

Braverman on the brink after blasting police on Gaza demos

■ Home Secretary accuses the Met of of “playing favourites” with pro-Palestinian protesters

RISHI SUNAK is under growing pressure to fire the Home Secretary after she penned an explosive article accusing police of “playing favourites” with pro-Palestinian protesters, without getting a sign-off from Downing Street in advance.

Just days before a highly-contentious pro-Palestinian rally is set to go ahead in central London amid Remembrance Day ceremonies, Suella Braverman’s words were widely condemned and sparked a fresh row within the Conservative Party, after ministers have in recent days already sought to distance themselves from another broadside by the combative Minister.

In her Times piece ahead of a march calling for a Gaza ceasefire set for Saturday, the Home Secretary said “pro-Palestinian mobs” are “largely ignored” by officers “even when clearly breaking the law”.

The article was submitted to Downing Street, but did not get signed off as significant alterations were requested, it was understood.

The piece was published nonetheless.

“The content was not agreed by No 10,” the Prime Minister’s official spokesman said on Thursday.

Contradicting Mrs Braverman’s claims of police bias, the official said: “The Prime Minister continues to believe that the police will operate without fear or favour.”

But Mr Sunak still has full confidence in the Home Secretary, the spokesman said.

He declined to offer judgement on whether she broke the ministerial code, which states that “all major interviews and media appearances, both print and broadcast, should also be agreed with the No 10 Press Office”.

Downing Street said it would “update further” after looking into the “details” of what happened.

Mrs Braverman’s office would not say if she gained clearance, with a source close to her saying: “We don’t comment on internal processes.”

‘find his backbone’

The Prime Minister is facing calls from opposition parties to sack Mrs Braverman over the “irresponsible” and “divisive” remarks which they say fan the risk of unrest this weekend.

Sir Keir Starmer said of Mr Sunak: “He’s got a Home Secretary who is out of control and he is too weak to do anything about it.”

The Labour leader, speaking during a visit to Wolverhampton, said Mrs Braverman was “stoking up tension at the very time we should be trying to reduce tension”.

“She is doing the complete opposite of what I think most people in this country would see as the proper role of the Home Secretary.”

Lib Dem leader Sir

Ed Davey said: “This is a situation of the Prime Minister’s own making. He appointed her knowing she had previously broken the ministerial code yet he was too scared to stand up to her.”

“What more will it take for the Prime Minister to do the right thing? It is time for us to move past her pathetic failings and for her to go. Rishi Sunak needs to find his backbone and sack her.”

Rishi Sunak vows to hold Metropolitan Police chief 'accountable' for allowing pro-Palestinian protest on Armistice Day

Rishi Sunak has said he will hold the chief of the Metropolitan Police "accountable" for allowing a pro-Palestinian demonstration to go ahead on Armistice Day.

The prime minister met Sir Mark Rowley to discuss the planned protest, which is set to go ahead on 11 November.

Sir Mark pulled out of a Q&A event with the Institute for Government to make the meeting.

It comes a day after he resisted pressure heaped on the force by politicians to try and block the protest, which will call for a ceasefire in the Gaza Strip.

Speaking during a visit to a school in Lincolnshire on Wednesday, the prime minister said: "This is a decision that the Metropolitan Police commissioner has made.

"He has said that he can ensure that we safeguard remembrance for the country this weekend as well as keep the public safe.

"Now, my job is to hold him accountable for that."

Sir Mark said the demonstration on Saturday would go ahead because the "legal threshold" to stop it on security grounds "had not

Sir Mark Rowley: the Met chief said there was no sign that Saturday's planned march would turn violent been met".

The commissioner said people "should be very reassured that we're going to keep this away from the remembrance and armistice events" - but legally, there was "no mechanism to ban a gathering, a static protest".

Downing Street denied seeking to put pressure on the Met, which is operationally independent, insisting the meeting is about "seeking assurances" that their approach is "robust".

PM 'picking a fight'

Labour leader Sir Keir Starmer said while remembrance events should be respected, "the person the PM needs to hold accountable is his home secretary".

"Picking a fight with

The prime minister's comments come after Steve Barclay, the health secretary, said 11 November was the "wrong day" for protest action in London calling for a ceasefire in Gaza. But the police say they can protect remembrance events.

the police instead of working with them is cowardice," he said on X.

Tens of thousands have demonstrated in London in recent weeks over Palestinian deaths in the Israel-Hamas war, with 29 arrests during a fourth week of protests last Saturday, during which fireworks were thrown.

Organisers of this Saturday's protest say it will be "well away" from the Cenotaph - going from Hyde Park to the US embassy - and it won't start until after the 11am silence.

Police can ask the home secretary to approve a ban under the Public Order Act if they believe there will be serious public disorder, serious criminal damage, or serious disruption to the community.

However, Sir Mark said the use of this power is "incredibly rare" and must be reserved for cases where there is intelligence to suggest a "real threat" of trouble.

In a statement, he said: "The organisers have shown complete willingness to stay away from the Cenotaph and Whitehall and have no intention of disrupting the nation's remembrance events.

"Should this change, we've been clear we will use powers and conditions available to us to protect locations and events of national importance at all costs."

Leave Lebanon Now!

British nationals urged to leave Israel's neighbor as Gaza conflict threatens to escalate into a wider war

BRITISH nationals have been urged to leave Lebanon amid mounting fears that the Israel-Hamas conflict in Gaza could escalate into a Middle East war.

The Foreign Office advice came after Hezbollah terrorists in Lebanon fired rockets into Israel following an Israeli air strike that killed a woman and three young girls.

A number of rockets hit the northern Israeli town of Kiryat Shmona near the Lebanese border on Sunday, Israel said.

As tensions escalated, the Foreign Office withdrew some embassy staff from Lebanon and advised Britons: "If you are currently in Lebanon, we encourage you to leave now while commercial options remain available.

"Commercial routes out of Lebanon could be severely disrupted or cancelled at short notice and roads across the country closed."

A statement on the FCDO website added: "There are ongoing mortar and artillery exchanges and air strikes in south Lebanon on the boundary with Israel.

"Tensions are high and events could escalate with little warning, which could affect or limit exit routes. There is also a risk of civil unrest.

"There have been large protests outside embassies, including the US and French embassies. Further protests are expected. British nationals should exercise caution and avoid areas where demonstrations may be held. Due to the security situation, some staff at the British embassy and all family members of staff have been temporarily withdrawn.

"The embassy continues with essential work including services to British nationals."

Hamas operatives fired 16 rockets from Lebanon towards northern Israel, the Palestinian group's armed wing announced, saying they targeted areas near the Israeli coastal city of Haifa.

The Ezzedine al-Qassam Brigades said the strikes came "in response to the [Israeli] occupation's massacres and its aggression against our people in the Gaza Strip".

The Israeli army, meanwhile, reported that about 30 projectiles had been fired at northern Israel from Lebanon, adding that it fired back at the direction from which they had been launched.

Hamas, which is allied with Lebanon's Iran-backed Shiite group Hezbollah, has a number of fighters in south Lebanon and has previously claimed attacks on Israel from there.

Since October 7, at least 81 people – including 59 Hezbollah fighters – have been killed on the Lebanese side in cross-border skirmishes, according to an AFP tally. Mark Regev, a senior adviser to Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, said: "Hamas's twin sister in Lebanon, also funded and armed by Iran, could create a crisis and exploit the situation in Gaza and start a northern front."

"Israel does not want to fight a war on two fronts. We prefer to be able to concentrate on Hamas in Gaza but if Hezbollah does initiate a wider conflict, we are ready."

"And if Hamas took us by surprise on October 7, we paid in blood for the fact that we were not ready for them."

"I can tell Hezbollah: Israel is mobilised and if Hezbollah is...crazy enough to start a war, then we are ready to respond expeditiously and decisively."

Monarch's tribute to 'beloved' late Queen

KING Charles paid tribute to Queen Elizabeth II's service and devotion during his State Opening speech on Tuesday.

Addressing MPs and peers in the House of Lords, the King remembered his mother who died aged 96 in September 2022.

He said: "It is mindful of the legacy of service and devotion to this country set by my beloved mother, the late Queen, that I deliver this, the first King's Speech in over 70 years."

King Charles spoke of how Covid and the Ukraine war have created

"challenges" for the UK, adding the priority of his government is to make "difficult but necessary" decisions for the country.

Wearing the Imperial State Crown, the King followed in the footsteps of the late Queen, who spoke warmly of her father when she opened Parliament for the first time in November 1952.

The last speech read by a King was in 1950, when George VI spoke amid the country's involvement in the Korean War.

Too ill to open Parliament the following year, his speech was read out by the Lord Chancellor. George died in February 1952, with his eldest daughter, Elizabeth, taking to the throne.

Charles, 74, stepped in for his mother in May last year when she struggled with health issues.

Queen Camilla, 76, sat beside the King during his speech to the House, his first as king.

For the occasion, she wore her Bruce Oldfield dress, also worn to the Coronation.

Camilla also wore Queen Elizabeth II's Diamond Diadem, which the late monarch also wore to her own Coronation in 1953.

Sweet Sorrow: Caramac and Animal Bar to be axed

TWO staple sweeties of the British childhood are on the way out.

Caramac and Animal Bar are to be discontinued by Nestlé after more than 60 years. The former, a gold-coloured confectionery, hit the shelves in the UK in 1959 after it was first rolled out by its original creator, Mackintosh's.

Its distinct name is a mix of the words "caramel" and "Mackintosh's".

Four years later, in 1963, the Animal Bar – a milk chocolate bar which has two different animals moulded on the surface – launched.

However, Nestlé, which brought the Mackintosh brand as part of a takeover in 1998, says that sales of both bars have "steadily declined" over the past few years. The company has now decided to pull the bars from production completely.

In a statement, Nestlé said: "We are very sorry to disappoint fans of Caramac.

"There has been a steady decline in its sales over the past few years and unfortunately, we had to make the difficult decision to discontinue it.

"We know fans will be disappointed to see it go, but this change will enable us to focus on our best-performing brands, as well as develop exciting new innovations to delight consumers' taste buds."

Nestlé also told Sky News that the Animal Bar will also be discontinued "due to the low performance of the product and a decline in sales" in recent years.

End of the line for Ford Fiesta drives surge in Essex car thefts

"It's been around so long. Everyone has either had one, or knows someone who has had one - your nan has one, your mum has one, you've been brought home from hospital in one..."

A surge in thefts of Fiesta car parts in Essex has been blamed on Ford's decision to discontinue production, police have said.

Officers issued a warning after more than 100 of the cars were stolen in October around the county, where the car has long been a driver favorite.

Most of the cars stolen were in Thurrock, Basildon, Rochford and Southend.

Geoff Sandford said thieves took a car from his home in Rayleigh at about 01:00 GMT on 26 October.

"We woke up at 07:00 and the car had gone," he said. "We looked at our CCTV cameras, they turned up at around three minutes past 01:00 GMT, just strolled up to the car and all lights came on from our CCTV cameras and security lights, they wandered around the car, unlocked it and strolled off."

The thieves then appeared to drive around the block before driving off in the stolen car with another car following them down the road.

A spokesperson for Essex Police said: "This particular Ford model is Launched in 1976 in response to the oil crisis, the thrifty Ford Fiesta remained a firm favorite among British drivers for almost 50 years being targeted by thieves across the county.

"We are urging Fiesta owners to ensure they have adequate security on their vehicles.

'very fashionable'

"The thieves are believed to be stripping the cars suggesting they expect there could be a shortage of spares."

Dale Browning, from the Fiesta Centre, an independent dealer in Colchester, said the car remained very popular and that could be a reason behind the thefts.

He said: "I think it's just Fiesta is very fashionable at the moment and will sell very easily on second hand market."

Mr Browning usually has about 20 Fiestas in stock at his garage in Colchester, which specialises in selling used, low-mileage cars.

Today he only has nine for sale, because, he says, the interest has gone "through the roof".

He owns a 1999 T-reg 1.25 Fiesta Ghia, which had one previous driver who clocked a modest 11,000 miles when she handed over the keys.

"It's obviously a sad day," he says.

"Anyone with any heart would have continued to make them and we would have liked it to make its half century.

"It's been around so long. Everyone has either had one, or knows someone who has had one - your nan has one, your mum has one, you've been brought home from hospital in one - it's a family name."

The last Ford Fiesta rolled off the production line in July, bringing to an end almost 50 years of history which made it the UK's best-selling car.

First manufactured in 1976 it became an instant hit with those wanting smaller, more efficient cars.

More than 22 million have been produced globally.

'Lonely no more', Fiona the sheep airlifted to sanctuary

FIONA, once dubbed 'Britain's loneliest sheep', is happily settling in at her new home after being smuggled in under cover of darkness to dodge protesters.

The ewe was rescued on Saturday after being stranded for two years 250ft down on the foot cliffs on the Cromarty Firth in the Scottish Highlands.

But plans to move her to tourist attraction Dalscone Farm near Dumfries outraged welfare campaigners.

Animal Rising argued Fiona did not deserve "to be turned into a spectacle" and petitioned to move her to a sanctuary.

Activists also demonstrated outside Dalscone Farm. Farmer Ben Best said family and staff were "intimidated" by drones flown over the site and campaigners holding "Free Fiona" placards at the gates.

Fiona was secretly moved to Ben's on Sunday – and away from visitors.

He said she was "super-chilled" and insisted: "We're known worldwide for our animal care. The world's loneliest sheep is lonely no more."

Fiona was winched to safety by shearer Cammy Wilson and pals after a kayaker spotted her two years apart. Cammy, who sheared 20lb of her wool for charity, said: "I've never worked with a sheep as calm as her."

Scarborough named the retirement capital of the UK

THE retirement capital of the UK is Scarborough, with almost one in three residents aged 65 or older, official figures show.

The North Yorkshire town is one of a number of coastal havens sought out by pensioners.

North Norfolk – in particular the area bordering the Broads, where 34% of the population is 65-plus – is the most popular district destination for retirees.

That's followed by the district of Rother (33%) – the home of Camber, Rye and Battle on the East Sussex coast – and East Lindsey (31%) in Lincolnshire.

An analysis of data from the Office for National Statistics highlights the impact of the nation's rapidly growing older population.

In more than half of local authorities (52%) at least a fifth of the population is 65 and over.

This compares with just a third (34%) 10 years ago.

Yet while 28% of those living in Scarborough are older than 65, retirees make up just 10% of the population of Manchester, as the older generation leave the stresses of city life behind.

In the London borough of Tower Hamlets only 6% of residents are 65 and over.

The study, by the equity release mortgage specialist Responsible Life, shows how Britain's ageing population has resulted in an explosion of retirement hotspots.

Conwy (27%) in north Wales and Chichester (27%) in West Sussex are two other towns where more than a quarter of residents are pensioners.

Taking 65 as the average retirement age today, the ONS figures show that in 1998 those aged 65-plus accounted for one in six of the population (16%).

GOLDEN OLDIES: one in three of the Yorkshire coastal town's residents is aged 65 or older, drawn by modest costs, plentiful amenities and a bustling local harbor

This had risen to almost one in five by 2021 (19%). And by 2050, forecasts suggest that the over-65s will account for a quarter of the population, while those aged 85 and over are projected by the ONS to make up 5% of the population.

Steve Wilkie, executive chairman of Responsible Life, said: "There has been an explosion in the number of areas where retirees account for a much greater than average proportion of the population.

"Many pensioners are evidently making more deliberate decisions about where they want to live in retirement, reflecting a generational shift in behaviour.

"The older generation is defying traditional stereotypes.

"They remain youthful in spirit, possess considerable purchasing power, and are cognisant of their extended life expectancy compared with previous generations.

"Entire industries have adapted to meet their needs, providing them with an unprecedented array of choices."

The current average retirement age for a man is 65 and for a woman 64, according to the latest Government figures.

Braverman:

inspector of constabulary Sir Tom Winsor said Mrs Braverman's intervention "crosses the line" by breaking the convention that a Home Secretary should not question the operational integrity of the police.

He told BBC Radio 4's Today programme: "It's contrary to the spirit of the ancient constitutional settlement with the police, I think it's contrary to the letter of that constitutional settlement.

"And it is highly regrettable that it has been made.

"These political objections can be made by many, many people, but a Home Secretary of all people is not the person to do this."

In the Commons, shadow home secretary Yvette Cooper accused Mrs Braverman of "encouraging extremists on all sides" and "attacking the police when she should be backing them".

Writing in The Times, Mrs Braverman said "there is a perception that senior police officers play favourites when it comes to protesters".

She said: "Right-wing and nationalist protesters who engage in aggression are rightly met with a stern response yet pro-Palestinian mobs displaying almost identical behaviour are largely ignored, even when clearly breaking the law."

One fellow Conservative MP, speaking on condition of anonymity, said Ms Braverman's actions were sparked by what he described as her 'naked ambition' to succeed Mr Sunak following next year's expected general election.

"With our mob (the Tories) trailing in the polls by double digits, everyone expects Keir Starmer to be in No. 10 by this time next year," he said. "She (Braverman) is simply planting her flag to be first in line to replace Rishi when that happens."

Die Hard as a Stage Musical? Yippee-Ki-Yay!

In celebration of the ultimate action film's 35th anniversary, a stage version of Die Hard is coming to Los Angeles this December – and it's a musical.

What's more, a charity single from the soundtrack is being released in a bid to reach the number one spot in the Christmas charts.

And the driving forces behind this double festive treat are director Sandro Monetti and some fellow Brits in LA.

Actor Niek Versteeg (from BBC series Wolfblood) plays hero John McClane and West End stage star Lauren Samuels (Over the Rainbow, Grease, We Will Rock You) is his wife Holly in A Very Die Hard Christmas, which opens December 10 at Theatre 40 in Beverly Hills, just around the corner from the building used as the film's setting, Nakatomi Plaza. Tickets for the parody musical are available now at www.theatre40.org.

Niek also sings the accompanying single, country pop song 'I'm John McClane,' from which proceeds go to charities leading the fight against Aphasia, a condition afflicting Die Hard star Bruce Willis. The record, written by Flynn/Hooper is out on November 10 and you can watch the music video – which reimagines Die Hard as a western - on YouTube.

Sandro Monetti, director of the show and the video, said: "Both projects are about finding the hero within yourself when times get tough. But the real message here is putting a smile on people's faces and celebrating the best Christmas movie of all time – and yes, Die Hard is a Christmas film."

Produced by Raymund King, Brina Palencia and Josey Wells, A Very Die Hard Christmas also features a score by Brits in LA member Elizabeth Rossi and a hugely talented cast and crew of Los Angeles based performers and creators ready to make this the new must-see show of Christmas, Yippee-Ki-Yay!

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: It's time to make space in your life for better days ahead. However, with Mars in intense Scorpio you can only expect to make progress if you are upfront about what the real problem is.

TAURUS: You have a lot going for you, however patience is required. The current situation will change soon and life will go on. Jupiter going forward in your life will likely give you an overall boost.

GEMINI: Whatever your life looks like now your boss Mercury is soon going to assist you in making changes. If you resist (and you could) he will nudge you to reflect before you take action.

CANCER: The positive visit of Mars in your cousin sign this week will likely bring up something on hold for sometime past. Do not allow others to push you to make decisions before you are ready.

LEO: Do not be on the defensive when the other party does not respond in the way you want. It is not personal. You have to let go of past hurts there is nothing to be gained from holding on to the past.

VIRGO: It's best to not worry over things over which you have no control. There are unfinished items on your agenda, so try to catch up and Mercury your boss going forward in your financial area will help.

LIBRA: Now that Mercury is giving your finances a boost (or will) by mid-month, you can then expect to see some plans come to fruition. Something worth getting your teeth into will also come forward.

SCORPIO: The best way to handle an emotional situation is to not overreact. You will see the other side of this if you let it take its own course. A financial problem can be resolved if you stick to your rights. Happy Birthday!

SAGITTARIUS: Make the most of the change of direction in life now. It's good to get rid of stuff mentally or physically for better days ahead. Your boss Jupiter is in a good mood now and can sort a lot of old problems out.

CAPRICORN: Pluto just moved forward in your life and he will be ready for action next week. You do not have to over-extend yourself in order to see the ongoing progress in your life.

AQUARIUS: You should be enjoying living with a lot of changes lately. Life will continue to bring lots of new opportunities, however, remember to practice patience.

PISCES: Keep a low profile until later this month. You can achieve many things you are hoping for by then. Nothing is set in stone; so be flexible.

Why you need dental insurance in retirement.

Medicare doesn't pay for dental care.<sup>1</sup>
 As good as Medicare is, it was never meant to cover everything. If you want protection, you need to purchase individual insurance.

Early detection can prevent small problems from becoming expensive ones.
 The best way to avoid large dental bills is preventive care. Experts recommend checkups twice a year.

Previous dental work can wear out.
 Your odds of having a dental problem only go up as you age.<sup>2</sup>

Treatment is expensive — especially the services people over 50 often need.
 Unexpected bills, like $189 for a filling, or $1,219 for a crown<sup>3</sup> can be a real burden, especially if you're on a fixed income.

When you're comparing plans ...

- ▶ Look for coverage that helps pay for major services.
- ▶ Look for coverage with no deductibles.
- ▶ Shop for coverage with no annual maximum on cash benefits.

Simply put — without dental insurance, there may be an important gap in your healthcare coverage.

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of ELLEN R. KORAK

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Denise F. Klein in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Denise F. Klein be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Dec. 1, 2023 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 29 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012 IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. The match turned on Rashford's 42nd minute dismissal

Blunderful Copenhagen no fairy tale for United

CHAMPIONS LEAGUE: 4-3 loss leaves ten Hag's men circling the drain

Manchester United's faltering season suffered another significant blow Wednesday night as Marcus Rashford's red card contributed to a dramatic, qualification-damaging Champions League defeat by FC Copenhagen.

In a wild and wonderful contest in the Danish capital, United showed guile and grit for periods and twice looked to have claimed a crucial win before succumbing late on to a goal from 17-year-old substitute Rooney Bardghji.

They were cruising midway through the first half thanks to Rasmus Hojlund's double against his hometown club - both close-range finishes from a striker knowing exactly where he needed to be and when.

But the game turned in the 42nd minute when referee Donatas Rumsas was called to the pitchside monitor to review a late tackle by Rashford on the ankle of Elias Jelert, and responded by showing the forward a straight red card.

With 13 minutes added, largely as a result of an injury to United defender Jonny Evans and a medical emergency in the crowd, the home side took advantage through Mohamed Elyounoussi's finish and Diogo Goncalves' penalty - awarded for a handball by Harry Maguire.

United defied their numerical disadvantage to hold the home side at bay, before again claiming the lead through Bruno Fernandes' penalty - awarded via VAR for a handball by Lukas Lerager.

But the home side were not to be denied. Lerager made amends and drew them level with a back-post effort, before Bardghji hammered home after United failed to clear.

While United are down, they are not yet out, although they do sit bottom of Group A and face a trip to Galatasaray - where they have never won - before hosting the already-qualified Bayern Munich. In contrast to United's 1-0 win at Old Trafford two weeks ago, it was the Danes dancing deliriously after a late show of strength.

They are now second in the group, leaving United with it all to do to keep their Champions League hopes alive.

Confident Villa go marching on Aston Villa all but sealed qualification to the Europa Conference League knockout stages as Ollie Watkins' late winner helped his side come from behind to beat AZ Alkmaar 2-1 at Villa Park.

Watkins raced on to Douglas Luiz's chipped pass to nod Villa in front in the 81st minute on Thursday night.

Vangelis Pavlidis had scored AZ Alkmaar's opener early in the second half, latching on to a ball over the top and dinking a finish over Villa keeper Emiliano Martinez.

Diego Carlos equalised for Villa nine minutes later when he rose highest to meet Leon Bailey's corner and nod in his first goal for the club.

The result means Villa need just one more point from their final two matches to reach the knockout stages of the Conference League.

They remain second in the group, six points above Zrinjski Mostar, who are ahead of AZ on goal difference.

"The reaction after we conceded was fantastic," said Aston Villa manager Unai Emery.

"We have to be strong and take experiences like tonight to know how to win in Europe against really good teams."

Liverpool setback leaves Klopp fuming

EUROPA LEAGUE: JURGEN KLOPP was left fuming Thursday night after his Liverpool side were stunned in Toulouse.

Just two weeks after a thumping 5-1 win at Anfield over a side just one point above the Ligue 1 relegation play-off place, the Reds produced a subpar performance in a 3-2 defeat.

While Liverpool were left aggrieved by a late Jarell Quansah equaliser being disallowed for handball following a lengthy and confusing VAR check, Klopp said the primary reason for the loss was their own performance.

Attempting to conduct his post-match interview in a media tent outside Stadium de Toulouse, Liverpool manager Jurgen Klopp was annoyed by the noise of the home fans. "We were as organised as this press conference - pretty chaotic," said a visibly angry Klopp, as Toulouse supporters chanted and banged on the tent.

The bedlam left Klopp struggling to hear questions or translations from the interpreter, after Uefa allowed the media conference to take place outside the ground.

Despite making nine changes to the team which started the draw at Luton Town in the Premier League on Sunday, Liverpool's XI featured plenty of first-team strength - including Luis Diaz, starting his first match following the release of his father by kidnappers in Colombia.

Liverpool's bench was particularly eye-catching, Mohamed Salah, Dominik Szoboszlai and Trent Alexander-Arnold all came on at half-time - but made little impact.

Darwin Nunez was introduced when the visitors pulled the score back to 2-1, while Diogo Jota was thrown on with 10 minutes of normal time to play, and found the net to make it 3-2.

Yet even a point would have flattered Liverpool, for whom the defeat could have been even worse had Thijs Dallinga not had two goals ruled out for a foul and offside respectively.

Liverpool lacked flow and created few clear-cut chances until the frantic final minutes.

The peak of the chaos

Kostas Tsimikas was caught in possession by Aron Donnum, who went on to score the opener for Toulouse came seven minutes into stoppage time when Toulouse failed on multiple occasions to clear their lines, allowing young centre half Quansah to seemingly slam home his first senior goal.

But several phases earlier in the move, the ball had ricocheted off Alexis Mac Allister's chest into his arm.

Bulgarian referee Georgi Kabakov had already pointed to the centre circle, seemingly indicating 'check complete' - but then was called to the VAR screen, and subsequently disallowed the goal.

"I only saw the video back now and for me it's not a handball - but how can I decide that?" said Klopp.

Former Liverpool players were angered, including Steve McManaman on television co-commentary, while Sky pundit Jamie Carragher reposted his own comment on X from Wednesday night, describing VAR as a "disgrace".

Hammers on brink of knockout stage

Lucas Paqueta's excellent finish 17 minutes from time gave West Ham victory in their Europa League encounter Thursday night with Greek side Olympiakos, sending them to the brink of the knockout stages.

Paqueta lit up what had been a largely drab contest at the London Stadium when he perfectly met James Ward-Prowse's chipped cross into the penalty area and sent his volley into the corner.

Although the goal was initially ruled out for offside, the Brazilian put his hands together in prayer, which was rewarded when video assistant referee confirmed Paqueta had been onside as Ward-Prowse delivered the crucial pass.

The win, avenged West Ham's loss to the same opponents in Athens a fortnight ago, which marked the end of an

Paqueta's quality was the difference between the two sides on Thursday night at the London Stadium impressive 17-match unbeaten run for David Moyes' side in Europe.

"It's good to get back on track. Olympiakos are a seasoned European team and they showed that tonight," said Hammers boss Moyes.

"We're top of the group, we still have two matches to play but I think this is the hardest group we've had. Europe has been great for this football club, we've had some great nights and long may they continue.

"He [Lucas Paqueta] took the goal brilliantly tonight but there were lots of things I wanted him to do better. We've got room for improvement."

The result means West Ham remain above German rivals Freiburg at the head of Group A based on their head-to-head record, knowing two points from their final two games will be enough to ensure Europa League action after Christmas.

Victory was not achieved without a late scare as Mady Camara hit the woodwork when he should have done better with a stooping header at the far post.
