THE MONSTER OF THE MET

■ Police under fire as it emerges one of UK's worst serial rapists was a Met Officer for 20 years

POLICE are under fire this week after it was revealed one of Britain's worst serial rapists was a Met officer for 20 years.

Bosses failed to stop David Carrick, despite being aware of nine incidents, including claims of rape, harassment and domestic violence coming to police attention over TWO decades.

Carrick committed horrific crimes against at least 12 women after telling them: "I'm a police officer, you can trust me."

And as Carrick faces multiple life sentences, former home secretary Priti Patel called for urgent action to snare predatory officers who betray public trust.

She said: "This should be the moment where we say enough is enough. The institution of policing and the structures around it, in terms of accountability, have to change for women and girls to feel safe."

Ms Patel insists vital reform cannot just be left to chief constables. She said: "It can't be down to individual chief constables to make subjective decisions on how such cases are treated."

The Tory MP described the culture that has been allowed to develop in the Met as "shameful" and "disgraceful" and has called for legislation to help clean it up.

complacency

She added: "The whole system needs to change and we need to put something on a statutory footing. We can change our laws to make sure it happens."

"You can't leave this with institutions where the culture has been one of cover-ups."

Prime Minister Rishi

Sunak described the scale and nature of Carrick's campaign of sex offending as "appalling", while campaigners said it underlines that the force is an institution in crisis.

And, following a cont. on page 2, col. 6

- One count of attempted sexual assault by penetration
- One count of causing a person to engage in sexual activity without consent

A British Man Executed In Iran May Have Been Lured To Tehran By A Former Colleague In A Sting Operation

A British man executed in Iran may have been lured to Tehran by a former colleague in a sting operation, it was claimed this week.

Iran was condemned across the world for hanging its ex-deputy defence minister, 61-year-old Alireza Akbari, on Sunday.

He had denied being an MI6 spy when he returned to the country after a decade living in the UK.

Mr Akbari was arrested in 2019 by Iranian authorities and convicted of spying for the UK. Iran announced he had been hanged on Saturday.

He was reportedly tempted back to Tehran by Ali Shamkhani, a senior member of the regime in what may have been an elaborate trap. Shamkhani insisted he return as the regime needed his security and defence expertise.

But Mr Akbari was tortured for 3,500 hours, according to a smuggled audio file.

His grieving brother Mehdi Akbari said: "The accusations against him are purely based on forced confessions under extreme duress."

Catherine Perez-Shakdam, an Iran expert at the Henry Jackson Society think tank, said: "It's completely ludicrous that they claim Akbari was a spy."

"They accuse anyone who is a critic of the regime of spying. Akbari did criticise the regime around 2009, that's why they accused him of spying. If Akbari was a spy, he would not go back to Iran in 2019."

Nephew Ramin Forghani said his uncle had returned to Tehran from the UK following a request from his former boss Shamkhani, secretary of the Supreme National

Alireza Akbari was hung on Sunday in Tehran

Security Council of Iran.

Mr Forghani said: "He was devoted to the country, which is why he went back."

"He was involved with the system from its foundation, and would not contemplate causing harm either to the regime or the population."

"I can only speculate that there has been some power struggle at the very highest levels of the government and they have decided to create this plot against my uncle."

Prime Minister Rishi Sunak said his execution was a "callous and cowardly act, carried out by a barbaric regime".

Britain has also imposed sanctions on Iran's prosecutor general, saying it would hold the regime to account "for its appalling human rights violations".

Foreign Secretary James Cleverly said: "Sanctioning him today underlines our disgust at Alireza Akbari's execution."

UK to send tanks to Ukraine

BRITAIN has announced it will send tanks to Ukraine amid international fury after Russian missiles hit an apartment block, killing at least 29.

Defence Secretary Ben Wallace announced plans for 14 British Challenger 2 tanks to be sent to Ukraine, along with around 30 AS90 artillery guns.

Ministers hope it will encourage other countries to send battle tanks to Ukraine.

The Russian embassy in the UK condemned the announcement, adding: "Bringing tanks to the conflict zone, far from drawing the hostilities to a close, will only serve to intensify combat operations, generating more casualties, including among the civilian population."

BIG GUNS: the Challenger 2 tank

Downing Street said the move shows "the UK's ambition to intensify support". President Zelensky thanked the UK, saying the decision to send tanks "will not only strengthen us on the battlefield, but also send the right signal to other partners".

Rishi Sunak and Mr Zelensky discussed recent Ukrainian victories on Saturday, as well as the "need to seize on this moment with an acceleration of global military and diplomatic support".

Moscow used missiles designed to destroy aircraft carriers to hit homes in Dnipro, with at least 29 people killed, as they resumed strikes on civilian targets and Ukraine's energy infrastructure.

It came as Vladimir Putin said his forces were making gains. But UK experts say Ukraine can take advantage of Russia struggling to get supplies to the frontline and plummeting morale.

torrent of scandals, the exposure of his crimes is another shattering blow to public trust in the police.

It has shown up woeful vetting procedures, a staggering complacency among Scotland Yard's top brass and a slipshod approach by professional standards departments. Met Commissioner Sir Mark Rowley admitted his force failed and apologised to the victims. He said: "This man abused women in the most disgusting manner. It is sickening."

"We've let women and girls down and we've let Londoners down. The women who suffered and survived this violence have been unimaginably brave and courageous in coming forward. I do understand this will lead to some women questioning whether they can trust the Met to keep them safe. We have failed. And I'm sorry."

"He should not have been a police officer."

Carrick, 48, nicknamed "Dave the bastard" by fellow officers, was briefly a soldier before joining the police in 2001.

In 2009, he transferred to the Parliamentary and Diplomatic Protection Unit which guards Downing Street, government buildings and embassies.

Before his prolific sex offending finally emerged, Carrick came to the attention of the Met and other forces nine times over the years but was never charged with any crimes.

Senior Met officers insist a man like Carrick would never be allowed to join the force today.

Sir Mark added: "We haven't applied the same sense of ruthlessness to guarding our own integrity that we routinely apply to confronting criminals."

Rapist cop David Carrick turned from a 'fun-loving charming guy' into a violent abuser

RAPIST cop David Carrick turned from a fun-loving "charming guy" into a violent, ruthless monster.

Outwardly, he appeared "charismatic" and "safe" to victims but he was a scheming sexual predator.

Carrick, 48, did not stalk the streets but chose women to control and rape after meeting them through dating apps or in bars.

He assured them they could trust him because he was a police officer and even showed them his warrant card as proof.

A trained police marksman, he also boasted of the VIPs he had guarded including Boris Johnson when he was prime minister.

Carrick developed relationships with victims before calling them "slaves" and "lazy whores".

He raped nine women multiple times, often causing physical injury as well as lasting mental torment. Some were viciously assaulted with sex toys.

He kept them prisoner in his home in Stevenage, Hertfordshire, forced them to drink his urine, dragged them by their hair and beat them mercilessly with belts.

coercive bully

Victims were kept locked in a tiny cupboard, one was forced to do the house work all day while naked while another was ordered to stay in bed "as we will be having sex all night".

A coercive bully, Carrick banned them from talking to other men or even their children.

He cut them off from their families, controlled what they could eat and how much they could spend. He even put a limit on how long they could sleep.

Carrick, who kept a large snake as a pet, was so "mean and cruel," his police colleagues called him the "Bastard" or "Bastard Dave." Detective Chief Inspector Iain Moor, of Hertfordshire Police, said: "He thrived on humiliating his victims and cleverly used his position to intimate there was no point in them trying to seek help because they would never be believed."

"The coercive nature of his offending undermined his victims in the most destructive way."

Detectives who investigated Carrick were disgusted by his depravity. Det Chf Insp Moor said: "Carrick forced his victim into a small under-stairs cupboard at his home where they stayed intimidated and humiliated until he chose

CARRICK: He raped nine women multiple times, often causing physical injury when they could come out.

"I have seen bigger dog crates. It is unbelievable to think these offences could have been committed by a police officer." Senior Crown Prosecutor Shilpa Shah said: "Carrick was very persuasive but also very manipulative."

"On a couple of occasions, he introduced himself immediately as a police officer, and said, 'You could trust me.' That was at the beginning before they got into any kind of relationship."

"It enabled him to gain the trust of the victims at the beginning."

His police status gave Carrick the idea he would never be caught and punished.

Ms Shah said: "Most victims feared they would not be believed because he is a police officer."

During police interviews, Carrick was confident and engaging. He answered questions as if he were chatting with friends and had done nothing wrong. Ms Shah said: "From what I've seen he would appear to be a fun-loving, charming, charismatic.

"But he was very manipulative, very self-confident, almost to the point of being cocky, and he knew what he was doing."

Carrick joined the Metropolitan Police in August 2001 after serving as a soldier in the Army for a year in the late 1990s.

He was posted to Merton in south-west London as a response officer. Four years later, he was transferred to Barnet, north-west London.

In 2009, he joined the Parliamentary and Diplomatic Protection command. His role was to provide an armed policing presence around Parliament and at government and diplomatic premises. Scotland Yard stressed he never worked as a police bodyguard for VIPs.

King 'will Attempt To Reconcile William And Harry For Coronation'

THE shattered relationship between King Charles, William and Harry is fixable, sources claimed this week.

Buckingham Palace has been blindsided by the slew of attacks that have rained down on the Royal Family from Harry's bombshell biography.

But just four months before his Coronation, forgiving Charles remains confident he can heal the rift that has pushed the relationship between his sons to breaking point.

The King, who on Sunday attended a service at Crathie Kirk, near Balmoral, with his wife Camilla, is desperate for his day to be a national and global celebration and not descend into a circus.

A royal source claimed he would attempt to broker peace talks in the coming weeks. They said: "It's fixable. Both sides need to hold their hands up and admit 'we didn't get everything right, and we got a lot wrong'. It's going to take flexibility on all sides, but it can be done."

"It needs Harry here, in the room with the King and Prince of Wales, a couple of other family members, some of 'his people' he trusts, so he doesn't think he's being ambushed."

Harry, 38m, claims his family had been portrayed as "villains", saying of senior royals: "They've shown absolutely no willingness to reconcile."

Minister rules out 10% pay rise as nurses walk out

■ 'Olive branch' compromise 'not affordable, says Barclay

Health Secretary Steve Barclay ruled out a 10 per cent pay rise for nurses as they went out on strike again on Wednesday.

Union chiefs had previously held out an "olive branch" with an offer to meet the Government half way on their 19 per cent demand.

But Mr Barclay said a double digit increase – still below the new rate of inflation of 10.5 per cent – was "not affordable".

Speaking to broadcasters on a visit to Northwick Park Hospital in north west London, he said the independent pay review body is the "right way" to deal with the disputes between health unions and the Government.

He added: "The pay review bodies are the right way to balance the affordability to [taxpayers], who face cost-of-living pressures in terms of their jobs, livelihoods – and balance those through an independent process alongside the needs of the NHS.

"Ten per cent is not affordable, it would be an extra £3.6billion a year and that would take money away from essential services we need to invest in, given the backlogs from the pandemic. We're focusing on £6.6billion of extra investment into patient services to deal with those."

He continued: "I have discussions with the Treasury as do other secretaries of state.

"These things need to be balanced – not just with the needs of teachers, with the Education Secretary – or train drivers with the Transport Secretary – but also what's affordable for your viewers in terms of their own cost-of-living pressures."

Thousands of nurses walked out on Wednesday and Thursday as the bitter dispute seems further away than ever from being resolved.

Staff from more than 55 NHS trusts are involved in the biggest round of industrial action in the history of the Royal College of Nursing (RCN).

Mr Barclay said he wanted to continue engaging with unions when asked if there was a deal to be done between now and further planned walkouts next month.

He said: "My door, as I've said throughout this, has been open."

But RCN General Secretary Pat Cullen, who joined a picket line

No end in sight: Thousands of nurses walked out on Wednesday and Thursday in Sheffield, criticised his approach.

She said: "Rather than grabbing our olive branch, Steve Barclay is desperately looking for new ways not to negotiate.

"Hundreds of impassioned nurses told me today this strike is about discovering their voice after many years of being let down. The patients who joined picket lines see this as a battle for the soul of the NHS as much as it's about pay rises. With just as many nursing staff ready to head into the cold again, the Prime Minister must ask himself why and understand that only he can set the NHS on a better path."

Rishi Sunak insisted he was "very keen to have a constructive dialogue". The PM said: "I'm pleased to say talks are ongoing and we're keen to find a constructive way forward and bring these strikes to an end.

"Of course I understand the impact they're having on people's lives.

"But we do also need to make sure that those conversations are based on what's reasonable, what's responsible for the country as we tackle inflation. But also what's affordable."

Charles gives up huge windfall to help ease cost of living crisis

■ Monarch cites 'wider public good' in surprise decision

KING Charles has given up a huge windfall from an offshore wind farm deal, which he wants to be used for the "wider public good".

Profits from the £1billion-a-year Crown Estate energy project might have been passed to the monarchy but Charles has asked the Government to ensure the extra £250million benefits the country.

The schemes could almost quadruple his income from taxpayers, but royal sources stressed that the King is mindful of the cost-of-living crisis – as he made clear in his Christmas broadcast.

The wind farm projects agreed on Wednesday – three in the North Sea off Yorkshire and Lincolnshire plus three off North Wales, Lancashire and Cumbria – will be a major boost to UK efforts to reach net zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2050.

They will swell the coffers of the Crown Estate: its profits are used as an index to determine the amount of taxpayers' money that the monarch receives in the Sovereign Grant each year.

Option fees paid by energy firms will bring the hereditary property empire – which owns the seabed around the coast – an extra £1billion annually over the next three to 10 years for the six offshore projects.

They are set to produce enough electricity to power seven million homes. Once they are operational, firms will pay rent based on the total energy generated.

Charles III would be entitled to a sum equivalent to 25 per cent of that £1billion figure annually over the next few years if it is translated into pure profit in the Crown Estate's accounts under the current funding formula for the Grant. Instead the King has asked its three trustees – Prime Minister Rishi Sunak, Chancellor Jeremy Hunt and Keeper of the Privy Purse Sir Michael Stevens – to cut the 25 per cent figure as part of a five-yearly review of the funding formula. This will ensure he does not receive any extra money from the offshore wind industry boom.

A Buckingham Palace spokeswoman said: "In view of the offshore energy windfall, the Keeper of the Privy Purse has written to the Prime Minister and Chancellor to share the King's wish that this windfall be directed for wider public good, rather than to the Sovereign Grant, through an appropriate reduction in the proportion of Crown Estate surplus that funds the Sovereign Grant."

The three trustees, with advisers at the Treasury, will decide on what percentage the funding formula will be cut to in the coming months after delaying the five-year review in 2022 until a decision was made on whether the wind farms could go ahead, despite concerns about the risks to seabird populations.

should be used for the wider public good.

"Some might even argue that since wind is given to us by nature, it should not benefit a sole individual or family."

The King used his first festive broadcast to sympathise with households struggling during the cost-of-living crisis and to praise people, charities and faith groups supporting those in need.

He spoke about the "great anxiety and hardship" experienced by many trying to "pay their bills and keep their families fed and warm" during his televised message, which featured footage of a food bank and other scenes of meals being distributed to the homeless.

Charles, 74, is a strong backer of offshore wind power. Equally he has championed projects on land, unlike his late father Prince Philip who thought that onshore wind farms were a waste of time and blots on the landscape.

Funding has been flat for the last two years at £86.3million, mainly because the Crown Estate's property empire, including in the West End, was hit by the pandemic.

The profits are surrendered to acknowledge that Crown land revenues are no longer sufficient to pay for the costs of the state such as His Majesty's ships, prisons and courts. Last year the Crown Estate made £312.7million profit.

Rishi Sunak to name 'anti Woke' Tsar?

RISHI Sunak is considering appointing a "free speech tsar" in a new "war on woke".

The Prime Minister will arm the new watchdog with powers to investigate universities that censure academics for their views.

Cambridge professor Arif Ahmed is said to be the favourite, according to Whitehall sources, amid fears of a "cancel culture" on campuses.

Mr Sunak is also said to be concerned about increasing numbers of bishops criticising Government policy.

He wants officials to perform "more due diligence" before they are appointed.

A No10 source said: "The new free speech watchdog and the tougher approach to bishops is a clear sign of our direction of travel on these issues."

International Trade Secretary Kemi Badenoch and Sunak ally Cabinet Office Minister Oliver Dowden are said to be those driving the plans.

Clarkson may be 'cancelled' over Meghan remarks

Clarkson earns about £10m annually from Clarkson's Farm, the Grand Tour and Who Wants to Be a Millionaire

JEREMY Clarkson is facing being "cancelled" by the TV industry amid the continuing fallout from his attack on the Duchess of Sussex.

Sources say he is scrambling to save his career. ITV bosses have stated they have no further commitments to Who Wants to Be A Millionaire? – fronted by the 62-year-old – beyond the already-commissioned series.

Clarkson, thought to earn around £3million a year from it, is believed to be close to completing filming for the upcoming series.

It has been claimed he will not feature on Amazon Prime beyond 2024 when his contract ends. If true, it means The Grand Tour and Clarkson's Farm, the second season of which is due to air next month, will go ahead as they were commissioned before the row.

Both shows are ratings phenomenons, earning Clarkson £10million annually.

His TV future has been in doubt since he attacked Harry and Meghan in The Sun newspaper on December 17 – ranting that he wanted to see her paraded through the streets naked while people throw excrement at her.

Mr Clarkson has said he apologised to the couple in an email on Christmas Day, admitting his language had been "disgraceful".

But in a public rejection of his apologies, the Sussexes' biographer Omid Scobie tweeted a statement from their spokesperson, accusing Clarkson of "spreading dangerous conspiracy theories, and misogyny" – claiming it was "not an isolated incident shared in haste, but a series of articles shared in hate."

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Timothy Graff be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (844) 477-7869 or visit this Internet Web site www.stoxposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case 2022-100586. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. Dated: December 28, 2022 BEACON DEFAULT MANAGEMENT, INC a California corporation, as trustee By

Talking Harry, fees and passports

Everyone seems to have gone wild about Harry! Or rather his revelations... It's not surprising that the release of Prince Harry's memoir 'Spare' has started a heated but relatively healthy debate over on our Brits in LA Facebook forum. Many seem to have strong opinions although I'm not sure if they were formed by actually reading the book. I raise my hands and admit that any judgements I make are based solely on whatever snippets have been shared on the internet. Whilst I'm in the camp of being not keen on oversharing or washing my dirty laundry in public it was quite enlightening to read the arguments for it. I came to the conclusion that although it's not particularly pleasant for those that are disparaged, does it actually really matter?

One thing I would recommend not sharing publicly - especially if you are here on a visa or a green card holder - is any kind of drug use. Apparently Prince Harry admits to using various substances in his book. This could cause problems down the line if he chose to omit this information (when asked) from his immigrant application forms. It's easy to forget that even though marijuana and cannabis products are legal in the state of California they are still illegal under Federal Law - so if you are not a US citizen it could possibly jeopardize your status here - many dispensaries scan your I.D when you make a purchase and this could therefore be linked to your immigration file. I hear that colleges and universities send out memos reminding their foreign students to be aware of this fact too.

Talking of which, a proposal has been submitted to change several of the filing fees that fund the U.S Citizenship and Immigration Services. A few are going down (including Green Card renewals and replacements), but a lot are going to get a hefty increase if this gets approved - if you are a conditional resident with a two-year Green Card you will be paying an extra $515 (currently $680) to get the conditions removed.

Prices going up too! Expect to pay more for your passport renewal

It's unlikely the proposed USCIS fee increase will go into effect before mid-March 2023 so if you have been putting off filing any USCIS forms make sure to do it before then, unless you are one of the lucky ones who should be getting a decrease. For the full list visit the Federal Register via this link tinyurl.com/USCISFees2023

Have you been putting off renewing your British Passport? Be warned that their prices are going up too! Increase goes into effect from February 2nd so save yourself a few quid and apply before then and don't forget you can renew up to 9 months before your current one is due to expire. The turnaround time is approximately 10 weeks although several Brits in LA members say that they received theirs in half that. Don't stress about your unexpired visas. Send your previous passport with the visa attached to it with your application. Your previous passport will be returned to you, usually via DHL. You'll still be able to use the visa if you carry both passports.

TAKING CARE OF QUIZNESS...

Brits in LA Pub Quiz is back...in a new home.

Starting January 24 and continuing every Tuesday at 8pm, the popular weekly trivia night will be held at O'Brien's at Wilshire and 23rd in Santa Monica.

TV personality Sandro Monetti (pictured, above), who has hosted the fun game in various locations for eight years, even continuing it on Zoom during the pandemic, will again be at the microphone.

He said: "It's a great privilege to bring our community together each week for a couple hours of laughs, points, prizes and pints."

The sudden closure of the quiz's previous home, Market Tavern at the Grove, prompted the move to the new Westside location. All are welcome to join the fun and games.

with the eye watering utility bills many of us received this month from SoCalGas. Mine went up over 200%! I immediately dashed over to the thermostat to turn the heating down! Thankfully there is a solution - SoCalGas offer a plan called "Level Up" which basically averages your use over 6 months and you pay a flat monthly affordable rate. This means I will pay slightly more than I usually do in the summer, but won't get any more nasty surprise bills during the colder months.

Hopefully it will help

some of you too. Log in to your online account for more details.

You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 619-846-7649 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this internet website <http://www.qualityloan.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-22-926848-SH. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 619-846-7649, or visit this internet website <http://www.qualityloan.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-22-926848-SH to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. NOTICE TO PROSPECTIVE OWNER-OCCUPANT: Any prospective owner-occupant as defined in Section 2924m of the California Civil Code who is the last and highest bidder at the trustee's sale shall provide the required affidavit or declaration of eligibility to the auctioneer at the trustee's sale or shall have it delivered to Quality Loan Service Corporation by 5 p.m. on the next business day following the trustee's sale at the address set forth in the below signature block. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. If the sale is set aside for any reason, including if the Trustee is unable to convey title, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the monies paid to the Trustee. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 02/27/23 at 8:30AM in Dept. 2D located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012 IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Rugby Union: no place for old favorites for new head coach

NEW ENGLAND Rugby Union head coach Steve Borthwick began his reign in ruthless fashion this week by axing three long-serving stars from the England squad.

Billy Vunipola, Jack Nowell and Jonny May were left out of the new England coach's first squad ahead of their Six Nations opener against Scotland at Twickenham on February 4.

That represented 185 England caps jettisoned as Borthwick signalled his intention to do it his way. The new boss said: "What we want is an England squad where you have players competing for places. There will be good players – really high-quality players – who are not selected. I think the players understand that I put due consideration into selection.

"I have enormous respect for these players. I would love to pick every single one of them. But I can't. So I have to make decisions and what I do is try and do it in the fair and right way. It's my decision."

Borthwick named five uncapped players in his squad, including Northampton's 20-year-old stand-off Fin Smith, who also qualifies for Scotland.

But there were also recalls for Elliot Daly and 35-year-old prop Dan Cole, who won the last of his 95 England caps in the 2019 Rugby World Cup final.

"Dan is never the most expressive but I got a 'thank you' and, if a thank you said a million words about his excitement being back in this team, then that did," said Borthwick.

Owen Farrell, serving a suspension for dangerous tackling, has been retained as captain having pledged to improve this aspect of his game.

Borthwick's predecessor, Eddie Jones, was immediately snapped up by Australia, prompting fears of a backlash should the two old adversaries meet at the upcoming Rugby World Cup.

Just days into his appointment Jones has spoken of "retribution" and of his intention to snub his former RFU employers as and when the two nations meet.

Former England star Chris Robshaw experienced two new-coach bounces during his 66-cap career, first with Stuart Lancaster in 2012 then Jones four years later.

He has no doubt the Australian, who was sacked as England's head coach last month, will have the Wallabies fired up as never before when they run into their arch-rival Poms.

"You always want to get one over your ex," said Robshaw.

"We've seen Eddie's comments in the press that 'we might see England in the quarter-final' and give a little smirk.

"When any good coach goes into a different setup it's bad news if it's not your team.

"Look at Warren Gatland going back to Wales, that makes them tougher opposition straight away.

Robshaw recalled the galvanising effect Jones had on England when he took charge, winning his first 17 Tests.

"It was his mentality," said England's 2015 World Cup skipper. "He was better than any coach I have worked with across the leagues or have heard about in terms of his man management. It wasn't always the big things, it was the little things like interacting with everyone every single morning in the breakfast room – going around all the tables to treating all the players differently."

Seven years later the magic had waned but he still ended up with a record of 10 wins out of 11 against the country of his birth.

"Whenever England played Australia we always knew it was a big game because of his history with Australia," said 36-year-old former Harlequins flanker Robshaw.

"But also the insight he had on the Australian players, the way they do things, their culture.

"Now he's got that first hand from an England point of view. He's a proud Australian, he's got a lot of history and heritage there. I'm pretty sure he will have a big impact."

Tuchel tipped to replace Conte at Spurs

THOMAS TUCHEL is eyeing up a Premier League return with Tottenham if the north London club part company with Antonio Conte in the coming months.

Spurs have lost four of their past five Premier League games at White Hart Lane and, ahead of Thursday's trip to Manchester City, homesick Conte said he plans "an important reflection on his future" in the summer, when Tottenham will decide whether to activate the one-year extension to his deal.

Tuchel has been out of work since he was sacked at Chelsea in September and, after a break, is putting out feelers about a way back into the game.

The German is thought to have been learning Spanish but, while there is no suggestion he has been in touch with anybody at Spurs, he enjoyed his 20 months in London.

A Tale of Two Halves!

■ City come roaring back from halftime deficit to stun Spurs

Manchester City overpowered Tottenham with a stunning 4-2 comeback win at Etihad Stadium on Thursday to close the gap on Premier League leaders Arsenal to five points.

Spurs looked to be doing bitter north London rivals Arsenal a huge favour when they scored twice in the closing moments of the first half to leave Pep Guardiola's side staring at a third successive loss. Dejan Kulusevski gave Spurs the lead seconds before the break after Rodrigo Bentancur robbed Rodri following Ederson's poor clearance, then Emerson Royal headed a second after the City keeper could only push out Harry Kane's shot.

Most inside the Etihad Stadium were frustrated but City, inspired by the outstanding Riyad Mahrez, came flying out after the interval to turn the game on its head with three goals in 12 minutes.

Julian Alvarez scored from close range after Spurs keeper Hugo Lloris could not claim Mahrez's cross in the 51st minute, then Erling Haaland headed in from close range two minutes later to draw City level. Spurs almost regained the lead when Ivan Perisic's shot was deflected onto the woodwork by Rico Lewis before Mahrez completed City's comeback, winning a challenge before beating Lloris at his near post.

France veteran Lloris was at fault once again after his own goal set Arsenal on their way to victory in the derby on Sunday.

Mahrez completed a brilliant individual display when he raced clear in stoppage time to lift a clever finish over the keeper for City's fourth.

NORMAL SERVICE RESUMED: for City...and Spurs

what they felt was referee Simon Hooper's failure to punish Spurs for a succession of fouls as well as a two-goal deficit.

What followed was a devastating show of power from City, who came out after the break and simply refused to be denied as Spurs were unable to cope with their attacking variety.

Mahrez was magnificent, scoring two goals and being involved in the others and he continues his rich vein of form.

City have also uncovered another gem in 18-year-old Rico Lewis, who was heavily involved before and after the double strike from Spurs that made Etihad Stadium such an anxious place during the interval.

History tells us that

City, as they were in that decisive title victory against Aston Villa on the final day of last season and against Crystal Palace here earlier this season, can never be counted out at two goals down and Alvarez's strike so early in the second half had a galvanizing effect on the champions and a demoralising impact on Spurs.

Olise late stunner denies tenth win for Ten hag

WORLDIE: Palace celebrate Olise's remarkable late leveller

Crystal Palace's Michael Olise scored a stunning last-minute free-kick on Wednesday night to deny Manchester United a victory that would have taken them second in the Premier League.

United were on course for their 10th successive win after Bruno Fernandes scored just before halftime when he finished well following Christian Eriksen's pull-back.

But Olise struck in dramatic style with a brilliant curling free-kick to ensure a point apiece.

The draw does take the Red Devils above Newcastle into third but keeps them behind rivals Manchester City.

For Palace it ends a run of three successive defeats in all competitions and Patrick Vieira's side will feel they got a deserved point.

United goalkeeper David de Gea had produced a wonderful save to tip Odsonne Edouard's powerful strike
