an escape route.

England: can they stand the heat?

■ England's superstars begin training in Qatar

ANOTHER WORLD Cup, another huge weight of expectation on the heads of the national team.

Harry Kane and Co. certainly did their best to stay cool under the scrutiny of the national media this week after arriving in Qatar and decamping to the Al Wakrah Sports Complex, where they limited their workouts to some gentle yoga and easy training after the fierce desert sun had begun to go down, but with temperatures still in excess of 100 degrees.

The England management team is eager to protect their charges from heat exhaustion or other related issues in the run up to Monday's opening match with Iran, and while all 26 members of the squad trained, most did so by slipping off their trainers and wearing white socks, or going barefoot, as they loosened up and acclimatized to the energy-sapping heat.

Stars including Trent Alexander-Arnold, Phil Foden and Bukayo Saka were among those seen stretching in a picturesque palm tree-lined courtyard at the five-star Souq Al Wakra Hotel, where the squad will be based for the tournament. From here on in, training will switch to early mornings to avoid the searing heat.

Later, James Maddison played darts before a press conference at the team's base as the stars relaxed.

Captain Harry Kane said: "We have to believe we can win it."

"I look back at England 15 years ago and it was almost like we were scared to say we wanted to win it."

"I think one of the big shifts that we've made over the last five years is not being afraid to say that."

But while the players were training, the wives and girlfriends had it

Easy does it: England players in training at the Al Wakrah Sports Complex a little easier, kicking HMS Wag.

The MSC World Europa is thought to be hosting players' families during the tournament, and has been dubbed HMS Wag.

The 1,093ft, 22-deck vessel has a range of pools, bars and restaurants, and even boasts a dodgems rink and one of the world's longest water slides.

Eric Dier's fiancée Anna Modler, 24, Jack Grealish's girlfriend Sasha Attwood, 26, and Harry Maguire's wife Fern, 27, are all thought to be staying on the exclusive floating hotel.

Bale dismisses fitness doubts

GARETH BALE insists he is fully fit for Wales after admitting he was "praying" he would come through unscathed for the World Cup.

Captain and record-scorer Bale (right) will spearhead Rob Page's men after returning from recently winning the MSL Cup with Los Angeles FC.

He is set to lead out Wales on Monday in Qatar against USA before further Group B games against Iran and England.

It will be Wales' first appearance at a finals since 1958 and no one is more determined than Bale that they seize the moment.

The 33-year-old striker has started only two games in America and has not played a full 90 minutes for his latest club since joining them this summer.

And he admits being

"We were praying not to have an injury at all because this is such a big occasion."

"But we are here now, raring to go."

"It is something everyone dreams of doing."

"This will be a special occasion and something the whole nation is proud of. We are in the most difficult group on paper. Some people believe that it is success for us just qualifying for this tournament but we will be doing everything that we can to get out of the group and get as far as we can."

Wales will play three games in nine days, a hectic schedule but one that Bale has vowed he intends to fully embrace – despite his lack of regular match action.

He insisted: "I'm 100 percent fit. I'm fully fit and ready to go."

worried that he could end up missing the tournament, just like other crooked stars including England defender Reece James, who lost his race to fully recover fitness after a knee injury.

Bale said: "It has been difficult mentally hearing the stories of people going down with injuries and missing the World Cup."

"Speaking to a few of the boys, even for them having to play this weekend, was tough mentally."
