How could you, Harry?

Palace stunned by shocking new revelations in Prince's autobiography

- Harry claims William threw him to the ground during argument over Meghan
- Tells how he lost his virginity
- Reveals his cocaine-taking past
- Claims he killed 25 people while serving in Afghanistan

PRINCE HARRY has delivered a shocking new salvo in his very public campaign against the royal family, the royal court and the British press.

A stream of sensational claims and accusations from Harry's autobiography, Spare, were leaked this week, chief among them his claim that his brother William threw him to the floor during a heated argument over the Duchess of Sussex.

Among other shocking revelations in the book are Harry's account of how he lost his virginity, of his cocaine taking past and his claim to have killed 25 people during his time as an RAF pilot in Afghanistan.

The book is the latest bombshell in a saga that has stunned royal watchers and probably sundered the family forever. It outlines grievances and bitterness in the Royal Family, including the claim he and Prince William urged their father not to marry Camilla.

Kensington Palace and Buckingham Palace have both said they will not comment.

Excerpts from the book were released by The Guardian on Thursday. The newspaper obtained a Spanish version after it was published in Spain ahead of its official release date. Reuters news agency has also seen the Spanish version.

Further allegations from the book have been made public since the Guardian's first article on Wednesday evening.

Among them are Harry's claim that William and Catherine, now the Prince and Princess of Wales, "howled with laughter" after seeing him dressed in a Nazi uniform for a party.

Reconciliation and compromise are not on the agenda from the leaked excerpts. So far there is a tone of unresolved grief, grievance and accusation in Harry's claims.

It is intensely personal too, about his closest family, brother, step-mother, sister-in-law, father. There is an angry cloud hanging over these claims and it is going to be impossible for that to be ignored the next time Harry is seen with the Royal Family.

The coronation is only a few months away and the run-up could become a will-he, won't-he come story about Harry.

These are some of the key claims and revelations from the book:

• Harry and William urged father not to marry Camilla

Harry writes that he and William begged their father not to marry Camilla, now Queen Consort, over fears she would be their 'wicked stepmother'. Harry alleges that he pondered whether she would one

TURNING HIS BACK? Harry claimed this week that he 'wanted his brother back', but the contents of his autobiography seem to make that prospect remote day be his "wicked stepmother", but that he and his brother were willing to forgive her in "their hearts" if she could make King Charles happy.

• A woman with powers relaying a message from Diana

Harry describes how his sadness over the death of his mother, Diana, Princess of Wales, led to him seeking help from a woman who "claimed to have powers".

"Your mother says that you are living the life that she couldn't live," Harry says the woman told him.

"You're living the life she wanted for you."

Diana was killed in a car crash in Paris in 1997 when Harry was 12.

Harry's account of a conversation he says he had with his late mother

LEAK: the excerpts were revealed in an early copy of the Spanish version of Harry's book is short, the Guardian says. There is also no detail on where or when the meeting with the woman took place.

• William 'knocked him to the floor'

Harry claims his brother grabbed his collar, ripped his necklace and knocked him to the floor at his London cottage. The book sets out an argument between the pair, which Harry claims was sparked by comments made by William about Meghan. Harry writes that his brother was critical of Meghan with William describing her as "difficult", "rude" and "abrasive". The Duke of Sussex said that his brother was "parrot[ing] the press narrative" as the confrontation escalated, according to the Guardian.

Harry is said to describe what happened next, including an alleged physical altercation.

"He set down [a glass of] water, called me another name, then came at me. It all happened so fast. So very fast.

"He grabbed me by the collar, ripping my necklace, and he knocked

Sunak unveils five-point plan

■ PM promises new measures will get Britain back on track

RISHI Sunak has unveiled a five-point plan as he promised to get Britain back on track.

On Tuesday the Prime Minister pledged to restore "optimism, hope and pride in Britain" as the country rebuilds from the wreckage of the pandemic and cost-of-living crisis.

In his first major speech since entering No 10, Mr Sunak said there will be "no tricks" and "no ambiguity" as he set out his five pledges for the year ahead.

Halving inflation, growing the economy, cutting national debt, reducing NHS waiting lists and stopping the small boats crisis are the people's priorities, he said.

'urgent action'

Trying to get on the front foot in 2023 amid a crippling wave of strikes, the PM acknowledged the massive pressures facing hospitals, saying he was taking "urgent action" to protect services.

In a wide-ranging speech in Stratford, east London, he also slammed "misinformation" from the unions over strikes, and said the Government will shortly set out its next move.

Mr Sunak said he hoped that he was already starting to earn the trust of the British people.

But added that he would be judged on whether he could deliver on the five key areas.

The Prime Minister said: "These five promises are the people's priorities. We will halve inflation, grow the economy, reduce debt, cut waiting lists and stop the boats.

"I fully expect the country to hold me and the Government to account for how much effort we are putting into working on those priorities – which are their priorities."

He said tackling the small boats issue was a "top priority" and added that new immigration laws would be introduced soon.

Mr Sunak pledged that the Government would "reduce the burden of taxation on working people" in a move that will appease some disquiet on the Tory backbenches.

He also announced his "personal" ambition for everyone to study maths until at least the age of 18, saying that improving education was as close as it gets to a "silver bullet" in policy terms.

The intervention came

SUNAK: "I fully expect the country to hold me and the Government to account" after the Prime Minister was given a glimmer of hope in a new poll that found that he has leapfrogged Keir Starmer as the public's preferred leader.

Mr Sunak's speech also appeared to steal the thunder of the Labour leader's own New Year policy set-piece which took place the following day.

Focusing on the country's finances Mr Sunak said he expected inflation – the rate at which prices rise – to halve this year and that he would also like the economy to be growing by the final quarter.

Inflation is currently at a near 40-year high of 10.7 per cent, with wages failing to keep up with prices.

Based on current forecasts from the Bank of England (BoE) and the independent Office for Responsibility (OBR), the aim to halve inflation this year should be achievable.

The BoE expects inflation to fall sharply to 5.2 per cent in the final quarter of the year, while the OBR has forecast the figure to drop to 3.8 per cent

'right agenda'

However, some of Mr Sunak's other pledges are likely to be more challenging to achieve.

There are currently more than seven million people waiting for NHS care in England – one in eight of the population. Waiting lists have continued to grow since the height of the Covid crisis, as more patients come forward after missing treatment during the lockdowns.

The Prime Minister's predecessors have also struggled to tackle small boat crossings, with a record 45,000 people making the dangerous journey across the Channel last year.

Mr Sunak promised to bring in legislation to ensure people who arrive illegally are removed quickly – but he admitted this "is not going to happen overnight".

Progress will depend on how quickly Parliament passes any new law.

The plans could also get bogged down in the courts as a potential breach of the UK's refugee obligations.

Mr Sunak also spoke at length about family, describing it as "something that politicians struggle to talk about".

Sir Iain Duncan Smith, the former Conservative Party leader, welcomed the address as he said he was "pleased the PM has recognised the importance of supporting families".

Sir Iain added on Twitter: "However, he knows he'll be judged on sorting out the chaos of illegal asylum seekers; sorting out NHS and social care and that taxes must come down to grow the economy.

"This is the right agenda, now we must deliver."

The Labour Party said Mr Sunak's promises were all things that were happening anyway.

They added that they were easily achievable or "aimed at fixing problems of the Tories' own making".

me to the floor.

"I landed on the dog's bowl, which cracked under my back, the pieces cutting into me. I lay there for a moment, dazed, then got to my feet and told him to get out."

• William and Catherine 'howled with laughter' at Harry's Nazi costume

The memoir also claims William "howled with laughter" when he saw his brother dressed in a Nazi uniform before a fancy dress party in 2005. The New York Post reports Harry asked William, and his future wife Catherine, whether he should wear the costume, or dress as a pilot – and claims the pair laughed and said the Nazi uniform.

• Using cocaine at 17 and smoking cannabis at Eton

Harry says he was offered a line of cocaine at someone's house when he was 17 and admits taking the drug on several other occasions, although he did not enjoy it.

He writes: "It wasn't much fun and it did not make me feel especially happy as it seemed to do to everyone else, but it did make me feel different, and that was my main objective.

• Killed 25 Taliban fighters in Afghanistan

While serving as a helicopter pilot in Afghanistan Harry says he participated in six missions, all of which involved deaths, but saw them as justifiable.

"It wasn't a statistic that filled me with pride but nor did it leave me ashamed," he writes.

"When I found myself plunged in the heat and confusion of combat I didn't think of those 25 as people. They were chess pieces removed from the board, bad people eliminated before they could kill good people."

Andrew's worry over removal of court gag

PRINCE Andrew is facing a fresh crisis with a gagging clause from his sex abuse accuser to be lifted in weeks.

The Duke of York was forced to quit royal duties and stripped of his military patronages in the wake of allegations made by Virginia Giuffre.

She claimed she was sexually abused at Ghislaine Maxwell's London home, at her paedophile financier friend Jeffrey Epstein's Manhattan townhouse and in the Virgin Islands.

Prince Andrew strenuously denied the allegations and reached an out-of-court settlement with Ms Giuffre, reportedly worth around £12million.

It was not an admission of guilt and Prince Andrew continues to deny any wrongdoing.

The agreement had a 12-month gagging clause due to expire next month.

The exact terms of the deal remain secret, but experts suggest American-Australian campaigner Ms Giuffre, 39, an alleged victim of the sex trafficking ring run by Epstein, might have agreed not to speak about the Duke publicly or repeat accusations about him.

This latest blow comes only days after it was reported his brother King Charles had effectively evicted him from Buckingham Palace.

Andrew will no longer be allowed an office or be permitted to use the royal headquarters as a correspondence address.

He was forced to step down from public life after a disastrous interview with the BBC in which he was quizzed about his friendship with the late Epstein.

Charles DID try to heal rift with Harry, insider claims

■ Unnamed source rebuffs Harry's claims, describing them as "complete and unadulterated nonsense"

KING Charles has tried to heal the rift with his youngest son, despite Prince Harry's claims his family had made no effort to "reconcile", royal sources claimed this week.

In a TV interview trailer this week, Harry, 38, suggested that he laid the blame for a long-running rift with his father at Charles's door.

He said: "They've shown absolutely no willingness to reconcile," but added: "I would like to get my father back. I would like to have my brother [William] back."

But insiders close to the King hit back on Monday, insisting he had always made clear how much he loved his sons and had kept communication channels open.

Senior sources said Charles's refusal to hit back at some of the inflammatory claims displayed wisdom and maturity.

And they said the prospect of rapprochement, despite all that has been said, remained a very real possibility.

'audacity'

One suggested Harry's assertion Charles, 74, and William, 40, had not tried to reconcile were "complete and unadulterated nonsense".

The insider added: "It takes some audacity to say that when his father invited him to stay at his house when in the UK, invited him to spend Christmas with the rest of the family and continued to make public statements of support. It's outrageous."

Charles invited Harry, his wife Meghan, 41, and children Archie, three, and Lilibet, one, to stay on at least two occasions last year.

Last January, royal sources said Charles and Harry had held several "good natured and enjoyable" video calls.

Days before Queen Elizabeth died on September 8, it was reported Charles told his son he was welcome to stay with him on the Balmoral estate in Scotland, ahead of a planned trip to Europe by Harry and Meghan.

'villains'

Charles is also set to broker tentative peace talks in the hope of having his two sons by his side at his Coronation in May. A senior Palace source said: "He loves both his sons and hope springs eternal for a happier future all round. If some can stop fixating on the past."

Asked about the King possibly extending an olive branch to heal the rift with his youngest son, the source said: "Let's see how things evolve."

King Charles and Harry are understood to have remained in contact throughout the furore that erupted after he quit royal life in 2020 and headed for California with his family.

They met several times during the Platinum Jubilee celebrations to mark the Queen's 70-year reign.

In the TV trailer, Harry said he and Meghan were portrayed as "villains".

And while speaking to US broadcaster Anderson Cooper for his CBS programme, 60 Minutes, Harry was asked why he had not communicated his complaints in private rather than going public. The Prince replied: "Every single time I've tried to do it privately, there have been briefings and leakings and planting of stories against me and my wife [Meghan].

"They [Buckingham Palace] will feed or have a conversation with a correspondent, and that correspondent will literally be spoon-fed information and write the story.

"And at the bottom of it, they will say they have reached out to Buckingham Palace for comment.

"But the whole story is Buckingham Palace commenting. So when we're being told for the last six years, 'We can't put a statement out to protect you', but you do it for other members of the family, there becomes a point when silence is betrayal."

Harry has also spoken to ITV's Tom Bradby, a family friend, in an interview that will be broadcast on the channel at 9pm on Sunday.

Lost classic episodes of Dr. Who to be brought back to life

LOST classic episodes of Doctor Who are being brought back to life using animation and colourisation of original shows to mark its 60th anniversary this year.

Two stories from the 1960s are to be released on blu-ray and DVD – William Hartnell's penultimate adventure The Smugglers, and Patrick Troughton's third outing, The Underwater Menace.

Both four-part stories were originally transmitted by the BBC, before film prints were sold overseas, and the original video tapes were destroyed.

Episodes two and three of The Underwater Menace have been recovered, but only a handful of brief clips from The Smugglers exist.

An insider said: "Over the past few years, fans have been delighted as the show's fourth season has been slowly restored using animated episodes. Only 10 of the 43 broadcast episodes still exist, so this way we're getting to see the missing classics."

Last year, the BBC stopped releasing animated versions – using the original soundtrack – after BBC America cut funding.

The Smugglers, broadcast in the UK in 1966, was sold to Singapore in 1972, with The Underwater Menace sold to Zambia in 1970.

Another treat for fans to mark the show's 60th in the autumn is for some early black and white episodes to be turned into colour.

BBC bosses plan to colourise certain stories from the Hartnell and Troughton eras (1963-69), for broadcast this year, with the very first story, An Unearthly Child likely to be in the mix. There are 97 episodes of Doctor Who missing from BBC archives.

Tributes pour in for Fay Weldon

Leading author was best known for The Life And Loves Of A She-Devil

TRIBUTES have poured in for Fay Weldon, the prolific author, who has died aged 91.

The literary titan, whose 1983 bestseller was adapted into an award-winning BBC series starring Julie T Wallace and Dennis Waterman, wrote more than 30 novels.

She also penned short stories and dramas for TV, radio and the stage.

Author Jenny Colgan described her as "formidable, fierce and wonderful".

A family statement said: "It is with great sadness we announce the death of Fay Weldon (CBE), author, essayist and playwright. She died peacefully."

In her last message to fans, Fay apologised for being "out of touch for a long time," saying she had been hospitalised with a broken bone in her back and suffered a stroke.

biting wit

In typically forthright fashion she added: "In the meanwhile, I have left my husband and am divorcing him.

"Considering everyone else's troubles this year, my own are mere hiccoughs."

The three-times married author was born in the UK but grew up in New Zealand. She returned to Britain to read economics and psychology at St Andrews University.

Fay briefly worked at the Foreign Office and as a journalist, but quit to publish her first novel The Fat Woman's Joke in 1967.

She was later shortlisted for the Booker and Whitbread prizes for Praxis and Worst Fears.

The writer's biting wit endeared and enraged in equal measure, often drawing on her experiences for material.

She was a successful advertising copywriter, devising the slogan "Go to work on an egg", before becoming a novelist and scriptwriter, penning the first episode of Upstairs, Downstairs.

A BRITISH screenwriter has been diagnosed with autism after a Desert Island Discs listener wrote asking if he had the condition.

Jack Thorne, who has won five Baftas for his work, made the announcement on Twitter this week.

Thorne, 44, wrote: "A long journey but one I'm very, very happy to have gone on. Makes sense of stuff before, hopefully will help with stuff to come. I don't understand it all yet, but I'm getting there."

"Bizarrely, it started with doing Desert Island Discs – a very kind listener reached out and asked whether I'd considered the idea I might be autistic.

"My lovely agent, who got the note, thought there might be truth to it. My wife did too. So I started digging in.

"It's a complicated process, getting diagnosed, but I found lots of kindness along the way. I'm very, very, very pleased to have done it, and I'm very, very, very pleased to know this about myself."

Meryl Streep starred in a comedy-film version called She-Devil.

Fay was nominated for the Booker in 1979 for her sixth novel Praxis and Booker's official Twitter account posted: "We are saddened to hear the brilliant Fay Weldon has died."

"As well as being shortlisted in 1979, she was a judge in 1983 and delivered one of the most memorable speeches in Booker history."

Chocolat author Joanne Harris wrote: "RIP Fay Weldon: what a loss, and what a remarkable woman."

Kiwi gets the boot as trainers sneak in

THE shine has finally vanished from the shoe polish market.

Kiwi, the leading brand for over a century, is withdrawing the product known to decades of schoolchildren made to clean their shoes on a Sunday night.

The company said it had suffered now fewer people buff their formal footwear – and the “rise in casual shoes that don’t require formal polishing”.

David James, 62, whose family shoe repair and cleaning firm began in central London 100 years ago, said: “It is a sign of the times. In part this is because people wear suits and smart shoes much less. Covid accelerated that with more working from home, but a trend was in place before then.

“Also, trainers are being worn more and more, even to work. While shoes are dying, trainers are alive. We now renovate sneakers – repair and paint them.”

Shoe-shining has been synonymous with Kiwi for more than a century. The brand is bought in at least 180 countries accounting for more than half the polish sold globally. It will still sell products in countries where formal shoe care “remains relevant”.

David lamented the lost art of shoe-cleaning: “It is what you did on a Sunday night before school or work, but those days are fast fading.”

Kiwi was created by Australian William Ramsay, who named it for his New Zealander wife. Derbyshire rival Cherry Blossom is ready to step in. It said: “Be it a job interview, a wedding or a ICON: but casual shoes have polished off the brand party, having shiny, clean That need will never shoes gives confidence. disappear.”

West Ham chairman David Gold dies at 86

West Ham United co-chairman David Gold has died at the age of 86.

Stepney-born Gold (pictured, right) played for the east London club at a junior level before launching a business career.

Previously the co-owner of Birmingham City, he became joint-chairman at West Ham with David Sullivan.

Outside of football, Gold was also chairman of Ann Summers and had part-owned an adult magazine company and corporate air service.

Sullivan said: “Of all our joint ventures, none gave us more pride and happiness than the day we took ownership of West

Ham United, our club, in January 2010.

“David had a long-standing connection with the Hammers, having grown up opposite the Boleyn Ground in Green Street, and represented the club at junior level.

“He always wanted what was best for West Ham United, and his passing is a great loss for all of us.”

David Moyes, the club’s manager, said: “I am extremely sad to hear this news and, on behalf of all of the players and my staff at the training ground, I would like to extend our deepest sympathies to David Gold’s family at this very difficult time.”

The sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by the Deed of Trust, with interest and late charges thereon, as provided in the note(s), advances, under the terms of the

If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (855) 976-3916 or visit this Internet Web site www.auction.com using the file number assigned to this case 18001508-2 CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (855) 976-3916 or visit this Internet Web site https://tracker.auction.com/sb1079 using the file number assigned to this case 18001508-2 CA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. Brits in LA

What a soggy start!

What a wet and windy start to 2023!

LA made a very grand entrance into the new year with a bomb cyclone - or what us Brits would refer to as 'a torrential downpour'. Either way it put a huge damper on the firework displays that usually fill our skies when the clock strikes midnight.

Whilst the timing could have been better, it is very much welcomed. After an unbearably hot summer California is still in a severe drought.

LA County managed to capture almost 2 billion gallons of water over the NYE weekend but that's just a drop in the ocean (sorry, couldn't resist) compared to what we actually need. So just because it's raining don't think that means you can be wasting water.....that includes no running taps whilst brushing your teeth and if you have an automated sprinkler system make sure to turn that off too please.

We also have some new laws and regulations that went into effect on January 1st. Below are a few that caught my eye but you can see the full list by visiting tinyurl/CALAWS23

Contrary to popular belief jaywalking is still not completely legal, however under the newly- introduced 'Freedom to Walk' act we are allowed to cross the street as long as it is deemed safe to do so. Basically they have rebranded the Green Cross Code. I won't be there when you cross the road so make sure to Stop, Look and Listen!

Drivers also need to be aware that when passing a bicycle they need to move in to a separate lane rather than just give them a wide berth.

California is proud to be the first state to ban the sale and manufacture of new fur products.

California has also raised its minimum wage to $15.50 per hour. However, the city of Los Angeles has set their rate at $16.04 and West Hollywood starts at $17 and will increase to $18.86 in July. Whilst that is far better than the federal minimum wage of $7.25 it still isn't enough to actually afford to live in West Hollywood. And does it really help? As all that seems to happen when the minimum wage is increased is that businesses raise their prices to incorporate the extra cost, which then means the same workers have to pay more for everything so we go back to square one. It really makes it difficult for everyone - especially the smaller businesses. We sadly lost one of our favourites earlier this week, the Market Tavern, home of our weekly Brits in LA Pub Quiz. Gary Twinn's marvelous hostelry had to admit defeat and shut up shop on Tuesday January 5th. This is in spite of the

It is with deep sadness that I announce the closing of Market Tavern as of January 3rd, 2023. I want to thank all of our wonderful guests and employees for supporting the Tavern over these past two years. A rock and roll themed British pub, serving the best fish & chips in LA, was a dream come true but with headwinds of a global pandemic it seems the odds were against us from the start. Many good times and memories for sure. Eat & Drink & Rock & Roll.

fact that it was situated within the bustling Farmers Market at the Grove as well as being the home for the Hollywood Hammers (local chapter for West Ham supporters) and was proclaimed by many Brits in LA members as 'one of the best Sunday Roasts in town'. As you can imagine it was a bit of a shock and extremely saddening to hear it had come to such an abrupt end. But it also highlights how important it is to support our local businesses whenever we can, otherwise soon there will be none left and then minimum wage won't even be an issue as there will be no jobs on offer anyway...

Obviously this means Brits in LA Pub Quiz won't be happening next Tuesday but watch this space to find out what's next. Or you can follow us on social media by searching @BritsinLA.

Till next time...

Cheers!!!

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: It's time to make way in your head for only positive thoughts. Mars is ready in your life to assist you through any setbacks. He is your boss - so listen.
TAURUS: You may have procrastinated a lot since last month, however you needed the time to catch up. With Uranus and Venus going backwards in your life you cannot do a lot yet.

GEMINI: Being unable to move about your life and do everything with ease is not comfortable at the best of times. However Saturn in your cousin in Aquarius is going forward now and some better days are on the way.

CANCER: The recent full moon in Capricorn opposite you has likely brought up anything on hold in the past few weeks. Just do what you can and don't stress over what is not possible.

LEO: You are probably planning ahead and already know what you will and will not do next week. While this is good, just go with the flow until then.

VIRGO: Hopefully you have taken this time frame and made changes on several levels. It's also good to not worry about the future. There will be better days later this month.

LIBRA: Venus your boss is resting until the end of the month. With this in mind do not stress over some plans not moving as expected. You can soon start to plan future work projects.

SCORPIO: Best way to make decisions is to surrender them to your higher power and ask to be shown the right way. Life has been quite difficult of late, so do not allow anything to set you back.

SAGITTARIUS: Make the most of the change of any plans in your life again. It's good to get rid of stuff mentally or physically for better days ahead. Now your boss Jupiter in Aries is ready to help you.

CAPRICORN: The hectic times are nearly over and especially for you keeping busy is important. However like many others just when you thought it was time to move, it's stop and start again for a while. Happy Birthday.

AQUARIUS: You have fully entered into any new situations fairly well. With this in mind try not to live in your head. You will find ways to cope in any area of life.

PISCES: Jupiter is visiting your money house and will soon be giving you new opportunities. Keep a low profile until mid-week.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Timothy Graff be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) A HEARING on the petition will be held on January 27, 2023 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 4 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

“Football players aren’t robots. No-one is the same and you need an individual approach. We thought that, in co-operation with Jadon, this was the best choice,” Ten Hag added.

Sancho recently spent some time in the Netherlands with coaches Ten Hag knows well to try and find the spark that will get his United career back on track.

The United boss says Sancho is now “making progress” and is “ready for the next step” although no timescale has been placed on his return to first-team duties.

With United playing Everton in the FA Cup on Friday before looking ahead to Tuesday’s Carabao Cup quarter-final with League One Charlton, the usual glut of January fixtures means squad depth will be tested at Old Trafford.

But Ten Hag wants to make sure Sancho’s recovery is right rather than rushed.

“We have some hurdles to take but I think he’s (going) in a good direction,” added Ten Hag. “I would be really happy the moment he returns to the squad for team training. That’s the next step.”

Lampard not looking for ‘reassurances’

Everton boss Frank Lampard says he is not “hunting around for any reassurances” with his side in 18th place in the Premier League table.

Lampard is under pressure after Everton were beaten 4-1 by Brighton on Tuesday, but he says he is focused on the club’s long-term future.

“I’ve never and would never seek reassurances,” said Lampard.

“It’s my job to focus on the job in hand, day-to-day, game-to-game. I’m not hunting around for any reassurances.

“I’m a big man working for a great club and I’ll keep doing it.”

The Toffees have lost four of their last five league games and travel to an in-form Manchester United side in the third round of the FA Cup on Friday.

Lampard, 44, says his side’s current league position is not his immediate concern.

“When you’re in and around this area that’s the reality,” he added.

“But if we win the next league game we’ll be out of the bottom three probably. It’s part of the process.

As he closes in on Jimmy Greaves’ record as Tottenham’s all-time leading goalscorer, former Premier League striker Glenn Murray says Harry Kane will have his sights set on breaking Alan Shearer’s record too.

With his double against Crystal Palace on Wednesday, Kane broke the record for the most goals in 300 Premier League games.

The England captain has now scored 264 goals for Spurs, only two behind Greaves’ club record.

Murray told BBC Radio 5 Live’s Football Daily podcast: “It’s absolutely incredible the rate that he’s scored goals and the way he has done it.

“He’s had options to leave and he’s not left, he’s stayed Tottenham. He’s a one-club man. He had a couple of loans where he had to learn his trade - he went out to Leicester and Norwich and a couple of other places - but he came back and had his heart set on being a Tottenham player.

“He has proved that giving a young man a little bit of time and patience pays off, without doubt. To see him chasing down Jimmy Greaves is incredible and there will be somebody else he’s chasing down after that. “That’s the first part of call, but the second will be the Premier League [all-time scoring record]”.

When asked about breaking Shearer’s record, Kane said: “It’s always nice and being spoken about with names like Alan is always good. I’ll just have to keep it going and see what happens.

“I’m feeling fresh. I’m feeling fit. So hopefully I can finish the season strongly.”

Blues splash $35m on Badiashile

Chelsea have signed France defender Benoit Badiashile from Monaco for £35m on a seven-and-a-half-year contract.

Badiashile, 21, has spent five seasons in Ligue 1 and made 135 league appearances for Monaco.

The central defender made his senior international debut in September against Austria and has two caps.

“I’m very happy to be here at Chelsea. I can’t wait to see the fans and start playing in the best league in the world,” said Badiashile.

Badiashile joined Monaco in 2016 and made his Ligue 1 debut against Paris St-Germain in November 2018 when Thierry Henry was manager.

He has featured in the Champions League and Europa League for the French club and has scored six goals and registered three assists.

“Benoit’s growth over the last two-and-a-half seasons from a young player struggling to fully bring his talent to bear is testament to his and the staff’s attitudes in adopting a higher professional standard,” said Monaco sporting director Paul Mitchell.

“Signing with one of Europe’s biggest clubs is the fruit of the work being accomplished within our academy and first team and once again highlights Monaco’s ability to develop young players to the highest level.”

Blues chairman Todd Boehly said: “We’re delighted to welcome Benoit to Chelsea.

“He’s an excellent young player who has quickly established a strong reputation for himself and has a huge amount of experience for his young age. We are sure he will form an important part of our team in the years ahead.”

Graham Potter’s side are currently without defenders Wesley Fofana, Reece James and Ben Chilwell through injury.

Mahrez strikes as City close gap

Manchester City closed the gap on Premier League leaders Arsenal to five points with a 1-0 victory over injury-ravaged Chelsea at Stamford Bridge Thursday night.

The reigning champions struggled in the first half before two of manager Pep Guardiola's substitutes combined to break the deadlock after 63 minutes, Riyad Mahrez turning in Jack Grealish's low cross at the far post.

Chelsea enjoyed the better of the first half despite adding both former City forward Raheem Sterling and Christian Pulisic to a lengthening injury list, substitute Carney Chukwuemeka hitting the post from the edge of the area.

Graham Potter will justifiably point to Chelsea's ill-luck with absentees but the bottom line is this defeat leaves them in the unaccustomed position of 10th, 10 points off the Champions League places.

City, meanwhile, will be happy to get three points despite being nowhere near their best and on a rare night when scoring machine Erling Haaland failed to hit the target.

City will have better days and nights than this but the main objective on Thursday against a tough opponent was a win that would make up for the disappointing home draw against Everton, and this was very much mission accomplished.

Chelsea's fans applauded their players off at the final whistle despite this damaging defeat, putting aside their disappointment as they understood the current situation facing manager Potter.

This is a club in transition under new owner Todd Boehly, with the Chelsea hierarchy operating a somewhat scattergun transfer policy, and a newly-arrived manager in Potter attempting to put his stamp on this team.

Chelsea currently look way off being contenders for a place in the Champions League, surely a minimum requirement given their outlay and ambition on a day when they confirmed another arrival in £35m defender Benoit Badiashile from Monaco.

They never lacked heart or effort but were struggling from the moments they lost Sterling and Pulisic to injury, eating further into Potter's squad.

Potter's plight was illustrated when he sent on 19-year-old Chukwuemeka for Pulisic and he was joined by young trio Conor Gallagher, Lewis Hall and Omari Hutchinson as they tried to rescue the lead.

Pierre-Emerick Aubameyang was the early substitute for Sterling but suffered the ignominy of being substituted late on. He could have no complaints after a poor performance in which he looked a thoroughly spent force.

This was more disappointment for Chelsea, who now face an uphill struggle to get anywhere near the clubs they would regard as their traditional Premier League rivals.

Ten Hag: footballers 'not robots'

Manchester United manager Erik ten Hag says he will be patient reintroducing Jadon Sancho to his team as "footballers are not robots".

Sancho has struggled for form since his £73m move to United from Borussia Dortmund in July 2021.

The England winger has not featured for United since the 1-1 Premier League draw at Chelsea in October.

"There are some processes you can't force and this is one of them," said Ten Hag.

United have won nine of their 10 matches in all competitions in the 22-year-old's absence, with Sancho currently following an individual training programme devised to get him back to the level required to play in the Premier League.

SANCHO: struggling in recent months at Old Trafford

It is only 18 months since the Londoner was part of Gareth Southgate's England squad that reached the final of Euro 2020, and he impressed during United's pre-season trip to Thailand and Australia.

Ten Hag describes Sancho as "not fit".

However, that does not tell the entire story as there is a mental aspect too, which the United boss noticed as Sancho's form and confidence dipped around the September international break despite his goal ratio being significantly better this term than in his first season at the club.
