

Labour manifesto vows to “turn the page decisively” on 14 years of Tory government

“We promise to rebuild Britain”

Sir Keir Starmer has unveiled Labour’s election manifesto, promising to “rebuild Britain” by boosting economic growth.

The Labour leader said the document - titled Change - would “turn the page decisively” on 14 years of Conservative government.

The running theme is a bid to boost wealth creation through streamlining planning rules and increasing business investment.

Thursday’s unveiling did not contain new policies beyond those already announced, and Sir Keir sought to make a virtue of the lack of policy fireworks, saying he was running “to be prime minister, not a candidate to run the circus”.

The Labour leader used the launch event in Manchester to showcase already-announced policies he hopes will tempt voters to return his party to power.

These include setting up a new state-owned energy investment and generation company, hiring more police officers and renationalizing nearly all passenger rail.

Sir Keir sought to draw a contrast with Labour’s last election manifesto in 2019, which contained policies such as giving workers a 10% stake in all large companies and free full-fibre broadband for all.

After his speech was briefly interrupted by heckling from a climate protester, he said: “We gave up on being a party of protest five years ago.

“The defining purpose of my Labour leadership has been to drag my party away from the dead end of gesture politics,” he added.

“We don’t have a magic wand. But what we do have, what this manifesto represents, is a credible long-term plan.”

Policies included in the manifesto include:

- introducing free breakfast clubs in all primary schools in England
- £1.6bn to fund more appointments in NHS hospitals, new CT scanners and extra dentist appointments

- recruiting 8,500 mental health staff in England

Its proposed tax rises include introducing VAT on private school fees, a 1% stamp duty surcharge on foreigners buying property, and hiking taxes on bonuses for managers at hedge funds and private equity firms.

It also says it would raise extra revenue by closing “loopholes” in the government’s existing plans to tax non-domiciled taxpayers and oil and gas firms.

It says extra government borrowing would be limited to £3.5bn a year to fund its plan to invest in green energy projects.

I'll kick 100,000 out, vows Rishi

■ Trailing by double digits in the polls, PM promises radical new immigration policy

Rishi Sunak has fired up the election by promising to slash legal migration in half with a Tory plan emerging to deport as many as 100,000 illegal immigrants.

Unveiling his manifesto, the Prime Minister shifted firmly on to the front foot by vowing deportation flights to Rwanda will take off within days if the Conservatives are returned to office.

Tory sources revealed the manifesto plans meant as many as 100,000 illegal migrants could be sent to Rwanda and a series of other countries considered for deportations in "an uncapped scheme".

The PM said the Tories would halve legal migration then cut numbers "every single year" – and he attacked Sir Keir Starmer's Labour for not having a plan to thwart illegal migration.

With the Tories making little or no headway against Labour's huge lead in the opinion polls, many political observers saw the speech as a desperate gambit by the Prime Minister to regain the initiative.

But it showed little sign of making an impact this week, with a new poll suggesting the

Conservatives have now been overtaken by Nigel Farage's reform party

A YouGov poll showed that support for Reform UK had jumped up to 19%, up from 17% previously, and the Conservative Party unchanged on 18%. Labour looks to be holding an unassailable lead with 37%.

More than 125,000 migrants have arrived in Britain on small boats since 2018 and most are still in the country.

The Conservative party suggested up to 100,000 people who have crossed the Channel illegally will be deported to other countries under their plans.

A spokesman said the deal with Rwanda is "uncapped" but some arrivals will be returned to their own country.

Around 10,000 Albanians have already been sent back under an agreement struck with the Balkan nation.

The Government has been in talks with other countries, such as Vietnam, to replicate the deal with Rwanda's leadership in Kigali.

A Tory spokesman said a pact with the East African nation is "an uncapped scheme – this is the whole point".

Efforts to broker similar deals would continue under the Conservatives, he added.

In an attempt to rev up his party's election campaign, Mr Sunak laid out his blueprint for the UK in a speech at Silverstone race track.

He announced £17-billion of tax cuts to help workers, pensioners and parents over the next five years.

Promising to fight to the end for every vote, the PM claimed Labour planned to pick the public's pockets while failing to tackle migration.

Mr Sunak said: "Keir Starmer simply can't tell you what he would do with people who come here illegally because he doesn't believe it's a problem. With Brexit we took control of our borders, but migration has been too high in recent years and we have a clear plan to reduce it. We announced changes which mean 300,000 people who were previously eligible to come here now can't, and we will introduce a migration cap that means Parliament...will vote on how many people should be able to come here every year.

"Our plan is this: we will halve migration as we have halved inflation, and then reduce it every single year."

Net migration – the difference between the totals of people arriving and those leaving – hit a record high of 764,000 in 2022, said the Office for National Statistics.

Farage offered bodyguards amid rising violence towards Reform UK leader

Nigel Farage has been offered bodyguards by the Home Office amid rising violence towards the Reform UK leader on the campaign trail.

Officials are understood to be offering at-risk candidates private security teams for campaign events in the run-up to the General Election.

This includes door staff and teams of up to four people for canvassing and public meetings.

Police chiefs fear the level of hatred directed towards politicians could lead to another attack.

The Home Office is understood to have contacted Mr Farage about "additional private security" after he was targeted at two campaign events within days of each other.

However, sources said there would not be "dedicated police support" for Mr Farage.

On Tuesday he was narrowly missed by objects thrown as he stood on the open top deck of his campaign bus at a rally in Barnsley, South Yorks. Yesterday Josh Grealley, 28, was charged with using threatening, abusive, insulting words and behaviour with intent to cause fear or provoke unlawful violence.

It came after Victoria Thomas Bowen, 25, was charged with assault by beating and criminal damage when a milkshake was thrown over Mr Farage as he left the Moon and Starfish Wetherspoons pub in Clacton-on-Sea in Essex on Tuesday last week. She is due before Colchester magistrates next month.

Mr Farage warned that physical attacks are the next stage of a "cancel culture" intent on silencing him.

He told reporters he is having to "think twice about what I do" amid the rise in attacks.

However, he added defiantly: "I'm not going to stop."

Conservative candidate Mark Jenkinson called the violence "an attack on democracy" and said he too has faced threats.

He said: "I've had

Reform candidate said 'Hitler offer better than war'

A REFORM UK Party candidate has sparked fury with remarks that Britain would have been better off had it not fought Nazi Germany.

The comments by Ian Gribbin were made in 2022 in which he said the UK would have been "far better" if we had taken up Hitler's offer of neutrality. He also described women as the "sponging gender" who should be "deprived of healthcare".

Posted to the website UnHerd, Mr Gribbin, who is standing in Bexhill and Battle in East Sussex, added that Winston Churchill was "abysmal" and praised Russia's Vladimir Putin.

Tory veterans minister Johnny Mercer said the "shameful" comments showed "a shocking lack of judgment". He added: "Misusing appeasement to justify Nazi apologism is disgraceful. Comments like this are deeply troubling coming from a political party."

'out of context'

Mr Gribbin apologised "unreservedly" and said the quotes were taken out of context, adding he found it upsetting as his mother was the daughter of Russian Jews fleeing persecution.

The row derailed Nigel Farage's party's tax plan, which pledged they would raise the income tax threshold to £20,000, taking millions out of paying tax altogether with savings of up to £1,500 per year.

In a complex explanation for how the party would afford the cut, chairman Richard Tice said it would be paid for by reorganising Bank of England quantitative easing debt into 75-year bonds.

Much-loved BBC presenter perishes on Greek island

■ Dr. Michael Mosley collapsed after a strenuous walk in searing heat

ONE OF the BBC's most respected and influential presenters, Dr. Michael Mosley, was found dead this week on the Greek island of Symi after going missing after taking a strenuous walk in scorching temperatures.

His body was found several days later near Agia Marina beach, just a few yards from a popular beachside bar. It is believed he died of natural causes.

Mosley, one of the best-known presenters on British TV and radio, was a fixture on the airwaves for almost two decades, known for his engaging and likeable style in shows that delved into diet, exercise and medicine.

In 2019, the Telegraph described him as "arguably the closest thing Britain has to a national treasure in the field of medical science".

His series included Trust Me I'm a Doctor, The Truth about Exercise and Lose a Stone in 21 Days, and he became famous for testing out regimes and theories on himself – from injecting snake venom into his own blood to eating tapeworms to see what impact they had on the body.

Millions more knew him for giving advice on BBC One's The One Show and ITV's This Morning.

The 67-year-old father-of-four was reported missing after he set off for a walk from Agios Nikolaos beach - near where he was staying on the northeast side of the island - at about 13:30 local time on Wednesday.

diet guru

His wife, Dr Clare Bailey Mosley, raised the alarm when her husband did not return. Several days later TV crews reviewing helicopter footage taken near the Agia Marina beach bar saw what looked like a body. CCTV footage from the area appeared to show Dr Mosley disappear from view as he slowly made his way down a hillside close to where his body was later found. He then collapses out of view behind a wall.

Dr Mosley was not a complete stranger to the island, having visited it eight years ago. The diet guru intended to hike under three miles back to the three-bedroom Merchant House apartment in Symi Town, where they were staying – and in which, crucially, he had left his phone. Setting off with a small bottle of water and an umbrella to shield himself from the sun, Dr Mosley negotiated a steep rocky track from the beach, arriving back in the village of Pedi in just 20 minutes.

But there, he made a fatal error. Instead of turning left on the main road back to town, which would have brought him home in 30 minutes, he turned right and headed up a mountain track.

For the next hour and three-quarters he toiled up steep rock-strewn paths, believing Symi Town was on the other side of the ridge in front of him. However, he was heading almost directly away from Symi, towards Agia Marina, which he reached after scrambling down a steep track.

As Dr Mosley reached a perimeter fence at the resort, the exhausting hike and blistering heat took their toll and he collapsed.

Restaurant staff at Agia Marina said they failed to hear any cry for help or to spot Dr Mosley's collapsed body.

He was found dead by a restaurant manager at the resort at around 10.30am on Sunday.

easy life hacks

Dr Mosley was also famous for popularizing the 5:2 and the Fast 800 diets, which advocate for intermittent fasting and low-carbohydrate meals.

Meanwhile, the simple, accessible health tips in his BBC Radio 4 series Just One Thing attracted 25 million listeners around the world, with a TV version announced earlier this year.

Mosley launched Just One Thing in 2021, with each episode focusing on a single idea for listeners to improve their health and lifestyle.

He presented more than 100 episodes, exploring easy life hacks ranging from taking an early-morning walk and meditating to skipping and eating chocolate.

Mosley was born in India and brought up on the Philippines before moving to the UK, where he studied PPE (philosophy, politics and econom-death threats, I've had acid attack threats, I've been accosted in my local shop while my wife and children were outside, and my activists have been threatened. You choose your representative, not activist groups too cowardly to stand for election."

Brendan Clarke-Smith, who is also standing for the Conservatives, added: "Many of us have experienced similar. When people attack candidates – of any party – then it is an attack on all of us".

Police sources admit it is "very difficult" to know whether bystanders are planning to launch objects at politicians.

Officers rely on intelligence to protect candidates, but "random" attacks pose the biggest problem to police as it is hard to know what the motivation is of those crowding around candidates at public campaign events.

It is hoped a significant police presence and swift arrests will deter attempted attacks on politicians.

Gavin Stephens, chairman of the National Police Chiefs Council, said it was crucial that the election campaign was "peaceful and well run".

He told reporters at a briefing yesterday: "What I am clear on is policing has a very strong role to play in our primary mission of keeping the King's peace.

"Throughout this campaign activity, it's really important that it's a peaceful and well-run campaign [so] democracy can function well.

"We recognise that policing has a strong role to play in that."

Britain sees youngest boys convicted of murder since the killing of James Bulger

■ Machete-wielding pair killed Anguillan teen in Wolverhampton Park

Two 12-year-old boys have become the youngest people to be convicted of murder in Britain since the killing of James Bulger.

The pair, who cannot be named, were found guilty of murdering stranger Shawn Seesahai, 19, who was stabbed in the back through to his heart with a 16in machete blade.

At the time, last November, his killers were just months older than Robert Thompson and Jon Venables who were 11 when they were found guilty of torturing and killing two-year-old James in 1993 on Merseyside.

Shawn's devastated family cried and hugged in the gallery at Nottingham Crown Court after jurors on Monday found the knife-obsessed pair guilty.

His father Suresh and mother Manashwary said that they would never be able to get over their loss – and questioned how such young children could stalk the streets unchecked with a deadly weapon.

Suresh said: "This world is a different world. Kids are dangerous now. If we don't pay attention to them this will keep happening."

Manashwary remarked: "Twelve-year-old kids should be at home doing schoolwork and then going to bed."

"I don't care"

The couple, who also have a teenage daughter, told how Shawn's friend called them to say that their son had been stabbed to death.

The court heard Shawn was initially shouldered-barged by the smaller of the two boys who it was said "often" carried a machete.

He was then punched, kicked, stamped on and "chopped" at with the machete.

Shawn's friend said that they both ran for their lives but Shawn then stumbled as he tried to sprint across Stowlawn playing fields within Wolverhampton's East Park.

He was declared dead at the scene by emergency crews at 9.11pm.

The boys, who were arrested a day later, had refused to answer police questions but both gave evidence to jurors, blaming each other for inflicting the fatal blow before leaving Shawn to die. The court was told the killers played video games after the November 13 attack with one cleaning the machete in bleach before stashing it under his bed.

Next day he bragged online "I don't care" after being told that his victim Shawn had died.

Hours before the murder, one boy wore a mask as he posed for a picture while brandishing the machete, which police believe had been bought online.

The trial was told that a teenage girl who had been with the 12-year-olds told police that both of them had been in possession of the machete, with one frequently carrying it.

She described seeing one boy pick up the machete and hold it in the air before Shawn then collapsed and fell to the ground.

surgery

Shawn was from Anguilla but was staying in Birmingham while recovering from cataract surgery that was not available on the Caribbean island.

He had travelled to the UK with his friend Deron Harrigan and settled in Handsworth.

Jurors heard the pair had gone to Wolver-hampton that November evening with a third man Jamal Clarke, because Mr Clarke wanted to visit his girlfriend in the city.

Suresh told Sky News that the teenager "was always with me, from the time he was born and growing up.

"When he'd have been around 16 he started to work with me.

"Whatsoever he knew that I'd need help with he'd always be there."

Manashwary added: "He's always there for us – a very protective child.

"He helped his father [at work] with all the tools, he helped me[at] home with the chores, he loved to do that."

Judge Mrs Justice Tipples called it a "tragic and distressing case" and said she will pass sentence on the boys next month.

Harry Dunn mum "unspeakably hurt" as son's killer stays away from inquest

THE grieving mother of Harry Dunn says she is "unspeakably hurt" that the US spy who killed her teenage motorcyclist son has refused to give live evidence to his inquest.

Senior coroner Anne Pember issued a request to Anne Sacoolas last year, inviting her to attend the hearing remotely – but its first day was told this week that the offer "has not been taken up" by the American.

Harry's heartbroken mother Charlotte Charles labelled Sacoolas's no-show decision as both "incomprehensible" and "disrespectful".

Instead Sacoolas's written evidence was read to the inquest in Sessions House, Northampton, in the form of a "significant statement", alongside segments from her police interview and a witness statement written last December.

Sacoolas's lawyer Ben Cooper KC said she had previously given a "full account" to police and taken "full responsibility for her actions".

'so stupid'

He said she had "provided everything she could to help this inquest" and offered to "answer any further questions".

Sacoolas was driving a Volvo on the wrong side of the road outside US communications base RAF Croughton in Northamptonshire on August 27 2019 moments before she crashed into Harry, 19, causing him catastrophic injuries.

PC Al Knapper, who attended the scene, said Sacoolas was seen with her head in her hands and crying, after telling police: "I was so stupid." Ms Charles told the hearing yesterday: "I wanted to say that learning that Anne Sacoolas will not be attending Harry's inquest this week was bitterly disappointing and, as a mother, is utterly incomprehensible to me.

'disrespectful'

"She could have chosen to give me and our family this opportunity to finally understand what led to Harry's death that night. But no.

Anne Sacoolas (left) drove into Harry's Dunn's motorcycle in August 2019

"I am unspeakably hurt that she has chosen to hide instead and it cannot help but feel disrespectful to Harry, the life he had and the future he lost."

Briony Ballard, the counsel to the inquest, remarked that the coroner could not "force or compel an individual to attend".

After the crash the US State Department asserted diplomatic immunity on behalf of intelligence agency employee Sacoolas, 46, and she left the UK 19 days later.

But following a protracted campaign in both Britain and the US by Harry's family she faced a High Court judge at the Old Bailey via video-link in December 2022.

She had pleaded guilty to causing death by careless driving and Mrs Justice Cheema-Grubb handed Sacoolas an eight-month prison sentence, suspended for 12 months.

He retrained as a doctor at the Royal Free Hospital in London, aiming to become a psychiatrist. But rather than using his skills in a medical capacity, he joined the BBC as an assistant producer in 1985.

He worked his way through the ranks, becoming producer of science shows like Tomorrow's World, QED and Horizon.

Other behind-the-scenes credits include The Human Face, which was presented by John Cleese and featured Elizabeth Hurley, Pierce Brosnan and Sir David Attenborough, and was recognised with an Emmy nomination in 2002.

Mosley received Bafta nominations for his work as executive producer on Leonardo, which starred Sir Mark Rylance as the painter, and Pompeii - The Last Day, both in 2003.

Greek police spokeswoman Konstantia Dimoglidou said the initial examination confirmed there were no injuries on his body.

She said the position of his body indicated he died of natural causes.

Gary Glitter ordered to pay half a million in damages

■ Disgraced former pop star victimized 12 year old fan and others over five year period

PAEDOPHILE pop star Gary Glitter has been ordered to pay a woman he abused when she was 12 more than £500,000 in damages.

Glitter, 80, whose real name is Paul Gadd, was hit with the compensation order on Wednesday after his victim sued him in London's High Court.

It could now spark fresh claims from other victims of the glam rock star.

Glitter was jailed for 16 years in 2015 for abusing the girl and two other children between 1975 and 1980.

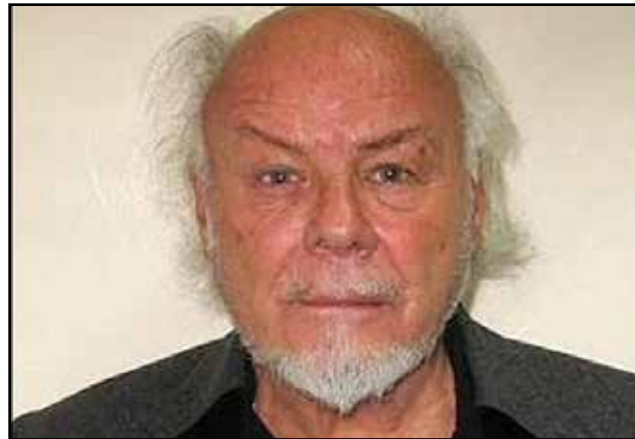

The singer still boasts a £6million fortune from hits including I'm The Leader Of The Gang - and has nearly 700,000 monthly listeners on Spotify.

champagne

Glitter was 33 when he met the 12-year-old at a concert in Birmingham in 1977, his 2015 trial heard.

He invited her and her mother to his hotel the following night, where he plied them with champagne before raping the schoolgirl.

The trial heard she was invited back to

Glitter (real name Paul Gadd), does not expect to live to see his expected release in 2031

Glitter's London home where she was again raped and sexual assaulted.

The High Court hearing was told the victim had been "humiliated and coercively controlled" by Glitter.

Mrs Justice Tipples said the £508,800 damages included £381,000 in lost earnings and £7,800 for future therapy and treatment, plus £84,000 interest.

She added: "The claimant did not tell anyone in her family what happened to her as she was worried that she would bring shame on them all and she thought her family would not love her any more if they knew."

child abuse

The woman's barrister, Jonathan Metzger, said Glitter's abuse had a "dramatic and terrible impact" on his victim.

Glitter was freed automatically from The Verne prison in Dorset last year after serving half of his 2015 fixed-term determinate sentence.

But he was back behind bars under six weeks later for breaching licence conditions by trying to access the dark web and view images of children.

After losing a parole hearing last month, he was said to have told fellow inmates he believes he will die before his release date of 2031.

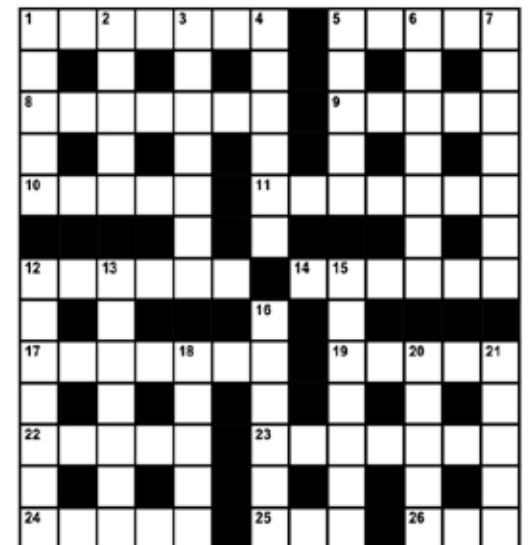

In 1999, Glitter was jailed for possessing thousands of child abuse images.

He was expelled from Cambodia in 2002 amid sex crime allegations and later spent two-and-a-half years in jail for sexually abusing two girls aged 10 and 11 in Vietnam.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF PAMELA L. GASKEY aka PAMELA PHILLIPS GASKEY, PAMELA GASKEY, PAMELA LEE GASKEY

Case No. 24STPB05361
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of PAMELA L. GASKEY aka PAMELA PHILLIPS GASKEY, PAMELA GASKEY, PAMELA LEE GASKEY
A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by William Joseph Gaskey in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that William Joseph Gaskey be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on June 21, 2024 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 5 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Munich hails 'Scotoberfest' as 100,000-strong Tartan Army hit the beerhalls for a Euro 2024 party

■ Back home, there's a shortage of tartan as fans snap up 'drinking kilts' for the opening clash with Germany

SCOTLAND fans celebrated their team's participation in their first major tournament since 1998 in fine style this week, descending on the German city of Munich in such huge numbers that beerhall owners began describing their visit as 'Scoto-berfest'. Even before the bulk of an estimated 100,000 fans descended on the Bavarian capital, the advance party had already made their mark, with a piper filmed falling off a table in a bar, to the amusement of its German staff.

Arriving by plane, train, campervan, bike and even on foot, kilt-clad Scotland fans dressed in blue and white and carrying plenty of bagpipes arrived in Munich's main square Thursday as they geared up for the nation's biggest party in 26 years.

Getting intae the spirit: Scottish fans in Munich

Scotland took on hosts and four-time World Cup winners Germany in the opening game of Euro 2024 on Friday after the BW went to press, and no matter the result of the opening game, the fans were in the mood to party, quickly laying siege to Munich's famed beerhalls.

As the first renditions of Flower of Scotland, Yes Sir I Can Boogie, and No Scotland, No Party were blasted out by pipers, other chose to bring a taste of home as they glugged down bottles of Buckfast, the caffeinated tonic wine made by monks but largely consumed on Scottish street corners.

Some had arrived from as far afield as Australia while others had taken for flights across Europe on their journey or travelled by caravan.

But by far the biggest entrance was Craig Ferguson, 20, who walked 500 miles, and 500 more, after setting off from Hampden

WORTH THE WAIT? Scotland face hosts Germany in the opening match

Park in Glasgow on foot 41 days ago.

On arrival he was showered with champagne and handed bottles of Buckfast as the Scotland party entered full swing.

Mr Ferguson joked that he had "brought the Scottish weather with me," as he arrived in the Munich sunshine.

"It was incredible, this is officially my 15 minutes of fame," he said as the bottle of Buckfast he had been given fell and smashed on the ground.

"I'm a bit tired but I could have kept going. It was taken out of my control what I'd be doing when I got here. I came in and I was having bevies before I crossed the finish line. Us Scotland fans now just have to let our hair down and enjoy it because we don't get to enjoy it very often."

Mr Ferguson, who raised £50,000 for charity, initially did not have a ticket to the game but has now been given one by a supporter.

"I think it makes the walk and all those miles a little bit less crazy the fact that I will now actually be going to the game," he said.

"I started this journey with just me, my bag, no ticket, no nothing, just a stupid idea and well, fast-forward, you know, 41 days, here I am."

The bars are not the only thing drying up. Scotland's kiltmakers are bemoaning a lack of tartan as thousands snap up "drinking kilts" for the tournament.

Some outfitters have "completely run out" of stock as canny fans opt for ex-hire kilts, a cheaper alternative to the traditional dress.

David Hughes, 62, owner of Bowdens, in Leith, Edinburgh, said he has been forced to turn eager buyers away after he ran out of stock last week.

He said: "We have completely run out. I'm turning guys away, two or three a day, asking for an ex-hire kilt. It's brilliant for business, I just wish I had more."

QUIZ PRO QUO

One of the best nights out in Los Angeles, Brits in LA Pub Quiz continues to pull in the crowds each Tuesday at O'Briens in Santa Monica.

The reigning champs are Biden His Time Until Sentencing but everyone's a winner at quizmaster Sandro Monetti's fun trivia game.

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: You might be tempted to step out of your comfort zone. This is an abrupt departure from the recent past, so just be sure you do not regret it. Next week is a better time.

TAURUS: Now should be the time for you to sort out the mind space you are currently in. You may even resolve some unfinished business. Changes are around the corner.

GEMINI: You will likely be looking around you at stuff you could or should have completed of late. Now is the time to relax, not stress. Happy Birthday!

CANCER: You are probably feeling a little out of control, especially in your cash flow. It will soon be back on track due to Mars currently in your money area.

LEO: Don't forget to breathe and relax this coming week, it's the best way to get through a challenging time. Your health should be getting back on track, but do not over do anything.

VIRGO: Now your opposite sign Pisces is relaxing under the watchful eye of Saturn you may want to do the same this week ahead. Nothing much should rock your world.

LIBRA: You will likely have to face at least one new situation this coming week - probably more than one. These will keep you on your toes for a while, so enjoy the challenge as it will stop you thinking too far ahead.

SCORPIO: Your emotional well-being is important now that Mars your boss has moved into your opposite sign of Taurus. Just make sure you stop worrying about things that likely will not happen.

SAGITTARIUS: There are some folks who do not understand why you are upbeat and in good spirits. This is your nature so be ready to just feel good no matter what. It's time to take a few days away to relax.

CAPRICORN: Life will soon be easier for you now that Jupiter is in your area of finances, so make time to relax. Be aware of your patterns from past relationships and do not repeat them.

AQUARIUS: You are usually busy at any given time. While you mostly enjoy helping others you are due for a break. Even a few days away from the crowd will be good for you.

PISCES: Saturn is living with you for some time ahead. This means any situation not for your best and highest good should be up for review. Just remember it's always for the best!

Why you need dental insurance in retirement.

Medicare doesn't pay for dental care.¹

As good as Medicare is, it was never meant to cover everything. If you want protection, you need to purchase individual insurance.

Early detection can prevent small problems from becoming expensive ones.

The best way to avoid large dental bills is preventive care. Experts recommend checkups twice a year.

Previous dental work can wear out.

Your odds of having a dental problem only go up as you age.²

Treatment is expensive — especially the services people over 50 often need.

Unexpected bills, like $190 for a filling, or $1,213 for a crown³ can be a real burden, especially if you're on a fixed income.

When you're comparing plans ...

- ▶ Look for coverage that helps pay for major services.
- ▶ Look for coverage with no deductibles.
- ▶ Shop for coverage with no annual maximum on cash benefits.

Simply put – without dental insurance, there may be an important gap in your healthcare coverage.

Ten Hag keeps his job... but gets a demotion

■ In wake of FA Cup victory, Dutchman's new title will be head coach with less input into player recruitment

TO THE SURPRISE of many outsiders, Manchester United have decided to retain the services of Erik ten Hag for the forthcoming season.

But the Dutchman's role at the club will be tweaked, as he moves to the position of the club's head coach rather than manager, while his influence in terms of player recruitment will be diluted.

But ultimately, the Dutchman is still in charge of United. He has got what he wanted – even if his players are shocked by the club's decision to keep him.

How he did it appears to be one of his greatest achievements since he arrived at Old Trafford in 2022.

United finished eighth in the Premier League, with a negative goal difference, and crashed out of the Champions League in the group stages.

But it appears Ten Hag struck gold when he got his hands on some silverware in United's final game of an otherwise difficult season, beating arch rivals Manchester City in the FA Cup final.

Co-owner Sir Jim Ratcliffe, who now runs all football operations at United, looked on impressed as Ten Hag out-thought Pep Guardiola to guide his team to victory at Wembley.

Ratcliffe also regarded United's thrilling victory against Jurgen Klopp's Liverpool in the quarter-finals as proof that Ten Hag is capable of matching or bettering the best.

Now the challenge is to do this on a more consistent basis – and he will have to do so with some signings that he will not have chosen.

Ten Hag has now won two trophies in his first two seasons at Old Trafford. Ratcliffe made it clear when he spoke to the media in London earlier this year that United will continue to be judged on silverware.

Crippling injuries and off-field issues weak-

The Cup that cheers: Erik Ten Hag with his job-saving trophy last month

ened Ten Hag's hand last season but there is no escaping the fact that he has survived because certain others could not be persuaded to replace him.

Gareth Southgate remains Ratcliffe's ultimate choice, but the England manager is masterminding the Three Lions' assault on Euro 2024 and will wait until the end of the summer before deciding his next move.

Ratcliffe also spoke to Thomas Tuchel but the German told him he was not interested, while Mauricio Pochettino distanced himself from the job.

So after two weeks of talks with right-hand man Sir Dave Brailsford, technical director Jason Wilcox and incoming CEO Omar Berrada, Ratcliffe chose to stick instead of twist.

The 54-year-old Dutchman will have to rebuild his trust in his superiors, knowing a poor start to next season will leave him battling to save his job again.

that in the weeks to come."

That is at the heart of the issue. England have a younger squad with fewer caps and less tournament know-how. When you ditch players such as Maguire and Grealish it puts more focus on Marc Guehi, Phil Foden, Gordon, Palmer and others to step up. But Kane added: "I think we have more than enough experience, especially a lot of players who have played in two or three tournaments now.

"There are always going to be new players who are in their first tournament.

"It is about making sure they feel comfortable and they feel at ease when they are training, or on the pitch, just to be themselves. We have more than enough.

"The lads who have played in a lot of tournaments have to step up and be there for the ones who need a bit of help."

Kane started England's defeat by Iceland, missed a sitter and was substituted. The former Tottenham star only featured for half an hour in the other warm-up friendly with Bosnia and Herzegovina.

He missed the end of the season with Bayern because of a back injury but he now feels fit, sharp and ready to go.

Kane said: "I am all good. The plan was for me to play 60 minutes.

"It has been a really good camp for me in that sense. Getting a good week of training, 30 minutes, a few more days of training and then 60 minutes. I feel really prepared and in a good place.

"It would have been nice if I had scored with that finish against Iceland but that is the way it goes. Overall it has been a good camp for my fitness – we have a nice build-up now into the business end."

used by 30 top European clubs and takes performance, age and contract length into account. More than 240,000 players in more than 250 leagues have been valued.

Although Kylian Mbappe is the world's most valuable player at £130m after completing his move to Real Madrid, France's squad value, of £900m, is well behind England. There are three other stars figuring at the Euros in the world's top 10 most valuable players – Germany pair Jamal Musiala (£99m) and Kai Havertz (£77m) and France's Eduardo Camavinga (£82m).

Paul Macdonald, co-founder of Football Transfers, who played a key role in developing the ETV algorithm, said: "With UEFA and respective leagues clamping down on overspending, we are witnessing a market where teams will be more careful with their budgets.

"What a selling team values a player at varies wildly from what their actual market value – based on the parameters set within our algorithm – concludes that they are worth. Their ETV is relative to the ability, potential and achievements of other players in the algorithm, and in this case, with the likes of Mbappe and Bellingham leading the way, the best will always rise to the top."

Arsenal's Declan Rice – signed from West Ham for £105m last summer – was valued at £68.9m, which is certain to create debate among Gunners fans, who created chants last season about how they got a bargain.

Kobbie Mainoo's value is certain to rocket from £19.7m after his breakthrough season at Manchester United.

The figures show England's future is bright. But now Southgate must get the best out of his squad and deliver Euros success.

Scotland 'fully fit and flying..and ready to go'

AHEAD OF Friday's opening Euro 2024 match Scotland boss Steve Clarke was urging his players not to get distracted by the "enormity" of the game at Allianz Arena in Munich.

The match took place after the BW went to press.

"It's the opening game of a four-team section, three matches, we know what we have to do to qualify and that's all we focus on," the head coach said this week.

"Everyone is fully fit, flying, desperate to be selected and ready to go.

"The enormity of the opener is a bit of a side-show and hopefully we don't get too caught up in that.

"It's a difficult game. One of the mantras I've had is respect everyone and fear no one.

"We know they're a good team but hopefully we can show everyone we're a good team as well."

"We don't want any regrets," said captain Andy Robertson with a stern look on his face. "We're ready, excited, all eyes are on us and it's time to show what we can do."

"We believe we can do it."

Robertson has good memories of this stadium and a moral to draw on, if he so desires. In the spring of 2019 his club drew 0-0 at home to Bayern Munich in the knockouts of the Champions League. Not a lot of people gave Liverpool a chance of winning the return leg then, just as virtually nobody gives Scotland a chance of winning here now, but they did; they won 3-1.

He smiled at the memory of it. Jurgen Klopp, he said, would be at the game on Friday. He told Robertson in an exchange of texts a week ago.

"Hopefully he'll enjoy his night, but not that much," Robertson said of his old manager.

KANE: we're ready to make history

■ England skipper issues rallying cry as Euro 2024 kicks off in Germany

SKIPPER Harry Kane has promised that England will be ready for the Euros.

Kane insisted no one should be writing off their chances, because they have enough "fantastic" players to light up the tournament.

England are one of the favourites, along with France, Germany and Portugal, but Gareth Southgate's men were given a brutal reality check by Iceland on Friday night.

The final warm-up friendly at Wembley was supposed to be a morale-boosting send-off.

However, it turned into a nightmare with the 1-0 defeat raising doubts about England's defending and whether Southgate can find the right balance in midfield.

The Three Lions have less than a week to prepare for the Group C opener with Serbia on Sunday and alarm bells have started to ring.

Luke Shaw has just returned to training while Jude Bellingham reported this weekend after his Champions League heroics.

Southgate took a big decision by axing Jack Grealish and Harry Maguire from his squad to give a new generation their chance, and it raises questions over whether they have enough experience.

But Kane believes they still have enough strength in depth, especially with youngsters such as Cole Palmer, below, and Anthony Gordon having earned their places.

The Bayern Munich striker said: "Everyone has proven they deserve to be here. We go away and everyone should be proud they are representing England at a major tournament.

"Everyone brings something different to the team and we are going to need all 26 players if we are going to be successful. That is the message – that we are together.

"There are a lot of fantastic players. Players who have had really, really good seasons.

"You can't ignore that. Players at the top of their game, on high form, deserve to be playing for their country.

"Being England manager is not easy – you have a lot of tough decisions, a lot of players to

"We have done that and I think we have a fantastic

"But, as always, it is about how you handle the games and the tour-

England's billion dollar squad

EURO 2024 opens this weekend and as usual the British press have worked themselves into a lather hyping up the chances of Gareth Southgate's England team.

Seemingly every aspect of the team's preparation for the tournament has been covered in microscopic detail, from their luxury base in the German countryside, to their individually customized diet, right down to the music each player listens to in his downtime.

But of course England are not the only representatives of the home nation in attendance - Steve Clarke's Scotland are also hoping to make a good fist of their first appearance in a major tournament in more years than most Scots care to remember.

ENGLAND'S RICHES
Player	ETV
Bellingham (Real Madrid)	£119.74m
Foden (Man City)	£100.86m
Kane (Bayern Munich)	£91.43m
Saka (Arsenal)	£89.49m
Rice (Arsenal)	£68.93m
Bowen (West Ham)	£54.43m
Watkins (Aston Villa)	£44.32m
Gallagher (Chelsea)	£42.38m
Gordon (Newcastle)	£41.29m
Palmer (Chelsea)	£40.02m
Eze (Crystal Palace)	£39.18m
Alexander-Arnold (Liverpool)	£38.51m
Konsa (Aston Villa)	£31.94m
Guehi (Crystal Palace)	£30.33m
Stones (Man City)	£29.41m
Pickford (Everton)	£28.90m
Ramsdale (Arsenal)	£21.49m
Shaw (Man United)	£19.72m
Mainoo (Man United)	£19.72m
Gomez (Liverpool)	£18.96m
Walker (Man City)	£18.71m
Wharton (Crystal Palace)	£17.11m
Dunk (Brighton)	£14.91m
Toney (Brentford)	£14.66m
Trippier (Newcastle)	£11.12m
Henderson (Crystal Palace)	£8.59m

But whether they come home in glory, ignominy, or something in between, at least England lead their rivals in one department - the value of their squad. The 26-man party are worth a staggering £1.06billion, with four players valued at more than €100million (£84m).

Real Madrid's Jude Bellingham is the most expensive at nearly £120m while Phil Foden, Harry Kane and Bukayo Saka also all feature in the global top 10.

It shows why Southgate is under pressure to deliver with his star-studded Three Lions. The figures are provided by ETV (Estimated Transfer Value), a market-leading transfer valuation algorithm developed by Dutch data company SciSports.
