AUKUS: Rishi doubles down on defence deal with old mates

■ As China threat grows, UK enters new submarine pact with US and the Aussies

Rishi Sunak has announced plans to boost Britain's nuclear-powered submarine numbers as part of a historic tri-nation alliance.

The Prime Minister joined US President Joe Biden and Australian Anthony premier Albanese in launching a new defence pact during a landmark summit in San Diego.

The deal is designed to help Australia back up the West in countering the threat posed by China.

The so-called Aukus agreement will see the UK and US supply nuclear technology to Australia for the first time and help create thousands of jobs in

It replaces a deal Australia had already signed to buy dieselpowered submarines from France. The pact enraged Emmanuel Macron and sparked warnings from Beijing.

'new reality'

Under the plan, the UK and Australia will both build new submarines to a British-based design known as SSN-AUKUS. Mr Sunak said: "Sixty years ago, here in San Diego, President Kennedy spoke of 'a higher purpose - the maintenance of freedom, peace and security.' Today, we stand together, united by that same purpose."

added He that countries like Russia, China, Iran and North Korea "all threaten to create a world defined by danger, disorder and division".

The PM added: "Faced with this new reality, it is more important than ever that we strengthen the resilience of our own countries. That's why the UK is today announcing a significant uplift in our defence budget.

"This will allow us to replenish our own war stocks. And modernise our nuclear enterprise, delivering Aukus and strengthening our deterrent."

Describing Aukus as "the most significant multilateral defence partnership in generations", he added: "Our partnership is significant not just because we are building submarines these together, they will also be truly inter-operable.

"For the first time ever, it will mean three fleets of submarines working together across both the Atlantic and Pacific keeping our oceans free, open and prosperous for decades to come. We represent three allies who have stood shoulder to shoulder together for more than a century. Three peoples who have shed blood together in defence of our shared values.

£5bn boost

"And three democracies that are coming together again to fulfil that higher purpose of maintaining freedom, peace and security now and for generations to come."

It is thought Britain could double its number nuclear-powered hunter-killer submarines as part of the tri-nation alliance. Construction of the UK's submarines will take place principally Barrow-in-Furness, Cumbria, with some other jobs being created in Derby. Between eight and 20 new subs could be part of the deal. Australia will work over the next decade to build up its own submarine industrial base, and will build its subs in South Australia, with some components manufactured in the UK.

The first UK submarines will delivered in the late 2030s to replace the current Astute-Class vessels, and the first Australian submarines will follow in the early 2040s.

SSN-AUKUS The submarines will be the largest, most advanced and most powerful attack subs ever operated by the Royal Navy, combining world-leading sensors, design and weaponry in one vessel.

The Aukus pact comes at the same time as Mr Sunak had announced a £5billion boost in defence spending over the next two years. Construction will start on the UK's SNN-AUKUS submarines towards the end of this decade.

They will be built by BAE Systems and Rolls-Royce.

Tensions have been rising between Jinping's China and the West. In 2017, China's aircraft carrier Liaoning sailed into Hong Kong waters, a move seen by some as a show of force by Beijing.

Mr Sunak was seen walking through San Diego with military bigwigs Colonel Jaimie Norman, Admiral Sir Ben Key and Commander Gus Carnie as the pact was launched.

President Biden said Australia and the UK are two of America's most stalwart allies.

He said for more than a century "we've stood together to defend freedom and democracy".

Mr Albanese said Australia, the US and UK have begun a friendship built "on our shared values for a peaceful and prosperous future".

Britain set for billions more in defence spending

■ £5bn more earmarked for MoD; Sunak pledges to ramp up military spending to 2.5% of GDP

BRITAIN'S defence budget is set for a mulibillion-pound boost to counter the growing threat of Russia and China, Rishi Sunak has said.

He announced an extra £5billion will be spent over the next two years to bolster warfighting capabilities.

The Prime Minister also committed to ramping up overall spending on the military muscle by 2.5 per cent of GDP in the longer term.

Some £2billion of the new defence investment will be used to help replenish and bolster vital ammunition stocks the UK has given to Ukraine to repel Russia.

Another £3billion will be spent on modernising the UK's nuclear enterprise and fund the next phase of the historic Aukus atomic submarine pact with the US and Australia.

Mr Sunak unveiled the funding boost as he flew to the US to meet President Joe Biden and Australian Prime Minister Anthony Albanese.

He said the new integrated review of UK defence and foreign policy had been updated in the wake of Russia's illegal invasion of Ukraine.

Speaking on his way to San Diego, Mr Sunak said: "The UK is increasing its ambitions when it comes to defence spending.

"We've got £5billion over the next two years – crucially, that's going on stockpiles and we've got to make sure that our Armed Forces have everything they need in the short term, but also investing in the resilience of our nuclear enterprise which is critical for our future security; and a long-term ambition and trajectory to get to 2.5 per cent.

"It is a very very strong and positive statement about our ambitions."

Mr Sunak indicated the defence budget increase could come within two years.

Turning his sights on Beijing Mr Sunak vowed Britain would

King meets Queen as Brian May given a knighthood

IT was King meets Queen when Brian May was awarded a knighthood this week.

And the legendary guitarist said there was a Kind of Magic as he met the monarch and fellow animal activist to get his gong at Buckingham Palace.

The Queen rocker, 75, was recognized for services to music and charity and said Charles, just a year younger, teased him about having to kneel.

Sir Brian, joined by wife Anita Dobson, 73, said: "I am very happy and smiling from ear-to-ear, particularly because it was the King, which means a lot. We've had contact over the years so I have a strong feeling for him and it was a lovely moment.

"We discussed the fact we are of an age and he was wondering if my knees were holding out for the kneeling part of the ceremony.

"I said, 'Yes, just about'. To receive this award feels like getting approval, like when you get a gold star at school. It's a very good feeling, it's very special."

The musician, famous for riffs and solos on songs such as We Will Rock You, Bohemian Rhapsody and One Vision, is no stranger to Buckingham Palace, having performed at the

I didn't get my share, moans 'hard-up' Andy

HARD-UP Prince Andrew has told friends of his despair at not being handed a share of his mother's estate.

The royal pariah, already reeling from sex claims, is said to be bewildered that he has not received a cut of Queen Elizabeth's £650million fortune.

The King was named as the sole beneficiary after their mother died on September 8. But six months later, cash has not been divided among siblings Andrew, 63, Edward, 59, and Anne, 72.

The Queen's fortune passed directly to Charles because it was the most tax efficient way. No inheritance tax is paid on assets moving from one sovereign to another after a decision taken in 1993.

A friend said: "Andrew is in despair. He's been left completely in the dark. He had no idea this was coming. What's he meant to do? Go cap in hand to his older brother to keep a roof over his head? Things are going from bad to worse. It's a disaster."

Andrew is expected to downsize, relocating to Harry and Meghan's Frogmore Cottage later this year.

The claim that he has been hard done by has led some to speculate Andrew could give a tellall interview to US TV.

Own goal for BBC after Lineker tweet row brings climbdown

THE BBC was forced into a damaging U-turn this week after a social media showdown with Match of the Day host Gary Lineker.

The former England star was taken off air for criticizing the language used by ministers when discussing the government's asylum policy. After receiving public warning from the Beeb Lineker refused to back down and was temporarily suspended. But when his co-presenters, including Alan Shearer and Ian Wright, also refused to appear on the show and were joined in the boycott by match commentators, it spawned a fierce public backlash and the BBC was forced to backtrack, issuing their own apology on Monday for the widespread disruption to sports programming over the weekend, and announced an independent review of the corporation's internal social media guidelines.

'difficult period'

Tim Davie, the director general of the BBC, said: "Everyone recognizes this has been a difficult period for staff, contributors, presenters and, most importantly, our audiences.

"I apologise for this. The potential confusion caused by the grey areas of the BBC's social media guidance that was introduced in 2020 is recognised. I want to get matters resolved and our sport content back on air."

Davie, who was responsible for introducing tough social media guidelines for staff after government pressure, said it was difficult to balance the BBC's commitments to both impartiality and freedom of expression. The corporation's social media guidelines are meant to govern BBC staff and presenters who work on news and politics, not those in others areas, such as sport. Also, Lineker works for the corporation in a freelance capacity.

"Impartiality important the to BBC," said Davie. "It is also important to the public. The BBC has a commitment to impartiality in its charter and a commitment to freedom of expression. That is a difficult balancing act to get right where people are subject to different contracts and on-air positions, and with different audience and social media profiles."

Davie announced a review of his social media policy, to be led by an independent expert, which will have a "particular focus on how it applies to freelancers outside news and current affairs".

Lineker, the BBC's highest-paid presenter, who receives £1.35m annually, welcomed the review and said he was keen to get back to presenting duties, including Match of the Day

"I am glad that we have found a way forward," he said in the joint statement with Davie. "I support this review and look forward to getting back on air."

After the statement was released, Lineker tweeted his thanks for support of colleagues after a "surreal few days".

Lineker also said that "however difficult the last few days have been, it simply doesn't compare to having to flee your home from persecution or war to seek refuge in a land far away".

HONORS EVEN? Lineker is the BBC's highest-paid presenter

Supporters of Lineker, who has more than 10m followers on social media, have argued that his removal from presenting duties and pledge to curb his social media commentary proved the corporation was being influenced by a government-led coverage agenda.

Burglars score at Salah's villa

LIVERPOOL striker Mohamed Salah's villa has reportedly been broken into by burglars.

The £350,000-a-week footballer's nephew is said to have discovered that his property in Cairo was ransacked.

After spotting an open window, he reportedly found Salah's belongings strewn on the floor.

It came as the star, 30, missed a penalty during the Reds' 1-0 defeat on Saturday away to Bournemouth.

Egyptian media said electrical items, such as satellite receivers, were taken in the raid.

Police are conducting interviews with security staff and are looking through CCTV footage.

A source said: "The security services are intensifying their efforts to solve the mystery of the incident and the necessary legal measures have been taken."

My fans are magic, insists Rowling

JK ROWLING said "a ton" of Harry Potter fans backed her stance that women should not be victimized for their opinions on gender.

The author, 57, also told her podcast she knew her 2020 tweet that mocked a "people who menstruate" comment would land like a "hand grenade".

She infuriated trans rights activists by backing sacked tax expert Maya Forstater, who had said people could not change their biological sex.

But Ms Rowling said: "A ton of Potter fans were still with me and in fact, a ton of Potter fans were grateful."

'Rape' lies woman who triggered 2020 race unrest gets 8 years

A FANTASIST whose web of lies about being raped by an "Asian grooming gang" drove three men to attempt suicide has been jailed for eight and a half years.

Eleanor Williams had accused several innocent men of raping, trafficking and abusing her.

Her Facebook post included graphic photos of injuries she said had been caused – but the wounds were selfinflicted with a hammer she had bought at a supermarket.

The May 2020 lockdown claim was shared more than 100,000 times and sparked racial unrest.

A protest in her hometown of Barrowin-Furness was attended by the far Right activist known as Tommy Robinson.

Jurors had in January found Williams, 22, guilty of eight counts of acts tending and intended to pervert the course of justice. She pleaded guilty to a ninth charge.

She was sentenced at Preston Crown Court on Wednesday where Judge Robert Altham said there was "no explanation" for her actions, indicating she had not been racially motivated since she had falsely accused white and Asian men.

Williams lied that business owner Mohammed Ramzan groomed her from the age of 12, forcing her to work in brothels in Amsterdam and to have sex with men in Blackpool.

But police discovered that she had gone to the resort alone and stayed in a hotel eating Pot Noodle.

Mr Ramzan said that two weeks after he was arrested he tried to take his own life, following threats from "all over the world".

He added: "I am not sure how my family and I are going to recover."

Another innocent victim Jordan Trengove had his windows smashed and yobs painted "rapist" on his house. After 73 days on remand he too attempted suicide.

Oliver Gardner tried to kill himself after being sectioned following a chance meeting with Williams.

She said in a letter read to the court: "I have done wrong on some of this and I'm sorry."

TikTok ban for government phones

Chinese-owned social media app TikTok is set to be banned on phones and other devices used by government ministers and civil servants on security grounds.

Cabinet Office Minister Oliver Dowden made the announcement on Thursday.

TikTok has strongly denied allegations that it hands users' data to the Chinese government but Ministers have come under pressure from senior MPs to follow the United States and the European Commission in banning the app.

The US banned TikTok from official devices in December, and the Commission followed suit last month.

Canada, Belgium and India have taken similar action.

China has accused the US of spreading disinformation and suppressing TikTok amid reports the White House wants its Chinese owners to sell their stakes in the firm.

Tired of the rain? let St. Paddy lift your spirits!

we last checked in although this extreme weather can certainly make you lose track of time.

It's been so grey and dreary I have to keep pinching myself to make sure I'm not dreaming about being back in England. It makes you realise just how much the LA lifestyle is focused on the outdoors as often even taking out the trash or checking the mailbox would be counted as a short walk back home.

I still can't quite believe that it snowed in Hollywood last week! I first assumed that people were misidentifying hail

It feels like an age since or sleet and it wasn't until I saw actual snowflakes land on my balcony that I truly accepted this anomaly.

The clocks 'sprang forward' last weekend which mangled time even further, making us 7 hours behind the UK until March 26th.

But at least it signals that warmer weather is imminent - Spring officially starts on March 20th although others would say it's March 21st or even March 1st, and ancient folklore has its own threshold 'In Britain it was believed that spring had not arrived until either three, nine or twelve daisies could be covered by a person with their foot. And apparently 'In Ireland it was ... believed that if a person stood on the first daisy they saw in the new year, that they would be "pushing up the daisies" themselves before the year was out!'

I also think it signifies one of the last times you get to fulfill all of your stodgy cravings for roast dinners, fish & chips, pies and bangers & mash. Soon it will be too warm to even look at your oven let alone entertain the idea of a hot meal.

This weekend is also St Patrick's Day, which is quite handy as it means the majority of supermarkets will be selling their version of 'Irish Bangers' this is probably the only time of the year you can buy sausages that taste like the ones you grew up with, without placing a special order or making a trip to a British grocery store. My favourites are from Trader Joe's. They usually sell out pretty fast which makes me wonder why they don't stock them all year round... All of the British Pubs will be marking the occasion and Ye Olde Kings Head in Santa Monica has dedicated an entire weekend of festivities to honour St Patrick - so make sure to wear something green (or else you might get pinched) and head on over for a Guinness or even a green beer!

Lastly I feel it's my duty to remind you that it is Mothering Sunday in the UK this weekend (March 19th). By the time you are reading this it will probably be too late to send a card, but you could still at least phone or get a mate or delivery service to drop round a bunch of flowers... when I was home last year helping my mum sort through some boxes I discovered she had kept all of the Mothers Day cards myself and my siblings had sent her over the years - so whilst it might only feel like a small gesture on your part it often has a greater effect upon the recipient - on second thoughts if you did forget to send something it is probably not too late after all. I am sure it will still be gratefully received. And you can always blame it on the post office back log that has been all over the news (3 months ago) - although I am sure your mum is able to tell when you are telling porkies...

Cheers! Eileen

A SHAMROCKIN' GOOD TIME AT TRIVIA

Tuesday trivia nights at O'Briens are rapidly becoming among the most enjoyable gatherings in town and the packed St Patrick's Day themed special edition of Brits in LA Pub Quiz was no exception.

Irish dancers from the Cleary dance school (top) entertained the crowd and among the players was Ted Lasso director, Irishman Declan Lowney - pictured (right) with quizmaster Sandro Monetti - whose team took second place.

But finishing first, ahead of 16 other teams, were All The Answers All At Once, featuring Robert Dimitri (above) who will guest host the next pub quiz on March 21 while lucky Sandro suns himself on a brief holiday in the Cayman Islands.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF NI-GEL JOSEPH COX-HAGAN

Case No. 23STPB02604

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of NIGEL JOSEPH COX-HAGAN

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Mary S. Hagan in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Mary S. Hagan be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on April 13, 2023 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 4 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

George sorry over slaying

Rugby star Jamie George has apologized after sorry England were blown apart by merciless France in the Six Nations at the weekend.

Saturday's beating was England's biggest home defeat since international rugby began 152 years ago.

It killed off the title hopes of Steve Borthwick's team and left them fearing another drubbing when they face world No.1s Ireland in Dublin on Saturday.

George said: "That is nowhere near good enough and I want to apologize. I would be gutted if I'd turned up to Twickenham and seen England play like that."

France had not won a Six Nations match in England since 2005 but the way they ended 18 years of hurt may take Red Rose players a lifetime to get over. George said: "We need to make sure we get better and learn from this experience because it's clear we have a long way to go.

"We haven't been good enough for a while and, as a supporter myself, I can relate to what they're feeling.

"But please stick with us because we're going to fight to make sure we're a significantly better team." The seven-try thrashing eclipsed England's previous biggest beating by France - 37-12 at Twickenham in 1972. The 24-point half-time margin was another new low for England.

Owen Farrell finished the game as captain after starting on the bench for the first time in eight years.

He said: "England players never expect to be in this situation. We knew we had to improve before this game. We definitely know it after. But we have to improve together."

TTFN TO TAA: the Liverpool star has been left out of the latest England squad

More of the same from Southgate

England may have left the World Cup in Qatar broken once again after disappointment the defeat by France of the quarter-final in manager Gareth Southgate obviously believes nothing needs fixing.

Southgate's squad for the Euro 2024 qualifiers away to Italy in Naples and against Ukraine at Wembley is heavy on loyalty to the England team that performed creditably in Qatar despite falling short once more.

The most eye-catching selection, on several levels, is the inclusion of Brentford striker Ivan Toney after an outstanding season with 16 Premier League goals.

Toney was selected for the Uefa Nations League games against Italy and Germany last September surprisingly remained unused before disappearing off the radar completely when it came to the World Cup.

RUGBY UNION Guinness Six Nations

SUNDAY7 IRELAND | SCOTLAND | RELAND | F A Pts 122 56 19 133 87 15 92 84 10 84 106 10

26-year-old's inclusion merited is but is made against the backdrop of Toney facing the prospect of a suspension after accepting he had broken Football Association betting rules.

He has admitted some, but not all, of 262 charges made against him by the FA, and will next have an appearance in front of a disciplinary panel.

Elsewhere, it is more of the same from Southgate as trusted players such as Chelsea defensive pair Reece James and Ben Chilwell return after missing the World Cup through injury.

Southgate will say, with some justification, that there is not a host of new names screaming to upset England's status quo. However, the focus will be on several inclusions who are included very much on past form.

Harry Maguire survives after a good World Cup, despite barely playing under Erik ten Hag at Manchester United while Kalvin Phillips is also in despite spending most of the time on the sidelines since his £45m move to Manchester City from Leeds United last summer.

Both are fortunate that Southgate places such stock in previous performances for him because they have done little this season to justify inclusion. Maguire, in particular, is trading in the old currency of never having let England down, at least not in Qatar.

post-The biggest World Cup casualty is Henderson's Liverpool team-mate Trent Alexander-Arnold, who has never quite convinced Southgate he should be his first-choice right-back and is now out after the return of Chelsea's James.

No miracle this time for the Reds

CHAMPIONS LEAGUE: Real coast to 1-0 win to confirm Liverpool exit

Liverpool's Champions
League hopes ended
at the hands of Real Madrid for a third consecutive season
Wednesday night as they failed to overcome their first-leg Anfield demolition.

The Reds, who lost the first leg 5-2, lined up with four forwards at the Bernabeu as they looked to add another famous comeback to their fabled European history.

But that rarely looked on the cards and legendary Real striker Karim Benzema put the tie beyond doubt when he tucked in from Vinicius Jr's cutback late on.

Jurgen Klopp's side would have lost this game by more if not for Alisson.

The Reds goalkeeper denied Vinicius and Eduardo Camavinga with magnificent first-half stops.

If Darwin Nunez had taken a chance in the sixth minute, then it could have been a different story.

Liverpool players walked off to 'You'll Never Walk Alone' on the Bernabeu speakers as they reflected on their biggest ever aggregate Champions League defeat.

The Reds were beaten finalists against Real last summer but now face a battle to even be in the tournament next season, sitting six points behind the Champions League places.

One downside for Carlo Ancelotti's Real was Benzema hurting himself while scoring and having to be replaced. However afterwards the striker said he will be fine for Sunday's must-win El Clasico with Barcelona.

This was the 92nd time a team have lost by three or more goals in the first leg at home in a European Cup tie. All 92 have been eliminated.

In 2005 they came from 3-0 down to beat Ancelotti's Milan in the Champions League final. Three years ago they lost 3-0 to Barcelona and won the second leg 4-0, although crucially that was at home.

Liverpool gave it a go - they had to - with forwards Diogo Jota, Nunez, Mohamed Salah and Cody Gakpo in their line-up.

Had Nunez scored after six minutes instead of shooting at Thibaut Courtois, who knows what might have happened. The Uruguayan forced another two saves from the goalkeeper, most notably with a fine curling effort after cutting in from the left wing.

But really they were lucky to only lose this leg 1-0. There was no gung-ho, 'heavy metal', blockbuster attempt to go and win it.

They did not even have a shot between James Milner's blocked effort in the 37th minute and Harvey Elliott's attempt on target after 82 minutes.

So just like in last year's final in Paris, and the previous season's quarter-final, Real were Liverpool's conquerors.
The Reds will undoubtedly finish this season trophy-less and it will be a huge blow to their future plans if they cannot overtake Newcastle and Tottenham to finish fourth in the Premier League come the end of the season.

Jurgen Klopp says Liverpool face a "massive task" to be back in the Champions back in the Champions League after their annihilation by Real Madrid - as the feeling grows this might be the end of an era for his side.

The Reds were demolished 5-2 at Anfield three weeks ago and Karim Benzema's late goal at the Bernabeu made this Liverpool's biggest ever Champions League aggregate defeat.

Liverpool, winners in 2019 and beaten finalists just last year, will not even be in next season's Champions League unless their form picks up.

"We prepared for a special performance but we were not able to put it out on the pitch tonight. It was obvious. Nobody is thinking, 'how did Liverpool go out?'" said Klopp.

The front three that took them to three Champions League finals in five years is breaking up. Sadio Mane left for Bayern Munich last summer, and Roberto Firmino is leaving at the end of the season. Only Mohamed Salah is left.

Captain Jordan Henderson turns 33 at the end of the season and James Milner, who started at the Bernabeu, is 37.

Former Scotland midfielder Charlie Adam, who played for Liverpool in 2011-12, said on BBC Radio 5 Live: "I think Jurgen Klopp has been a little too loyal to these players, especially when you look at what Pep Guardiola has done with the likes of Joao Cancelo at Manchester City and moving players on to bring others in.

"But I think as a manager you also have to respect what the players have done for you and those are decisions that have to be made by the staff."
