ARMS TO ISRAEL WILL CONTINUE - CAMERON

Foreign Secretary affirms UK support for anti-Hamas offensive ...but eyebrows are raised after meeting with Trump at Mar-A-Lago

Foreign Secretary Lord Cameron has confirmed that UK arms sales to Israel will not be suspended.

The announcement follows mounting pressure on the government over its weapons trade with Israel, after an air strike which killed aid workers and the ongoing humanitarian crisis in Gaza.

Ministers have been asked whether legal advice deems Israel to have breached international humanitarian law.

If proved, it could ultimately bar arms sales from the UK.

On 8 March, Lord Cameron said he would get new advice on the issue "in the coming days".

Earlier on Tuesday, at a State Department news conference in Washington, Lord Cameron was asked why, a month later, there had still been no announcement on a decision. He confirmed he had now reviewed the "most recent advice" about Israeli conduct, saying: "The latest assessment leaves our position on export licences unchanged."

Lord Cameron said: "Let me be clear, though, we continue to have to have grave concerns around the humanitarian access issue in Gaza, both for the period that was assessed and subsequently."

"So far, no like-minded countries have taken the decision to suspend existing arms export licences to Israel and I'd add that Israel remains a vital defensive security partner to the UK," he added.

But Labour's shadow foreign secretary, David Lammy, suggested the government's position was "simply not good enough".

is still hiding from scrutiny, by stating that arms sales will continue without even publishing a summary of the legal advice or offering any rationale behind his decision", he said.

Secretary of State Anthony Blinken, speaking alongside Cameron,, said the US had not been given a date by Israel for its threatened ground offensive into the city of Rafah. The Biden administration has repeatedly said it opposes a full-scale assault on the city, which is home to 1.4 million displaced Palestinians.

Israel's Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has said he has set a date for an operation but has not clarified exactly when that is. Israel says it is targeting four Hamas battalions that remain in Rafah.

Mr Blinken said the US

was having "an ongoing conversation with Israel about any Rafah operation".

Lord Cameron was also asked to divulge the details of his dinner with former President Donald Trump on Monday, which he dismissed saying it was a "private meeting".

The pair dined at Mr Trump's Florida estate Mar-a-Lago, and Lord Cameron said they "discussed a range of important geopolitical subjects".

He argued there was precedent for foreign secretaries to meet opposition candidates during visits abroad.

Lord Cameron has previously criticised Mr Trump, who is the presumptive nominee for the Republican Party in the US presidential election in November.

Mr Trump, and his supporters within the party, oppose the US package providing aid to Ukraine.

Lord Cameron has been urging Republicans for some time to approve the aid package, particularly angering Republican congresswoman and Trump loyalist Marjorie Taylor-Greene, who previously told the foreign secretary to "kiss my ass".

She was responding to an article written by the foreign secretary, in which he warned the US against showing "the weakness displayed against [Nazi Germany leader Adolf] Hitler in the 1930s".

China accused of counterfeiting Royal Mail postage stamps

■ Minister says he will work with business to investigate
 ■ China dismisses suggestion of state role as 'absurd'

The Post Office minister, Kevin Hollinrake, has called on Royal Mail to investigate allegations that factories in China are mass-producing fake British stamps for export.

Use of a counterfeit stamp can result in a £5 fine but realistic fakes are being sold online and bought unwittingly by the public and smaller retailers.

Four Chinese suppliers offering to print up to 1m counterfeit Royal Mail stamps a week for as little as 4p each were identified by a leading British newspaper this week. And The Mail also reported seeing Chinese websites offering sheets of 50 counterfeit stamps for buyers willing to commit to a minimum purchase of 20,000. The stamps included an imitation of the new barcodes.

The apparent scale of the operation has prompted the suggestion that this may be sanctioned by the Chinese state and intended as a form of "economic warfare".

Hollinrake said he would work with Royal Mail and retailers to investigate. He told the Mail: "It is key to prevent counterfeit stamps entering our supply chain in the UK. The Royal Mail must do everything possible to prevent counterfeits entering our circulation and must establish where they are coming from and how they are entering our marketplace."

Alan Mendoza, of the Henry Jackson Society, a neoconservative thinktank, told the Telegraph: "It is inconceivable that a large-scale counterfeit operation like this could be occurring without the knowledge and therefore tacit approval of the Chinese Communist party. It's an obvious form of economic warfare."

Fake stamps are becoming so realistic that even figures at the Royal

"ECONOMIC WARFARE": Even Royal Mail experts have trouble telling them apart

Mail admit they find it hard to tell the difference on sight. David Gold, the director of external affairs and policy at Royal Mail, told BBC One's Watchdog programme: "The reality is counterfeiters are now so good at what they do that even I – and I work for Royal Mail – I can't tell the difference just by looking at them."

The fakes are often entering the supply chain via smaller shops which are not required to buy directly from Royal Mail and instead source from wholesalers in bulk. According to the Telegraph, the fakes are sold on widely used online stores as well as websites that mimic the official Royal Mail site. Stamps bought directly from the Post Office are not affected as these are all made in a factory in Wolverhampton.

Royal Mail added barcodes to stamps in 2022 as it was losing tens of millions of pounds every year to counterfeits.

'We can't tolerate this'

■ Three arrested after young activists demonstrate at Labour leader's London home, urging him to support arms embargo on Israel

Rishi Sunak has condemned pro-Palestine protesters who have staged a demonstration outside Keir Starmer's house.

The demonstrators called on the Labour leader to support an arms embargo on Israel. The group, called Youth Demand, hung a banner outside Starmer's home that read "Starmer stop the killing" surrounded by red hand prints, and laid rows of children's shoes at his front door.

The protesters said in a video on X that weapons being manufactured in the UK were being "used to cause genocide".

The Metropolitan police said three people were arrested on Tuesday under section 42 of the Criminal Justice and Police Act 2001, a power designed to "stop the harassment of a person at their home address".

Sunak, whose home in North Yorkshire was targeted by climate protesters last year, said such incidents would not be tolerated. In a post on X, the prime minister said: "I don't care what your politics are, no MP should be harassed at their own home.

"We cannot and will not tolerate this."

James Cleverly, the home secretary, said on X: "This is unacceptable. There is no excuse for harassing and intimidating politicians and their families in their homes."

The government is under pressure to publish the legal advice it has received on whether Israel is violating international humanitarian law in Gaza. Several Conservative MPs and grandees called on ministers to stop arming Israel after three British aid workers were killed by Israeli airstrikes in the region.

Starmer has urged the

government to publish its legal advice. David Lammy, the shadow foreign secretary, said arms sales should be halted if there has been a "serious breach" of international law.

In a statement from Youth Demand, Ella Ward, a 21-year-old participant in the demonstration, said: "In normal circumstances it would be seen as crossing a line to show up at someone's house, but these are not normal circumstances and we can't continue with business as usual.

"I'm taking action to call on Starmer to commit to stopping the killing."

The Met deputy assistant commissioner, David Adelekan, said: "Politicians and their families should be able to go about their daily lives without feeling threatened or intimidated.

"It's completely unacceptable for protest to take place in the vicinity of a politician's home. There are plenty of appropriate places to protest in London, anyone who chooses to target a private home can expect to be dealt with by officers.

On Monday Youth Demand sprayed Labour's headquarters with red paint, and later said that 11 people had been arrested in relation to that incident.

Scotland's controversial anti-hate crime law continues to draw flak

- Only 3.8% of hate crime law complaints authentic so far, says Police Scotland
- Neo-Nazi and other far right groups behind a flood of vexatious complaints

SCOTLAND'S controversial new hate crime law spurred further criticism this week as it emerged that a police hotline to report such incidents had been flooded with fake calls.

Police Scotland has said only a small number of the thousands of reports lodged so far under the act were authentic.

The force released data showing 3.8% of the 7,152 complaints it received in the first week the hate crime act was in force were judged to be legitimate. Two hundred and forty complaints were logged as hate crimes and 30 as non-hate incidents.

The figures follow a bitter dispute over the justification for the Hate Crime and Public Order (Scotland) Act. It seeks to criminalise hatred towards minority and vulnerable groups, but has been dogged by mis-statements from ministers and misrepresentation by some of its critics.

Police Scotland said the vast majority of reports received during this period were anonymous and submitted online. "These were assessed against the new legislation and no further action is being taken," it added.

The figures appear to substantiate warnings the police would be inundated with spurious complaints because of campaigns to undermine the act's credibility.

Nearly half of the total number of online and anonymous reports that week were made on 1 April, at 3,419. The daily rate fell very sharply to just 180 reports on 6 April and 343 on 7 April.

In contrast, the number of complaints judged to be legitimate remained relatively constant at between 30 and 39 a day through the week. The force said the surge of complaints caused "minimal" impact on frontline policing and was dealt with by its call-handling centres and hate crime specialists.

Far right groups

The act consolidates existing hate crime laws and creates a new offence of "threatening or abusive behaviour which is intended to stir up hatred" on the grounds of age, disability, religion, sexual orientation, transgender identity and variations in sex characteristics. It does not include misogyny, for which a separate bill is being drafted.

The data was released as one of Scotland's most senior legal figures, Lord Hope, a former deputy president of the UK supreme court and lord justice general, attacked the act and said it should be repealed.

Hope said the legislation placed an "extraordinary burden" on the police since they were required by law to investigate every complaint. He said it would be simpler to have amended the Public Order Act, adding these prejudices as aggravating factors in crimes.

"It's an extraordinary position," Hope said, "[and] it's no wonder the police are being deluged in trying to carry it out."

And it has emerged that neo-Nazi and other far right groups are behind a significant portion of the vexatious complaints in an attempt to "overwhelm" police systems.

A prominent figure in England's white nationalist movement is among those urging followers to spam Police Scotland with anonymous online reports.

The leader of a far-right group – one of several fringe organisations being assessed by the UK government under its new extremism definition – promoted a private channel on the encrypted messaging app Telegram that includes a "call to action" urging members to "mass report".

'anti-white'

Posts in the channel instruct members to log cases of supposed "anti-white" hate, which they say includes a statement on the police force's website that "young men aged 18-30 are most likely to commit hate crime".

"This public targeting of a group deeply offended us and thus

OVERWHELMED: Scottish police are required to investigate every complaint on the anti-hate hotline, no matter how seemingly frivolous we will report it as a racially motivated hate crime," the channel administrator wrote.

Messages have also been posted directing the group's 284 members to mass report tweets from members of the public, including one from a former local councillor who said that those most impacted by hate crime were "people of colour, disabled people, LGBT+ people, because it's probably happened to them". The administrator of the "hate crime reporting" group said the message was "offensive" and "singled out white men as evil".

"At the very least, we want to overwhelm them with reports to waste their time [so that] they eventually give up the whole system," they wrote, adding that people could report without using their name and even if they didn't live in Scotland.

TRUSS: Queen told me to 'pace myself'

QUEEN Elizabeth offered new Prime Minister Liz Truss pearls of wisdom days before her death – which the shortest serving premier ignored – her memoir reveals.

When the pair met, two days before the Queen passed away at Balmoral, the monarch advised her 15th PM to “pace yourself”. It was something Tory Ms Truss failed to do, sparking economic chaos.

In the weeks that followed, Ms Truss unveiled a mini-Budget consisting of £45billion of unfunded tax cuts that triggered a domestic financial crisis and the end of her tenure as head of the Government.

Balmoral meeting

The pound spiralled to its lowest rate against the dollar, the Bank of England had to spend heavily to stop a meltdown in the bond market, while mortgage rates and borrowing costs soared.

Conservative MPs swiftly turned on Ms Truss and she was forced to resign after just 49 days in office, making her the shortest serving prime minister.

In her new book, Ten Years To Save The West, Ms Truss writes, “maybe I should have listened” to the Queen.

As well as giving a fresh take on her historic encounter with Britain’s longest serving monarch, the 48-year-old MP for South West Norfolk and hard-Right champion staunchly defends her political views.

The late Queen welcomed Ms Truss to her Scottish bolthole Balmoral on September 6, 2022, in what would be the monarch’s final engagement before her death just two days later.

Nobel prize winner behind 'Higgs boson' dies at 94

Peter Higgs, the Nobel prize-winning physicist who proposed a new particle known as the Higgs boson, has died.

Higgs, 94, who was awarded the Nobel prize for physics in 2013 for his work in 1964 showing how the boson helped bind the universe together by giving particles their mass, died at home in Edinburgh on Monday.

After a series of experiments, which began in earnest in 2008, his theory was proven by physicists working at the Large Hadron Collider at Cern in Switzerland in 2012; the Nobel prize was shared with François Englert, a Belgian theoretical physicist whose work in 1964 also contributed directly to the discovery.

A member of the Royal Society and a Companion of Honour, Higgs spent the bulk of his professional life at Edinburgh University, which set up the Higgs Centre for Theoretical Physics in his honour in 2012.

Prof Peter Mathieson, the university’s principal, said: “Peter Higgs was a remarkable individual – a truly gifted scientist whose vision and imagination have enriched our knowledge of the world that surrounds us.

“His pioneering work has motivated thousands of scientists, and his legacy will continue to inspire many more for generations to come.”

Prof Fabiola Gianotti, the director general at Cern and former leader of the Atlas experiment, which helped discover the Higgs particle in 2012, said: “Besides his outstanding contributions to particle physics, Peter was a very special person, a man of rare modesty, a great teacher and someone who explained physics in a very simple and profound way.”

120 years on, the 'Entente' still remains 'Cordiale'...

It was the beginning of a beautiful - if complicated - friendship.

And judging by events in London and Paris this week, it is still going strong.

On April 8 1904, alarmed by the growing power of Germany, France and Britain put aside their historic rivalry and formed an alliance.

And on Monday, 120 years to the day since the signing, the two countries confirmed the steadfastness of their bond with troops from both capitals swapping places for their traditional Changing of the Guards ceremony.

Sixteen bearskin hat-wearing British soldiers from the No 7 Company Coldstream Guards joined thirty-two members of the Gendarmerie Garde Republicaine mount guard at the Elysee Palace in Paris.

They were visited by French President Emmanuel Macron and British ambassador to France, Menna Rawlings.

Meanwhile, 32 members of the Gendarmerie’s Garde Republicaine marched with 40 Guardsmen from the F Company Scots Guards at Buckingham Palace. On behalf of King Charles III, they were greeted by the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh alongside the French Ambassador.

rocky history

It was the first time a country from outside the Commonwealth has taken part in the Changing of the Guard ceremony in London.

Relations had always been rocky between England and France, to say the least - two headstrong countries with powerful global influence and a history of wars (41, to be exact).

BROTHERS IN ARMS: Coldstream and Republican Guards outside the Elysee Palace

In the early 20th century, there were various conflicts still simmering, especially regarding colonial disputes in North Africa. The Entente Cordiale put these to bed, establishing diplomatic harmony between the countries.

It also became somewhat of a necessity, with growing fears over Germany’s rising militant powers and founding of the Triple Alliance, a secret pact with Austria-Hungary and Italy.

Signed a decade before World War I began, the Cordiale was the start of a powerful alliance that created a template for unity and peace across Europe.

In 1949, England and France - along with twelve other countries from Europe and North America - founded NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) to protect against the Soviet Union’s nuclear threats.

Perhaps the best example of more modern-day Anglo-French unity is the Channel Tunnel. Unveiled on 6 May 1994, it’s still considered one of the most impressive feats of 20th century infrastructure, completely innovating mobility between the UK and the rest of Europe.

It’s not all been smooth sailing, of course. Like any relationship, France and England have had their differences, the latter (and former Prime Minister Boris Johnson in particular) complicating matters by leaving the European Union in 2020.

It was, in the modern parlance, a classic case of an anxious avoidant causing abandonment issues in their partner - and a whole lot of financial mess.

But 120 years later, they’re still together and working through their issues.

Top Beer!

■ Clarkson's ambitions remain frothy as he eyes purchase of famed Cotswolds pub

JEREMY Clarkson could be going from Top Gear to top beer as he considers adding a Cotswolds pub to his thriving Diddly Squat Farm business.

The presenter is reportedly interested in snapping up the Coach & Horses Inn in Bourton-on-the-Water, Gloucestershire.

An idyllic Cotswolds village, it is known for its quaint low bridges and traditional stone houses.

The 18th-century grade II-listed building (pictured, below) is near his Hawkstone Brewery, where beer is produced using malted spring barley from his Diddly Squat Farm in Oxfordshire.

A source said that the Grand Tour presenter, 64, is interested in expanding the pub site and is having initial discussions about any highways implications for his plans.

The site is listed by Stonegate Pub Partners for a retail partnership tenancy and has a turnover forecast of £370,000 per year.

Talks are ongoing ahead of a formal planning application on his proposals.

Last month, there was great excitement among staff at Gloucestershire County Council's Shire Hall ahead of a planned visit by Mr Clarkson to discuss possible highways issues.

A source said: "There's stuff swirling around."

"He has been in talks about that but it has not got to the stage of a planning application yet. It's very early days."

Mr Clarkson's Hawkstone Brewery already has a taproom and pop-up food outlets on the weekend, so his plans are to now expand to a full pub.

Andrew Lund-Yates, who owns the Old New Inn in Gloucestershire and runs the Bourton Business Network, said that many of his guests are people who are in the area to visit Diddly Squat Farm and its shop. He added: "The Cotswolds is big enough to cope with another eatery and a well-known name.

"I think there will be spillover and people will come to Bourton for that and then come into the village."

Clarkson's Farm follows the ex-Top Gear host's attempt to run 1,000-acre farm in Chadlington, Chipping Norton, alongside farmer Kaleb Cooper.

It has become one of Prime Video's biggest hits since it was first broadcast back in June 2021.

A long-awaited third series of the hit Amazon show will air on May 3.

What a party that was! Longtime regulars and friends old and new got together in Santa Monica last Friday as the Kings Head celebrated 50 glorious years. Founders Phil and Ruth Elwell came in from their home in the Desert and were joined by so many familiar faces from the pub's long history that we soon lost count. DJ Danny provided the tunes and some patter while guests including John Gordon, John Hiscock and Linda Hall, Steve and Beverly Morris, Anne Shaw, Frank L'e Sanford, Matthew Gannon, Nicola Bryan, Caroline Beddie and many, many more joined Donal Tavey, Raul Dorado and the rest of the pub's inimitable staff to celebrate the big day. Congratulations and here's to 50 more!

ARIES: Now is a good time now to get ready for life to be on a faster track. Do not waste precious time thinking about what you have missed out on or could have done better. The eclipse in-house has opened up new possibilities. Happy Birthday!

TAURUS: You should be feeling more positive and this is due to the lovely boss Venus beaming on your overall life. Time to start your plan for a healthy new year starting next week.

GEMINI: This is a good time to catch up with unfinished business of any kind. Make a schedule and stick to it! It will be good to just focus on it a day at a time.

CANCER: Your moods can change quickly as a rule and so it's good that the recent eclipse is giving you a boost for a change. You have some stuff to finish up, so make it soon

LEO: You should be starting to feel more positive and ready to move forward in your life. However be sure you don't overindulge - you should know by now to do everything in moderation.

VIRGO: Do not push too hard to move forward right now, although life is getting easier. Show your organized side to those that need the help. Don't overdo anything and keep some boundaries.

LIBRA: You can finally feel a little more like normal as your boss Venus is smiling on you from your opposite sign Aries. Any plans you make now will actually come to pass.

SCORPIO: You should be making space in your life to change your usual routine, hopefully as soon as you can. Mars your boss in a positive area brings some financial gains and peace of mind.

SAGITTARIUS: It's not currently a time to be self-indulgent or impulsive. However now your cousin sign of Aries is literally on fire something you have been waiting for may come sooner than you expect.

CAPRICORN: Your boss Saturn is in your money house for a while and so good news financially and even possibly a new career move. Just be patient... it's later in the month.

AQUARIUS: Be honest with yourself and others about what you really want to do now going forward. If you procrastinate about making the changes it will be some time before you get another opportunity.

PISCES: Don't look backwards, even if you think you can change some things by doing so. You have entered your new year so be sure to plan on what you want to achieve overall. With several powerful energies in-house anything goes.

date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (844) 477-7869 or visit this Internet Web site www.stoxposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case 2023-CA007042. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (844) 477-7869, or visit this internet website www.stoxposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case 2023-CA007042 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. NOTE: Because the beneficiary reserves the right to bid less than the total debt owed, it is possible that at the time of sale the opening bid may be less than the total debt owed. If the trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder(s) sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the trustee and successful bidder(s) will have no further recourse. # Kane spot-on but honors even for Gunners Harry Kane returned to north London with a goal on Tuesday night as Arsenal's Champions League hopes were left hanging in the balance when they fought out a draw with Bayern Munich in the quarter-final first leg at Emirates Stadium.

Kane, Tottenham's record goalscorer, received a predictably hostile reception from Arsenal's supporters, who saw the Gunners make the perfect start when Bukayo Saka's low finish put them ahead after only 12 minutes.

Bayern belied their poor form in the Bundesliga to turn the game around before the break as former Arsenal forward Serge Gnabry swept home the equaliser six minutes later.

Kane's moment arrived when William Saliba tripped Leroy Sane at the end of a blistering run after 32 minutes. The England captain stepped forward for the resulting penalty and silenced the taunts with his 15th goal in 20 appearances against Arsenal.

Mikel Arteta's side were not at their fluent best but substitute Leandro Trossard was the beneficiary of outstanding work by Gabriel Jesus to equalise.

Arsenal felt they should have had a penalty in the final seconds of stoppage time but the referee waved away their appeals when Saka went down as he was challenged by keeper Manuel Neuer.

The Gunners were arguably also fortunate not to concede a penalty themselves earlier in the half, when Gabriel picked the ball up with his hands after the referee had signalled for a goal-kick to be taken.

Several Bayern players complained at the time but the referee swiftly waved their appeals away. The second leg in Munich is on Wednesday, 17 April.

Arsenal left the pitch amid a mood of disappointment and frustration after a performance that was unusually tentative.

The Gunners' late

equaliser from Trossard, who has scored six goals as a substitute this season, sets the second leg up perfectly, although Bayern will feel they are favourites at the Allianz Arena.

It rescued a respectable result from a display that lacked Arsenal's usual fluency and defensive assurance, Gnabry's equaliser an uncharacteristically sloppy concession starting with a mistake by Gabriel.

At the end, Arsenal were complaining bitterly that referee Glenn Nyberg should have awarded a last-gasp penalty when Saka went down but it looked like the Gunners' forward initiated the contact with Neuer.

Whether it was big-stage nerves or not, Arsenal fell short of the standards that have taken them to the top of the Premier League.

Pep still upbeat after Phwoar draw

Manager Pep Guardiola praised Manchester City's ability to "adapt quickly to chaos" in their 3-3 first-leg draw against Real Madrid in the Champions League quarter-finals.

Holdings City took the lead in the second minute of Tuesday's clash of the titans when Bernardo Silva cleverly snuck a 25-yard free-kick round the wall and past goalkeeper Andriy Lunin.

But deflected strikes from Eduardo Camavinga and Rodrygo helped 14-time European champions Real overturn the deficit at the Bernabeu.

"We were 2-1 down, playing here without much composure," Guardiola said

"This game, in the first three seasons together, we'd have lost 4-1 or 5-1 as we were not stable emotionally."

City, who won this competition for the first time last season as part of a historic Treble, came into this game with Kevin de Bruyne on the bench after the Belgium midfielder fell ill before kick-off.

Guardiola said: "One of the secrets at the high levels is to adapt quickly to chaos. There is no time to complain.

"You need time to learn and now we are more stable and hopefully in the future we can do better and better."

"We take the result and in one week in Manchester, with our people, it will be sold out and they will help us," Guardiola added.

However, City now have the chance at home to progress to the semi-finals for the fourth consecutive season, where in recent years they have blown sides away in the Champions League.

SHARP GUESTS LEAVE REDS BLOODIED

■ Europa League hopes hang by a thread as Atalanta stun Klopp's men with 3-0 win at Anfield

Liverpool face a huge battle to stay in the Europa League after suffering a shock home defeat to Atalanta in the quarter-final first leg at Anfield on Thursday.

Former West Ham forward Gianluca Scamacca scored in each half, before ex-Chelsea player Mario Pasalic added a late third goal to ensure the Italians start as strong favourites to reach the semi-finals when the sides meet in next Thursday's return in Bergamo.

Scamacca broke the deadlock in the 38th minute after Caoimhin Kelleher allowed his low drive to creep under him.

On a deeply frustrating night for below-par Liverpool, Darwin Nunez missed two big chances, while Harvey Elliott's curling attempt struck the bar before dropping on to the post.

Mohamed Salah, who started on the bench, forced a fine save from visiting keeper Juan Musso after Kelleher had atoned for his error to stop the unmarked Teun Koopmeiners from doubling Atalanta's lead. The Egyptian also had a goal disallowed for offside, but the Reds were flat and lacked urgency in their play - and punished for some dreadful defending.

Scamacca - who had just one season at West Ham before joining Atalanta last August - took advantage of being left unmarked by doubling the lead with a crisp finish on the hour.

Pasalic's 83rd-minute strike came after Brazilian midfielder Ederson was afforded too much space to shoot and, when Kelleher made a save, the Croatian snapped up the rebound to score.

The winners of this tie will face Benfica or Marseille in the semi-finals, with Benfica establishing a 2-1 first-leg advantage to take to France next week.

Jurgen Klopp looked bewildered at the final whistle after seeing his side comprehensively beaten by Atalanta, who sit sixth in Serie A and trail leaders Inter Milan by 32 points.

But his side were a poor second-best to a clinical Atalanta, whose players and management team celebrated in front of their jubilant travelling fans long after the final whistle.

Late strikes nail Hammers

Bayer Leverkusen scored twice in the last 10 minutes to break West Ham's resistance and take the advantage after the first leg of their Europa League quarter-final Thursday night.

Jonas Hofmann fired through a crowd of bodies for Xabi Alonso's side after the visitors struggled to clear a corner with seven minutes remaining.

Victor Boniface then doubled the lead in the first minute of injury time with a well-directed header from Hofmann's cross.

Alonso's hosts dominated possession but were largely frustrated by a superbly organised Hammers defence until Hofmann's late intervention.

The visitors showed great discipline to limit Leverkusen's chances for much of the game while also offering a threat on the counter through the pace and power of Michail Antonio.

Antonio created arguably the best opportunity of the first half as he broke down the left and squared for Mohammed Kudus, but the Ghana winger's shot was straight at Leverkusen goalkeeper Matej Kovar.

West Ham did need a couple of very smart saves from Lukasz Fabianski to keep Leverkusen at bay for as long as they did.

The 38-year-old keeper got down well to deny Patrick Schick in the first half before leaping to tip the striker's header over the bar in the second when he looked to have been wrong-footed.

Hofmann finally found a way past Fabianski and when Boniface nodded in the second, Leverkusen were assured of victory to stretch their unbeaten run to 42 matches.

The German top-flight leaders have made late goals a habit this season and scored twice deep into stoppage time to beat Qarabag in the last 16.

This wasn't quite as dramatic but they were still made to wait by a stubborn West Ham side.

Despite that, though, Leverkusen never showed any sort of panic as they attacked the Hammers relentlessly, looking for any space to exploit around the penalty area.

As it was, it took two set-pieces break down the visitors, with Hofmann shinning a volley through a crowded penalty area after the initial ball in was not cleared.

He then provided the cross following a short corner with Boniface rising highest at the back post to head home his 17th goal of the season.
