

ARISE, SIR GARETH

- Never a winner...but England boss knighted after string of strong tournament performances
- Stephen Fry and Alan Titchmarsh among the other honorees in King's New Year List

GARETH Southgate has been knighted in recognition of his efforts in taking the England football team to the brink of major tournament success.

Sir Gareth, 54, leads a host of stars from the worlds of sport and show-business recognized in the New Year Honors this week.

The former Three Lions manager's top gong looked assured after leading England to the Euro 2024 Final in July.

Sir Gareth also led his country to the Euro 2020 final and 2018 World Cup semi-final.

The former England and Premier League star resigned in the summer after the 2-1 Euros final loss to Spain – marking the end of an eight-year stint in the hotseat dubbed "the impossible job".

He was joined in getting a knighthood by a "startled and enchanted" Blackadder star and QI host Stephen Fry who was honored for services to mental health awareness.

Since 2011, he has been president of charity Mind and supports the conservation group Fauna and Flora International, of which the Prince of Wales is patron.

Sir Stephen added: "When you are recognized it does make you feel a bit 'crikey'. The most emotional thing is when I think of my childhood, my unhappiness and misery and stupidity and everything that led to so many failures.

"For my parents, really, what a disaster. Every time the phone rang, they thought, 'Oh, God, what has Stephen done now'. It was a sort of joke in the family."

'teary moment'

US-British author and broadcaster Loyd Grossman, 74, who presented MasterChef from 1990 to 2000, said he was "close to speechless" with his knighthood, while Alan Titchmarsh said he was "thrilled to bits" with a CBE.

The horticultural expert and best-selling author, 75, said that telling his wife and daughters about the honor was a "teary moment".

He added: "I've been an MBE for 25 years, so I kind of thought that was... I've been very happy with that. I'm flattered beyond belief."

Alan has been a familiar face on television screens for many years, first covering the Chelsea Flower Show for the BBC in 1983.

He began presenting BBC Two favourite Gardeners' World in 1996, fronting the program until 2002, with Monty Don taking over the role in 2003.

In the acting world, Inspector Morse and Lewis star Kevin Whately, 73, was awarded an OBE and former Doctor Who star Tom Baker, 90, was made an MBE.

Bafta-winning actress Sarah Lancashire was awarded a CBE, calling it an "unexpected delight".

She won rave reviews for TV shows including Happy Valley and Last Tango in Halifax, following her breakthrough playing barmaid Raquel Watts in Coronation Street during the 1990s.

Sarah, 60, is currently starring alongside Keira Knightley and Ben Whishaw in the Netflix spy-thriller Black Doves. Her Last Tango in Halifax co-star and fellow former Corrie actress Anne Reid,

Southgate: eight year stint in the hotseat dubbed 'the impossible job'

89, was made a CBE for services to drama.

Three-time Oscar nominee Carey Mulligan receives a CBE.

And there was an OBE too for Back to Black actor Eddie Marsan, 56.

He said: "I am shocked, delighted and deeply honoured to receive this award. I am only in this position because of the constant love and support of my wife, my family and the people I grew up with in Bethnal Green, so I share this with them all."

Former Formula One driver and broadcaster

Martin Brundle is made an OBE and former Scotland and Liverpool footballer and Match of the Day pundit Alan Hansen receives an MBE.

The ex-West Ham United, Manchester United and Everton manager David Moyes, 63, was made an OBE.

MP Emily Thornberry, who chairs the Foreign Affairs Committee, was made a Dame, while London mayor Sadiq Khan was knighted along with former Tory West Midlands mayor Andy Street. More than 1,200 people received honours in the latest list celebrating those working hard for their communities through charity or voluntary work. The Prime Minister said: "Every day, ordinary people go out and do extraordinary things for their communities."

"They represent the very best of the UK and that core value of service which I put at the centre of everything this Government does."

"The New Year Honours List celebrates more of these unsung heroes and I thank them for their incredible contribution."

Mischief maker Musk pokes Starmer - again

■ Trump ally calls for release of far right activist Tommy Robinson and claims 'very few' businesses want to invest in Labour's Britain

Elon Musk ramped up his interference in British affairs this week, calling for the release of Tommy Robinson and accusing Keir Starmer of failing to prosecute child rapists in Oldham in Greater Manchester.

The billionaire ally of Donald Trump pinned a message at the top of his X feed overnight saying "Free Tommy Robinson!", tagging the far-right activist who is in jail for contempt of court.

As well as a number of messages in support of Robinson, Musk posted several times about rape gangs in Rochdale and Oldham, attacking the prime minister and the safeguarding minister, Jess Phillips, over their responses to the scandal.

In one post Musk said: "In the UK, serious crimes such as rape require the Crown Prosecution Service's approval for the police to charge suspects. Who was the head of the CPS when rape gangs were allowed to exploit young girls without facing justice? Keir Starmer, 2008-2013."

He added that Phillips "deserved to be in prison" after she said it was for Oldham council to call an inquiry into child exploitation there, rather than the national government.

In another he said: "The real reason she's refusing to investigate the rape gangs is that it would obviously lead to the blaming of Keir Starmer (head of the [Crown Prosecution Service] at the time)."

anger

Musk reposted several comments calling for the release of Robinson, whose real name is Stephen Yaxley-Lennon, who was jailed last October for repeating false allegations about a Syrian refugee.

Musk's latest intervention in British politics has caused anger among Labour MPs, many of whom have been pushing the government to stop posting on X.

The Tesla co-founder and X owner has repeatedly attacked Starmer over the prime minister's response to the UK riots last summer. He is reported to be considering donating as much as $100m (£80m) to Reform UK, and was pictured alongside the party's leader, Nigel Farage, and its treasurer, Nick Candy, two weeks ago.

Musk's posts overnight are his most explicit endorsement yet of the British far right and come after he promised to support the German anti-migration party Alternative für Deutschland.

'gamer-changer'

One MP said: "[Musk] has pushed it too far this time. Twitter [now X] is really rapidly becoming a cess pit, even for disinterested non-partisan types."

Several ministers said they thought this should be the trigger for the government to leave Musk's platform. Others, however, warned that doing so could cause a diplomatic incident given Musk's role in the incoming Trump administration.

On Wednesday Musk added more fuel to the fire, claiming "very few" businesses want to invest in Starmer's Britain.

The damning commentary came after Ash Regan, the Holyrood leader of Scotland's nationalist Alba party, called on the billionaire

Elon Musk with president-elect Donald Trump. Many Labour MPs want the government to stop posting on X, while others warn this could cause a diplomatic incident to open a huge new car factory north of the border.

Mr Musk, 53, who is reportedly considering donating up to £80million to the Reform UK party led by his friend Nigel Farage, wrote on his platform X: "Very few companies will be willing to invest in the UK with the current administration."

Responding to the comments, No10 pointed to an extra £63billion of additional investment since Labour came to power, adding: "The Government has taken an unashamedly pro-growth and pro-business approach."

Making her case for a Scottish Tesla factory, Ms Regan said: "If Elon Musk took up my offer to explore expansion into Scotland, it would be a game-changer for our manufacturing base, bring billions to our economy and create thousands of highly skilled and well-paid jobs."

Five charged over Liam death

Messages between Liam Payne and a waiter allegedly show the hotel employee sold cocaine to the star twice before his fatal balcony fall.

Five people have now been charged in connection with the singer's death.

The former One Direction member died at the Casa Sur Hotel in Buenos Aires on October 16 at the age of 31.

A post mortem later revealed he suffered multiple injuries from the fall from a third-floor balcony, which caused "internal and external haemorrhaging".

Three people have been charged with negligent homicide – similar to manslaughter in UK law – and two are accused of supplying drugs, said the Argentinian Public Prosecutor's Office.

Liam's friend Roger Nores, described as a "representative" of the star, was charged with negligent homicide Waiter Braian Paiz and hotel employee Ezequiel Pereyra have been charged with supplying drugs on two occasions.

vulnerable

Judge Laura Bruniard reviewed WhatsApp messages exchanged between Liam and Paiz as part of the probe into his death. The texts reportedly played a key part in forming the waiter's drug charge of selling cocaine to Liam twice on October 14.

Negligent homicide carries a sentence of one to five years, while supplying drugs is punishable by up to 15 years.

The judge also ruled Liam was vulnerable and unable to look after himself moments before he plunged from his balcony.

Judge Bruniard said the singer should have been left in a safe place like the hotel lobby and watched over until a doctor arrived instead of being put at risk by being escorted back to his room after bingeing on drink and drugs.

The judge also concluded he fell to his death after trying to climb over his balcony, appearing to support claims he was trying to escape his room as he did not want to be there. She said: "Liam wanted to climb over the balcony, fell into the abyss and died."

Liam had been in Argentina with his girlfriend Kate Cassidy who left for Florida, where the couple lived, days before his death.

'Broadcasting legend' Johnnie Walker dead at 79

■ Veteran DJ was fixture on British radio for almost 60 years

Radio presenter Johnnie Walker has been described as a "broadcasting legend" following his death aged 79.

The DJ died on Tuesday, two months after calling time on his 58-year radio career because of ill health.

Presenter Bob Harris, who took over BBC Radio 2's Sounds of the 70s show after Walker's retirement, announced his former colleague's death live on the station.

Harris described him as "an incredible, warm, superb broadcaster" who "went out on a limb many times to defend the music that he loved, and he was passionate about radio".

'warm, open style'

Walker had pulmonary fibrosis, which is scarring of the lungs, a condition which makes breathing difficult.

The station's controller Helen Thomas described him as "a much-loved broadcasting legend".

"Johnnie's wry sense of humour and his warm, open style of presenting ensured he was adored by his audience," she said.

His DJ career began at the age of 21, when he was first given a chance to play records on 'Swinging' Radio England, a boat moored four miles off the Essex coast.

In return, they asked that he change his name - from Peter Dingley to the rather more rock 'n' roll-sounding Johnnie Walker.

The boat was one of a number of floating stations that had taken advantage of a loophole in the law that allowed them to get round the BBC's monopoly on the UK airwaves to bring the sound of 60s pop to the nation's radios - something the BBC had up to that point largely resisted.

Radio Caroline

Walker took to the rebel spirit. His years at public school had fostered a loathing of authority, and he had gone out of his way to fail his O-levels. Radio allowed him to embrace his passion - music - especially the rock, soul and underground sounds that were not making it to the top of the singles chart.

Occasionally, he would row across to another boat, Radio London, to chat to a kindred spirit, a young DJ who was beginning to make a name for himself, John Peel.

Walker then moved to the pirate mothership,

Radio Caroline.

His style was laid back, conversational and a contrast to the highly formatted slick patter of many other DJs.

His time on board also coincided with the government's decision to crack down on the pirates. Walker was on air at midnight of 14 August 1967, when the law making the pirates illegal came into force.

He read out a defiant speech declaring: "We belong to you and we love you." His reputation as a symbol of the spirit of the pirates was assured.

drug habit

However, in 1969 he switched sides and joined the establishment, BBC Radio One. It was not the easiest of relationships.

He was, he said, accused of being "too into the music". He would pepper his shows with album tracks and songs outside the approved playlist.

With the corporation: Johnnie Walker at the BBC in 1972

He finally parted company with Radio One after describing the Bay City Rollers as "musical garbage". He decided to leave for the freedom of US radio. It had its ups and downs.

KSAN in San Francisco, with its relaxed FM rock playlist, seemed a perfect match until punk came along. It was not to the manager's taste and Walker was soon looking for work elsewhere.

By the early 80s, he was back in the UK and on the dole.

His return to the airwaves included a spell in independent local radio before he returned to the BBC. He again came a cropper at BBC GLR after saying there would be dancing in the streets when Margaret Thatcher resigned as prime minister in 1990.

But, despite the setbacks, he eventually found a home at Radio

However, that almost came to an end when the News of the World's infamous fake sheikh staged a sting in 1999 and got him to reveal his drug habit. It was, he said, his lowest point. But after a trip to rehab, a £2,000 fine and a promise that he had changed his ways, he was allowed back on to Radio 2.

And that is where he stayed. He was even awarded an MBE.

Instagram star the victim of daring £10m jewel heist

LONDON'S ultra-rich community was left uneasy this week after news emerged of a brazen robbery that saw the theft of £10million worth of jewelry from a fabulously wealthy Instagram influencer.

Shafira Huang, an art collector and cultural ambassador of the Halcyon Gallery on Bond Street, was not in her home in swanky Primrose Hill when the raider struck.

The burglar broke through the second-floor window of the large home on Avenue Road, where properties cost more than £15million on average.

The man, who was captured on CCTV, is described as white in his 20s or 30s, made off with £10.4m worth of custom gems including a Graff 10.73-carat diamond ring, two De Beers butterfly diamond rings, and a Hermes 3.03-carat ring, aquamarine ring and Niloticud Lumiere necklace.

He also took other items of jewellery from luxury brands including Chopard, Van Cleef & Arpels and Katherine Wang, alongside a further £150,000 worth of Hermes Crocodile Kelly handbags and £15,000 in cash.

wealthy lifestyle

The glamorous victim has ramped up a following of more than 13,000 people on her public social media account by flaunting her fabulously wealthy lifestyle that most people could only dream of.

Most of the snaps show her globetrotting around the world to exotic locations travelling around on a private jet with Louis Vuitton luggage in tow.

From yachting around the harbour of Hong Kong while snacking on seafood to travelling to the desert in the Middle East and skiing in Aspen, the art connoisseur and her husband, whose name is unknown, appear to have the perfect life.

And while it is unknown if this was a random theft, the influencer has previously shown off several of the items the suspect stole on her social media feed.

In one picture, the glamorous art connoisseur can be seen sitting in the back of a luxury car wearing one of the sapphire and diamond necklaces.

In another, the young woman, who recently had a dinner with Sarah Ferguson, the Duchess of York, can be seen posing for a mirror selfie

In a third, she can be seen lounging on a yacht surrounded by turquoise blue seas, wearing a Van Cleef & Arpels diamond encrusted bracelet with her name on.

And a fourth showing off a stack of crystal bangles thought to be designed by Hermes.

The heist took place on December 7, right before the Christmas holidays.

Despite the disturbing incident, Mrs Huang appears to have made the most of the festive season, attending a swanky dinner for the British Forces Foundation as well as hosting a meal with the Duchess of York.

Glasto 'too corporate' for vintage rocker

Rock star Neil Young has announced he will not be performing at this year's Glastonbury, saying he believes the famed festival is "now under corporate control".

The 79-year-old Canadian wrote on his website that he and his band the Chrome Hearts "were looking forward to playing Glastonbury, one of my all time favourite outdoor gigs" but will now not be at Worthy Farm in June.

"We were told that BBC was now a partner in Glastonbury and wanted us to do a lot of things in a way we were not interested in," said Young, who headlined Glastonbury in 2009.

"It seems Glastonbury is now under corporate control and is not the way

I remember it being."

Young thanked fans on his website for seeing him and his band last time they were at the festival, adding: "We will not be playing Glastonbury on this tour because it is a corporate turn-off, and not for me like it used to be.

"Hope to see you at one of the other venues on the tour."

UK's biggest ever dino prints discovered in Oxford quarry

PALEONTOLOGISTS in Britain had an exciting start to the new year with the discovery of the largest-ever dinosaur prints found in the country.

The find came courtesy of digger operator Gary Johnson, who was clearing clay at an Oxfordshire quarry when he hit an unexpected bump in the limestone surface.

"I thought, it's just an abnormality in the ground," he said. "But then it got to another, three metres along, and it was hump again, and then it went another three metres, hump again."

What Johnson had discovered was part of an enormous dinosaur trackway dating to nearly 166m years ago, when the quarry was a warm, shallow lagoon crisscrossed by the huge creatures.

"I thought I'm the first person to see them," said Johnson "And it was so surreal – a bit of a tingling moment, really."

Researchers have since unearthed about 200 large footprints at the site, making this the biggest dinosaur trackway ever found in Britain. The tracks are thought to have been made by two types of dinosaur: the herbivorous cetiosaurus, a sauro-pod that walked on four legs, and the smaller carnivorous megalosaurus. So far, five separate trackways have been found stretching up to 150 metres in length, and experts from the universities of Oxford and Birmingham believe they could extend much further as only part of the quarry has been excavated.

"This is one of the most impressive track sites I've ever seen, in terms of scale, in terms of size of the tracks," Prof Kirsty Edgar, a micropalaeontologist from the University of Birmingham, told reporters.

"You can step back in time and get an idea of what it would have been like, these massive creatures just roaming around, going about their own business."

After Johnson's initial discovery, a team of more than 100 scientists, students and volunteers have joined an excavation of the site. As well as making plaster casts of the prints, the project has recorded 20,000 photographs and built detailed 3D models of the site using aerial drones.

The trackways connect to discoveries made in the area in 1997, where limestone quarrying revealed more than 40 sets of footprints.

BBC celebrates 100 years of the Shipping Forecast

The BBC on Wednesday celebrated 100 years of a weather forecast for sailors in British waters that has inspired musicians and poets and become an immovable fixture on UK radio.

The Shipping Forecast, providing predictions by the Met Office on expected wind speeds, sea state, weather and visibility, began as a vital service to sailors and sea captains who may be in peril at sea. Modern seafarers can now rely on sophisticated forecasting technology but the calm, rhythmic delivery of the forecast by one of BBC Radio 4's silky-voiced continuity announcers has turned the forecast into something of a beloved British institution.

Radio 4 controller Mohit Bakaya described the Shipping Forecast as a "cherished ritual" and "one of our national treasures".

The centenary was marked by a day-long series of programs, including historian Jerry Brotton exploring how Britain has been shaped by its maritime past while famous names including Ellen MacArthur, the record-breaking solo round-the-world yachtswoman, re-read bulletins from dates linked to their achievements.

The service was set up in 1867 in response to a storm off north Wales eight years earlier that led to the death of 800 people and the loss of 133 ships, according to the Met Office.

It was initially transmitted by telegraph before being first broadcast on radio on January 1, 1924 and taken over by the BBC in October 1925.

Sea areas around the British Isles with mysterious names such as "Viking", "Dogger", "Sole", "Lundy" and "Fastnet" are covered in the forecast which is peppered with phrases such as "rain at times, moderate or good", "becoming cyclonic" and "falling slowly".

The poetic sounding names of coastal weather stations such as "Tiree", "Ronaldsway and "Sanddettie Light Vessel Automatic" also feature, adding to its appeal.

Poets who have drawn creative inspiration from it include Carol Ann Duffy and Seamus Heaney who called it "verbal music".

Bands like Radiohead, Blur and The Prodigy have also been stirred by the shipping forecast in their songs and a 2016 book of the same name celebrated the programme for "inspiring imaginations" worldwide.

The first of the two daily forecasts -- three at weekends -- hits the airwaves at 5:21 am (0521 GMT).

The last at 12:48 am (0048 GMT) is credited as an aid to lull insomniacs to sleep or just provide a reassuring end to the day for others.

The late night bulletin is always preceded by the equally soothing piece of music "Sailing By".

The music by Ronald Binge was originally chosen to be a signal to sailors that they had tuned into the correct station for the forecast.

Continuity announcer Viji Alles, who hails from Sri Lanka, has said he was "immediately and utterly captivated" after first hearing the forecast in 2005.

"I thought this is the most beautiful thing I have ever heard on radio," he said in a radio programme last year.

"Its utility, I know, has declined over the years, but its value as a late night piece of poetry is just unparalleled," he added.

Hopkins celebrates 49 years sober

Sir Anthony Hopkins has celebrated being 49 years sober ahead of turning 87 this week.

Expressing gratitude for his long life, the Silence of the Lambs star said in an Instagram video: "Forty-nine years ago, I stopped [drinking].

"I realised I needed help, so I got it.

"Anyway, I've had more fun these 49 years than ever. I got sober, sounds a dull word, but I've had a wonderful life.

They still employ me.

"I'm going to be 87. I'm celebrating my unexpectedly long life."

He finished by urging anyone who thinks they may need help to seek it out, warning that drinking "is a killer".

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF NANCY WALDROOP HALL Case No. 24STPB13628

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of NANCY WALDROOP HALL aka Nancy W. Hall A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by David Shawn Waldroop in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that David Shawn Waldroop be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on January 10, 2025 at 8:30am in Dept. 29 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Soggy start to 2025 for Mancunians

IT WAS dismal and damp start to 2025 for residents of Manchester, as more than 1,300 people were evacuated amid severe New Year's Day flooding as a major incident was declared.

Houses, flats, shops, businesses, hotels, green spaces and car parks were flooded amid torrential downpours. Heavy showers started on Tuesday evening (December 31) and continued overnight into Wednesday morning (January 1).

Parts of Greater Manchester saw more than 80mm - three inches - of rainfall in 24 hours, causing rivers to burst their banks and roads to flood. Some 72 flood alerts were in place across Greater Manchester as the region woke up. By Wednesday evening

Flooding led to havoc

WHERE'S THE CAR?: the scene in a Stockport car park on Wednesday on the roads as stretches across the region were shut. Cars were abandoned after becoming submerged. People in blocks of flats were trapped, with lower floors underwater.

Homes and hotels were evacuated, with residents left unable to return in the worst-hit areas of Didsbury, Trafford, Stockport and Wigan. Areas in other parts of south and north Manchester and Tameside were also impacted. Emergency refuge centres were set up across the region.

Hundreds of people were rescued by emergency services on boats, including 400 people evacuated from apartments in Stockport and at least 500 rescued from a hotel in south Manchester; and 400 others saved in the Didsbury area.

Electricity North West estimated around 2,800 properties were, at one point, experiencing power outages across the north west. The 'vast majority' were in Greater Manchester.

Police, alongside paramedics, the fire service, mountain rescue teams, local councils and TfGM coordinated multi-agency responses to the severe flooding across the region. Police later confirmed no serious injuries were reported.

At Meadow Mill in Stockport, more than 200 people were stuck inside on Wednesday morning after waking up to find the entire lower floor underwater after the River Tame, which runs past the converted mill, burst its banks.

Elsewhere in the UK, the Environment Agency (EA) had issued 109 flood warnings in England, mostly concentrated in the North West.

There were also 11 flood warnings in place for north Wales and 17 warnings in place for Scotland, where snow fell in flurries throughout the week with more expected this weekend.

London's New Year's Day parade suffered a short delay due to the high winds in the capital.

Sing while you're quizzing?

Brits in LA and Paramount Pictures are teaming up to stage a special trivia and talent night on January 7, themed around pop star Robbie Williams.

It's being held in celebration of the new biopic Better Man - a January 10 cinema release following the British singer's highs and hangovers from Take That heart-throb to solo sensation.

The free event at O'Briens in Santa Monica will feature a sing like Robbie contest alongside the usual popular trivia game with fabulous prizes tied to the movie up for grabs.

All are welcome on Robbie night, which starts at 8pm sharp on Tues Jan 7, with our own star, Sandro Monetti (above), hosting.

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: Time to make way in your head for only positive thoughts. Mars is ready in your life to assist you through any setbacks. He is your boss, so listen.

TAURUS: You may have procrastinated a lot since last month, however you needed the time to catch up. With Uranus going forward in your life you cannot waste time now.

GEMINI: Being unable to move about your life and do everything with ease is not comfortable at the best of times. Mercury your boss is going forward now and some better days are on the way.

CANCER: The recent full moon in your opposite sign has likely brought up something on hold in the past weeks. Just do what you can and don't stress over what is not possible.

LEO: You are probably planning ahead and already know what you will (and will not) do next week. While this is good, just go with the flow until then.

VIRGO: Hopefully you have taken this time frame and made changes on several levels. It's also good to not worry about the future. There will be better days later this month.

LIBRA: Venus your boss is resting until the end of the next week. With this in mind do not stress over some plans not moving as expected. You will soon see some future work possibilities appear.

SCORPIO: Best way to make decisions is to surrender them to your higher power and ask to be shown the right way. Life financially may be quite difficult of late. You cannot allow worries to set you back.

SAGITTARIUS: Make the most of the change of any plans in life again. It's good to get rid of stuff (mental and physical) for better days ahead. Now your boss Jupiter is ready to help you.

CAPRICORN: The hectic times are nearly over and especially for you keeping busy is important. Life is on a stop and start schedule for a few more days. Happy Birthday!

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF SHEDRICK DONNELL JONES, JR.

Case No. 24STPB14056

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of SHEDRICK DONNELL JONES, JR.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Payal Henssens in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Payal Henssens be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on January 16, 2025 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 62 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. Why you need dental insurance in retirement.

Medicare doesn't pay for dental care.¹
As good as Medicare is, it was never meant to cover everything. If you want protection, you need to purchase individual insurance.

Early detection can prevent small problems from becoming expensive ones.
The best way to avoid large dental bills is preventive care. Experts recommend checkups twice a year.

Previous dental work can wear out.
Your odds of having a dental problem only go up as you age.²

Treatment is expensive — especially the services people over 50 often need.
Unexpected bills, like $190 for a filling, or $1,213 for a crown³ can be a real burden, especially if you're on a fixed income.

When you're comparing plans ...

- ▶ Look for coverage that helps pay for major services.
- ▶ Look for coverage with no deductibles.
- ▶ Shop for coverage with no annual maximum on cash benefits.

Simply put – without dental insurance, there may be an important gap in your healthcare coverage.

Rangers finally best the Hoops

Rangers reduced Celtic's Scottish Premiership lead to 11 points in stunning style on Thursday as Philippe Clement claimed his first Old Firm derby victory at the seventh time of asking.

Ianis Hagi early on, then Robin Propper and Danilo after the break, produced the decisive moments as the hosts overwhelmed their opponents in front of a raucous home support.

Victory ends a barren run of results for Rangers against Brendan Rodgers' Celtic, who had only tasted defeat once in 20 derby matches prior to this outcome.

Pressure had been mounting on the Ibrox side after falling so far adrift of their rivals off the back of a defeat at St Mirren and draw at Motherwell over the festive period.

Their problems seemingly intensified with Jack Butland joining captain James Tavernier and centre-back John Souttar on the sidelines and Celtic's bright start suggested they might exploit that.

But Rangers took a firm grip of the game, showing incredible intensity and threat throughout and got their reward when Hagi's accurate strike from 25 yards found the bottom corner.

That, crucially, got the crowd behind them as Clement's side pressed relentlessly and entirely disrupted Celtic's rhythm.

But the anticipated response from the league leaders after the break did not materialise. This was not Celtic's day, nowhere near it.

Rangers found the crucial second goal when Propper slammed home from a set-piece.

The gloss was added when Jette's shot was blocked and Danilo was on hand to gleefully finish.

Rising star Delap schools Blues

Chelsea rise arrested as Tractor Boys finally win at home

Liam Delap's exceptional performance helped Ipswich earn their first home win of the season on Monday as Chelsea's title hopes dwindled.

After scoring a 12th-minute penalty, the 21-year-old striker set up former Chelsea winger Omari Hutchinson for Ipswich's second eight minutes after the break.

Chelsea dominated possession but were wasteful and the video assistant referee (VAR) ruled out a Joao Felix first-half equaliser after a long check for offside.

Ex-Manchester City striker Delap powered in a penalty that he won himself for the opening goal, after a VAR ruling that there was sufficient contact by goalkeeper Filip Jorgensen as the Ipswich man dribbled past him.

Delap later capitalised on Axel Disasi's poor back pass to set up Hutchinson to make it 2-0 to the hosts. Ipswich's win puts them above Leicester City into 18th and just one point behind Wolves in the table as they look to move out of the bottom three.

Chelsea have now lost consecutive matches since the goalless draw at Everton that ended an eight-match winning run in all competitions, and they remain fourth in the Premier League.

Enzo Maresca's men are 10 points behind league leaders Liverpool - with Arne Slot's pace-setters also having a game in hand - leaving a sustained title challenge by the Blues looking unlikely.

It was perhaps surprising that the best-performing forward on the pitch played for Ipswich.

Amid increasing transfer rumours linking him to Chelsea and other big English clubs, Delap stole the show and several chances from open play saved by Jorgensen.

What was most impressive, however, was how he ran Chelsea centre-backs Levi Colwill and Tosin Adarabioyo ragged.

His ability to hold up the ball and release pressure by carrying a real threat on the break stood out.

A goal and an assist: Roy Delap is finding his feet in the Premier League

"He is improving all the time," boss Kieran McKenna said. "His rate of improvement for a young player is really high.

"His style is enjoyable to watch for anyone. There's not many like him out there and he's playing incredible Premier League defenders every week."

Meanwhile, Chelsea may feel an increased need to sign a striker in January after scoring just once in the past three matches.

This was a reality check for Chelsea, and Maresca's declaration two weeks ago - when his side were second and two points behind Liverpool - that the Blues were not ready to win the league this season is now looking correct.

But the Italian manager refused to be too hard on Chelsea after their second defeat in as many games. "We expected this kind of moment during the season because we know this kind of moment belongs to football," he said.

"It is almost impossible to have a season where you don't have a moment like now for us, but at the same time not one of us in this room expected us to be where we are now.

"This means and shows we are in the right direction, as I said many times, but also shows we are far from competing and consistency and to be there with the best teams in England."

After gaining advantages by rotating his team for league and cup matches, the busy Christmas period has levelled the playing field for Chelsea's opponents.

Key players such as Cole Palmer and Moises Caicedo are not being rested, while Felix, Disasi, Jorgensen and Christopher Nkunku all struggled when drafted in.

Tuchel set to start England scouting

Thomas Tuchel is set to watch his first round of club fixtures as England head coach this week, starting with Tottenham's Premier League match at home to Newcastle on Saturday.

The German, 51, was confirmed as the Three Lions boss in October, replacing Gareth Southgate, before officially starting his role on 1 January.

Tuchel and his team are preparing for England's 2026 World Cup qualifying campaign, which starts on 21 March against Albania at Wembley.

Striker Dominic Solanke and midfielder James Maddison are among the England players likely to feature for Spurs, while defender Lewis Hall and winger Anthony Gordon are in line to play for Newcastle.

Meanwhile, Tuchel has added three members to his backroom staff - goalkeeping coach Henrique Hilario, performance coach Nicolas Mayer and analyst James Melbourne.

The trio team up

Thomas Tuchel plans to be at the Tottenham Hotspur Stadium on Saturday with Tuchel and assistant coach Anthony Barry, who was announced in October, to work alongside existing England senior staff members. Portugal's Hilario and England's Melbourne join from Chelsea after working with Tuchel at Stamford Bridge in 2021-22. Frenchman Mayer joins after stints alongside Tuchel at Paris St-Germain and Bayern Munich.

Anfield on Sunday. Newcastle didn't need to come up with anything radical to seize control of the match. Manchester United's deficiencies in defending set-pieces have been highlighted in every post-match inquest since Nottingham Forest came to this stadium on 7 December and scored after two minutes with a corner dropped to the near post at the edge of the six-yard area. That came in the immediate aftermath of Amorim's team conceding twice in the same manner at Arsenal. Manchester United have conceded twice in three games direct from corners. So, when Bruno Guimaraes found Lewis Hall in space down the left, a cross was the obvious option. When Anthony Gordon cut back in a roughly similar position a quarter of an hour later, he did the same thing. On the first occasion, five home defenders were in a line. Yet Isak still got a free header to score. On the second, Joelinton outmuscled Lisandro Martinez as he jumped and the outcome was the same as Newcastle celebrated their good fortune. It was 2-0 by the 19th minute and could have been more. Isak raced through after being left unattended by the touchline, but chipped a weak chip straight at Andre Onana. Gordon curled an effort over from the edge of the area and Joelinton blasted over after Gordon had skinned Noussair Mazraoui by the touchline. In addition, Kieran Tripper tried to exploit Manchester United's glaring weakness by going for goal direct from a corner, which had Onana scrambling to punch away at his near post. For Newcastle, with a Champions League place to fight for and a Carabao Cup semi-final next week against Arsenal - and prospect of a first trophy since 1969 - the rest of the contest was about containment.

Forest party Like It's 1979

CHRIS Wood and Morgan Gibbs-White had Nottingham Forest fans ringing in the new year like it was 1979 as they finished 2024 second in the table with a comfortable victory over Everton. Wood's superb first-half finish, along with an equally emphatic Gibbs-White effort after the break, made it five straight wins - Forest's best run for 30 years. Before Arsenal leapfrogged them on New Year's Day, Forest supporters of an older vintage will see their team trailing only Liverpool at the top... and wonder if they've woken up in 1979, when that's how those two clubs finished.

The title may be beyond their grasp, and manager Nuno Espirito Santo refuses to ponder the chances of finishing in the top four and reaching the Champions League. But that target looks highly realistic after a sensational first half of the season. The opening goal summed up the free-flowing style that Forest are exhibiting, no one more than Wood as he scored his 11th goal of the season. It came from a brilliant pass from Gibbs-White and a clever header from Wood for team-mate Anthony Elanga. The winger skilfully nodded back, in a game of head tennis which ended with Wood dinking a superb finish over the on-rushing Jordan Pickford. Gibbs-White left the outcome in no doubt on 61 minutes after poor Everton play, with Abdoulaye Doucoure giving the ball away in midfield. Elanga and Wood showed tidy footwork to set up Gibbs-White, who checked past Vitalii Mykolenko and thumped in an unstoppable strike. Before his goal, Wood had already sounded a warning to an Everton side that has proved tough to beat but found it even harder to win in recent weeks. The Forest striker volleyed and headed just wide and, deep in first-half injury time, Ramon Sosa should have done better. Everton manager Sean Dyche axed the unproductive Dominic Calvert-Lewin, handing a first start to on-loan Chelsea man Armando Broja, who has just two Premier League goals in three years. He at least worked hard and looked a threat. But it was not hard to see how Dyche's men have the second worst attack in the division, after Southampton.

Gunners firing on all cylinders!

Arsenal back into second place with come-from-behind victory at Brentford

Arsenal came from behind to beat Brentford on New Year's Day and boost their title hopes.

With Chelsea slipping up against Ipswich earlier in the week the Gunners took their chance to slip into second place in the Premier League, shrugging off the setback of conceding an early goal to Bryan Mbeumo.

Gabriel Jesus equalised with his sixth goal in four games and quickfire strikes from Mikel Merino and Gabriel Martinelli after the break ensured Arsenal left west London with all three points.

It was vindication for manager Mikel Arteta, who named a changed side with Kai Havertz left out due to illness while 17-year-old Ethan Nwaneri made his first Premier League start.

Arsenal trail leaders

Liverpool by six points, while Brentford stay 12th.

Brentford took the lead in the 12th minute after Arsenal captain Martin Odegaard sloppily gave the ball away in midfield. Mikkel Damsgaard intercepted his pass and slid a through ball for Mbeumo. The Bees forward cut inside and beat former Brentford goalkeeper David Raya at his near post.

But Arsenal, who were below par for the opening 30 minutes, equalised when Gabriel Jesus headed in the rebound after Thomas Partey's shot was parried away by Mark Flekken.

The Gunners laboured at times during the first half, struggling with the absence of the injured Bukayo Saka.

But they were renewed after the break, scoring twice in three minutes.

The first came when Brentford failed to clear a corner, Flekken missing his punch, and the resulting goalmouth scramble ended in Merino slamming home from close range.

And they moved 3-1 ahead on 53 minutes when Martinelli cracked a loose ball past Flekken from 12 yards, before easing to victory as Brentford faded.

While they did eventually hit their stride, Arsenal looked nervous at times - none more so than goalkeeper Raya.

Playing at the Community Stadium for the first time since leaving for Arsenal in 2023, Raya should have done better for the opening goal as he left too much space at his near post and was slow to dive.

He gave the ball away

Martinelli is mobbed after scoring Arsenal's third on New Year's Day numerous times in the early stages, then nearly conceded an even more calamitous goal.

On 28 minutes, he allowed another Mbeumo shot to squirm through his fingers and had to acrobatically dive back to claw the ball off the line.

Barely a minute later, Jesus equalised. Such are the tight margins in the Premier League.

And when margins are tight, set pieces can make all the difference. Arsenal, coached by Nicolas Jover, have relied on set plays at key moments all season and their goal from a corner five minutes after half-time proved the turning point.

The corner was taken by Nwaneri, who also provided the cross which eventually led to Arsenal's third. While some senior Gunners struggled, their youngest player seemed nerveless and provided the moments of quality needed to keep their title drive motoring.

Magpies continue Amorim misery

Newcastle beat Manchester United in a league game at Old Trafford this week for only the second time since 1972 - and condemned their hosts to a third straight home loss for the first time in 45 years.

And not since Sir Matt Busby's days, in September 1962, have Manchester United lost five times in the league in a calendar month.

Early goals from Alexander Isak and Joelinton gave Eddie Howe's men a thoroughly deserved victory that left them fifth in an impressive end to 2024.

Newcastle have won

Joelinton celebrates his goal with Anthony Gordon their past four Premier League games, with the excellent Isak taking his tally to 12 and his recent strike rate to eight in six games, with six in successive games.

In contrast, the home side - who last lost three successive home league games in 1979 - were abysmal.

Head coach Ruben Amorim replaced forward Joshua Zirkzee with Kobbie Mainoo in the 33rd minute, confirmation that he had got a starting line-up that paired veterans Casemiro and Christian Eriksen together in midfield hopelessly wrong.

Marcus Rashford was brought back on to the substitutes' bench, but despite watching his side slide to a fourth successive defeat and fail to score for the third game on the trot, Amorim opted against introducing the England man.

Manchester United end the year in 14th place, seven points above the relegation zone. What cont. on page 18, col. 1
