Storm Ciarán: another battering for Britain

■ Latest 'weather bomb' brings 100mph winds to South Coast

Southern England and the Channel Islands have been hammered by one of the worst storms in a generation, bringing winds of up to 100mph and causing widespread devastation.

Storm Ciarán damaged thousands of homes and left over 10,000 homes without power in Cornwall alone. Hundreds of schools were forced to close throughout the west country, with damage reported in an area stretching from Land's End to the coast of Kent.

One of the worst-hit areas was Jersey, where dozens of people were evacuated to hotels overnight on Wednesday after gusts of up to 102mph were recorded. Locals were also hit by huge hailstones "bigger than golf balls".

In St Clement, Sharon Mackie Marquer filmed video showing the destruction around her home, with roof tiles littering her garden and the fence knocked over. Cars smashed up by debris and overturned tables can also be seen.

A clip from the same Jersey parish showed Jessica O'Reilly sleeping in bed alongside her baby when the sound of the 'weather bomb' woke her - seconds before the window was blown inwards.

She described the moment her "motherly instinct" kicked in, telling reporters: "We went up to bed and could hear the wind getting stronger and stronger, closer and closer.

"Something didn't seem right, then the windows just smashed in, I grabbed [my daughter] and got out the room.

"I think I just thought 'my baby's in danger, I need to get out' and ran down the stairs."

St Helier-based Carl Walker, the chairman of Jersey's Consumer Council, said his family were woken by hailstones at midnight, which he said had stuck together to create "golf ball-sized lumps of ice".

He explained: "We camped out in our living room downstairs with our children because it was just simply too noisy and too frightening to be upstairs in the bedrooms - tiles were lifting, debris was hitting the roof, windows were flexing.

"The noise of the wind was just incredible and quite frightening. It was like a scene from a disaster movie."

"It looks like we've been hit by a hurricane" one dazed local told news crews.

St Helier was blown apart - but it was even worse on the nearby French coast, which saw winds reach a top speed of 129mph.

'apocalyptic' scenes

Rail links and ferries lines in the area were almost completely cancelled, with over 80 flood warnings issued by local authorities.

No UK deaths have so far been linked to the flooding and wind gusts but countless homes around the country have been severely damaged - with some residents even believing they have been hit by tornadoes - and many still assessing the full scale of the destruction. It follows a series of other flooding incidents in recent weeks.

One yellow weather warning for rain remained in place until Friday evening in eastern Scotland, with the rest of the country no longer covered by any other weather warnings.

The storm caused chaos for drivers too, and the AA, which had a large number of callouts in southern England, said it had rescued 84 customers stuck in floods so far on Thursday. One driver caught in flood water was being treated for hypothermia, it added.

There was also significant disruption at airports, with all flights from Jersey, Guernsey and Alderney cancelled on Thursday.

In Northern Ireland, which is experiencing flooding following heavy rain and weather warnings earlier this week, one assembly member branded the scenes in County Down "apocalyptic", with flood waters "decimating" local businesses.

In France, where 1.2 million people were reported to be without electricity, a lorry driver was killed after being struck by a falling tree. Spain, Belgium and the Netherlands have also been badly hit.

'Boris said Covid was nature's way of dealing with old people'

■ Covid Inquiry hears astounding tales of former PM's callous approach to victims and chaos as Tories struggled to grapple with expanding epidemic

Boris Johnson agreed with some Tory MPs who thought Covid was "nature's way of dealing with old people", the inquiry into the pandemic has been told.

The allegation comes from diary entries by former chief scientific adviser Sir Patrick Vallance.

At one point, the inquiry was shown notes by Sir Patrick, who wrote of his frustrations in dealing with Mr Johnson in his diaries.

In August 2020, Sir Patrick wrote that Mr Johnson was "obsessed with older people accepting their fate and letting the young get on with life and the economy going".

In later notes from December 2020, Sir Patrick wrote that Mr Johnson said his party "thinks the whole thing is pathetic and Covid is just nature's way of dealing with old people - and I am not entirely sure I disagree with them".

Another note from December says Mr Johnson agreed with the Conservative Party's Chief Whip Mark Spencer when he said "we should let the old people get it and protect others".

Johnson also asked "why are we destroying the economy for people who will die anyway soon" in a March 2020 meeting with Rishi Sunak, the Covid inquiry was told.

The claim, branded "horrific" by bereaved families, emerged from notebooks kept by Imran Shafi, Johnson's private secretary for public service.

Brenda Doherty, spokesperson for Covid-19 Bereaved Families for Justice UK, said reading Mr Johnson's messages felt like being "punched in the stomach".

"Why are we destroying the economy for people who will die anyway soon?"

"During the first and second waves of the pandemic the UK had one of the highest death tolls per person in the world from Covid-19 and it's clear just how personally responsible for that he was," Ms Doherty said.

Mr Johnson's spokesman has so far declined to comment on the evidence given at this week's hearings, but says he is "cooperating fully" with the inquiry.

The former prime minister, as well as his successor Rishi Sunak, are due to give evidence to the inquiry later this autumn.

As pro-Palestine marches grow, Home Secretary vows to crack down on 'anti-Jewish hate'

SUELLA Braverman has ordered officials to assess possible changes to terror legislation to crack down on anti-Jewish hate.

The Home Office is understood to be looking at expanding some definitions in existing laws after anger at the way pro-Palestinian demonstrations in England have been policed.

Ministers insist officers have the "robust" powers they need to tackle jihadi-chanting protesters.

But tweaks to laws are being mulled because the Crown Prosecution Service has repeatedly advised police cases cannot be pursued.

Metropolitan Police Commissioner Sir Mark Rowley said about 100 people have been arrested at protests since the Hamas attack on Israel three weeks ago, but officers have been hampered by legal definitions.

He said: "There is scope to be much sharper. The law was never designed to deal with extremism.

"There's a lot to do with terrorism and hate crime but we don't have a body

One of many pro-Palestine marches in the UK this past week....but Government officials are uneasy about the events stoking anti-Semitism of law that deals with extremism and that creates a gap."

Nine were arrested in central London during a mainly peaceful pro-Palestine demonstration on Saturday, attended by at least 100,000 people calling for a ceasefire in the Israel-Hamas war.

Seven of those were alleged public order offences, a number of which were being treated as hate crimes, while two were for suspected assaults on officers.

An unnamed officer required hospital treatment after suffering a gashed head during the protest. The Met Police later shared a photo of the police officer giving a thumbs up from his hospital bed.

Sir Mark said: "There's no point arresting hundreds of people if it's not prosecutable, that's just inflaming things. We will robustly enforce up to the line of the law.

"We're going to be absolutely ruthless and have been and you'll see many more arrests in the next week or so."

Now and Then: 'final' Beatles song released – thanks to AI

■ Fab Four are reunited on track that pieces together performances by the late John Lennon and George Harrison with fresh recordings by Paul McCartney and Ringo Starr

The Beatles have released what is being described as their final new song together, entitled Now and Then.

It completes a series of Lennon-penned songs handed in demo form to Paul McCartney in 1994 by Yoko Ono, with "For Paul" written on the cassette. McCartney and the remaining Beatles created two new songs from the recordings, Free As a Bird and Real Love – each was a Top 5 hit in the UK, with Free As a Bird reaching No 2 in December 1995 and Real Love at No 4 in March 1996.

But the band struggled to complete a song from the demo of Now and Then, and abandoned their attempt. Now, enabled by AI technology that has better isolated John Lennon's vocal from the demo, the song has finally been completed. McCartney and Ringo Starr recorded new parts for it, while the late George Harrison features via guitar parts kept from that shelved 1995 session.

A making-of film was released on Wednesday, which doesn't feature the song itself. Referring to Lennon, Starr says in the film: "It was the closest we'll ever come to having him back in the room."

McCartney explained the difficulties the band faced in 1995: "On John's demo tape, the piano was a little hard to hear. And in those days, of course, we didn't have the technology to do the separation ... we kind of ran out of steam a bit, and time. Now and Then just languished in a cupboard."

He said he had some doubts about making full songs out of Lennon's demos, out of respect for the late songwriter's unfinished work: "Is it something we shouldn't do? Every time I thought like that I thought, wait a minute, let's say I had a chance to ask John: 'Hey John, would you like us to finish this last song of yours?' I'm telling you, I know the answer would have been: 'Yeah!'"

Sir Paul added: "To

Greeted by cheering Kenyans, Charles expresses regret for colonial past

CHEERING Kenyans put on a show fit for a King and Queen as they welcomed Charles and Camilla on the first day of their royal tour on Monday.

The greeting by youngsters at Nairobi's Eastlands Library was just one example of the huge excitement at their visit.

The King and Queen's day was topped off with an eight-course state banquet. Then, Charles tackled colonial Britain's torture and suppression of Mau Mau suspects head-on.

Charles, 74, who has faced calls from activists for a fulsome apology, did not go that far. But he made no bones about disowning the darkest legacy of Empire.

In a speech to 350 guests at Nairobi's

State House, including Kenya's President and First Lady, William and Rachel Ruto, he called the treatment of Kenya's independence fighters from 1952-60 abhorrent and unjustifiable. He recalled his family's visits to Kenya and the fact Prince William proposed to Kate there in 2010.

Charles said: "It is the intimacy of our shared history that has brought our people together. However, we must also acknowledge the most painful times of our long and complex relationship."

"The wrongdoings of the past are a cause of the greatest sorrow and the deepest regret."

"There were abhorrent and unjustifiable acts of violence committed against Kenyans as they waged a painful struggle for independence and sovereignty. And for that, there can be no excuse.

"In coming back to Kenya, it matters greatly to me that I should deepen my own understanding of these wrongs and that I meet some of those whose lives and communities were so grievously affected."

Charles and Queen Camilla, 76, made the first major royal visit to the country since 2013, when Britain expressed "regret" for human rights abuses during the Mau Mau uprising.

The UK also agreed to pay £19.9million in damages and legal costs to 5,228 elderly victims of torture and repression.

The Rutos had earlier given the couple a grand ceremonial welcome at State House, including a 100-strong military parade.

Portuguese cops in apology to Maddie parents

POLICE in Portugal have apologized to the parents of Madeleine McCann for the way detectives investigated their daughter's disappearance and treated the couple.

Madeleine vanished in May 2007 while on holiday with her mum and dad Kate and Gerry McCann after they left the then three-year-old and her younger twin siblings asleep in an apartment in Praia da Luz while they went out to dinner with friends.

A BBC Panorama investigation said a delegation of senior Portuguese officers travelled from Lisbon to London earlier this year, where they met and apologized to Mr McCann.

The detectives said the initial investigation was not handled properly. Insufficient importance was given to missing children at the time, the TV report says, and officers did not properly appreciate the McCanns' position as foreigners in an environment they did not understand.

During questioning of Mr and Mrs McCann in September 2007, detectives made them both "arguidos" – suspects – in their daughter's disappearance.

Their status was later lifted and the inquiry shelved in 2008. In 2012, Met Police detectives said they believed Madeleine could still be alive and released an age-progression image of how she might look aged nine. They called on Portuguese police to reopen the case but the latter did not.

Sir Bobby Charlton died five days after fracturing several ribs in a fall at his dementia care home

Sir Bobby Charlton died five days after fracturing ribs in a fall at his dementia care home, an inquest heard this week.

The England and Man Utd icon lost his balance as he stood up from a chair, hitting a window sill. Staff did not find any visible injuries while giving the World Cup winner a full-body check and his mobility seemed unaffected.

But they later spotted swelling on his back and paramedics were called to The Willows in Knutsford, where Sir Bobby, 86, had been receiving respite care since July.

He was first taken to a local hospital then moved to Macclesfield General, Cheshire Coroner's Court heard.

A chest X-ray and CT scan revealed the football legend had broken his ribs and was likely to develop pneumonia.

Doctors agreed he should be put on end-of-life care there and Sir Bobby passed away on October 21.

He had reportedly been unsteady, especially when getting up from sitting, as a result of living with dementia.

The Warrington inquest was told Sir Bobby had also contracted Covid in September. Care home manager Tamara Simmons said he "needed support with all aspects of daily living".

His bed was close to the ground, with crash mats and motion sensors in place due to his restlessness making him likely to roll off.

memorial service

Senior coroner Jacqueline Devonish on Wednesday ruled that Sir Bobby's death was accidental.

United bosses have said a memorial service will be held at Manchester Cathedral on Monday, November 13, at 2pm. The procession there will pass by the Old Trafford ground where fans will be able to say a final farewell. A private funeral service will follow, for which Sir Bobby's family requested privacy.

Tributes have poured in since he died. The area in front of Old Trafford's Trinity statue, depicting Sir Bobby with teammates George Best and Denis Law, was covered with floral tributes plus memorabilia from countless clubs.

The memorabilia has been relocated to the club museum, to be laid with tributes left by fans after the death of its legendary manager Sir Matt Busby in 1994.

Munich air crash

The second son of a Northumberland miner, Sir Bobby joined United as a schoolboy. One of the Busby Babes, he survived the club's 1958 Munich air crash which killed 23 people, including eight players and three members of staff.

A decade on, he was a key part of the United team that lifted the European Cup in 1968.

He was also central to England's 1966 World Cup win, alongside older brother Jack.

Sir Bobby, who won 106 caps for the Three Lions and scored 49 England goals, was diagnosed with dementia in 2020.

UK to ban XL Bully Dog after string of horrific attacks

FOLLOWING a spate of high-profile attacks and several deaths, the controversial American XL Bully dog breed is to be banned in Britain.

From December 31, it will be an offence to breed, sell, advertise, exchange, gift, rehome, abandon or allow them to go stray in England and Wales. They must also be kept on a lead and muzzled in public. Prime Minister Rishi Sunak described the dogs as a "danger to our communities", but said work needed to be done in order to define the breed.

Last month a woman was injured when she was attacked by her own American XL bully in Brisley, Norfolk. In September, Ian Price, 52, died in hospital after being attacked by two in Stonall, Staffordshire Environment Secretary Therese Coffey said she was adding XL bullies to the list of animals banned under the Dangerous Dogs Act.

She said ministers had taken "quick and decisive action to protect the public from tragic dog attacks". Ms Coffey added: "It will soon become a criminal offence to breed, sell, advertise, rehome or abandon an XL bullytype dog."

"We will continue to work closely with the police, canine and veterinary experts and animal welfare groups as we take forward these important measures."

It will also be illegal to own an XL bully from February 1, unless the animal is on an index of exempted dogs. The two dates have been staggered to allow owners to prepare for the new rules.

Those who want to keep their dogs will have until the end of January to register them on the exemptlist. However, they must still obey strict requirements.

These include microchipping and neutering the dogs and keeping them on a lead and muzzling them in public.

The American Bully was started by crossing the American Pit Bull Terrier with other dogs in the bully breed family and sometimes dogs outside the bully family. The American Bully is becoming its own breed, and is not the same breed as the American Pit Bull Terrier.

AI named Word of the Year

EVERYONE'S talking about artificial intelligence... and now a dictionary has named its AI abbreviation as the word of the year.

Collins experts said AI, which it describes as the "modelling of human mental functions by computer programs", has been dominating conversations in 2023.

Other key words include "nepo baby" – the children of celebrities who have succeeded in industries similar to those of their parents – and "debanking"...depriving people of banking facilities.

Nigel Farage hit the headlines when he claimed his Coutts account was axed by NatWest because his beliefs did not align with the bank.

Also on the list are "ultra-processed" food and "semaglutide" – a medication used to control appetite.

M&S in the doghouse after complaints Xmas ad is suggestive of burning of Palestinian flag

■ Use of red, green and silver party hats burning in the grate was 'tone deaf', claim critics

Marks and Spencer have apologised for 'any unintentional hurt caused' by a now-deleted Instagram post shared as part of their Christmas campaign.

The high street chain earlier shared a picture of a set of party hats that had been thrown into a burning fireplace. However, it sparked a backlash as some social media users pointed out the hats were the colours of the Palestinian flag and branded it 'insensitive' and 'tone deaf.'

M&S said the image was an 'outtake' from their Christmas Clothing and Home advert, which was recorded in August. The full TV advert showed celebrities like actor Hannah Waddingham and Queer Eye star Tan France doing away with some Christmas traditions they don't enjoy, ranging from party hats to board games.

In the post Hannah Waddingham appeared again in a photo wearing a black sparkly dress in front of a decorated tree and fireplace. The second slide of two in the post was a close-up of the fireplace behind her appearing to show several party hats digitally placed into the burning fire.

The caption read "This Christmas, do only what you love... like saying no to paper hats ..."

Replying to the post one commenter wrote: "This is absolutely vile you should be ashamed of yourselves." Another said: "How insensitive and provocative."

In a statement issued on their social media channels, M&S said: "Today we shared an outtake image from our Christmas Clothing and Home Advert, which was recorded in August.

"It showed traditional, festive-coloured red, green, and silver Christmas paper party hats in a fire grate. While the intent was to playfully show that some people just don't enjoy wearing paper Christmas hats over the festive season, we have removed the post following feedback and we apologise for any unintentional hurt caused."

investigation in 2013, Portuguese authorities reopened the case.

The latter also backed German prosecutors who believe convicted sex offender Christian Brueckner, 46, kidnapped and murdered the youngster.

Prosecutor Hans Christian Wolters told Panorama the apology is "a good sign", adding: "It shows in Portugal, there's development in the case."

Brueckner is in prison in his native Germany for raping a woman in Praia da Luz in 2005. He has reportedly denied involvement in Madeleine's disappearance.

Earlier this year, a reservoir in Portugal was searched and items seized after the German prosecutors received "certain tips" about the case.

UK's Festive Season draws nigh: it really IS the most wonderful time of the year!

■ From Trafalgar Square to Blenheim Palace, there's nothing quite like the British celebrating Christmas and New Year

FOR MANY expat Brits, the most wonderful time of year remains Yuletide and New Year, when we get to visit loved ones and enjoy the country at its most magical.

2023 is no different, with Britain gearing up for a season of enchantment that sets the stage for the holidays, New Year's Eve celebrations, and an array of exciting surprises in 2024. Winter paints the country with its unique charm, from the glow of festive lights to the cozy Christmas markets. Visitors can immerse themselves in brand-new holiday experiences, discover the magic of regional events and film locations that make this time of year truly special. Then, as the clock strikes midnight, they can usher in the New Year with a bang, filled with unforgettable celebrations, fireworks, and unique traditions.

Perhaps the most iconic Christmas sight in Britain is the Trafalgar Square Christmas Tree. Every year since 1947 the people of Norway have gifted the people of London a magnificent fir tree in gratitude for Britain's support during World War II.

The tree is usually a Norwegian spruce, at least 60 feet tall and 50 to 60 years old. It is selected from the forests surrounding Oslo with great care several months, even years, in advance. The Norwegian foresters who look after it describe it fondly as 'the queen of the forest'.

The tree is felled in November during a ceremony in which the Lord Mayor of Westminster, the British ambassador to Norway and the Mayor of Oslo participate. It is brought to the UK by sea, then completes its journey by lorry. A specialist rigging team erects it in the square using a hydraulic crane. It is decorated in traditional Norwegian fashion, with vertical strings of lights. Energy-efficient light bulbs are used in the lighting, which will take place on December 1st this year.

The Christmas tree remains in Trafalgar Square until just before the Twelfth Night of Christmas, when it is taken down for recycling. The tree is chipped and composted, to make mulch.

Blenheim magic

Another historic British site is Blenheim Palace in Oxfordshire, ancestral home of the Churchill family, which this year sees the debut of their Illuminated Light Trail and an exquisitely themed Palace interior. The trail brings together a multitude of twinkling lights, seasonal sounds and festive fun. This after-dark trail makes for an unforgettable time, with a glimpse of Father Christmas along the way. Visitors can discover heart-shaped arches glittering in the moonlight, glowing tunnels filled with stars and an eight-metre sphere filled with over 20,000 moving lights (which are just a handful of this year's installations). Once inside the Palace, visitors will see the property transformed to retell the classic fairytale of Sleeping Beauty for a new generation. Each room tells a different chapter in Sleeping Beauty's story and of course there's plenty of festive decorations including a gigantic Christmas Tree in The Great Hall.

On the way to Auroura's candle-lit bed chamber visitors can wander through the Evil Fairy's spooky wooded lair and into the castle frozen in time. Watch out for spinning wheels and fluttering fairies as you follow the Lilac Fairy helping True Love to reawaken in the castle after 100 very sleepy years...

While Blenheim, do not miss the Christmas Market in The Great Court. Held from Friday Nov. 17th to Sunday December 17th, shoppers and foodies can escape the bustle of The High Street and stock-up on festive goodies at this seasonal village of wooden chalets, offering everything from inspired Christmas gift ideas to tasty treats, and if you have worked up an appetite, there is a tempting selection of street food stalls to share with loved ones under the stars.

Trivia takes a week's break

It was one of the most fun occasions in Brits in LA pub quiz history this week when costumed quizzers packed O'Briens for a special Halloween night edition of the trivia game.

While Ted Lasso (right) won the costume contest, it was Non Schwimmer who won the game, the garden gnome trophy and the free drinks.

The quiz takes a rare break next week but quizmaster Sandro

Monetti will be back and every Tuesday after hosting on November 14 that until Christmas.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (844) 477-7869 or visit this Internet Web site WWW.STOXPOSTING.COM, using the file number assigned to this case 090106-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: Effective January 1, 2021, you may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (855) 313-3319, or visit this internet website www.clearreconcorp.com, using the file number assigned to this case 090106-CA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. #### NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF CAROLYN BEUG

Case No. SP005595

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of CAROLYN BEUG

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Lauren Mayer-Beug in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Lauren Mayer-Beug be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Nov. 16, 2023 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 29 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF ELLEN R. KORAK

Case No. 23STPB11875

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of ELLEN R. KORAK

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Denise F. Klein in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Denise F. Klein be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Dec. 1, 2023 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 29 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Nunez stunner rescues Reds

Substitute Darwin Nunez scored a stunner Wednesday night as Liverpool overcame Bournemouth to reach the quarter-finals of the Carabao Cup.

The Uruguayan striker cut in from the left and picked his spot perfectly for the 70th-minute finish, curling the ball with plenty of pace into the top right corner beyond a despairing Ionut Radu.

Cody Gakpo had put Liverpool in front in the first half when he pounced to poke home from close range after Harvey Elliott's volley was parried into his path.

But Bournemouth levelled through Justin Kluivert as he netted his first goal for the club since joining from Roma in the summer. He emerged unmarked at the far post to head home an Alex Scott corner in the 64th minute.

The hosts committed everything to attack during the final 15 minutes. David Brooks and Hamed Traore chanced their arm, but neither could muster an attempt as the Cherries failed to level for a second time.

Liverpool will take on Premier League rivals West Ham, who beat Arsenal 3-1 in the fourth round, in the quarter-finals at Anfield.

Bournemouth are still getting to grips with the philosophy of manager Andoni Iraola, who replaced Gary O'Neil over the summer.

Saturday's 2-1 win against newly promoted Burnley - their first victory of the campaign - was badly needed to move them one point clear of the bottom three.

As enjoyable as a run in the EFL Cup can be, Bournemouth cannot afford to get distracted from the main priority of retaining their spot in the top-flight for a third successive season.

Tomas Soucek had hold of Ramsdale's shirt, but with no VAR at this stage of the League Cup, the complaints of the England international - making his first club appearance since 27 September in the previous round - fell on deaf ears.

Arsenal dominated possession but failed to break through, and they were punished five minutes after the break when Mohammed Kudus beautifully trapped Nayef Aguerd's 50-yard cross-field pass before finishing low through the legs of Gabriel.

West Ham's win was safe shortly before the hour when Bowen collected a poor defensive header from White and fired in a volley from the edge of the area, a deflection off Gabriel's thigh wrongfooting Ramsdale.

Odegaard slotted into the bottom corner with the final kick of the game, but the Gunners' 30-year wait to win the League Cup goes on.

West Ham were much improved from the side that lost their three previous matches, and had been labelled a "shambles" by their own forward, Michail Antonio.

The Hammers are into the quarter-finals for the third successive season, where they will face Liverpool away.

In a week where the size of their kit has been questioned, Manchester United's players could have done with shirts big enough to cover their heads as, for the second game running, they were booed off at the end of both halves.

Ren Hag says the club is "in a bad place" but he still believes he is the right man to stop the downward spiral at Old Trafford.

It was the first time United have lost successive home games by three goals or more since October 1962. They have lost five of their first 10 home games for the first time since 1930-31.

unhappy statistics were accompanied by boos at half-time and the final whistle, just as on Sunday, and bring increased speculation about whether Ten Hag is the right man for the job.

"I understand when the results are not there it is logical they are questioning that," he said.

"But I am confident I can do it. At this moment we are in a bad place and I take responsibility for it.

Toon know-Howe leaves Ten Hag at the brink

CARABAO CUP: Another 3-0 home loss for feeble United as Newcastle run riot

Newcastle United claimed only their second Old Trafford victory over Manchester United since 1972 to avenge their Carabao Cup final defeat at Wembley and pile the pressure on home manager Erik ten Hag.

First-half goals from substitute Miguel Almiron and Lewis Hall, his first for the club, were followed up by a solo effort from Joe Willock on the hour to give Newcastle their biggest away win over their hosts in 93 years as they cruised into the quarter-finals on Wednesday night.

The Toon will travel to Stamford Bridge to take on fellow Premier League side Chelsea, who beat Blackburn 2-0 in the fourth round.

It was another desperate day for Manchester United and Ten Hag, who have lost eight of their opening 15 games for the first time since the 1962-63 season. Coming just three days after they suffered another three-goal home humiliation at the hands of Manchester City, the home side's weaknesses were again cruelly exposed.

Diogo Dalot was replaced at half-time following his failure to track Almiron's right-wing burst for the opener.

Returning Brazilian midfielder Casemiro did not re-appear for the second-half either with Ten Hag evidently unimpressed by the former Real Madrid man.

Hall struck a fine second as he met Harry Maguire's headed clearance with a first-time volley. Willock's effort emulate Hall's by finding the bottom corner after he had been allowed to run 30 yards unchecked cont. on page 19, col. 4

Arteta takes the blame as Arsenal suffer Hammer blow

Arsenal manager Mikel Arteta said "I'm disappointed with myself" after his side were knocked out of the Carabao Cup in the fourth round following a 3-1 defeat by West Ham.

Arteta made six changes to his starting XI on Wednesday night, with Declan Rice, Bukayo Saka and captain Martin Odegaard on the bench.

The Arsenal side selected produced a below-par display - for which Arteta took the blame.

"I'm very disappointed. I'm responsible for that," he said.

"We're out of the Cup, we wanted to play a very different game and compete.

"The game took a direction because of the first goal but we have to see much more from the team and earn the right to win.

"I'm disappointed with myself. We wanted to play in a different way and we weren't able to do that. Every time we lose the pain is there.

"We have to use this pain and this defeat to prepare the best way for Newcastle [in the Premier League] on Saturday."
