

STONEHENGE SOLSTICE!

“Amazing, absolutely amazing. Never experienced anything like it, it was just fantastic.”

About 10,000 people gathered to welcome the summer solstice at Stonehenge on Thursday

Druids and pagans, new agers and foragers, hippies and the merely curious joined a colourful mix of visitors at Stonehenge on Thursday to mark the longest day of the year.

On the solstice, the sun rises behind the entrance to the stone circle, and rays of light are channelled into the centre of the monument, located near Salisbury, Wiltshire.

Many people travel from around the world to celebrate at the stones.

Stonehenge's distinctive formation aligns to both the midsummer sunrise and the midwinter sunset. Janet Burns and Gill Richardson, from County Durham, joined the celebrations in Salisbury.

“I wasn't sure what to expect but it exceeded my expectations,” Ms Burns said.

Ms Richardson added: “Amazing, absolutely amazing. Never experienced anything like it, it was just fantastic.”

“What a sunrise that we've experienced this morning,” said Scott Ashman, head of Stonehenge for English Heritage.

He said the sunrise “catches you off guard”.

“You walk around with your back towards the sun, then you hear the cheers then you turn around and it's there.”

Mr Ashman said he has to pinch himself sometimes, adding: “I really do look after one of the greatest wonders of the world.”

Kate, who lives in France, said she had not had the chance to visit Stonehenge since before the coronavirus pandemic.

“It feels really wonderful to be back in the craziness of it all,” she said.

“I think it's a really lovely way for people to exist in a more gentle and more present way than we have the opportunity to do in our normal lives.”

Tributes flow for SNP pioneer Winnie Ewing

Former SNP MP Winnie Ewing - an icon of the Scottish independence movement - has died aged 93.

Mrs Ewing was elected to the House of Commons in the 1967 Hamilton by-election and served as president of the party from 1987 to 2005.

Her son Fergus and daughter Annabelle are both MSPs at Holyrood.

Mrs Ewing's election to Westminster in 1967 was a breakthrough which marked the start of the SNP's rise throughout the 1970s.

After becoming the SNP's first female MP, she famously told the press: “Stop the World, Scotland wants to get on”.

A statement issued on behalf of her family said: “Mrs Ewing, generally considered the most important Scottish politician of her generation, served as an MP, MEP and MSP, and was the first presiding officer of the reconvened Scottish Parliament in 1999.

“She sparked the revival of the SNP's fortunes, which continue to this day, with her victory in the Hamilton by-election of 1967.

“Mrs Ewing died on Wednesday surrounded by her family.

“She is survived by children Fergus, Annabelle and Terry, and grandchildren Natasha, Ciara, Jamie, and Sophie.

News from Britain

Emotional Davies says sorry to Covid bereaved

■ NHS lacked 'resilience' to tackle epidemic, says former chief medical officer

England's former chief medical officer Dame Sally Davies was close to tears at the government's official Covid Inquiry on Tuesday as she apologised to families bereaved by the pandemic.

"It wasn't just the deaths, it was the way they died... it was harrowing and it remains horrible," she said.

She also said the UK did not have enough resilience to cope with the pandemic, with fewer doctors, nurses or hospital beds than similar countries.

'struggle'

The inquiry is currently examining the UK's preparedness ahead of Covid.

In her evidence, Dame Sally also expressed concern about the impact of the lockdowns on children and students.

"We have damaged a generation, and it is awful... watching these people struggle," she said.

The former chief medical officer told the inquiry the UK did not have plans in place to cope with a Covid pandemic, but she added "it didn't have resilience either".

Compared with similar countries, the UK was at the bottom of the table for numbers of doctors, nurses, beds, IT units and ventilators per 100,000, she said.

During questions about preparation exercises for pandemics, Dame Sally broke off to say: "Maybe this is the moment to say how sorry I am to the relatives who lost their families."

"I heard a lot about it from my daughter who was on the front line as a doctor in Scotland," she added.

Dame Sally Davies became chief medical officer in 2010 and left in 2019 to be replaced by Sir Chris Whitty.

At the same hearing, George Osborne said his spending cuts meant the UK was better able to cope with the pandemic.

The former chancellor argued that without austerity Britain would have been "more exposed" and rejected claims his approach left the health and social care "depleted" ahead of the Covid pandemic.

Last week Sir Michael Marmot, a professor of epidemiology at University College London told the inquiry that the UK had entered the pandemic with "depleted" public services.

'clear plan'

Asked by inquiry lawyer Kate Blackwell KC if he agreed with the statement, Mr Osborne said: "Most certainly not, I completely reject that."

He accepted more money could have been spent on the NHS, but said as chancellor he had to balance demands for resources from other public services.

"You can't just say we like public spending to be higher without explaining where you get money from," he told the inquiry.

He said the public had elected the Conservatives to government in 2010 and 2015 knowing the party was planning to cut public spending.

During the period, cuts were introduced in welfare spending, school building programs, local government, police, courts and prisons.

There was also an overall squeeze on health spending.

Mr Osborne - who was chancellor from 2010 to 2016 - said: "If we had not done that Britain would have been more exposed, not just to future things like the coronavirus pandemic, but indeed to the fiscal crisis which very rapidly followed in countries across Europe.

"If we had not had a clear plan to put the public finances on a sustainable path then Britain might have experienced a fiscal crisis, we would not have had the fiscal space to deal with the coronavirus pandemic when it hit."

The British Medical Association said Mr Osborne's "denial" of a connection between austerity and the impact of the pandemic on the most vulnerable was "staggering".

On Monday, the Trades Union Congress (TUC) produced a report which said austerity had led to unsafe staffing in public services leaving the UK "hugely unprepared" for Covid.

During the one hour 20 minute question session, Mr Osborne was also asked about the Treasury's planning for potential national lockdown.

He said the department had plans for an outbreak of influenza but added "given what subsequently happened that was very small scale".

"There was no planning done by Treasury - or any western Treasury - for asking the entire population to stay at home for months and months on end.

"Planning could have been done for a furlough scheme in advance - I'm not clear that would have made a better furlough scheme than the one we as a country actually saw."

"It wasn't just the deaths, it was the way they died... it was harrowing and it remains horrible," said Davies.

Former Chancellor George Osborne claimed austerity measures made the UK better able to weather Covid

Meanwhile....Gove 'sorry' for Tories' 'mingle and jingle' lockdown party

Michael Gove has apologised for a new Partygate video that shows Conservative officials dancing and laughing as they broke Covid lockdown rules, deeming their actions "terrible" and "indefensible".

The video, obtained by the Daily Mirror, shows members of staff drinking alcohol at the gathering in London on 14 December 2020, and mocking lockdown rules the public were following at the time. At least 24 people were in attendance, including Shaun Bailey - made a peer in Boris Johnson's resignation honours list - whose campaign team organised the event. He left before the video was taken.

It also emerged that party invitations had encouraged guests to 'jingle and mingle' at the Christmas event.

Ben Mallet, who was awarded an OBE in Johnson's honours list, is pictured wearing Christmas braces and a blue tie. Mallet was the Conservatives' campaign director for the 2021 London mayoral election and is running Moz Hossain's mayoral campaign.

In the video, two people appear to dance past a sign saying "Please keep your distance" before colliding with a table full of buffet food. In the background, someone can be heard saying: "As long as we don't stream that we're like, bending the rules."

Gove, the levelling up secretary, told Sky News's Sophy Ridge on Sunday show: "The fact that this party went ahead is indefensible," but insisted it would not be right for him to say whether the Metropolitan police should reopen their investigation into this lockdown-breaking event.

He said: "It's terrible. I think it's completely out of order. As I understand it, this was an event that

Three Britons among Titan dead

■ Hamish Harding and Shahzada and Suleman Dawood perish in submersible tragedy

THREE BRITONS were among the five dead on the Titan, the private submersible which is believed to have imploded during a deep dive in the North Atlantic to view the wreck of the Titanic.

Hamish Harding, 58, Shahzada Dawood, 48, and Suleman Dawood, 19, were the confirmed British victims of the accident.

The loss of the vessel was confirmed on Thursday after a huge search mission. The US Navy later revealed it had detected sounds "consistent with an implosion" shortly after the Titan contact, on Sunday.

The official told CBS News their information about the "acoustic anomaly" had been used by the US Coast Guard to narrow the search area.

Harding was a veteran adventurer who ran Action Aviation, a Dubai-based private jet dealership, and completed several exploration feats.

He visited the South Pole multiple times - once with former astronaut Buzz Aldrin - and flew into space in 2022 on board Blue Origin's fifth human-crewed flight.

'calculated risks'

He held three Guinness World Records, including longest time spent at full ocean depth during a dive to the deepest part of the Mariana Trench.

In summer 2022, he told Business Aviation Magazine that he grew up in Hong Kong, qualified as a pilot in the mid-1980s while studying at Cambridge, and set up his aircraft firm after making money in banking software.

He said the Titanic dive had been meant to take place in June 2022 but was delayed because "the submersible was unfortunately damaged on its previous dive". He said no-one was injured in the incident.

Asked about his appetite for exploration, he said: "My view is that these are all calculated risks and are well understood before we start."

Friend David Mearns, a marine scientist and expedition leader, described Mr Harding as a "very charming guy" who was attracted to extreme adventures.

'British explorer'

Patrick Woodhead, founder of British tour operator White Desert Antarctica, said Mr Harding was an "incredible" aviation explorer, and that his thoughts and prayers were with Mr Harding's wife, Linda, and his sons.

Terry Virts, a retired Nasa astronaut, said his friend was the "quintessential British explorer" who loved adventure and exploring, but was not an adrenaline lockdown rules. "The decision to confer honours on people was one that was made by Boris Johnson as an outgoing prime minister. Outgoing prime ministers have that right," Gove said.

When the lockdown party was held, indoor socialising was banned under tier 2 restrictions. On the day the party is understood to have taken place, the then health secretary, Matt Hancock, announced that London would enter tier 3 restrictions in order to contain a surging number of Covid infections.

was organised by the people who were running the mayoral campaign for Shaun Bailey. They had obviously behaved in a way which is unacceptable."

He said: "I want to apologise to everyone who, looking at that, will think these people are flouting the rules designed to protect us all."

But he said Bailey and Mallett should keep their honours despite the video of them breaking

Scotland braces for bumper midge hatch

Scotland's midge population could soon be unusually high due to recent weather patterns, according to experts.

The Scottish Midge Forecast said the insects hatched within a shorter timeframe this year because of a cold spring followed by a warm spell.

Dr Alison Blackwell said this resulted in a large first hatching with smaller geographical variations.

She said if it remained damp or humid she would expect a "mega second generation" to start hatching.

The tiny biting insects thrive in wet and warm conditions and usually have two hatchings during the Scottish summer.

Last year dry conditions made life difficult for the midges, but Dr Blackwell said there had been sufficient humidity this year to help them survive.

"Now we've got a big starting population, it means that the levels will stay quite high now throughout the summer probably, unless there's a really dry heatwave," explained Dr Blackwell, who runs the forecast.

"At the minute it's quite humid which is perfect for them."

VETERAN ADVENTURER: Hamish Harding had flown to space and visited the South Pole

SON AND FATHER: Suleman Dawood, 19 and father Shahzada Dawood, 48 junkie.

"Some people watch Netflix, some people play golf, and Hamish goes to the bottom of the ocean, or into space, and he's set world records flying around the planet," he told BBC Radio 4 Today's programme.

Mr Harding - along with Paul-Henry Nargeolet who was also on board - was a member of the Explorers Club, a little known century-old exploration group whose members have included Sir Edmund Hillary and Amelia Earhart.

wealthy family

British businessman Shahzada Dawood was from one of Pakistan's richest families. He was travelling on the sub with his son Suleman, a student.

Mr Dawood lived with his wife, Christine, and other child, Alina, in Surbiton, south-west London. The family were spending a month in Canada prior to the dive.

Shahzada was vice-chairman of Pakistani conglomerate Engro Corporation, which is a large fertiliser firm.

He worked with his family's Dawood Foundation, as well as the SETI Institute, a California-based research organisation which searches for extra-terrestrial life.

Shahzada was also a supporter of two charities founded by King Charles III - the British Asian Trust and the Prince's Trust International.

A Palace spokesperson previously said the King's "thoughts and prayers" were with all those onboard.

Shahzada's family said he was interested in "exploring different natural habitats", and had previously spoken at both the United Nations and Oxford Union.

He studied in Philadelphia, in the US, and the University of Buckingham in England, where he graduated in 1998.

Suleman was a student at the University of Strathclyde in Glasgow, where he had just completed his first year at the university's Business School.

A family statement described the teenager as a "big fan of science fiction literature and learning new things", and having an interest in Rubik's cubes and playing volleyball.

He recently graduated from ACS International School Cobham in Surrey, according to local media reports.

News from Britain

No new oil or gas exploration, Labour leader vows

Labour will end new North Sea oil and gas exploration, but help communities profit from clean power projects, Sir Keir Starmer has pledged.

Speaking in Edinburgh, the Labour leader vowed to "cut bills, create jobs and provide energy security".

He also said that a previously announced publicly-owned green energy company would be based in Scotland.

Sir Keir is under pressure from environmentalists and the oil industry over the scale and pace of change.

Climate campaigners have criticised the party for rowing back on a pledge to invest £28bn a year in green industries.

In England, planning rules which effectively ban new onshore wind farm developments would be scrapped if Labour won the next election.

Labour has confirmed it would "not grant licences to explore new fields" in the North Sea, a momentous shift for a sector which supports 200,000 UK jobs, including 90,000 in Scotland, according to trade body Offshore Energies UK.

But the party insisted it would honour any licences in existence at the time of the next election, which must be held by January 2025. That is likely to include the controversial new Rosebank development west of Shetland.

Sir Keir said: "Labour will deliver lower bills, good jobs, and energy security for Scotland and the whole UK, as Britain leads the world in the fight against climate change."

Rape and trafficking charges levelled at toxic influencer Tate

■ Former world kickboxing champion spent much of his early life in Luton

Controversial influencer Andrew Tate has been charged in Romania with rape, human trafficking and forming an organised crime group to sexually exploit women.

His brother Tristan and two associates also face charges. All have denied the allegations.

The Tate brothers appeared in court for the first time on Wednesday.

As he left court Andrew Tate said: "I love this country... and I look forward to being found innocent."

The brothers were first arrested at their Bucharest home in December before being moved to house arrest in March.

The indictment deposited with the Bucharest court says that the four defendants formed an organised criminal group in 2021 to commit human trafficking in Romania, but also in other countries including the US and the UK.

It names seven alleged victims who it says were recruited by the Tate brothers through false promises of love and marriage.

The alleged victims were later taken to buildings in Ilfov county in Romania where they were intimidated, placed under constant surveillance and control and forced into debt, according to a statement from Romanian prosecutors.

The defendants allegedly then forced the women to take part in pornography which was later shared on social media.

One defendant is accused of raping a woman twice in March 2022, the statement adds.

The trial will not start immediately and is expected to take several years.

A Romanian judge now has 60 days to inspect the case files before it can be sent to trial.

The media team for the Tate brothers said: "While this news is undoubtedly predictable, we embrace the opportunity it presents to demonstrate their innocence and vindicate their reputation."

It added that the indictment "allows us to present a comprehensive body of evidence, diligently collected and prepared over time, which will undoubtedly substantiate the brothers' claims of innocence".

There are also separate charges still under investigation which could lead to a separate indictment, including money laundering and trafficking of minors.

In 2016, Andrew Tate, a British-American former kickboxer, was removed from British TV show Big Brother over a video which appeared to show him attacking a woman.

He said at the time that the footage had been edited and was "a total lie trying to make me look bad".

He went on to gain notoriety online, with Twitter banning him for saying women should "bear some responsibility" for being sexually assaulted. He has since been reinstated.

Now, the 36-year-old former kickboxer boasts more than 6.9 million followers on the platform - and a worldwide profile.

Despite social media bans, he gained popularity, particularly among young men, by promoting what he presented as a hyper-masculine, ultra-luxurious lifestyle.

BOORISH BROTHERS: Andrew and Tristan Tate appeared in court for the first time on Wednesday in Bucharest

Tate - whose full name is Emory Andrew Tate - was born in December 1986, and his website says he is from Chicago, Illinois.

He is named after his father, an American who worked for the US Air Force in Britain, and who was also a chess master. His mother and father met in the UK before moving to America where Tate was raised until his parents divorced.

Following the divorce, Tate moved to Luton, England, with his mother.

Both Tate and his younger brother Tristan said they experienced poverty in England. In interviews, they recalled going to KFC to save other people's leftover chicken and freezing it for future meals.

Shortly before his arrest in December 2022, he engaged in a row with environmental activist Greta Thunberg on Twitter.

He claimed to have 33 cars and said he would send her a list of their "respective enormous emissions".

On TikTok, videos with the #AndrewTate hashtag have been viewed billions of times. That figure also includes videos made by people criticising the influencer.

Winnie:

She also had a deep affection for daughters-in-law Fiona and Jacqui.

"She was a loving and devoted wife to Stewart Martin Ewing, who died in 2003 aged 76.

"It would be appreciated if the family could be accorded privacy at this time."

Flags at Holyrood were lowered as a mark of respect following confirmation of Mrs Ewing's death.

Scotland's first minister Humza Yousaf, the SNP's leader, said he was heartbroken at losing "a shining light of our party".

He added: "Without Winnie's trailblazing victory in the 1967

Hamilton by-election and without her dedication to the cause of independence, the SNP would simply not have achieved the success we have.

"Winnie, more than anyone else, ensured our party was outward looking. She promoted Scotland's interests in Europe over many years. Thank you Madame Ecosse (as she was nicknamed in the European parliament) for your service to our party and country."

'Depth of gratitude'

Former first minister Nicola Sturgeon - who described Mrs Ewing as her political hero - tweeted her tribute, saying: "Heartbroken by this news.

"I can't begin to convey the depth of gratitude

I feel for the advice, wisdom, encouragement and inspiration Winnie gave me and so many others over the years. She was a master of the art of campaigning and it was a privilege to learn from her."

Sending her condolences to the family, Ms Sturgeon said Scotland had "lost one of her foremost patriots and champions" and that "the SNP and the independence movement have lost a beloved icon".

She ended by saying simply: "Thank you Madame Ecosse".

Ms Sturgeon's predecessor as FM and SNP leader, Alex Salmond, said Mrs Ewing was "the most influential Scottish nationalist of the 20th Century".

Church of England sacks independent panel investigating its abuses

■ “This is absolutely appalling. We have spoken with truth and conviction, got on with what we were contracted to do. Now this?”

The Church of England has sacked a panel of experts who provided independent oversight of how it dealt with abuse.

The Archbishops' Council confirmed it was “ending the contracts” of all three board members - acting chair Meg Munn, Jasvinder Sanghera and Steve Reeves.

The latter two recently claimed the Church had been obstructive and interfered with their work. The Church said relations between them and senior bishops had “broken down”.

In a statement, it referred to a “widely reported” dispute between two members of the Independent Safeguarding Board (ISB) and the Church.

Ms Sanghera and Mr Reeves claimed in April the Church had refused to share data with them and denied them their own computers, according to the Telegraph.

They told the newspaper there had been “clear interference” with their work and described working with church officials as “an uphill battle”.

They had also objected to the appointment of Ms Munn, who also holds a position within the Church.

In the statement, the Church thanked Ms Munn for her work and asked her to continue in an interim role.

Speaking after his dismissal, Mr Reeves said: “This is a deeply disappointing decision for those who want genuinely independent scrutiny of safeguarding in the Church of England.”

Writing on Twitter, he said the panel “had one overriding objective; to work independently

IN LOCKSTEP: the archbishops of York and Canterbury made the announcement and free from undue influence”.

He continued: “That shouldn't be a problem for any institution with sound governance, survivor focus, and proper motivation.”

Ms Sanghera wrote on social media: “This is absolutely appalling. We have spoken with truth and conviction, got on with what we were contracted to do. Now this?”

In a joint statement, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Justin Welby, and Archbishop of York, Stephen Cottrell, said: “We bitterly regret that we have reached this point and the Archbishops' Council has not reached this decision lightly.

“We know this is a serious setback and we do not shy away from that - we lament it.”

They said there was “no prospect of resolving the disagreement and that it is getting in the way of the vital work of serving victims and survivors”. The Church said: “The Council recognises that this news will be concerning and unsettling to victims, survivors and others.”

The Independent Safeguarding Board (ISB) was set up in 2021, following a scathing report the previous year by the Independent Inquiry into Child Sexual Abuse.

It concluded the Church had created a culture where abusers “could hide”.

The ISB describes its mission as “to hold the Church to account, publicly if needs be, for any failings which are preventing good safeguarding from happening”.

Earlier this month it published its first review into the way in which the Church handled one abuse survivor's case.

The review criticised “significant consequences of the lack of strategic oversight and management of the response to survivors with chronic and enduring needs”.

Brum cops tackle ‘slippery customer’

A boa constrictor spotted by police in the middle of a busy road in Birmingham gave officers an “off-the-scale” shock, the West Midlands force has said.

The officers were driving down Park Lane on Saturday afternoon when they saw the “slippery customer” moving across the road, according to police.

They managed to manoeuvre the snake into a pillow case and took it to Birmingham

Reptile Centre for checks.

Staff said the boa, which is non-venomous, was believed to be a pet.

Mohammed Shikdar, who filmed the capture, said he went closer after he saw police officers and on-lookers “crowding around something”.

“That's when I saw the snake and the police were trying to pick the snake up using the broom and a walking stick,” he said.

“The snake felt threatened and tried to attack the broom.”

Chloe Clarke, team supervisor at the Reptile Centre in Erdington, said as boa constrictors were not native to the UK, the reptile must have been in captivity.

She said she believed it had escaped, rather than having been left somewhere.

Staff at the centre would look after the creature for a month in the hope the owner would get in touch, but after that it would be rehomed, she said.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF GRAFTON S. HARPER

Case No. 23STPB05730

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of GRAFTON S. HARPER

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Spencer E. Harper III in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Spencer E. Harper III be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on June 29, 2023 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 5 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

WW2 veteran immortalized amid celebrations of 75th anniversary of Windrush

■ King Charles describes artworks as: "a most wonderful record of a very special generation."

A 96-year-old World War Two veteran from Leeds has been immortalised in paint to mark the 75th anniversary of the Windrush crossing.

Alford Gardner was depicted by artist Chloe Cox after King Charles commissioned a series of 10 paintings.

The King told Jamaican-born Mr Gardner, who returned to England in 1948 on HMT Empire Windrush, his portrait was "marvellous".

Ms Cox said to have received a royal commission was "a dream come true".

Mr Gardner served as an RAF motor mechanic during WWII, and later returned to England on the famous vessel after the British government passed a new law allowing people from the Caribbean to live and work in Britain.

The HMT Empire Windrush docked in Tilbury, Essex, on 22 June 1948. It brought 492 passengers to the UK from a number of Caribbean islands, including Jamaica and Trinidad and Tobago, to help fill post-war labour shortages.

Mr Gardner met King Charles at a Buckingham Palace reception on 14 May, when the King was given a special preview of the Windrush crossing anniversary artworks.

'dream come true'

He told Mr Gardner the collection was "a most wonderful record of a very special generation."

The King said Mr Gardner's portrait would be "a wonderful addition to the Royal Collection and be shown in all different parts of the world".

Mr Gardner, who settled in Leeds to work as a factory engineer, said: "When I joined the RAF I left home and I came to England. I came to England and I found home.

"When the war was over I said 'I'd be back'. The Windrush turned up and I was back, it was like leaving one home and coming back to another."

Commenting about the racism he experienced in his early life in the UK, he said: "Couldn't get away from it, it was there staring me in the face. If I go to a place and walk in and this place is hostile, I'm out, I'm gone. I never went to a place I wasn't wanted."

Chloe Cox said to have her artwork included in a gallery collection was "what every artist dreams of, right from being a kid" and to have her work included in the Royal Collection was "a dream come true."

Ms Cox said the painting was her biggest artistic achievement, "especially as a descendant of the Windrush generation myself".

'pioneers'

She said she had met Mr Gardner twice to take reference photographs for her work, because her first set taken in the evening "didn't have the wow factor".

When they met again in daylight the session had been "much more relaxed" and her pictures had captured Mr Gardner's "playfulness and his smile", she said.

"He was always beaming," she added.

At the Buckingham Palace reception the King said it was "crucially important" the "pioneers who stepped off the Empire Windrush in June 1948", were seen and heard "to celebrate the immeasurable difference that they, their children and their grandchildren have made to this country".

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: BROOKE SMITH MAILE CASE NO. 23STPB06118

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of BROOKE SMITH MAILE. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by STEPHEN AMOS SMITH in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE REQUESTS that STEPHEN AMOS SMITH be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 07/11/23 at 8:30AM in Dept. 2D located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012 IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: PHILIP DANIEL BENNETT CASE NO. 23STPB06641

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of PHILIP DANIEL BENNETT. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by ADAM ALEXANDER BENNETT in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that ADAM ALEXANDER BENNETT be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act with limited authority. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 07/21/23 at 8:30AM in Dept. 44 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012 IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Attorney for Petitioner DEBORA YOUNG - SBN 250106, YOUNG LAW FIRM 11500 W. ## Splasztastic win for Scots

A 90-minute rain delay was not enough to knock swaggering Scotland off their stride towards Euro 2024 as Georgia were swept away at Hampden on Tuesday.

The European Championship qualifier was halted by referee Istvan Vad immediately after Callum McGregor slammed the Scots into a sixth-minute lead in near farcical conditions in Glasgow.

A lengthy break followed, in part due to the furious Georgians not emerging until 9.15pm, before play resumed when the match was initially due to finish.

Scotland continued in a similarly confident vein, though, with Scott McTominay's thumping finish just after the break sealing victory for the table-topping Scots.

Napoli's Khvicha Kvaratskhelia ballooning an injury-time penalty over the bar just before 23:20 summed up the night for the frustrated visitors.

The win leaves Steve Clarke's side eight points clear of both Georgia and Norway as they reach the halfway point in the group, with four huge wins from four already in the bag.

When McGregor's rifled shot flew through the air towards Giorgi Mamardashvili's sodden net, few could have predicted it would be more than three hours before the evening would eventually be brought to a triumphant close.

Scotland restarted brightly with both Lyndon Dykes and John McGinn going close with headers.

McTominay brought an incredible fingertip stop from Mamardashvili, but within a minute of the restart, he was helpless as the Manchester United midfielder swept a low shot into the keeper's bottom-left corner.

Saka hat-trick in England rampage

Bukayo Saka scored the first hat-trick of his career as England made it four wins out of four Euro 2024 qualifiers by thrashing North Macedonia at Old Trafford on Monday.

Gareth Southgate's side are well on course to qualify for the tournament in Germany next summer and, even though North Macedonia provided meagre opposition, England still demonstrated the dazzling array of attacking options they have at their disposal.

And at the heart of it all was Arsenal's Saka who struck a superb treble before departing to a standing ovation with the game won.

England actually laboured in the early stages in the face of determined Macedonian defence but once captain Harry Kane scored his 57th international goal - turning in Luke Shaw's cross at the far post after 29 minutes - the floodgates opened.

Saka added the second from Kyle Walker's pass nine minutes later and Marcus Rashford scored a third on the stroke of half-time after unselfish work by Jordan Henderson.

The highlight of this one-sided affair came two minutes after half-time when Saka controlled a perfect long pass by Trent Alexander-Arnold before sending a thunderous left-foot finish high past keeper Stole Dimitrievski.

Saka completed his landmark hat-trick after racing clear on to Kane's pass, prompting Southgate to make a host of changes which allowed substitute Calvin Phillips to get in the act with a simple tap-in to make it six.

Kane scored his second from the spot with 17 minutes left.

Roddy Forsyth hangs up the mike

Scottish football broadcaster Roddy Forsyth says he is "somewhat emotional" after announcing he is to retire because of Parkinson's disease.

The BBC Radio 5 Live correspondent said after Scotland's Euro 2024 qualifier against Georgia on Tuesday that it would be his last match after more than 40 years of service with BBC radio.

He covered four World Cups and three European Championships with Scotland.

"Thank you so, so much to my family and the listeners," said Forsyth.

"It'll be strange, there'll be withdrawal symptoms, but I'm hoping to still make some contributions and will still be going to games."

Forsyth also worked on five European finals featuring Scottish sides.

Having started with the BBC in 1981, he began his current role in 1986 - an eventful year which included the arrival of Graeme Souness as player-manager at Rangers and the departure of boss Alex Ferguson from Aberdeen.

The reporter tracked Ferguson down at an airport hotel and called in the news of his move to Manchester United from a payphone after a quick glass of champagne with Ferguson and Old Trafford chairman Martin Edwards.

Forsyth has witnessed five final-day title deciders and was in Munich for a Uefa Cup tie in October 1995 when the scoreboard briefly read Bayern Munich 0-1 Raith Rovers.

He lists his low point as Gary McAllister's

A WAY WITH WORDS: iconic Scottish commentator Roddy Forsyth has covered his native country at four World Cups and three European Championship finals missed penalty against England at Wembley during Euro 96, with Paul Gascoigne scoring the goal of the tournament soon after.

Career highlights included the 1991 Scottish Cup final, with Motherwell edging out Dundee United in a 4-3 thriller, and Rangers beating Leeds United home and away in 1992 in the Champions League.

"One of the estimable pleasures of having done this job is the number of times people have said 'hi, I listen'," he said.

"My wife and I were remembering that we were at Glasgow airport, going on our honeymoon, and at the security desk the man says 'I know who you are... Do a bit of commentary, do Rangers-Leeds, do the winning goal'."

"So, standing at the front of the queue, I did. Then he said 'right, you can go through now'."

There are also fond memories of Scotland opening the 1998 World Cup against Brazil, with the Tartan Army marching along the Champs-Elysees and being applauded by the Parisians.

Tom Connor, BBC Scotland sports editor, said Forsyth has "had a remarkable career".

He added: "He's a brilliant communicator who has led audiences through the twists and turns of the game in Scotland for decades with his memorable commentaries and analyses.

"At BBC Scotland, we're grateful for his many radio contributions and also the interviews he conducted so skilfully for the landmark television series, Only A Game. We wish him all the best."

Aussies edge Ashes thriller

FIRST TEST: Cummins guides his team to victory in unforgettable squeaker at Edgbaston

Australia somehow prevailed in one of the all-time great Ashes Tests to beat England by two wickets on Tuesday and take a 1-0 lead in the series.

On an unbearably tense final day of another Edgbaston classic, ninth-wicket pair Pat Cummins and Nathan Lyon added an unbroken 55 to defy the raucous crowd and get Australia to their target of 281.

In doing so, they exacted revenge for Australia's famous two-run defeat on this ground 18 years ago, when the tailenders just fell short of reaching a target of 282.

Cummins, with 44 not out, and Lyon's unbeaten 16 took Australia to their narrowest Ashes win in terms of wickets since 1907.

England looked to be surging towards victory when captain Ben Stokes produced a magical slower ball to bowl Usman Khawaja for 65 and Joe Root held a stunning return catch off Alex Carey.

But as a breathless match entered its final hour, Cummins and Lyon swung the bat at England's short-ball plan to inch Australia closer.

Stokes almost dismissed Lyon with a flying catch for the ages when 37 were still needed, the skipper losing control of the ball as he dived backwards at square leg.

The target ticked down, the evening drew in. With three runs required and less than five overs remaining, Cummins deflected Ollie Robinson towards third man, a diving Harry Brook fumbled and Australia had an incredible victory.

A series that has already lived up to the hype continues with the second Test at Lord's on 28 June.

This was not just an homage to the epic contest on the same ground 18 years ago, but the perfect opening to the most anticipated Ashes series in a generation.

From the moment Zak Crawley crunched the first ball of the series for four, this Test had everything: England's daring first-day declaration, Root's attempted reverse-ramp off Cummins from the first ball of day four and the fascinating clash of style between the two teams.

But none of that could match the nerve-shredding drama of the final hour, played out in front of a buoyant crowd that had earlier waited until 14:15 BST for rain to pass and play to begin.

England in 'absolute pieces' after loss, says Stokes

England's players were in "absolute pieces" in the dressing room after their agonising two-wicket defeat by Australia, says captain Ben Stokes.

The tourists pulled off an unlikely victory on a dramatic final day of the first Test at Edgbaston.

England were strong favourites at one stage but Pat Cummins and Nathan Lyon combined for a stunning ninth-wicket stand of 55 to take Australia home.

"Losing sucks," Stokes said. "We always want to win."

He added: "We are absolutely devastated that we have lost."

"The lads are up there in absolute pieces, especially Robbo and Broady [bowlers Ollie Robinson and Stuart Broad] who put in an unbelievable shift there.

"But if that's not attracting people to the game we love then I don't know what will.

"There are still four games left. Keep following us and we will keep trying to do what we do."

It is a style of play which has carried them to 11 wins from their previous 13 Tests.

They were the aggressive team throughout in Birmingham: they made a surprise declaration late on day one and scored at more than four and a half runs per over, but that led to them losing wickets at regular intervals in their second innings.

Stokes, however, said England would not change their approach in the remainder of the five-match series.

"I am not going to change the way I have gone about my cricket because it is the Ashes," Stokes, 32, said.

When England declared on day one, Joe Root was unbeaten on 118. The declaration gave them four overs at Australia late in the day but David Warner and Usman Khawaja survived unscathed.

"I thought that was a time to pounce," Stokes said.

"Who knows, we could have got an extra 40 runs or lost two wickets in two balls. I am not a captain who gets by on 'what ifs'.

"We were in control of most of the game but they managed to produce a result. Obviously we wanted to be on top. We are devastated but that's sport. It is great and an emotional rollercoaster."

MOMENT OF VICTORY: Cummins's unbeaten 44 secured an unlikely win

England have been involved in some thrilling Tests since Stokes took charge, but none with the stakes as high as this. In truth, they wasted chances throughout, but have shown enough quality, endeavour and bravery to suggest they have what it takes to get back into the series.
