Royal couple in 'near catastrophic' car chase

In worrying echo of Diana, Harry and Meghan dodge aggressive paparazzi in New York

Prince Harry, Meghan and her mother were involved in a "near catastrophic car chase" involving paparazzi, a spokesperson for the couple has claimed.

The incident allegedly happened after the Duke and Duchess of Sussex attended an awards ceremony in New York on Tuesday.

In a statement, their spokesperson said the "relentless pursuit" lasted for more than two hours and resulted in "multiple near collisions".

The New York Police Department (NYPD) said there were no arrests or injuries.

At press time many organizations, news including the BBC, had not been able to independently verify all the details. But accounts and information developed throughout the day on Wednesday.

'reckless driving'

The NYPD confirmed an incident took place involving Harry and Meghan and said numerous photographers "made their transport challenging".

No injuries or arrests were reported, the police said. Buckingham Palace has not vet commented. Entertainment picture agency Backgrid issued a statement saying it was investigating the conduct of several freelance photographers, but that their initial account of events differed to that of the Sussexes.

"The photographers have reported feeling that the couple was not in immediate danger at any point," it said.

It followed claims the chase involved half a dozen cars, with reckless driving including going through red lights, driving on the pavement, carrying out blocking moves, and reversing down a oneway street - as well as taking photographs while driving.

Harry and Meghan were reportedly staying at a friend's home, and did not return directly to avoid compromising their security.

The couple and Meghan's mother, Doria Ragland, tried to take shelter from the paparazzi by going to a Manhattan police station.

There was then a plan to use a New York taxi, with a yellow cab flagged down and Harry, Meghan, Ms Ragland and a security officer getting inside.

But the vehicle and its occupants were spotted by photographers and they reverted to their own security vehicles.

'looked nervous'

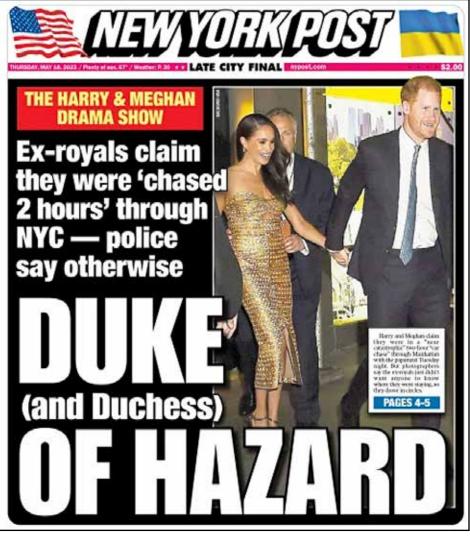

Cab driver Sukhcharn Singh, who goes by the name Sonny, told BBC News he picked up the four passengers on 67th Street between Lexington Avenue and 3rd Avenue.

"A security guard hailed me, next thing you know Prince Harry and his wife were hopping into my cab," he said.

"As we went a block, we got blocked by a garbage truck and all of a sudden paparazzi came and started taking pictures. They were just about to give me the location of where they were going to go, but then they told me to circle back to the precinct."

He said they were "nice people" who "looked nervous".

I'll deliver some jets, Sunak promises Zelensky

■ Ukrainian leader in flying visit to Chequers

RISHI Sunak has promised Volodymyr Zelensky he will lead an international effort to secure fighter jets for Ukraine.

The pair greeted each other with a warm hug after the President arrived at the PM's Chequers country retreat in a Chinook helicopter on Sunday.

Rishi Sunak also restated that Britain will not back down in its support for Ukraine after beefing up the UK's military support.

The Prime Minister said the UK will send hundreds of air defence missiles and armed drones to help Ukrainian forces battle the Russian invaders.

This is on top of the Storm Shadow cruise missiles announced last week.

The move – announced as Mr Zelensky made a surprise visit to the UK – means Britain is going further than any other country in providing weapons with the potential to tip the battlefield in Ukraine's favour.

Mr Sunak also vowed to push for more international aid when he attends the G7 gathering in Japan later this week. He promised to create a "jets coalition" that would help provide aircraft support for Ukraine and said training on Western jets would begin "relatively soon".

But he warned the supply of planes was not straightforward.

The Prime Minister said the UK was committed to training Ukrainian pilots using Nato-standard aircraft. According to reports, Ukrainian pilots will receive basic training in Britain before going elsewhere to specialise in flying American F-16s.

Mr Sunak added: "This is a crucial moment in Ukraine's resistance to a terrible war of aggression they did not choose or provoke.

"They need the sustained support of the international community to defend against the barrage of unrelenting and indiscriminate attacks that have been their daily reality for over a year.

"We must not let them down. The front lines of Putin's war of aggression may be in Ukraine but the fault lines stretch all over the world. It is in all our interest to ensure Ukraine succeeds and Putin's barbarism is not rewarded.

"That is why the UK is sustaining our support to Ukraine, from tanks to training, ammunition to armoured vehicles. And this message of solidarity will ring loud in all my meetings with fellow world leaders in the days ahead."

The British and Ukrainian allied teams Foreign including Secretary James Cleverly sat down in the historic Hawtrey Room. There, Mr Sunak pointed out that Sir Winston Churchill made many of his inspirational wartime speeches from the spot - suggesting Mr Zelensky was doing the same.

The embattled president said the two nations were "real partners".

The latest package of military assistance includes hundreds of air defence missiles and further unmanned aerial systems including attack drones with a range of more than 124 miles. The new equipment will be delivered over the coming months.

The visit came after Mr Zelensky's whirlwind tour of Western Europe that also took in Rome, Berlin and Paris to drum up military support.

Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said: "Britain aspires to be at the forefront among countries that continue to pump weapons into Ukraine. We repeat once again, it cannot yield any drastic and fundamental influence on the way the special military operation is unfolding."

The ramping up of UK military support comes after the former head of the Army Sir Richard Dannatt said Ukraine must defeat Russia this year or risk waning Western support. However, he said the Russian military "might crumble" in an anticipated Ukrainian counteroffensive later this year.

He added: "If Ukraine is going to succeed in its stated objective of freeing its territory from Russian occupation this is the year they've got to do it."

I won't rest until I stop the boats, pledges Sunak

'Rishi Sunak this week vowed he would not rest until he could 'stop the boats'.

The Prime Minister made the pledge on Channel migrants as he lobbied the European Court of Human Rights to reform rules that blocked removal flights to Rwanda.

On a flying visit to Iceland on Mnday, he held talks with ECHR president Siofra O'Leary on the fringes of a rare meeting of the Council of Europe.

He also pushed for closer cooperation to tackle illegal migration and discussed reform of the Strasbourg court and its Rule 39 injunction powers, which were used to block the UK's inaugural asylum flight to Rwanda last year.

In an address to fellow leaders, Mr Sunak urged them to support his attempts to reform ECHR procedures.

He said they must 'react to the realities of today', adding: 'The moral case for action is clear. We can't just sit back and watch as criminal gangs profiteer on people's misery.'

The Prime Minister had told reporters in Reykjavik the Government would 'do absolutely everything we can' to stop boats crossing the Channel.

'That's about working with other countries ... but it's also about passing new laws in parliament with our 'stop the boats' Bill,' he said. 'But I'm not going to rest until we can stop the boats, and that's why I'm here.'

And he warned that the Strasbourg court must conduct itself in a way that was 'fair, transparent and effective'.

Mr Sunak acknowledged the Government's Rwanda plans were 'novel' and 'ambitious' but insisted they were 'compliant with our international obligations'. He said: 'We want to make sure the European court is always conducting itself in a way that is fair, that is effective, that is transparent, and that's the kind of conversation I'll be having.'

He added that the UK had a 'long track record' of leading reform linked to the ECHR.

The PM also held talks with European Commission president Ursula von der Leyen in which they 'underlined that the UK and EU have a shared interest in tackling cross-border crime and people trafficking'.

Braverman blasts woke brigade

"The white population "do not exist in a special state of sin" says combative Home Secretary amid growing debate in UK over country's role in slavery

Suella Braverman has hit out in the culture war, arguing that white people should not feel any sense of collective guilt over their historical role in slavery.

As part of what the government is informally calling 'the war on woke', the Home Secretary argued that white people should not feel any sense of collective guilt over their historical role in slavery.

In a barnstorming speech, Braverman, the daughter of immigrants, lashed out at political correctness, saying the white population "do not exist in a special state of sin" and that nobody should be blamed for events in the past.

Braverman went on to attack people who are obsessed with rewriting history: "I think the Left can only sell its vision for the future by making people feel terrible about our past.

"White people do not exist in a special state of sin or collective guilt. Nobody should be blamed for things that happened before they were born.

"The defining feature of this country's relationship with slavery is not that we practised it but that we led the way in abolishing it. We should be proud of who we are. But look at what the radical Left is preoccupied with: Decolonising the curriculum, demanding reparations, denigrating our heroes and tearing down statues.

'silent majority'

"These all aim at undermining decent people's belief in the goodness of their country. And when the silent majority is compelled to raise its voice in objection, we're attacked as the extremists.

"We're the ones accused of fighting a culture war." Members of her audience at the National Conservatism Conference in London applauded as Ms Braverman added: "I'm not embarrassed to say that I love Britain. Or that I trust the judgment of the British people.

"I suspect Keir Starmer doesn't, which is why he's secretly drawing up plans to enfranchise millions of Europeans instead."

The Home Secretary added: "But I think there is something deeper going on here."

'communal disaster'

Scores of statues, plaques and other tributes to historical figures who were slave traders and colonialists have been removed since 2020's Black Lives Matter protests.

There have also been calls for colleges to reform their tuition, to confront the legacy of colonialism.

In a wide-ranging speech, Ms Braverman said it was not hypocritical of her as a child of migrants to push for lower migration into Britain, arguing "you cannot have immigration

Chris Sanchez, a member of the couple's security detail, who told CNN the scene was "very chaotic" and that photographers at one point blocked the limousine carrying Harry and Meghan.

"The public were in jeopardy at several points," he said. "It could have been fatal."

The award ceremony they attended - the Ms Foundation Women of Vision Awards - was Harry and Meghan's first public appearance together since the King Charles' Coronation earlier this month.

Meghan accepted an award at the event alongside LaTosha Black Voters Matter. New York City Mayor Eric Adams told reporters that two police officers "could have been injured" and that it "would be horrific to lose an innocent bystander during a chase like this".

Prince Harry and Meghan's statement had never claimed there was a high-speed chase. It spoke of a "relentless pursuit" for more than two hours.

Duncan Larcombe, the author of the book Prince Harry: the Inside Story, told BBC News it appeared "something has gone extremely wrong" with Harry and Meghan's security in the US.

"This will come as a huge surprise for people who used to look after Harry in the UK," he said. "There are huge questions to be asked about whether the paparazzi can still operate in this way."

Prince Harry's mother, Princess Diana, was killed in a 1997 car crash in Paris while being chased by photographers.

In an interview with the BBC for the documentary Diana, 7 Days, Prince Harry referred to the paparazzi as "a pack of dogs" who constantly hounded his mother.

"Every single time she went out there'd be a pack of people waiting for her," he said. "I mean a pack of dogs, followed her, chased her, harassed her, called her names, spat at her, trying to get a reaction, to get that photograph of her lashing out."

BRAVERMAN: "I'm not embarrassed to say that I love Britain" without integration" and saying "the unexamined drive towards multiculturalism" is a "recipe for communal disaster".

She said people who come to the UK "must not commit crimes" but need to learn English and to understand British social norms, adding that they "cannot simply turn up and say, 'I live here now, you have to look after me".

Ms Braverman said her parents "embraced British values" when they moved from Mauritius and Kenya. She went on: "If we lack the confidence to promote our culture, to defend our values and venerate our past, then we have nothing to integrate people into."

The country needs total immigration to drop, she warned. She has said her "ultimate aspiration" is to cut annual net migration – the gap between people entering the UK and leavers – to less than 100,000.

Accused baby killer blames it all on 'conspiracy'

■ Lucy Letby claims 'gang of four' doctors conspired to blame NICU's failings on her Nurse Lucy Letby has accused hospital bosses "conspiracy" of a against her to cover up shortcomings on the neo-natal ward where she is accused of murder.

The 33-year-old is charged with murdering seven babies and attempting to murder 10 others at the Countess of Chester Hospital between 2015 and 2016.

She told her trial a "gang of four" doctors "blame" apportioned on to her "to cover up failings at the hospital". Ms Letby denies all charges against her. Nick Prosecutor Johnson KC, in cross examination, asked Ms Letby how she felt towards her former colleagues.

Asked about Dr Stephen Brearev, consultant who а demanded the defendant was taken off the unit in June 2016, Ms Letby said she did not have a problem with him at the time she was working with him.

Mr Johnson then directed the jury towards a note, found at Ms Letby's home, which had a profanity written on it.

'cover up things'

has Ms Letby previously told the court this was written after she was removed from the unit and was directed at Dr Brearey and Dr Ravi Jayaram as they had been "making comments I was responsible for the deaths of babies".

Mr Johnson went on to ask Ms Letby if she felt there was a "conspiracy" against her, she agreed. "Who is in the conspiracy group?," Mr Johnson asked.

She named Ravi Jayaram, Stephen Brearey, John Gibbs and another doctor who cannot be named for legal reasons. "So the gang of four?," replied. Mr Johnson asked what the conspiracy between the four was, and she said they had "apportioned blame onto me".

Mr Johnson said. "Yes", Letby Ms

"I believe to cover up things at the hospital," she added.

Ms Letby was later asked about the death of a baby boy, Child A.

She told the court that if the cause of death was established as air embolus, then it would have come from the person connecting the "which wasn't fluids, me".

Mr Johnson also asked

"Yes I agree that he had insulin," she said.

Mr Johnson asked: "Do you believe that somebody gave it to him unlawfully?' "Yes," she said.

names of her alleged victims, were found during police searches of her home following her arrest in July 2018.

She agreed with Mr Johnson that taking such sheets out of the hospital "normal was not practice" and they should be discarded in confidential waste.

"What were you thinking as this pile of handover sheets accumulated almost to the size of a phonebook," Mr Johnson asked.

The defendant said she did not know she "had that many". The trial continues.

Children reading levels: England moves up to fourth

ENGLAND has moved up to fourth place in global rankings for children's reading.

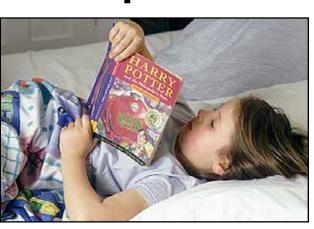

Previously, in 2016, the nation came joint eighth out of 50 countries.

But it has improved despite disruption to education during the Covid pandemic, the latest Progress in International Reading Literacy Study reveals.

The research takes place every five years and looks at nine and 10-year-olds.

Schools minister Nick Gibb credited the successs to government reforms, including a focus on phonics – a method which teaches children to read using sounds.

Singapore was top, followed by Hong Kong, Russia, England, Finland and Poland. The study assessed nearly 400,000 students in 57 countries during the pandemic.

Mr Gibb said: "The approach the Government has taken, in the face of quite a lot of opposition from vested interests, has been successful in seeing children's reading improving." Geoff Barton, general secretarv of the Association of School and College Leaders, said: "This is a badly needed piece of good news for an education that system feels beleagured.

"These excellent results in reading standards of nine-10year-olds are testament to the hard work, skill and dedication of teachers."

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF MARK ERNEST ULRICH aka MARK E. ULRICH aka MARK ULRICH

Case No. 23STPB04473

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of MARK ERNEST ULRICH aka MARK E. ULRICH aka MARK UL-RICH

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Taylor Lauren Thompson in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGE- LES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Taylor Lauren Thompson be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A HEARING on the petition will be held on June 6, 2023 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 2D located at 111 N.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

The Power of Serendipity

....or why you should always talk to complete strangers

The following article was first published in August 2021, following the author's sailing trip from Sicily to Minorca. It has been slightly updated for this week's publication.

Trust in serendipity. Never underestimate the value of talking to strangers.

The universe has taught me this lesson countless times over the years but it always finds a way to remind me from time to time, just in case I'd forgotten.

A case in point today. I was doing laundry close to my hotel room in Mahon, Minorca, for a couple of centuries the home base for the British fleet in the Mediterranean. ľd boarded my friend's boat, a 28 foot Bristol Channel Cutter, in Sicily two weeks before and sailed six hundred nautical miles in the interim up to Sardinia and across to the Balearic Islands. By now my clothes - and myselfwere more than a little ripe. I'd stepped off the boat a few hours earlier and climbed the steep hills above this historic sailing town to my hotel, the Capri Artiem. And round the corner was the appropriately named LA Wash laundry.

As my clothes went through the wash cycle I tried to catch up on a new episode of Deadwind, a Finnish police procedural I've been binge-watching on Netflix during overnight passages, but I found myself distracted by the single other customer in the joint, a trim, thirtysomething fellow with a lush head of hair and an engaging smile. But what really got my attention was his 'HH' shoes – the Helly Hansen brand, much loved by sailors like myself.

After a few minutes he sought my attention and asked me if I had a pen, showing me a ball of string carefully composed into what I instantly recognized as a monkey fist. It was clear he was a fellow sailor. And he needed to untie a recalcitrant strand.

"I've got something even better than a pen," I said with a smile. "A marlin spike".

From my bag I produced a multipurpose tool sailors use to untangle stubborn knots. He smiled broadly and we fell into a deep conversation.

His name was Nuno and he hailed from Lisbon. He had moved to Brussels a few years before, met and married a Belgian gal and sired four children. He was currently chartering a French sailing boat from Majorca to Menorca with wife and family in tow. He shared his sailing stories and I shared mine. He found it astonishing that I, an Englishman from London now transplanted to LA, could own a sailboat in Sweden and yet still CONT/:

be in that laundromat in Menorca, having just sailed a friend's boat from Sicily. We swapped notes about how we both caught the sailing bug, how our wives and children handled our addiction, and our future hopes and dreams.

After a completely engrossing 30 minutes sharing our life stories Nuno finished folding his clothes and bade me goodbye. I responded in Portuguese, which prompted another ten minute conversation about that nation's rich maritime history, the origins of fado music,

Portuguese concept of 'saudade' - a sense of loss and longing which informs so much of Portuguese culture yet is almost impossible to translate precisely. I told Nuno of my love of fado in general, and of Amalia Rodridguez in particular. Then I waxed lyrical about a tiny fado joint in Lisbon's famed Barrio Alto neighborhood that I visited a few years back, enjoying an unforgettable open mic night where enthusiastic amateurs belted out deeply resonant tunes full of sadness, regret and romance. The place was named A Tasca do Chico. Turns out and about the unique

Nuno's friend owns that place. What are the chances?

So that's my story. Travel. Live. Explore. Embrace new experiences. Seek out conversations with strangers. You might make a new friend. You might challenge your opinions and prejudices. But most of all, you might just learn that the world is a much smaller place than we think And so many of us are intimately connected in ways we cannot even imagine.

Life is beautiful. People are amazing. Embrace both as much as you can, while you can. Your life will be richer for it.

Lengthy ban for gambling Toney

Anderson out of Irish Test

James Anderson has all but ruled himself out of the upcoming England vs Ireland Test to make sure he is fit and firing for the Ashes.

The 40-year-old pace bowler revealed that the groin strain he suffered playing for Lancashire against Somerset last week was classed as a '10-day' injury, which is why he is so confident of playing a full part in England's Aussie plans.

But pushing himself for a four-day Ireland Test that does not feature in the World Test Championship is a risk he is not willing to take.

And having missed all but seven overs of the last Ashes series at home in 2019 with a calf injury, Anderson is desperate to make sure he takes a full part this time.

Red exodus

LIVERPOOL will see the exodus of four of their stars this summer, with club idol Roberto Firmino leading the way. The Brazilian star had already announced that he would depart, joining an overseas club as a free agent, with Barcelona interested.

He will be joined by James Milner, Naby Keita and Alex Oxlade-Chamberlain in leaving, with all playing an important part in the Jurgen Klopp revolution at Anfield. The Reds manager had revealed that he was desperate for Milner to stay and explained that he had held talks with the midfielder, who has played 330 games for the club. There were even suggestions of a coaching role but the 37-year-old ex-England international wanted a fresh challenge of playing more regular football as his career draws to a close following eight years at Anfield.

Brentford striker Ivan Toney has been banned from football for eight months after he accepted breaking Football Association betting rules.

Toney has also been charged £50,000 and warned about his future conduct for 232 breaches of the FA's betting rules. His suspension starts immediately, but the 27-year-old can return to training with Brentford four months before it ends on 17 September.

He will not be allowed to play again until 17 January, 2024.

Posting on his Instagram story, Toney said he was "naturally disappointed" at the verdict, and would make no further comment until the independent Regulatory Commission publishes its written reasons.

"I make no further comment at this point other than to thank my family and friends, Brentford FC and our fans for their continued support, through what has been a very difficult time.

"I now focus on returning to play the game I love next season." In a statement, the FA said: "His [Toney] sanctions were subsequently imposed by an independent Regulatory Commission following a personal hearing.

"The independent Regulatory Commission's written for these reasons sanctions will be published in due course, and the FA will wait to review them before commenting further."

The breaches Toney has been found guilty of took place between 25 February 2017 and 23 January 2021, during which time Toney represented Scunthorpe United, Wigan Athletic, Peterborough United and Brentford.

OLLYWOOD IVAN TONEY: 20 goals in the Premier League this term for Brentford

Toney has scored 20 goals in 33 Premier appearances League this season, helping Brentford into ninth place in the table.

He will miss Brentford's trip to Tottenham on Saturday and the final day of the season at home to league leaders Manchester City on 28 May.

Brentford say they note the FA's decision and are awaiting the publication of the written reasons before "considering our next steps".

Toney won his first England cap as a late substitute in the 2-0 Euro 2024 qualifying win over Ukraine in March, having received his first call-up to Gareth Southgate's squad last September.

England defender Kieran Trippier was banned for 10 weeks by the FA in December 2020 for giving out information for others to then a Burnley player - was banned for 18 months, reduced to 13 on appeal, after admitting placing 1,260 footballrelated bets over a 10year period.

This is a major blow for Toney, whose career for both club and country is now uncertain, and for Brentford, who are now denied the services of one of the country's best strikers until well into next season. Any plans to sell him this summer may also have been jeopardised.

Any assessment of the punishment he has received must wait until the FA reveals more details about the reasons for its decision, the precise nature of Toney's gambling, and why he acted the way he did for so long and so many had little choice but to hand out such a sanction, and point out that Toney should have known the rules and stuck to them. But others will point football's close relationship with the industry, especially in the form of advertising and shirt

City dish out a Real hiding

Manchester City delivered a relentless performance laced with outstanding quality on Wednesday night to overpower holders Real Madrid and reach the Champions League final against Inter Milan in Istanbul.

City have lost two previous semi-finals to Real but they made no mistake at a joyous Etihad Stadium to now stand one step away from claiming the trophy that has always stayed tantalisingly out of reach for Pep Guardiola's team.

And their display in a magical first half, in particular, will live long in the memory as the masters of this tournament were left bewildered by City's brilliance.

It maintained а seemingly unstoppable march towards a treble of Champions League, Premier League - which can be won with victory at home to Chelsea on Sunday - and the FA Cup, where they play Manchester United in the final at Wembley.

West Ham United reached their first major European final since 1976 after they overcame AZ Alkmaar in their Europa Conference

Real keeper Thibaut performed Courtois heroics to save two Erling Haaland headers early in the first half but he was powerless to stop Bernardo Silva's closerange finish after 23 minutes, the Portugal midfielder scoring a looping header for the second eight minutes before half-time.

City faced the occasional threats from Real after the break, Ederson saving well from David Alaba and Karim Benzema, but they were no match and when Manuel Akanji's header deflected in off Eder Militao 14 minutes from time the celebrations started.

Substitute Julian Alvarez then wrapped up the dominant win with a late strike after latching onto a brilliant Phil Foden pass.

City will play Inter on 10 June as they look to win the Champions League for the first time.

City look to have finally broken Arsenal in the Premier League title race and will be overwhelming favourites to beat Inter Milan, although the desire to keep this feat for themselves will provide fuel and inspiration for United in the FA Cup final at Wembley.

Guardiola's side have somehow found ways to miss out on the Champions League in the past but the addition of Haaland's sheer menace as well as more defensive steel makes it difficult to see how they will not find a way past surprise finalists Inter.

City made a Real side full of experience and quality look several classes beneath them in a first half that will be among the finest this stadium has seen, the dazzling interplay, fierce intensity and pace giving them a two-goal advantage that would have been far more but for the excellence of Courtois.

This night had a special atmosphere even before kick-off and victory will taste even sweeter after the pain of last season's loss at the same stage, when City were almost in the final only to concede two stoppage-time goals and eventually go out. The Champions League has inflicted various levels of anguish on City despite their domestic dominance but if they perform anything like this in Istanbul it is hard to see an efficient but unspectacular Inter side having enough to trouble them.

League semi-final on Thursday night. Having won the first leg at London Stadium 2-1, the Hammers were resolute away to their Dutch opponents, reaching the final in Prague on 7 June with a 1-0 second-leg win. David Moyes' side soaked up plenty of pressure at AFAS Stadium until Pablo Fornals scored on the counter-attack in second-half injury time.

West Ham will face Fiorentina, who beat Basel in extra time in the other semi-final.

The Hammers are hoping to lift their first major trophy since they lifted the 1980 FA Cup; they were one of three winners of the 1999 Intertoto Cup.

Newcastle United team moved one win away from qualifying for Europe's leading club competition with a deserved Premier League victory against Brighton and Hove Albion.

Newcastle took the lead when Brighton forward Undav flicked Deniz Kieran Trippier's corner into his own net, before the Magpies skipper picked out Dan Burn from a free-keeper Jason Steele's smart stop and, just 45 seconds later, Undav slotted in at the right end to give the visitors hope. But the home team managed the game professionally and eased any lingering tension through Callum Wilson's composed late finish. The mood turned even more celebratory when Bruno Guimaraes emphatically converted Wilson's pass in injury time.
