Three dead in kids club horror attack

Nation stunned by 'ferocious' attack on young dancers • Violent protests break out as right wing groups seek to capitalize on immigration issue

THE NATION was left stunned this week by as three children were killed and six left in critical condition after a "ferocious" knife rampage at a dance class.

Five more youngsters were wounded in the terrifying incident during a Taylor Swift-themed event in Southport, Merseyside on Monday.

Two adults were also left fighting for their lives after bravely trying to tackle the masked knifeman who was later identified as 17-year-old Axel Muganwa Rudakubana, who was born in Cardiff to Rwandan parents.

About two dozen children were attending the summer vacation workshop on Monday when the suspect burst in. Alice Dasilva Aguiar, 9, Elsie Dot Stancombe, 7, and Bebe King, 6, died from their injuries. Ten other people were injured, among whom five girls and two adults are in critical condition.

'horror movie'

Colin Parry, owner of nearby Masters Vehicle Body Repairs, said: "The mothers were coming here screaming. It was like a scene from a horror movie. It's like something from America, not like sunny Southport."

Traumatised onlookers told of scenes of carnage after the attack which left first responders in shock. Eyewitness Bare Varathan, 35, who owns a shop nearby, was told by a staff member: "Get to the shop!"

He said: "I saw seven to 19 kids outside the nursery. They were injured, bleeding.

"They were in the road, running from the nursery.

"They had been stabbed, here, here, here, everywhere."

'profoundly shocked'

13 North West Ambulance Service crews and an air ambulance treated the victims, rushing them to nearby Aintree University Hospital, Southport and Formby Hospital, and Alder Hey Children's Hospital. Upon being briefed on the incident, Prime Minister Sir Keir Starmer told reporters: "The events today are just truly awful and I know the whole country is deeply shocked at what they have seen and what they have heard.

"I know I speak for everybody in the whole country in saying our thoughts and condolences are with the victims, their families, their friends and with the wider community. It is impossible to imagine what they are going through right now."

The King said: "My wife and I have been profoundly shocked to hear of the utterly horrific incident in Southport today.

"We send our most heartfelt condolences, prayers and deepest sympathies to the families and loved ones of those who have so tragically lost their lives, and to all those affected by

In the hours that followed similar violence flared in London, Manchester and Hartlepool.

Dal Babu, former Ch. Supt and firearms commander in the Met, has blamed the disorder on the "reckless" spread of misinformation about the identity of the suspect charged in the stabbing.

Speaking to the BBC, Mr Babu said the police have taken the "unprecedented" decision to confirm the suspect "was born in this country". In London, demonstrators were seen launching flares towards the gates of Downing Street and at a statue of Winston Churchill.

People could be heard chanting phrases such as "stop the boats" and "save our kids" as they threw bottles and cans at officers.

Earlier, the Met said conditions placed on the protest had been breached.

And then there were six: Stride, Badenoch and Patel join race for Tory leadership

THE RACE to replace Rishi Sunak as leader of the Conservative Party has widened to six hopefuls who formally declared themselves by before this week's deadline.

The trio of Tom Tugenhat, Robert Jenrick and James Cleverly have been joined by Mel Stride, Kemi Badenoch and Dame Priti Patel.

Shadow work and pensions secretary Stride, 62, is pitching himself as a unifier who will "forensically" hold Labour to account.

A close ally of Mr Sunak, Mr Stride was one of a handful of ministers trusted to do media interviews during the recent election campaign.

After narrowly holding on to his Central Devon seat by 61 votes at the election, Mr Stride said his party needed to "think long and deeply" about its poor performance before it could become the "natural party of government" again

Launching his leadership bid, Mr Stride said his party needed to "build trust with the electorate again".

Mr Stride has cited

Starmer vows to get tough on civil disorder

■ PM condemns actions of "a tiny, mindless minority" who instigated violence in wake of Southport killings

SIR KEIR Starmer has vowed to get tough with organizers of violent disorder, with police forces across the country to increase their co-operation to tackle the issue.

It comes after a crisis meeting with police chiefs following rioting in the wake of the Southport attack, which saw unrest spread across the country earlier this week.

Starmer described the chaotic scenes that unfolded in the aftermath of the stabbing as the "actions of a tiny, mindless minority" and condemned "far-right ha-

He also condemned "violent disorder, clearly whipped up online", describing it as crime, "not protest".

"We will take all necessary action to keep our streets safe", the PM continued.

Sir Keir said nobody involved in rioting should "pretend they are speak-

> "Mosques being attacked because they're mosques - the far right are showing who they are. We have to show who we are in response to that."

> "These thugs are mobile," he added, "they move from community to community. We must have a policing response that can do the same." The new powers would

> It would also include more Criminal Behaviour Orders (CBO) to restrict the movement of offenders and stop them travelling, similar to measures taken against football hooligans.

Speaking to the media after a meeting with the prime minister, the chair of the National Police Chiefs Council has said further disorder can be avoided.

disinformation

Chief Constable Gavin Stephens said: "It's our job in policing to be worried about this but it's not inevitable". He also warned those thinking of attending further riots would feel the full force of the law.

Cutious BoE cuts interest rate

The Bank of England acted with typical cau tion this week, cutting interest rates by a quater of one percent, with thegovernor adding a warning that Britons should not expect a further sharp fall in the coming months.

In a closely-run decision, rates were lowered to 5% from 5.25% on Thursday, marking the first cut since the start of the pandemic in March 2020.

Interest rates dictate the cost of borrowing set by High Street banks and money lenders for the likes of mortgages and credit cards.

Bank governor Andrew Bailey said that lower inflation had paved the way for the fall in interest rates but added it was "not mission accomplished yet".

soaring price rises

He said policymakers needed "to make sure inflation stays low and be careful not to cut interest rates too quickly or by too much".

Interest rates have climbed over the last few years, as the Bank has battled to control soaring price rises.

The higher rates have put pressure on household finances, although returns for savers have mproved

The fall to 5% means that homeowners or tracker mortgages will see an immediate reduction in their monthly mortgage payments Those on variable rate deals may also benefit rom the fall.

But many home owners on fixed rate mortgages still face the prospect of much higher mortgage rates when those deals expire over the next few years.

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: This is a good time for you in most areas now that the Sun is in your cousin sign of Leo. Making big plans however is not a great idea until midnonth

TAURUS: You have procrastinated lately on a situation that will not go away. With this in mind it's a good time this next week to tackle it.

GEMINI: You have a choice now to carry on without a set plan and since your boss Mercury is on a go- slow backwards it is probably best to wait for a couple of weeks.

CANCER: Now that the Sun is in your money area there is a good chance you can relax a little. That does not mean out of sight is out of mind, so keep a sharp eye on your finances.

LEO: This is a good time in general as the Sun is beginning your new year. Do not try too hard to please everybody - not even family members. Happy Birth-

VIRGO: You probably have had somewhat of an indecisive time recently. You are nearly out of the woods so be patient as Mercury your boss is strolling backwards.

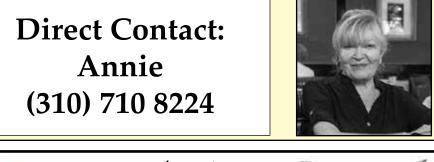

LIBRA: You are probably gearing up to work after a downtime or vacation. The Sun in Leo is lighting up your creative side. Time is good to get yourself moving. SCORPIO: You have not been out and about of late. While this is not your usual way of life it is best to lay low for a few days or so. It will be business as usual next week

SAGITTARIUS: Get your cupboards cleaned out mentally and physically. Make room for better days ahead. They are on the way be sure of that. Finances are a little tight so be careful spending.

CAPRICORN: The difficult times are just about over in any situation. Think of the things you want to achieve and know that they will come in due course. Travel and moves are happening.

AQUARIUS: You have plenty to keep you busy currently. The Sun in Leo will help this week or so to get up to date in several areas. Keep a low profile socially.

PISCES: You are known to be sensitive, more so currently since Saturn is keeping an eye on you. He is opening new doors these next few weeks so be ready for good changes.

Storming finish gives Yee Triathlon gold

ALEX YEE added to Team GB's remarkable record in the Olympic Triathlon by securing an unlikely gold medal in Paris.

Since the sport was added to the Olympic roster in 2000, no country can match Britain's medal haul, but Yee seemed unlikely to add another gold to the total with barely a mile to go in Wednesday's contest. At that point New Zealand's Havden Wilde enjoyed a 14 second lead in the events third and final discipline, the 10.000m run.

But suddenly Yee found a second wind and the Kiwi hit the wall. To gasps of astonishment on Pont Alexandre III. with its gilded bronze statues bathed in sunshine, it was the 26-year-old sports science graduate from Lewisham who appeared first on the blue carpet.

It was the team's second unlikely comefrom-behind win in three days after Tom Pidcock had overturned prohibitive odds to win mountain bike gold after a puncture saw him slipping 40 seconds off

"I didn't even know I could catch him until I caught him," said Yee, who overhauled his good friend, New Zealander Hayden Wilde, right at the death of the 10,000m run

"I didn't even know I caught him," said Yee. "It was one of those mad moments where everything just fell into place.

"At 5km to go I was going through a really bad patch and with 2.5km left I thought, 'I'm going to give myself one last chance at this and not give up' – and here we are "

Tearful exit for Andy Murray

■ Paris 2024: Tennis legend bows out after straight sets defeat in doubles quarter finals

British tennis icon Andy Murray's illustrious career ended with a straight-set defeat in the Olympic men's doubles quarter-finals on Thursday.

Murray, the two-time Olympic singles champion, and Dan Evans lost 6-2 6-4 to American third seeds Taylor Fritz and Tommy Paul before exiting the court in tears.

Murray, 37, confirmed before the Paris Games that it would be his final event before retiring from the sport.

"I'm proud of my career, my achievements and what I put into the sport," said Murray.

After a long hug with Evans at the baseline, Murray was visibly emotional at the noise created by the fans at Roland Garros chanting his name in appreciation.

Evans gently encouraged his team-mate to go into the centre of the court for one final time and Murray waved to all sides before disappearing to the locker room.

Speaking shortly afterwards, Murray said he was "ready" for retirement.

"Obviously it was emotional because it's the last time I will play a competitive match," he said.

"But I am genuinely happy just now. I'm happy with how it finished.

"I'm glad I got to go out here at the Olympics and finish on my terms because at times in the last few years that wasn't a certainty."

Murray is no stranger to getting emotional in public, of course.

Most famously, there were the tears on Wimbledon's Centre Court after losing to Roger Federer in the 2012 final, finally endearing him to a larger share of the British public.

"This isn't going to be easy..." he said to Sue Barker on court postmatch that day, before the tears came.

Before that, he welled up after losing the 2010 Australian Open final to Roger Federer - quipping he could "cry like Roger... it's a shame I can't play like him".

Once he did land that Grand Slam title - and two more after that - it was injury that led to more tears.

In 2018, he sobbed uncontrollably under his towel at the Washington Open as he battled through hip pain.

On the eve of the 2019 Australian Open, Murray broke down in a pre-tournament news conference when he revealed he would have to retire because of impending hip resurfacing surgery, which he thought would day.

"It's been really hard. Physically, pain-wise, I feel bad," he said.

"Physically, I can obviously go on the court and perform at a level that's competitive.

"We were close to getting in the medal rounds here. That's OK but the pain and discomfort in my body is not good and that's also why I'm happy to be finishing."

Carlos off as Villa lose in friendly

Diego Carlos was sent off in Aston Villa's friendly defeat by RB Leipzig in New Jersey on Thursday.

The Brazilian defender was dismissed after two yellow-card offences in the first half as Villa lost 2-0 to their German opponents.

Carlos, who joined Villa from Sevilla in 2022, was booked for separate altercations with Leipzig goalscorer Lois Openda.

Andre Silva also scored for Leipzig, with both goals coming before half-time.

Villa boss Unai Emery, who lost Sweden goalkeeper Robin Olsen to injury, preferred to focus on the performance of new signing Amadou Onana rather than Carlos' red card. M i d f i e l d e r Onana signed for Villa from Everton in a £50m deal in July.

"Onana is progressively getting better," said Emery.

"It was a test. In the first half I think we were good, even losing 2-0 due to two mistakes.

"After the red card it was a completely different match."

Chelsea secured their first victory under new manager Enzo Maresca by sweeping to a 3-0 win over Club America in Atlanta.

Two of Chelsea's three goals were penalties by Christopher Nkunku and Noni Madueke while Marc Guiu also scored.

Argentina midfielder Enzo Fernandez came on at the start of the second half.

His appearance came after it emerged Chelsea would take no action against Fernandez for singing a derogatory song about France's black players, after he apologized to several French team-mates.

"You can see that he is a bit behind. In terms of his physical conditioning, he was a bit slow," said Maresca when asked about Fernandez's contribution.

"He had one or two sessions with us so 45 minutes today was just another chance to give him another session.

"These kinds of games, we also use them like a training session, and for Enzo today was a very good training session."
